THE SIXTH ISSUE.

In February, 1906, the 1c and $2 1/2 stamps appeared on the new paper with "lozenge" watermark which had been introduced the previous year. These were the only denominations on the watermarked paper for a year and then, in March, 1907, the $1 1/2 appeared, followed by the $1 two months later. The next value—20c—did not show up until May, 1909, and since then, at extended intervals, the 2c, 4c, 10c, 40c and $1 1/2 values have appeared.

German Post Offices in Morocco.

Until 1890 German postal business in Morocco was conducted through the French offices but from that year until German postal agencies were opened German subjects resident in the coast towns were permitted to forward letters to Germany by the Wörmann Steamship Line. Writing on this subject in Gibbons' Stamp Weekly in 1908 Dr. Otto Rommel stated:—

Ordinary German stamps were used, and were postmarked on the boats in black ink with the inscription "Aus Westafrika" (from West Africa). By the side of this postmark the name of the particular town, e. g. Mogador was written in ink. In all specialized collections of the stamps of German Morocco, it is only right that these should be included. Unless the name of the town is written in, one cannot be sure that the stamp was AWFUL EXAMPLES!!!

The record of Great Britain No. 151 and No. 152 King George 1/4 and 1 penny, 1912-13, is interesting. In the 1913 catalog they were priced at 3c and 5c each, respectively; in the 1914 at 5c and 10c, in 1915, 50c each, and in the 1916, 75c each. Thus these two stamps we sent out at 5c for the pair, today we will sell at 75c the pair and this is a low price as they are very scarce. Newfoundland, Nos. 98 to 103, which we sold at 70c the set, in the 1916 catalog are priced at $5.20. Take a tip from us and buy your "White Backs" today. Send us a list of wants and remember if your name is not on our Mailing List WE BOTH LOSE.

follows the flag", it is said, but it is equally true that "trade follows the post", and in Morocco the latter is particularly applicable. Germany has spared no expense in this matter, and its imposing postal establishments, when contrasted with the insignificant offices considered sufficient by the other powers, have suggested to the local mind—the local population mainly seeing European nations through the post office windows—the idea that Germany must naturally be the most powerful and enlightened nation.

The German offices in Morocco are under the direction of the Chief Postal Administration (Ober Postdirektion) of Hamburg, and they are served by a generously subsidised mail service; the latter consisting of two sailings per month between Bremen and Hamburg, Casablanca and Tangier, and, by arrangement with Austria, of a monthly service between Trieste and Moroccan ports.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

The first issue was made at the time the chief office at Tangier and its first six subsidiary offices were opened, viz.: December 20, 1899. At first, it was intended to surcharge the then current stamps of Germany with the name "Marocco" only, as was done in the case of the stamps for the offices in China. In fact, essays of the numeral and eagle types of 1889 were produced with the name MAROCCO overprinted in block letters, but these were never issued, for the reason that the Spanish currency obtaining in Morocco was so much below the German value. The stamps actually issued, therefore, were overprinted "Marocco" and new denominations in Spanish currency in black. The overprint reads diagonally upwards from left to right and though some specialists find two slopes and two thicknesses of the overprint, the differences are really very slight and hard to distinguish. The 3c on 3pf value was simply intended for use between the offices themselves.

Reference List.

HINTS FOR YOUNG DEALERS.

A PERSONAL EXPERIENCE SELLING POSTAGE STAMPS.

BY WILLARD O. WYLIE,
Managing Editor MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

This is a leaf from my own diary and it will be read with interest by those who would like to engage in the stamp business but are hesitating about taking the step.

Six years as a dealer taught me that a person of ordinary ability, by close application could build up a trade in stamps substantial and lucrative. In 1898, I was engaged in a business that gave little promise of any promotion, and I was anxious to make a change where I might enter a wider field of action. I did not have much ready cash to launch into a new business, even though I had the courage. Howard K. Sanderson, of Lynn, Mass., said to me one day: "Why not try the stamp business? Give your leisure time to it and work it up gradually." I followed out the suggestion and my success can be duplicated.

I purchased some Zechmeyer continentals, than which nothing cheaper can be bought, cut out all evening socials and tea parties, and got right down to business. I spent my spare time over the benzine cup and approval sheets, and on the railroad train substituted Scott's catalog for the morning paper. As there is no royal road to learning, so I found that the highway to success was over the roadbed of hard work. I advertised in only one paper, MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, and with gratifying results.

The first two years were hard sledding—naturally so—and especially since I never put a dollar into stamps, except profits. All the while, though, my stock books took on form and comeliness, to say nothing of material value. The third year I got on my feet in fine form; in 1902, I sold stamps to the value of $6,000, while in 1903, I even surpassed those figures and, mark you, was giving only my leisure time to the business.

About this time, Mr. Mekeel came along. He wanted a manager for the WEEKLY and wanted me, but Boston was good enough for me. Later, he moved the WEEKLY to Boston and I took up with work on the WEEKLY, for newspaper work is to me my very atmosphere. I sold my stamp stock for close to $3,000, and bought some stock in the WEEKLY.

All of this by way of introduction. Let me urge you to write for our pamphlet, "How to Deal in Stamps", and note in the meantime these USEFUL SUGGESTIONS.

—Advertise every week, summer and winter, in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

—If economy is aimed after, use the ADLET'S COLUMN of MEKEEL'S where the rate is only 20c per line; 50 lines for $7.50.

—Don't imagine one advertisement will establish you in business and that collectors are going to tumble over each other in an effort to patronize you.

—I seldom inserted an advertisement any week that paid for itself in direct returns.

—Watch for wholesale offerings, and get all price lists possible. Every dealer has his specialties.

—Make your advertisement serve the purpose of opening up business relations with the one who reads it. Even though I bought cheaply, prices were fixed for a reasonable profit and thus I secured the confidence of my patrons.

—Use neat note paper, envelopes and approval books.

—Get a good 10c hinge. Use it and push its sale at every opportunity.

—As soon as you can get together a few stamps, make up a price list, have a few hundred printed, and a little later issue another list. Never fill an order without putting in one or more lists. I ran up to No. 26, and my record order was one of $100 in 1903.

—Buy a dozen instead of a hundred. If you get a saleable thing, you can replenish your stock, and if unable to do this, something else will come your way. Be careful how you tie your money up in slow stock.

There is Good Money in the Stamp Business.

EDITORIAL.

War Marks—We wish to acknowledge the receipt of war envelopes with various marks of censorship from different readers and of information concerning the impressions, from others. We believe that all the general types of marking have been approximately described but we may add that the Italian army postal mark consists of the "Posta Militare" postmark. In answer to requests for an opinion of the future value of the war envelopes, we must repeat that no one may say with certainty how marketable they will be. We remember that the military postmarks of the United States forces in the Philippines, Porto Rico, Cuba, etc., were esteemed rather more during their tenure of existence than afterwards but this circumstance may not alter the present case.

He Remembers—Our remarks in the issue of August 28th, 1915, on the twenty cent green Confederate, alleging on the authority of Professor Schwab, in his work published in 1901, that the stamp was designed to supply a currency need rather than a postal requirement have not been unheeded. A bit of testimony in support of the claim comes from Mr. Jerome G. Wolf whose predilection for Confederate issues and their suggestions is known to some of us. He writes:

"Last winter I had the pleasure of meeting a Mr. Davis of Bradentown, Florida. While assisting me in my search for stamps, he recalled that when a boy, at home, in Orange County, Florida, his parents used stamps for currency and that he still had some at his residence in a little old snuff box which he proceeded to uncover. On opening the box it was found to contain not only five of the twenty cent green Confederate but strangely enough, over a hundred of the three cent Interior Department. Mr. Davis remembered that his parents had often mentioned the use of Confederate stamps as currency, the stamps having been employed to purchase the necessities of life, or in fact, almost anything."

On The Other Hand—We now proceed to the consideration of a document that we have in our possession, through the cooperation of Mr. Walter H. McDonald, that disputes the statement that the twenty cent Confederate was primarily an issue to meet the demand for fractional parts of a dollar, specie having disappeared from circulation during the war. The following letter was sent to Mr. McDonald, under date of May 19th, 1911, by R. P. Thian of Washington, D. C.: "I duly received your letter of May 8th but have delayed answering it that I might reply understandingly to your enquiry relative to the use of the 20 cents (green) Confederate stamp as fractional currency. Professor Schwab of Yale was formerly connected with the John Hopkins University and called on me once when we had a talk on Confederate matters and I allowed him to examine my work and make a few notes on the subject. I was, therefore, curious to find on what he based his financial and industrial history of the South during the Civil War, and succeeded in finding a copy of his book in the Carnegie Public Library of this city. I read it carefully but while from the long list of authorities and quasi-authorities he gives as references, he is entitled to much credit in his search for materials, I think his work ranks only with other numerous histories on divers subjects relating to the Civil War. There is absolutely nothing on the subject in my work nor in the laws of the Confederate Congress and reports of the Postmaster-General for 1864 make no mention of the alleged issue of twenty cents stamps as postal currency. Therefore, I give little credit to Professor Schwab's statement that, 'in 1864, the Post Office Department met the demand for small change with an issue of half a million 20 cent green stamps,' as in support of this statement, he refers to an article in the Richmond Dispatch of April 13, 1864. I have written to a friend in Richmond to procure for me the actual wording of the article and if I succeed in my endeavor, will take pleasure in advising you what I make of it."

In Connection—The author of the foregoing letter, Raphael P. Thian, formerly chief clerk in the office of the adjutant-general of the United States Army, died not long after it was penned. For more than forty years, Mr. Thian had been collecting and collating material suitable for his monumental work and the advantages that he enjoyed through his position officially, combined with his intense interest in the memorabilia of the Confederacy made him the ideal historian. Mr. Thian's great work was never published, although at one time, congress advocated that it be published, but the Public Printer vetoed the project. Later, it was proposed that the publication be undertaken on a somewhat different basis, but, we suppose, the death of Mr. Thian stopped negotiations, as no definite action was taken, we believe.

Philatelic Portrait—Through the courtesy of Mr. H. C. Upson, Waterbury, Conn., we are enabled to mirror the character and activities of James W. Hale who enjoys philatelic distinction through his association with the issue of local stamps. Curiously enough, the medium for the presentation of the sketch of Mr. Hale and his enterprises is the Spirit of the Times, a New York weekly devoted to sporting interests of the higher type, dated March 12th, 1881. In "Reminiscences of a Sporting Journalist", by Col. Thomas Picton, the fourth instalment of the series is a chronicle of "The Novelities", a club of professional gentlemen organized "upon a dark and dismal night, toward the close of the year 1840". The theatre and journalism contributed the majority of members to this club of hale fellows and merry gentlemen; and among the number was James W. Hale, who was well known to a host of contemporaries. We do not begrudge the space necessary to reproduce Col. Picton's sprightly description that so graphically portrays the life of a day that is done:

"A member of the Novelities connected with the Courier and Enquirer in a subaltern capacity, James W. Hale, was one of the most original geniuses and business projectors ever living, who set in motion countless schemes for the public accommodation, which, in subsequent hands, have inflated into national enterprises, absorbing millions of capital and converting his clerks and errand boys into millionaires, while their originator lived by the skin of his teeth and died with an invisible estate. 'Jimmy', as Hale was universally styled by the bulls and bears, first made his appearance before the commercial world as manager of a 'ship letter office' in front of the Courier establishment, 58 Wall. He advertised days of sailing of the European packets, caused letter bags, inscribed with their names, to be hung up against his office wall, into which, for a small fee, he deposited letters destined for Liverpool, London, or Havre, and when the bag was full it was conveyed on shipboard, while a fresh one took its place. In those days, there was no national ocean mail, the transportation of letters being a perquisite of the ship's captain, the Government allowing him five cents for each letter delivered to the postal authorities, who collected it with addition of inland postage, which was likewise required to place by post an outward-bound letter upon shipboard. The establishment of British steamers, who opened offices of their own, charging letters twenty-five cents for sea carriage, summarily closed Jimmy's business in that direction.

Hale next appeared as 'Independent Postmaster-General', carrying and delivering letters from and to Boston, Philadelphia, and Washington at six cents each, the governmental postage being 18 1/4 cents, an enterprise squelched by the authorities through making it unlawful to carry unpaid letters over postal routes. Then Jimmy established a city delivery, through placing tin boxes in hotels, drug, grocery and other prominent stores, collected and delivered thrice a day for a fee of two cents each, corresponding to the Government carrier's personal charge, but Congress nipped this scheme in the bud through declaring city streets to be postal routes. Nothing daunted, Hale next undertook transportation of packages and parcels for merchants and bankers between the Atlantic cities and the National and State capitals. For this purpose, he employed two trustworthy agents upon these routes, to distinguish which he styled one branch 'Harnden's Express', and the other 'Pomeroy's Express', the former having expanded into a vast corporation, while the latter laid the foundation for the firm of Wells, Fargo, & Co."

The illustrations are large and clear. There are no less than 15 for the 1861 issue. The cog wheel punch, triangles and capped "2's" are finely pictured. The manner in which the five dies of the 1853 envelope is treated is alone worth the price of subscription, while the collecting of Reays and Plymptons is made as easy as rolling off a log. FULTON STAMP CO., 102 WEST 42ND ST., NEW YORK CITY

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

HAWAII STAMPED ENVELOPES.

By C. F. RICHARDS.

It was not until the year 1883 that the authorities of the Island Kingdom of Hawaii came to the conclusion that their government was in need of stamped envelopes, though about two years before this they had ordered postal cards.

In October, 1883, the American Bank Note Co., of New York, received an order to engrave dies and prepare electrotypes for the first stamped envelopes.

This they did, and on April 8th, 1884, they shipped a total of 400,000, showing the beautiful harbor of Honolulu. The words "Honolulu, Hawaii" appear at bottom, and at top, the date—1884—and on its right in English. The view with value on its left in Hawaiian, of the harbor is in center with a large figure of value at right and left.

This 400,000 included:

10,000—1c green
175,000—2c pale rose
20,000—4c vermilion
140,000—5c blue
55,000—10c black

There were three sizes and as many qualities of paper. The 1 cent were all of the small size, and the thinnest paper. The 2 cent were of small and medium sizes, and exhibit all three qualities of paper.

A rather curious development was that 100,000 of the small size including thin and medium paper were printed with three pale rose dotted lines across the face of the envelope for the address.

The 4-cent were all of the medium size half each medium and thick paper. The 5-cent were issued in small and medium sizes, and in all three qualities of paper. The 10-cent were of the thickest and medium paper, and the only ones to come in the largest size as well as in the medium.

Approximately 2,000 each of the 2, 4, 5 and 10-cent envelopes were with blue lining. At various later dates, the company shipped, all of medium size and quality, but varying considerably in the shades of ink used. Included amongst the 2-cent were 5,000 of a pink shade, which were thought too light in appearance by the government, so that following shipments were in shades of carmine.

The paper of the various issues runs from pure white to light gray and most of the values are to be found with so-called "printed insides". None of these envelope stamps were lithographed.

In 1885, Postmaster General Whitney had 2,000 10-cent envelopes printed in red, "Special Despatch Letter (For Domestic Mail Only)", in upper left corner. These were never issued to the public, as it was found there was no warrant in law for their use. They were stored in the Treasury until 1893, and then all sold to one gentleman of Honolulu. Thereafter, a few did regular postal duty. The Press Publishing Co. of Honolulu in 1893 surcharged the following:

Provisional Government

16,000—1c green, dark pink surcharge
37,000—2c carmine, black surcharge
47,225—5c blue, dark pink surcharge
28,000—10c black, dark pink surcharge

The 1-cent and 2-cent were all on the medium size envelopes. The 5-cent on small and medium size, and the 10-cent on medium and large. The 10-cent on medium size was the only one with blue inside. There are double surcharges in all values.

The 2-cent comes with inverted "E" in "Government", and with the so-called broken "M" in "Government". There were 7,932 5-cent and 10,293 10-cent destroyed by the Government, January 28, 1897.

Wells, Fargo & Co. used the 5-cent and 10-cent envelopes, and impressed their frank in the upper left corner.

POSTAL CARDS

All postal cards as well as all stamped envelopes, for the Hawaiian Islands were printed by the American Bank Note Company. They received the first order November 1, 1881, and shipped the following cards February 20, 1882:

25,000—1c deep orange on buff card
20,000—2c black on white card
10,000—3c green on white card

The 1-cent bore the likeness of Queen Liliuokalani; the 2-cent, a picture of Diamond Head near Honolulu; and the 3-cent, Royal Emblems.

There were later shipments as follows:

100,000—1c deep orange on buff card
200,000—1c vermilion on orange card
37,500—2c black on white card
20,000—3c green on white card

There were also reply cards with same engravings as on the single cards of same values, viz.:

5,000—1c x 1c violet on buff card
5,000—1c x 1c purple on orange card
5,000—2c x 2c dark blue on white card
15,000—2c x 2c light blue on white card

10,000 of these latter were destroyed in the furnaces, January 28, 1897.

The Press Publishing Co. of Honolulu in 1893 surcharged the following postal cards:

Provisional Government

28,760—1c vermilion on orange card, black surcharge
10,000—2c black on white card, dark pink surcharge
8,574—3c green on white card, dark pink surcharge

The 1-cent comes with double surcharge.

After the advent of the Republic of Hawaii, new 1-cent and 2-cent cards were ordered, and the first shipment of each made from New York, March 23, 1894. The several shipments of these amounted to

300,000—1c vermilion on orange card
250,000—2c green on white card

The 1-cent cards show the Iolani Palace, and the 2-cent a Chart of the Pacific Ocean.

In nearly all values of cards there is variation in shades, both in ink and card.

LITHOGRAPHED SEAL, DATED 1900.

L. Kopf recently wrote the WEEKLY as follows:

"I have read with much interest Mr. Luff's article on Official Seals. Mr. Luff states that all lithographed seals showing dated cancellations bore dates from 1901 to 1907. I have a dated copy which is surely a lithographed seal, as it has the short line at the left complete and also thin outer line at top and left besides other characteristics of the lithographed seals. The cancellation is St. Louis, Nov. 30, 1900. How is this explained if lithographed seals were not issued until 1901 as Mr. Luff states?"

To this letter Mr. Luff answers:

"I have your letter of Sept. 4 enclosing one from Mr. Kopf which I return. Will you please say to him that I did not intend to say in my article on U. S. Official Seals that the dates of cancellation which I gave were the only ones that might exist, but merely that they were the dates which I had found after looking through a considerable quantity of the seals and I assumed that they were about correct. At any rate, they served to back up my argument that there were no lithographed seals at as early dates as had previously been supposed. The seal which Mr. Kopf de-

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.
SOLE MANUFACTURERS
127 Madison Ave., New York

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels submits the following additional list of new envelopes:

Denom.	Var.	Size	Paper.	Wmk.	Knife.
2c	A	5	Blue	19	87
2c	A	3	White	20	92
2c	A	4	White	20	84

Charles A. Townsend submits copies of the current Officially Sealed stamp, perforated 11 1/2.

BAHAMAS.—According to the Metropolitan Philatelist, the 1sh value has been issued in the regulation colors.

Adhesive.

1sh black on green.

BOLIVIA.—F. R. Elliott reports having seen the 5c green of 1913, cut diagonally in halves and the upper left part used on cover.

CAMEROONS.—Ewen's Weekly reports having received several letters from Officers just returned from the West Coast of Africa, giving information of a provisional issue by overprinting the German stamps "C.E.F." and value in English currency. The values are reported to be:—

Adhesives.

1d on 3pf brown.
1d on 5pf green.
1d on 10pf carmine.
2d on 20pf blue.
2d on 25pf black and red on yellow.
3d on 35pf black and orange on buff.
4d on 40pf black and carmine.
6d on 50pf black and purple on buff.
8d on 80pf black and carmine on rose.
1sh on 1m carmine.
2sh on 2m blue.
3sh on 3m violet-black.
5sh on 5m carmine and black.

It is stated the total value of this surcharged stock was about £3,000, and the sale restricted to seven sets to each of the officers with the Expeditionary Force, and that the supply was quickly exhausted. This report has been general in London the past ten days, but either the statement of total value being £3,000 or the limitation of seven sets would appear to be inaccurate, since it can hardly be credited there were with the Forces such a large number of officers to at once absorb the stock, with the restriction stated. The explanation probably will prove to be that the sale was not confined to the Military, and that others on the spot participated in a fair share.

CANADA.—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred sends specimens of new part perforate stamps with portrait of King George arranged for use in a stamp vending machine. They are imperforate vertically and perforated 12 horizontally. These are similar to Scott's Nos. 104a and 105a, except the size of the perforation. Mrs. Oughtred says that it is possible to get strips of stamps from the vending machine. The buyer puts a cent in the slot and a stamp appears; then without touching the stamp, put another cent in and another one comes out. In this way, one can get undamaged strips. If the buyer pulls off one stamp at a time, there are two wee tears in the top of the stamp, caused by the machine.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—Elliott Perry reports the issue of a 20c value in the 1908 set, similar to Scott's Nos. 361 to 364b.

Adhesive.

20c black.

CUBA.—Charles A. Townsend and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. also report the new shade of the 2c map stamp. They are becoming quite common in the mails.

ECUADOR.—Elliott Perry has also shown us the new 5c in purple.

ST. VINCENT.—Ewen's Weekly reports having received a few specimens of a new printing of the 2 1/2d value, which is in pale ultramarine and quite distinct from the first printing.

TURKEY.—The Metropolitan Philatelist notes that the two highest values of the current set have been surcharged with new values. The 200pi has an additional overprint in Arabic.

Provisional Adhesives.

10pi on 100pi deep blue.

25pi on 200pi green and black.

VENEZUELA.—Elliott Perry reports another value in new Bolivar, of similar design to the other values recently chronicled.

Adhesive.

15c olive.

PLEASED SURELY.

When an advertiser remits in advance for a whole year's advertising, we naturally feel very much pleased. It means more than can be expressed in mere words. We give the this extra bit of advertising in the knowledge that it is well deserved and we trust the Company will get results that will justify the confidence it has placed in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schliekert send us greetings from the Grand Canyon, Ariz., under date of Sept. 6. They are returning East from the A. P. S. Convention.

—Mr. and Mrs. Cook of Norfolk, Va., recently called at the WEEKLY office. Mr. Cook is the proprietor of the Southern Stamp Co.

—E. W. BRIDGE.—The "reform" you indicate would be a difficult one to impartially enforce. It would seem as though collectors should early learn the difference between postally used and canceled to order stamps. We shall give the matter further thought.

—Three of our rebus contestants have failed to select books for their meritorious entries as per recent awards made in the WEEKLY. May we not hear from E. P. Morehouse, Frank C. Clark, and J. B. Cayrasso? Select any one from our list.

—At a recent meeting of the Western Philatelic Association, the constitution and by-laws were amended to allow applications from other localities. To facilitate this extension work, the secretary has moved his office to 350 Folsom St., San Francisco.

—"Mr. D. W. Hulburd asks if anyone has a letter bearing date of July 1st, 1851, with the 3c red stamp attached. Now I have such a letter, a folded blue sheet, with 3c stamp, gridiron cancellation, also paid cancellation both in black. Also postmark in red, Boston, Mass., July 1st, 1851—3 cents. And in closing the letter the writer states that he is using the first stamp under the new law, which makes it doubly interesting."—J. M. OVERFIELD.

—We have received from A. M. Farmer, a clipping from the Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker Press dated Sunday, August 29, containing the "Story of the Special Delivery Stamp." It is written

THE SECOND ISSUE.

On October 20, 1900, stamps of the "Germania" type were suitably overprinted for use in the Moroccan offices. On the pfennig values, the overprint was applied horizontally in two lines, the upper one consisting of the name and the lower one of the new value. On the 1, 2 and 5 mark denominations, the word "Marocco" reads upwards at the left and downwards at the right, while the new value is applied horizontally between and level with the base of the vertical overprints. On the 3 mark stamp, "Marocco" is shown reading upwards on the left border, while the new value reads downwards at the right side. The overprint is in red on the 3 mark and in black on all the others. It will be noted the overprints are all so arranged that they do not cover the word "REICHSPOST". Both types of the German 5 mark stamp were surcharged. There were several printings of the surcharges and Dr. Rommel refers to some minor varieties of considerable interest to the specialist, viz.:—

In the last printing of these stamps, a minor variety may be found; it has not been decided satisfactorily if it exists on some, or on all of the values. By means of printers' trials, we have been able to determine that in any case, on the 25 centimos black, on 20pf blue, the last printing of the overprint is much lower down than usual, so low, in fact, that the upper half of the word REICHSPOST is covered.

At first, the overprint on the 3 to 50 pfennig had the letter "t" square at the top and the letter "s" was straight up. Toward the end of 1903, the 5 centimos showed slight signs of variation in the overprint: the letter "t" was thicker, and went off into a point at the top. Other characteristics of this second type of the 5c are that the letter "s" leans sideways, the "c" in "Marocco" and the figure "5" are somewhat thicker. It appears that the 5c is the only value in which there are two types. There are also differences of type in the values from 1 to 5 marks, in which the differences all lie in the word "Marocco". In type I, the bottom serifs are long, and form right angles to the vertical strokes of the letter "M"; the "r" and "o" are fairly wide apart; the word "Marocco" is fairly lightly printed. In type II, the bottom serifs of the "M" are shorter, and form curves with the vertical strokes of the letter; the "r" and "o" are closer together; the word "Marocco" appears to be more heavily printed.

In 1905, a used specimen of the 50 centimos on 40pf was reported to have been found with inverted "e" in "Centimos" and, though the variety was chronicled in many journals at the time, I have been unable to learn anything more about it.

Advertising Chat—No. 4.

Every inch of advertising space in the WEEKLY is scanned week by week with a careful scrutiny. Dealers should take every care in preparing their copy to put the best foot forward and invite patronage.

Use your space carefully and intelligently and realize that you are competing with scores of other dealers for collector patronage.

Our rate 15c per line on continuous advertising is cheapness personified. In other publications you pay from 75c to $2.00 per line and no other publication in the world reaches 8000 stamp collectors.

Here is what Otto von Schaezler writes:—"I am highly pleased with the chances your paper gives me of picking up good lots of stamps at low prices." Our advertising columns are read and re-read. Work your space to the limit.

E. T. Parker takes regular space on page 6 and his bargain offers week by week are sure to attract attention.

Dr. W. I. Mitchell of Wichita, Kan., promised us last spring that he would be with us in the fall and he has made good. Next week his copy will be used and we shall space him directly under Mr. Parker on page 6.

Geo. T. Simpson plans to change his copy every week, but last week he side-stepped. There's a reason:—"Missed you last week, laid up with a broken rib. No ambition." No wonder! Here is hoping that our dealer friend will soon mend.

The long established firm of A. Perrin & Co. of New York City has made a move for the better and the business card "Removal Notice" published elsewhere will tell the story as to change of address. Mr. Perrin writes: "Will be with you regularly soon as an advertiser."

The Plumridge auction sales will be of interest to dealers and especially one of those described in this issue.

Our pages are filling in with advertisements and everything seems to indicate a busy winter season.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A PHILATELIC RIP VAN WINKLE.

By A. N. RIDGELY.

Returning to my first love, postage stamps, after an absence of nearly thirty years, reminiscences of those early days of stamp collecting—and the remarkable changes in the hobby which strike one awakening as though from a Rip van Winkle sleep—appear to me to be not without interest. The tremendous increase, not only in the number of stamps, but in the number of collectors; the greater enthusiasm, almost a "craze" in some cases, turning a pleasant and instructive pastime into a serious life-work; the search for "varieties," watermarks, "errors," etc.; the transfer of popularity from stamps which were then the vogue into others, as for example from the U. S. Department issues and U. S. envelopes into all the numberless changes and microscopical varieties and errors of shades, paper, grilles, postmarks and what-not of the ordinary issues; the marvellous augmenting in value of certain stamps; the great mass of "canceled to order" stuff, and what is much more objectionable, the printing and issuance of elaborate sets in great variety and number from obscure countries for the prime object of hoodwinking collectors, postage requirements being only an incident—all these things and more, forcibly impress the philatelic slumberer, on his awakening.

Perhaps the most extraordinary development of all is that instead of being satisfied with one stamp of a kind, there is now a large class of dealer-collectors who buy and hoard up great blocks of duplicates. I know of one such man in England who has a collection of 1,000 each of 6,000 different stamps; in other words, 1,000 sets of 6,000 varieties. I know of many in this immediate neighborhood who "collect" along the same lines though in a smaller way. And it seems to be growing. Probably these stamps will never come upon the market; for a most peculiar thing about this business is that holders of stamps do not want to sell—there is a steady absorption, always more buyers than sellers—but the thought must occur to one, that suppose these wholesale lots ever were forced for sale what a collapse in prices there would be.

Far be it from me to attempt to dictate what and how stamps should be collected. I am merely jotting down the impressions of an old-timer, and my opinions need only be taken for what they are worth. But I think the encouragement given by large dealers to the collecting and differentiating of the infinite varieties of perforations, papers, surcharges, errors, etc., etc., has done more than any other one thing to choke off desirable collectors. I know of several wealthy Stock Exchange men, to whom money was no object and who wanted collections practically complete, one stamp of every kind—they could keep pace with the new issues all right, but not with the "varieties" and errors, and they quit. Personally, I stopped collecting largely for that reason, though I have always regretted selling my collection.

A long time previously to that I had quit dealing in stamps, being too busily engaged with other projects. That was away back in 1886, though subsequently, I bought many large parcels during my travels in foreign lands, selling most of them en bloc to my friend, Mr. R. R. Bogert; some to Mr. Baitzell and to Mr. Wettern. Perhaps I should plead guilty to being the originator of the real canceled-to-order business—for which I was very adversely criticized at the time by parties whom the shoe pinched, though I have never been able to see the impropriety of such transactions if conducted along conservative lines. It was in 1887, while en route to Australia, that I called on the Postmaster at Honolulu, and was informed by him that a larger number of the $1 stamps were on hand than would ever be used for postage—that they were being utilized as tax stamps on opium cans—also, that there were many thousands of the 18, 25 and 50 cent, and the obsolete 2 cent unperforated. I suggested that the Post Office might derive some profit out of what otherwise was waste paper, by canceling those stamps and selling them to me at the rate of $100 per 10,000 right through. This was done, then and there. Well, I sold those stamps at five cents apiece, and Wettern sold them at about ten. Not only have they all been absorbed, but the $1 is now catalogued at about $10, and the 2 cent at $4. I think those used on opium cans are quoted at $2. Subsequently, there were several hundred thousand of these stamps "re-issued", but only the 12 cent lilac and the 18 cent never came on the market. The others may be buried away somewhere now.

Some ten years later, in London, I was surprised to find among sundry odds and ends, about 200 of those stamps, which had never been missed from so many. Being engaged in some rather big enterprises at that time, and having no interest in stamps, I handed them to the office boy (who said he knew a dealer, etc., etc.) and told him he could keep whatever he got for them. The boy got ten shillings—so he informed me some days later!

However, the real originator of canceling government remainders was G. B. Calman. The San Domingo stamps were unsalable unused, so they were canceled, and even in that shape, Calman was offering them in 1884-5 for almost nothing—immense quantities and no buyers. But since those days, they have all been absorbed and are now catalogued at fairly good prices. I can see nothing objectionable about it as done at that time. But they went several steps further when they had designed and printed the Seebeck issues, with the sanction of the Central American States to be sure, but gotten up and printed by the million, not for legitimate postal purposes, but to foist off on collectors. This was a most reprehensible commercializing of the stamp business, and in my opinion is a totally different thing from canceling stamps for collectors after they have been issued for postal purposes. The Seebecks were designed in advance for dealers; and there are Borneos and others in the same category.

The tremendous increase in price of the medium-early British Colonials and U. S. issues astounds an old-timer. Some of the Bahamas St. Vincent, Turks Island, etc., etc., which sold then for a few cents each, are now worth almost as much in dollars. Of the U. S., take the one cent brown, 1869, for example, which were reprinted and sold by the P. O. Department at face. I bought a large supply of that stamp and was in the habit of using same for postage when writing to anybody interested in stamps. It is now catalogued at $1.50 (hard paper $5), while the original is catalogued 85 cents. Any of the reprinted 1869 issue could be bought at face until 1885; they are now catalogued all the way up to $40 apiece.

One of the last transactions I had in U. S. stamps was buying 100 sets unused Justice complete for $150 and jobbing them off to dealers at $18 per ten sets. Look up the price of those stamps now. U. S. Departments were my specialty in those days. I had a big trunk full. 5,000 sets War Department, unused—and the others. Complete sets of Treasury used were worth about $100 per 1,000 sets at that time. My entire stock was worth about $3,000 then. What would it be worth today? But that is something I had rather not think about.

A great many people have bought stamps in the last ten years with the dream that there will be a similar enhancement of value in the current issues, and are hoarding large blocks of some kinds as an "investment". Most of these holders may be disappointed. Thirty years ago, nobody was buying blocks of stamps to lay away for keeps. Whereas, in the last 15 years thousands of people have been doing it, and as a result, there will always be an ample supply of these particular stamps to meet any possible demand.

What is the present outlook for the stamp trade? What effect will the deplorable conflict in Europe have? These are interesting questions, hard to answer. In a general way, I think the stamp business in this country, in common with real estate and nearly all lines of trade, follows the stock market—later. The business of stamps should tend towards improvement for several years. On the other hand it may be logically argued that abnormal conditions resulting from the war will bring heavy offerings from England and Europe. I do not think there is much doubt of this. No great quantities have been pressed for sale yet, only a few items being offered at cut prices, but that is no guarantee that good and poor stamps alike will not be thrown on the market when the war is over.

But to hazard a guess, the coming season in this country should be a fairly prosperous one for dealers.

POLAND.

Poland, once a great kingdom but gradually reduced by her three hungry neighbors, Russia, Prussia and Austria, until they swallowed her entirely, has been once again the battleground of Europe. The recent occupation by the Germans of most of Russian Poland has placed her again upon the philatelic map with the issue of five of the low value German stamps surcharged RUSSISCH POLEN.

Poland's previous philatelic history was comparatively short. The Russian stamps were used there until January 1, 1860, when the solitary special stamp of 10 Kopeks in blue and red was issued for the Province. The name was not displayed and the stamp was simply a copy of the Russian type, with the bottom inscription in Polish ZA LOT KOP. 10 (10 Kopeks) per lot—the unit of weight, about one-half ounce). The stamps were made in the state printing office in St. Petersburg (now Petrograd) by typography. Scott notes them as perforated 12 and Gibbons as 11½ to 12. Careful measurements of quite a number of available copies have uniformly given me 12 horizontally by 12¼ vertically. Nothing less than 12 has been found. Having been printed at the same time as the Russian stamps listed as perforated 12½, it would be natural to suppose that the Polish stamps were perforated by the same machines. Gauging a number of these Russian stamps at hand I find them quite uniformly 12¼ horizontally by 12½ vertically, so that the two series are not so widely separated as the catalogs might lead us to believe, and more study upon larger numbers would probably bring them into harmony. Several shades of both colors of the stamp are given in the catalogs and it is listed on vertically laid as well as wove paper.

The stamps was suppressed on February 13, 1865, and only Russian stamps have been in use since.

Only Half a Stamp!

One of the most interesting provisional series of late years was that issued by the Governor of the Portuguese India in 1911-12. This issue was authorized by the Home Government at Lisbon, and was issued at Goa to fill a real need. Therefore there was a postal necessity for the stamps and they were used in the regular order of business. Both Scott and Gibbons list these interesting stamps, but with rare exceptions, no prices are given for used specimens. By a fortunate chance we are enabled to supply collectors looking for genuinely postally used stamps with the following list, at the low prices named. In most cases we can supply both right and left halves, but in no case can we supply unsevered pairs. Prices are net, per half stamp, with postage extra on orders under 50 cents.

It is curious that like Russia and Finland, the first postage stamps of Poland were really stamped envelopes, though they were merely handstamped for local use in Warsaw. There were two varieties, one with a large eagle in center and two lines of inscription above; the other with a smaller eagle and two lines below as well. They bear no value, but were sold for 1½ kopeks, 1 for the envelope and ½ for the stamp, and were used for mailing visiting cards. They were first issued on January 21, 1858. On March 1, 1860, two regularly printed envelopes of 3k for Warsaw and 10k for general use were issued, and these remained current until they were suppressed with the single adhesive on February 13, 1865.—*N. THE SEASON'S PROSPECTS.

THE INDICATIONS ARE APPARENTLY FAVORABLE FOR A BUSY FALL AND WINTER.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

The publication of this large number of the WEEKLY, carrying with it so many columns of advertising, is the best answer that could be made to anyone fearful that trade conditions are to be poor the coming season.

We can see no indication that business will suffer because of the war unless we are drawn into the same. True, there are communities and even areas of territory where there is business depression but the country as a whole is very busy at work and the people will have money to invest in the direction towards which their fancy turns.

It is reasonable to believe that the stamp collector will be able to gratify his desires along philatelic lines. A man, ordinarily, will get the thing he wants in some way or other, and a stamp collector is no exception to this general rule.

The hundreds of war stamps have, no doubt, whetted the interest of many collectors. They appeal strongly from the two standpoints of sentiment and investment, in fact, the two make quite a combination.

There can be no question but that many collectors find stamp collecting an enjoyable hobby because it combines an element of financial gain with the other attributes so frequently referred to and enumerated. This financial gain is a no mean consideration, however much the "purists" may deride it.

With most of our pleasures, we have only the memory and shortly after the price has been paid, the event takes its place in great storehouse of past events. Our stamps are ever with us. What a delightful recreation they offer! We never tire of handling them, and as we study and arrange and caress them, they meet that great need of the human soul—companionship!

So let us enjoy to the fullest extent our book of treasures and do our best to introduce others into the mysteries of our hobby. Let the year 1915-16 be the best year we have ever known!

Certain of our dealers have given us their views on the season's prospects, and we quote their opinions as below:—

H. M. CLARK, Mgr. Scott Co., N. Y. City.

In regard to your invitation to forecast the coming season in the stamp trade, I can merely repeat optimism of the past and conditions have not changed to any considerable extent to cause me to differ from the position. The publication of our new 20th century album in the near future should do much to stimulate interest.

J. MURRAY BARTELS, New York.

I consider the outlook for the coming season most favorable. We can hardly remember when we were kept so busy during the summer months as this year, particularly in regard to our approval department, which has been steadily increasing in spite of the warm weather. The demand for fine U. S. general issues of the better class is as strong as ever. There is an increased call for used stamps showing odd or attractive postmarks, and the old issues are in much demand by specialists who are collecting varieties of impression, shades, etc.

Early issues in fine condition of all countries are eagerly sought and, undoubtedly, prices in this line must continue to increase. The War issues of various countries have been very popular and no doubt done much to help stamp collecting in general. Prominent dealers in Germany and France are writing for selections of early Europeans and state that a few weeks after the outbreak of the War business there assumed practically normal proportions, particularly the high class trade in fine material. Auction prices in Berlin have shown no decrease and new records have been established in spite of present conditions.

The demand for older issues on original covers is constantly growing. U. S. envelopes are increasing in popularity. Collectors of both entire and cut square are now collecting shades of stamp as well as paper in many cases. The numerous types of the Nesbitt issues are receiving more attention by a number of keen philatelists. The beginning of the

Headquarters for Stamps of the U. S. and Its Colonies

I am now breaking up a very fine collection of U. S. stamps, which is especially strong in the 1847 and early issues, consisting of single copies on and off covers,—some wonderful copies in the lot.

The collection also contains some most marvelous shades in blocks of 4, from 1890 to date. If interested, write me.

H. F. COLMAN,

Second National Bank Bldg.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

new contract is bringing out many new varieties (mostly new watermarks) of envelopes which are keenly sought by many enthusiasts, and our new issue department in envelopes is kept very busy trying to obtain supplies and fill the demand.

JOHN A. KLEMMANN (Nassau Stamp Co.), N. Y. C.

From my observations of the past year, I cannot say that our business has been otherwise than very good, even in spite of the war. To be sure the bulk of our business is done in America but we have also found a steadily increasing demand for fine things from England.

Our purchase of the Chapman Collection of United States issues, we felt would put us in a position to supply these demands to some extent, but even with this important purchase we soon found we had not enough material to take care of our local business, so great was the demand.

These facts lead us to believe that we are about to enter on one of the best years we have ever had, and all indications point to the beginning of another period of philatelic prosperity similar to that of 1894 to 1898.

We have found the supply of good material to be distressingly small compared with the demand, and with practically nothing offered.

We are glad to say, however, that we were able to replenish our stock with the purchase of the celebrated Henry J. Crocker collection of United States stamps and fourteen other complete countries, chiefly African, and with these and the balance of the Chapman Collection, we are equipped and prepared for the increased demand which we feel is coming this season.

EDW. STERN, Economist Stamp Co.

This has been the busiest summer season we have ever had. There is a steady and increasing demand for stamps of both centuries, and particularly for the countries involved in the war at the present time. Early issues of most all countries are becoming scarcer all the time and even moderate priced varieties are hard to get hold of.

We look forward to a very large fall season, surely if the summer months were brisk we cannot predict otherwise. The constant use of your publication in keeping before live and up-to-date collectors as well as the issuance of our monthly paper, the Economist Bulletin, regularly right up to the minute (which by the way is mailed gratis) and giving collectors prompt and "Economic" service is undoubtedly the cause of our activity.

B. L. DREW, Boston.

We had splendid business in August. The indications are that the old "nineteenth" century stamps are regaining their favor. Solid value will count in the long run.

P. M. WOLSEFFER, Philadelphia, Pres. Philadelphia Stamp Co.

At the present time, the indications for a successful stamp season are numerous. We are receiving many requests from our recent advertisements in the WEEKLY for catalogs of our coming Auction Sales. We also have received numerous "Want Lists" for stamps from the H. Wesley Legg stock, and in nearly every case the parties applying were new names that we did not have on our large mailing list.

There is always a falling off during the dog days of retail counter sales and this year was no exception; yet, we were surprised at the large amount of supplies called for, such as hinges, approval cards, albums, stock books, etc., and an encouragingly large number of cheap sets and packets, indicating that the "Beginner" was still with us.

Fine old issues are very hard to pick up, greatly in demand and command top notch prices. It is the talk of the trade that so little real good material is being offered. There is plenty of the cheap junk and doubtful stuff going the rounds, but with little or no sale.

Unless we should be drawn into the European War, I see no reason why this should not be a banner year for the stamp business.

EUGENE KLEIN, Philadelphia.

I have just returned from California, having stopped over in nearly all the important cities on the way, but found comparatively little offered in good stamps anywhere, while there were plenty of buyers for the good things that I had with me. The old issues, in fine condition, of all countries are easily saleable. Especially is this true of United States stamps which change hands at high prices without respect for catalogue quotations. Auction prices have testified to this, even when held in mid-summer.

FRED MICHAEL, Chicago.

There has always been a spirit of optimism in Chicago, that we here in the west are going to see our hobby and our business increase and now Chicago has become large enough and her tributary territory rich enough to support philately and kindred hobbies of the same magnitude as those of the east and of Europe.

As yet, no firm locally has risen to that importance and prominence, but in a city of 2,500,000 ultimately there will be such, one with the right stock, with the right knowledge of stamps and with the ability to handle deals of the first importance. All of the dealers here, are working optimistically towards that end, that their business may grow as Chicago has grown and that one's own particular business will be the one to become world-wide important.

WRITING AN ADVERTISEMENT.

It cannot be expected that the mere insertion of an advertisement in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY will overwhelm any dealer with business. An advertisement must be well written, offer desirable stamps and at prices that compel attention.

Subscribers to the WEEKLY are no different from subscribers to other publications in that they are looking for things that they need, and they want them at as reasonable prices as they can be secured. Make it easy for a collector to answer your adv. and remember that definite offers of stamps at reasonable prices will secure patronage.

GERMAN POST OFFICES ABROAD.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

In 1905, the fancy type of overprint similar to that used in the foreign offices in China and Turkey made its appearance. In this overprint, the letters and numerals are in fancy Gothic characters, the German stamps surcharged being those inscribed DEUTSCHES REICH. The overprints were applied in the same positions as on the corresponding values of the last series, and also, similarly to the 1900 issue, the surcharge on the 3 mark value was in red and on all the others it was black. The new stamps were first placed on sale about September.

Before this set was supplied to the Moroccan offices, supplies of the 5c on 5pf ran very low and a new lot was ordered. In filling this requisition, the Government printers used the Gothic type, which had already been decided on for the forthcoming issue, on the 5pf stamp of the REICHSPPOST series. Altogether, 220 sheets or 22,000 were printed thus and the error was placed on sale about the middle of September. Dr. Rommel tells us that 18,500 were sold and that the balance of 3,500 were held at the disposal of the Moroccan offices by the Government Printing Office in Berlin. According to the Deutsche Verkehrszeitung (Official Gazette) all the stamps inscribed REICHSPPOST and surcharged for Morocco which were in the keeping of the Government Printing Office were ordered to be destroyed in February, 1907, so that it is possible the balance of the errors were burned with other remainders at that time.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

In 1906, as the stocks of the old supplies were used up, these stamps began to appear on the lozenge watermarked paper introduced for the stamps of the German Empire in 1905. The 3c was issued in February, 1906; the 10c appeared in September and the 25c in December. The next value to make its appearance was the 5c which was issued in February, 1907. Two months later, the 6p 25c value appeared, to be followed by the 2p 50c in July and the 1p 25c in August. It was not until March, 1908, that the next denomination—35c—appeared, and then over two years elapsed until the 50c was issued. In 1911, the 30c, 60c and 1 peseta were issued but the 3p 75c necessary to complete the set was never issued on the watermarked paper.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

In 1911, some officious individual discovered that the spelling "Marocco" on these stamps was hardly correct, consequently, an entirely new set had to be issued with the surcharge Germanised to "Marokko". With the exception of this alteration of the two letters "c" to "k", the type and arrangement on the various values is the same as before. All values are on the lozenge watermarked paper.

German Offices in Turkey.

The first country in which Germany established foreign post offices was the Turkish Empire, and its philatelic history, as Mr. Barnsdall puts it, "reflects the continual fluctuation of exchange of local currency and the strenuous competition of the various Powers to capture the postal traffic." The first office was opened at Galata, Constantinople, on March 1st, 1870 and in 1875 a branch office was opened in Stamboul, or Constantinople proper. The next office was established at Jaffa on October 1st, 1898, on the occasion of the visit of the German Emperor, and on March 1st, 1900, offices were opened at Smyrna, Beirut, Jerusalem, and Pera, the latter being a suburb of Constantinople.

Beirut, or Beyrouth, is a seaport on the Mediterranean, in Syria, Turkey in Asia, situated on a bay at the foot of a prolongation of the Lebanon, 55 miles by rail from Damascus, whose port it is. Beirut is the healthiest place on the coast having temperate summers and a plentiful supply of rain in the winters. It is a town of considerable antiquity and was at one time a port of the Phoenicians. It came later under the power of Egypt, from whom it was taken by Antiochus the Great, and so became part of Syria. Conquered for the Romans by Agrippa, it was made by Augustus a military colony under the name of Colonia Julia Augusta Felix Berytus. During the Crusades it belonged alternately to the Christians and to the Saracens. In 1763 it fell into the power of the Turks; was conquered by Ibrahim Pasha, son of Mehemet Ali of Egypt in 1831; and played an important part in the Oriental question in 1840, when it was bombarded on September 10th by the allied English, Austrian and Turkish fleets, until evacuated by the Egyptians. Its modern growth dates from 1843 when steam navigation was introduced. It has a present population of about 150,000, over one-fourth of whom are Mohammedans.

Constantinople, the capital of the Ottoman Empire, was founded in 330 A. D. by Constantine the Great, from whom it derives its name. The city consists of two distinct parts—Stamboul or Constantinople proper, and Christian Constantinople (Pera, Galata, and Top-hana). The two are separated by the Golden Horn, a creek about five miles long and half a mile wide at the entrance, a safe and spacious harbor, and so deep that large ironclads can lie quite close to the shore. Stamboul lies on the southern side of the Golden Horn and Christian Constantinople on the northern side. The two are connected by a couple of rude but convenient bridges. The old walls, in courses of stone and red brick, and 14 miles in circuit, show that the modern Turkish city occupies much the same area as the capital of the first Christian emperor. Within these walls the city rises, like Rome, upon seven low hills, crowned by noble mosques, with a wilderness of picturesque, tumble-down, filthy wooden houses and bazaars climbing up their sides. In Stamboul are nearly all the monuments and antiquities worth seeing in Constantinople. In 330 A. D., impressed by its magnificent site, Constantine the Great abandoned the old capital of the Roman Empire on the Tiber, and founded in the place of Byzantium a new metropolis on the Bosphorus which he called Constantinople. Its walls and public buildings were enlarged and beautified by Justinian in 527-565. Since then it has undergone many sieges by Sassanians, Persians, Avars, Saracens (six times), Russians (in 9th to 11th Centuries), Latins and Turks; and of its twenty-six sieges and eight captures, that of the Latins under Baldwin and Dandolo in 1204 was by far the most disastrous, barbarous and spoiling. In comparison, the Turkish sieges were humane and chivalrous: the first took place in 1356; Murad II made the attempt again in 1422; and Mohammed II carried the city in 1453.

Galata, at which the first German post office was established, is pre-eminently the merchant quarter, and it was founded in 1216 by a colony of Genoese merchants. The Tower of Galata, a Genoese erection, serves the same purpose as the Seraskier's Tower on the opposite side in giving alarms of fires. A tunnelled railway drags passengers up the steep ascent to Pera.

Pera is the aristocratic quarter; here are all the embassies and consulates. The steep and badly paved Grande Rue is lined with fair if expensive shops, and boasts a rude opera house, many cafés and restaurants, and most of the principal hotels. The total population of Constantinople probably exceeds a million and a quarter, and at least half of the inhabitants are Mohammedans.

Jaffa, or Joppa as it was known in Biblical times, is a town on the seacoast of Syria, 37 miles north-west of Jerusalem. Under Constantine the place, which had been destroyed by Vespasian, became a bishop's see, and, as the Crusaders' great landing place, was taken and retaken by Christian and Moslem. In 1799 Napoleon stormed it; in 1832, it was taken by Mehemet Ali, and restored to the Turks by British help. The open roadstead, the ancient walls, the yellow sand-dunes, and the orange gardens are now the chief features of the brown town on its hillock. The population is estimated at about 40,000. There is a regular German colony near the town and although it only numbers some three hundred souls it was established so long ago as 1869.

Jerusalem, regarded as a holy city alike by Jews, Christians and Moslems, long the capital of Palestine, stands on the spurs of two hills surrounded and divided by two valleys, once deep, but now partly or wholly filled up with rubbish. The Eastern Hill was originally a rounded top crowned with the "threshing floor of Araunah," and the rock and cave, probably a sacred site from time immemorial. The Western Hill, higher than the other by more than a hundred feet, was also bounded by steep slopes. Either hill was, therefore, a strong hill-fortress. The history of Jerusalem covers a period of about 3,500 years. Of these 500 at least are prehistoric; and of the 3000 years which remain, less than 500 show us Jerusalem independent, the capital of a free country, and the center of a national religion. For 600 years longer the city was in the hands of the Israelites, but never wholly independent. Its name is found on an inscription at least 500 years before David; it was besieged almost immediately after the death of Joshua (1400 B. C.) and was the constant centre of strife until 586 B. C., when it was entirely destroyed. Fifty years later it was rebuilt but for 500 years after this Jerusalem knew not a single generation of peace. Internal factions tore it to pieces; the city was in possession in turn of Persian, Macedonian, Syrian, Egyptian, and Roman. Under Antiochus the temple was consecrated to Zeus Olympius; and swine were sacrificed on the altars. But for the Maccabees, the religion of the Jews would have been abandoned and their nationality lost. The city was besieged, taken, and again totally destroyed by Titus in 70 A. D. In 134 A. D., the rebellion of Bar Cocheba was the signal for another devastation; but in 136 Hadrian rebuilt the city, called it Aelia Capitolina, and generally paganised it. When the empire eventually became Christian, pilgrimages to the holy place increased greatly in number, and in 333 the Church of the Holy Sepulchre was founded. In 614, Jerusalem was attacked by the Persians, and in 637 it passed into the power of Islam, falling to the Caliph Omar. The Arab overlords were on the whole not unfriendly to the Christians, and the city was well cared for under them; but when the Seljuk Turks came into power, their oppression of the pilgrims became a challenge to the Christian powers, and the crusades were the results. Godfrey of Bouillon rescued the city in 1099, but it was retaken by Saladin in 1187. From 1247, it was subject to Egypt for two hundred and seventy years, but eventually fell to the Sultan Selim I in 1517. In 1825, there was a partially successful revolt against the Turkish despotism, but in 1849 the authority of Turkey was confirmed by the powers. Of late years the city has become the rendezvous of thousands of exiled Jews, mainly from Russia. Its present population is about 50,000.

Smyrna, the most important seaport of Asia Minor, stands at the head of the Gulf of Smyrna, which penetrates 46 miles inland from the Aegean Sea. It was founded, probably about 1000 B. C., by Achaen or Aolian colonists from Greece, though it subsequently became Ionian. Early in the 7th century B. C., it resisted the Lydian king, Gyges; but in 627 B. C., his grandson, Alyattes, took the city and utterly destroyed it. At last it was restored by Lysimachus, early in the 3rd century B. C. It then became one of the finest cities in Asia Minor. From the Romans it received privileges because of its fidelity in their wars with Mithridates. In 178 and 180 A. D., it suffered greatly from earthquakes. A Christian church was established there at an early date. In 1084, Smyrna was captured by a Turkish chief, and then nearly destroyed by a Greek fleet. The emperor Alexis Comnenus restored it; afterwards it suffered much from a siege by Tamerlane (1402), and in 1424 fell into the hands of the Turks. Smyrna was one of the towns claimed to be the birthplace of Homer. About 2700 years ago Smyrna was one of the principal trading centres for Asia Minor; and now it has as a seaport the lion's share of the Asia Minor trade with Europe. The harbor is large, safe, and easily accessible, but is in imminent danger of silting up. It has an estimated population of about a quarter of a million of whom 130,000 are Greeks (more than the population of Athens), 23,000 Jews, 12,000 Armenians, 12,700 Europeans, and the rest Turks.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

The first German stamps overprinted for use in the Turkish post offices were not issued until January 25th, 1884. From 1870, when the first office was established at Constantinople, until that date ordinary current German stamps were used (the issues of the North German Confederation of 1869, and of the German Empire from 1872 until 1880). Mr. Barnsdall gives the reason for the overprinted stamps as follows:

In time it was discovered that a large number of these stamps were not bought for postal purposes, but were used for making remittances to Germany, the difference of exchange enabling remitters to buy the stamps

POOLE'S GREAT BOOKThe Stamp Collector's Guide

We cannot be too extravagant in our praise of this book. It is all that its name implies and is suited both for the advanced collector as well as the beginner. We have no hesitancy in affirming that this book will be a faithful companion, frequently consulted and of permanent value. Its many chapters are marvels of information, a veritable thesaurus of philatelic information.

Postage Stamp Overhead

BET you never heard it called by its right name before. Probably that's why you failed to recognize it as a source of enormous waste. It means simply this: You pay two cents to mail a letter that weighs a quarter of an ounce, when the same amount will carry four times that weight. The three-quarters of an ounce is waste. Figure it out for a year and you'll feel like you've been supporting the government.

Make every postage stamp pay for its overhead, and earn a profit. With every letter, invoice and statement enclose an attractive, interesting printed stamp list. The circular or folder doesn't cost much and every dollar's worth of business it digs up is that much velvet. Think it over.

It's wonderful when you stop to think about it. You mail 1,000 little cards or folders tonight, and tomorrow 1,000 people are thinking about you. What an opportunity for the man with stamps to sell.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY IS TALKING

The 10 para surcharge now has letters and figures of the same size. In the case of the "1 PIASTER 1" surcharge the numerals are smaller and the letters larger than before. A different arrangement was followed for the two highest values the word "PIASTER" occupying a line by itself with the value at each side a little above the "P" and "R".

Way back in 1902 I called on Mr. Wells of Wells, Richardson & Co. and he told me they received the 1882 1c stamps in payment of bill in 1898 and had them precanceled so they could use same on their circulars. They are printed both up and down and with two distinct types as Mr. Wells stated they run short of type.—H. S. WILLIAMS.

—"Recently I bought a lot of stamps, guaranteed genuine, and among them I found a copy of the 4c denomination issue of 1894, Benin, with the word Benin spelt BFNIN. Neither the Scott nor Stanley Gibbons catalogs list this variety."—HENRY E. ABT.

—The Collectors Philatelic Society of Detroit now in existence over a year, has heretofore received no mention. It has approaching fifty members, all alive and actively engaged in collecting. Meetings are held semi-monthly at the Hotel Tuller with a good attendance and an active campaign to run the membership up to one hundred or more is under way. The dues are very nominal and the benefit from the sales circuits and auctions are worth trying. E. B. Cookson is secretary.

STAMPS ON APPROVAL

We are doing a very large approval sheet business and have had a good many customers on our books for many years. We shall be very glad to know your requirements and shall be pleased to send very fine selections on approval at large discounts.

The following is one out of many letters which we receive quite frequently: Dr. C. A. E., Chicago, Ill., writes under date of July 29th, 1915:

"Enclosed please find my check for $156.87 for stamps purchased by me from your last approval selection. Kindly send me in your next selection, etc., etc."

We have sold this gentleman stamps for many years. We have many customers on our books who are buying similar amounts, and who purchase from our selections almost continually, which ought to be convincing proof that the grade of stamps, the variety which we are able to send, and the discounts allowed by us must be about right. If you have never purchased from our approval sheets before, we shall be very glad to have you give them a trial.

Our large lists, over 124 pages, free upon request; hundreds of bargains with regular monthly supplements.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

At the time that the new surface printed stamps were placed on sale in Germany (October 1st, 1889), the same series overprinted with new values in Turkish currency was placed on sale in the Levant offices. The values were the same as before and the overprints on the two lower values were somewhat similar, in fact, the 20 para overprint is so like that of 1884 that it would seem to have been applied by the same form.

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS.

The stamp season is on!

This particular number of the WEEKLY will have compelling force in stimulating any wavering interest and in increasing the present day ardor in stamp collecting as an ideal hobby.

Who can look through this issue without being impressed with the truth of the words spoken by some of our veteran dealers? We do not need to quote them, they speak for themselves!

American collectors cannot help profiting by the great war now being waged in Europe. We did not want it, we would have prevented it if possible and we can only hope and pray that our beloved nation may remain a neutral nation to the very end.

In the months to come the United States must needs be a busy spot and philatelists will share in the general prosperity. In the meantime do not forget that the enterprising stamp dealer gives his best offers newspaper publicity and the columns of this paper are just bulging with tempting bargains.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Well Begun—We announce the grand opening of the stamp season. However, before the aforesaid season gets its stride, a period of readjustment and rehabilitation must be passed. Old acquaintanceships must be reaffirmed and new ones established; vacations must have been succeeded by work or study and the old routine must have been restored. The weather is an arbiter of stamp seasons and one must take a chance with its caprices before affixing dates in the philatelic calendar. So soon as the cool nights make it comfortable in-doors, stamps will cast their spell over members, young and old, of many a household throughout our broad land. So, we celebrate the coming season with an opening reception at which we wish cheer and comradeship to enter into the spirit of the occasion so that the start of the season may be propitious and an augury for an active and pleasant stamp year.

Cut It Out—The following little notice of a "cut-out" ordered by the censors of moving pictures at Chicago is significant of the care that is taken in some quarters to preserve the letter of the law that no representations be made of the postal certificates of the United States: "Cut-outs. Tribune Weekly No. 15. (Chicago Tribune.) Five close views of stamped envelopes."

True to Early Training—We find that the new book, The Passport, by Emilie Voute, is being advertised by the New York publishers as "the book that points the way toward ending war." Further, it is "a challenge to the Edisons" as "until the Passport appeared no one seems to have pointed out that war can only be ended by discovering some agent that will overcome force without killing." If we can borrow the book somewhere, we shall try to read it as we are curious how our old friend has handled the subject. Nothing is beyond Mr. Voute as in his salad days, he ran a sprightly stamp paper, the Stamp Collectors' Figaro, at Chicago, for several years at the tender age of fifteen years. In our humble opinion, Mr. Voute is well equipped to subdue war with which he became acquainted so early in his career; and we congratulate him upon breaking into the ranks of the "best sellers" as we fondly hope he does.

Prison Postmarks—Some time ago, we compiled a list of postmarks found on letters sent by southern soldiers who were confined in military prisons in the north, that was not offered as a complete register of the detention camps equipped with postoffice paraphernalia but as a nucleus of a list of the kind. The prisons in question were: Johnson's Island, Ohio, with complementary postmark of Sandusky, Ohio; Camp Douglas, Illinois, with postmark of Chicago; Delaware City, Delaware and Delaware Bay, Delaware. The markings were all in postmark form. The prison camp at Elmira, New York, had no special postmark impression, we believe. All letters sent by captured southern soldiers were rated with the three cent U. S. stamp, which paid the postage to Richmond (or New Orleans) and the ten cents Confederate postage was collected upon delivery of the letters at the destination in the south. Letters sent by northern prisoners in camps in the south bearing the ten cent Confederate stamp and "Due 6" are very scarce and we do not know of any southern prison that had a postal equipment, in the way of postmark with prison name, etc. We find "Andersonville Prison" written over the stamp and envelope and we doubt if there are any prison postmarks of the south in existence. Enlightenment on this phase would be welcomed.

Due Marks—A reader calls attention to the earliest indication of "postage due" on an envelope that he has been able to find; and which is: "Due 10" in circle, on an envelope postmarked Charlottesville, Va., August 28th, 1863. He cites a variation of a due impression on an envelope postmarked, August 10th, 1869, in the marking just under the three cent locomotive, "Advanced Due 1 Ct.," enclosed in a circle.

Some More of Them—Mr. Hugh C. Barr has shown us a vertical pair of the five centavos yellow and green Maytorena issue, Mexico, design of stage coach, with no "Sonora, Mexico" inscription under the value but instead are the words in black in three lines: "Distrito Sur—de la Baja Cal.—Mexico." The pair is postmarked, LaPaz—29 April 1915—B. Cfa. Baja Cal. signifies Lower California. The stamps came on ordinary mail from Mexico and Mr. Barr supposed at the time of their receipt that they would soon be chronicled. However, no further stamps of this type were received and it is believed that they have not been mentioned heretofore. Mr. Barr calls attention also to a "Gobierno Constitutionalist" surcharge in very small letters that appeared on a number of the five centavos Mexico that were sent into his office as a remittance. Elsewhere, we shall illustrate the two types.

Nebraska Convention—We are informed that the convention of the Nebraska State Philatelic Society will be held at Omaha on October 7th, 1915; and it may be unnecessary to add that collectors generally will be heartily welcomed there. The meeting will have the advantage of being held during the week dedicated to a state celebration and a number of non-resident philatelists have promised to attend the convention. There is a full and rising tide of philatelic interest in Omaha and it is safe to say that the meeting will be a memorable one.

Patent Cancellation—From Mr. Geo. H. Bachoven, Palmyra, New York, we have received a drawing of what evidently is a variant of the patent stamp cancellations mentioned by Mr. Stevenson in his recent article. The impression which is on a two cent vermilion, 1875, takes the shape of a circle, which not being completed at right, resembles a large and rotund C. Enclosed in this form is a rectangle of dots, eight rows of seven each, partly perforated through the stamp. The cancellation evidently belongs to the period when experimental means were taken to forestall the machinations of the stamp cleaner.

Dyestuff—We have heard something about the possibility of difficulty in obtaining pigments for use in stamp making because of the closing of a chief source of supply by the war. Director Ralph is quoted as having said that by practicing economy, the bureau has a supply on hand sufficient to meet the requirements of the next six months for both stamps and bills. It is claimed that progress is being made by chemists in this country in the preparation of coloring matter that enters into stamp manufacturing and it is predicted that no aching void is likely to exist when the present supply of the bureau is exhausted.

A Notable Special

A SERVICE that brings results is demanded these days and it is especially true of newspapers. The day is past when all that is required of a publication is a statement regarding circulation. Results must follow patronage.

When regular space can be had in the WEEKLY at $1.80 per inch per week on 8000 paid circulation it will pay you to take space and note the results.

OUR October Special to be dated the 30th will give you a good chance to test our circulation. Have copy reach office in Boston the previous Saturday.

HOW I COLLECT BELGIUM.

By CHARLES E. JENNEY.

When the war began I had the postage stamps of Belgium complete as listed by Scott, with the exception of three values of the current set, which I am still lacking. I had also specialized a bit in this country, as I do in all others, and the various side lines have proven of special interest to me and others in view of the developments of the war. I sincerely trust that the crime of the century—the invasion of Belgium by Germany may be amply avenged and to see the Belgians again occupying in peace their full territory. In any event, the collection as I have it arranged can scarcely decrease in interest, as a large part of the towns and cities shown have become historic, even were they not so before.

First, I collect the issues straight through, according to Scott's catalogue, including the minor varieties, and also with an amplification in shades. In these Belgium is rich. There is no stamp that is very hard to get unless it is the five francs in postally used condition.

Beginning with the issues of 1893, I collect the sets both with and without the "Sunday" label. Following the postal packet stamps I place the telegraph stamps which are hexagonal in shape.

My next pages are devoted to the issues of 1851 to 1863 (second type) showing the cancellation numbers of the different post-offices. Belgium at that time employed a system similar to that of England, having a fixed number for each post-office, which number showed in the cancelling device. The numbers run up to above 1000 and some of them are extremely difficult to find. I have not been able to obtain yet a list showing the names of the post-offices opposite their proper number, but I believe that this is known to the advanced Belgium collectors.

In order to supplement the foregoing, I collect the Postal Packet stamps showing the postmarks of the different towns of Belgium. These usually show very distinctly and entire, owing to the large size of the stamps. The newspapers of the past twelve months have made the greater number of these names very familiar to us and of course the greater part of them no longer appear on postmarks.

Then I have a collection of Belgium Precancelled stamps, about 800 in all. These were first used about 1893 and the year was changed in the print each year. They are inscribed in rectangles and the names of the towns often appear in both French and Flemish. These are by no means an uninteresting lot, and the names of Ghent, Liege and Waterloo bring the true historic touch into the collection. The Belgium type of Precancel is very stable, very much more regular than our own haphazard printings, and about the only varieties in any one year are the change from reading upward to reading downward (None of the Belgium precancels are horizontal but all vertical).

The last pages of the collection are devoted to pairs, strips and blocks. These are particularly interesting in the imperforate early issues.

Belgium has been through all history a battleground of Europe. Caesar records many a severe conflict there. A hundred years ago England and Germany checked the career of Napoleon at Waterloo. The Treaty of Ghent was an event of interest in our own American history. One decipheres with a sort of awe the postmarks on one's Belgium stamps—names printed in blood in the world's history.

OUR BOOK REVIEW W.

"What Pictures to See in America."—By Lorinda Munson Bryant. Cloth, 8vo., 356 pages. Over 200 illustrations. Prospectus may be obtained from publishers, John Lane Co., New York City.

The lover of art as seen in pictures will find this volume a very attractive one covering as it does the wide range of pictures as seen in art galleries from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is not a catalogue but a wide awake breezy presentation of the great pictures of our country, the text appealing to one as exceedingly interesting. The author has succeeded in securing reproductions of the great pictures scattered throughout the art galleries of this country and the half tone illustrations show us Rembrandt, Raphael, Titian, etc., as well as the artists of the present day. As already indicated the text is illuminating and makes understandable certain points in many pictures to the end that the subject treated takes on new form and beauty. We note that the art treasures in the Stanford Memorial Chapel at Palo Alto escaped the author but these will no doubt receive attention in a future edition. The author has done a distinct service in grouping in a single volume so many of the art treasures of our country.

"Indian Legends."—By Marion Foster Washburne. Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated. 144 pages. Prospectus from Rand, McNally & Co., Chicago.

If you want to know the working of the mind of the Indian you must read some book of this order. In the traditions and legendary lore of the real Americans can be found glimpses of the Indian thought that give us an insight into his inner life and being. This is the service that this book performs. It is not a picture of rapid communication, of pleasure surfeited society, of crowded city or of political din—but of Indian life as seen in all its naturalness breathing the aroma of scented hill and dale and quaint in its characterization of life in the open. We shall do well to pause in the hustle and bustle of today and let our mind revel in the restfulness of these Indian stories. Price, 45c. Eight colored plates.

HOW TO JOIN THE BOOSTERS!

Some one wants to know how he can join our Booster Club. That is simple enough! All you need to do is just—boost! There is no walking into the lodge room blindfolded, no burden to bear, no tickling with switches, no rocky road to travel, no sudden flash of light—just ask your friend to take MEKEEL'S for ten weeks, six months or a year. If you succeed you are a full fledged booster and we give you a royal welcome.

Gustave M. Mosler is a front rank booster. He sends in a yearling and adds: "I appreciate being able to secure a new subscription for you now and then." We appreciate it, too! He has sent in several.

Here is how booster J. Rausch does it: "This sub. is for a young man I have just started collecting. He looked over my stamps and got interested so I gave him a second hand modern album and 300 stamps. Send him the paper and you may get him for a regular subscriber." This is a fine bit of boosting.

Belle Caldwell boosts by sending a new six months for the public library at Charles City, Ia. Here are some more boosters: F. H. Strong, Edw. W. Rose, Herbert J. Foote and Rudolph Koepfel.

COMMUNICATION.

GALVESTON, TEX., Sept. 10.

TO THE EDITOR:

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY being so widely circulated, I wish to ask you to kindly publish this for us to again get in connection with our philatelic friends over the states and abroad.

Galveston was visited Aug. 16 by a terrible West Indies hurricane, but thanks to our seawall, the city was not wiped out of existence. Now the philatelists of Galveston desire their friends to know that they are still alive, not only bodily, but also in the philatelic sense. Correspondents and Exchange or Sales Superintendents of various organizations may send circuits as before and the same will be carefully and promptly attended to as usual.

I take this opportunity to mention that through the efficiency of the Galveston Post Office and the devotion of all the Post-Office functionaries and employees, the postal service has suffered but very little delay. Despite the fact that all railroad connections were severed for many days, mails were promptly forwarded and received by boats across the bay. They deserve great thanks from everybody, and specially from philatelists and ought to get credit for the good work done, considering that most of the P. O. people were themselves more or less suffering from the hurricane. This did not keep them from working for the public extra time and over time.

G. C. CUENOD,

President Galveston Philatelic Society.

THE TRUE STAMP LOVER.

By DEREK INGRAM.

Philately has developed in such a way that it is now possible to adapt its varied phases to almost any subject of general interest. A history book, or a biography of some distinguished national character, can now be well illustrated by a collection of postage stamps, and the possibilities of the future must be patent to all. We might well imagine some philatelic historian of a few decades hence, harking back to the days when the stamp lover influenced many things. In like manner, one is reminded of the writer who, so long ago as 1769, urged the value of a collection of engraved portraits in conjunction with the study of a "Biographical History of England," upon which he was engaged. This enterprising historian was the Revd. James Granger, and his name is now a household word to the student of a nation's postal emissions—the true stamp-lover.

"Grangerising" is consequently a necessary adjunct to the vocabulary of the ardent specialist, and the word must therefore be included in our philatelic etymology. Its purview embraces a collection or study of postal decrees, notices and documents affecting a country's postal issues, postmarks and franks used before the appearance of adhesive stamps, drawings, essays, proofs from dies and plates, prints or photographs of post offices or other postal objects, engravings, and a knowledge of market-values of stamps at different periods. This definition of the scope of Grangerising might well be extended. There are the well-known instances provided by America—one of these being a collection of old United States bank-notes bearing vignettes of bygone Presidents, which had subsequently been reduced as stamp designs. The same collection includes such items as: An engraving of Benjamin Franklin, first Postmaster-General of America; a photograph of Houdon's famous bust of Washington, forming the subject of a number of United States stamp-designs; and the menu card of the old White Star liner Arctic, from which was reduced the mail steamer depicted on the 12 cents stamp of April, 1869.

At the other end of the scale, there is the "jackdaw" collector, who must gather unto himself samples of as many issues as possible. It is not to be gained that he derives a considerable amount of enjoyment from his hobby; but, as a rule, he skims the surface, and never arrives at the stage of specialising in any one thing. He is always on the point of arranging his collections, but never does so. He has the instinct of the collector, but lacks somewhat the discrimination of the connoisseur; he never knows what to reject.

There is such a difference, for the philatelist, between the true and the ideal. The ideal collector is he who approaches the subject with a love for what is beautiful. The gift of subtle appreciation of the beauty of engraving and colour is his from his birth. He is a man of taste, whose instinct has been gradually in the process of training unknown to himself. He is light-heartedly heedless of new issue "scoops" or choice war provisionals, and the worth of his own collection is a fact he never faces. He spends all he can afford in his pilgrimages to Fleet Street and the Strand! If possible, he will attend auction-sales and he gladly pays any sum necessary even only for the sight of an array of taille douce impressions. He lingers lovingly over some rare specimen beyond his means, and contents himself with something more within his means, but no less golden in quality.

Train the eye; handle as many stamps—good, bad, and indifferent—as you can, but do not be classed as a jackdaw collector. Search every volume of philatelic literature you can lay hands on. Read all that comes in your way concerning your hobby. Visit every dealer of good repute. If the spirit of stamp collecting is in your blood, you will by this means light a fire that will never go out as long as you live. The enthusiasm of youth will absorb you, and the love you bear for the engraver and his work will never die.

Please notice my use of the word "love" in the last sentence—the last word of that phrase is not intended as a pun! It is not only as a stamp-lover but as a lover of the engraver and his inch-square masterpieces, that the true philatelist finds himself. I do not want my present inditings to degenerate into a play on words, but I must say that Lover—S. Lover, at that—was the name of one who was well versed in fine art—Samuel Lover, the Irish painter, novelist, etc. His name in the Dictionary of National Biography, as a link between this word and the stamp-lover, must mean a more than ordinary significance in the world of art!

One result of the ramifications of the true stamp-lover is the comprehension of not only what is the best and most noteworthy in a finely-engraved stamp, but also of what we already know as the "Ideal" stamp design. The artist, who is the originator of the design, naturally wishes it to fulfil his conception of the artistic. He is, however, handicapped by the fact that he is working on a much larger scale than that of the finished product; and is tempted to forget that what is quite easy to draw on a larger scale, may be very difficult to engrave and print when reduced to the size of a postage stamp. The difficulty inevitably makes us sigh for the days of fine art taille douce—the early line-engraved stamps of Great Britain and some of her colonies, of Belgium, and of other countries—for among surface-printed stamps we find nothing of distinction.

Another lamentation is that finely-wrought line engraving is a lost art, which state of affairs compels the lover of beautiful stamps to look back, and accustom his eye, to engraver's work of a time immediately preceding our own. In short, the stamp-lover finds most enjoyment in studying the old "copper-plate" impressions, and the engraver himself. I have derived much pleasure in this way, my researches embracing a study of

(1) the portrait on the stamp—character and biography of the person portrayed;

- (2) the engraver—his biography, degree of genius, etc.;
- (3) the painter of the portrait (if any) which the engraver took as his model;
- (4) the actual engraving on the die; and
- (5) subsequent, more or less mechanical, operations, such as transfer-roll, printing-plates, etc., etc.

But there are still other stamp-lovers, who study the stamp itself, the mechanical or accidental modifications to the printing-plate which involved major or minor varieties. There is that famous lover of the single stamp—Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack—with his wonderful researches anent the 100 Reis of Brazil, 1894-7, which filled nearly twenty-eight pages of the October and November numbers of The London Philatelist three years ago. This stamp certainly possesses the attraction of showing several very prominent variations, which had escaped the notice of philatelists until within the last five years or so, and there are, in addition, numbers of minor varieties, showing more or less conspicuous flaws and defects, many of which were described and illustrated in the article referred to. This is perhaps an extreme case, and it may be that the study of minor varieties has been carried farther in this instance than is absolutely necessary, but we ourselves often experience the thrill of scanning closely every single specimen in a dealer's stock-book, in which we are interested.

A striking tribute to the utility of stamp-collecting is its propensity for encouraging a love for the study of the objects portrayed. A noteworthy example is the Landseer dog of Newfoundland, which British possession has given us the best of our "Dog" stamps. The stamp-lover, who is also a lover of the canine animal, now hopes for an entire philatelic series of Landseer. I recall Mr. Wilmot Corfield's reference to this stamp:—

"To me the philatelic zoo is an abomination to the collector, but this Humane Society's noble member is no mere animal of only decorative value. He stands for all that is virile and enduring. His beautiful little life, like that of all our four-footed domestic friends, is short but ever inspiring and comforting, and the Squire of Orchardleigh was happy in passing when

The last that his heart would understand,
Was the touch of the tongue that licked his hand.

The stamp and the dog between them lend colour and music to a whole world of drabness and discord."

Sir Edwin Landseer's "A Distinguished Member of the Humane Society," as reproduced on the popular Half Cent stamp of Newfoundland, is one of those persistent things that somehow or other have crept into the weaving of the individuality of every English boy and man in the making, from 1838, when it was painted, onwards. The picture is not only of value as a faithful rendering on canvas of a "Friend of Man" but also as a contemporary painting of the "Newfoundland" of Landseer's day. The stamp has done a lot towards clearing up the confusion which, before its issue, existed in regard to the breed of the animal.—Stamp Lover.

"THE GOOD OLD DAYS."

By JOSEPH LOWELL.

Every collector at some period of his collecting career, upon viewing some especially fine collection which has grown up with its owner, so to speak; a collection which may have had a very modest and humble beginning, but which has carefully and sometimes with real sacrifice been kept up to date as the long years have passed, has in his mind this thought: "How I wish that I had had his chance to buy these high-priced stamps at the low prices he paid for them! Oh, that I had lived in those good old days!" And nine times out of ten, Mr. Collector will sadly turn to his own collection, dreaming of the days when U. S. 1857, 1861, and the re-issues were obtainable at face, while foreign issues cost but face and a half, wondering meanwhile where he is to get the money to buy them at their present prices. Yet, fifty years from now it will be the same old story. The collector of 1965 will envy the collector of today, and rightly.

The stamps for the collector of moderate means today should be the stamps of today. Now, this decade presents the richest opportunity which has ever been offered collectors to make interesting yet very profitable purchases. A glance over the pages of Scott's catalogues for the ten years past will substantiate our statements. The stamps of the Edward reign cost but a fraction over face a few years ago. The prices on these have risen rapidly; what will they be worth ten, twenty-five, or fifty years hence? The Gilbert and Ellice surcharged issues, the New Hebrides surcharged issues, and the Newfoundland 20th Century issues have in some case advanced fifty times in price inside of five years. The first issue of Sonora, first (in 1913) sold at 18c a set, is now worth more nearly $18.00 a set.

These are but a few of the countless instances we could give; a casual glance at the catalogue will reveal hundreds of similar cases. What will the present war issues, all obtainable now at a nominal figure, even as low as 10% over face, be worth in 1925? In 1965? To us, it seems that the collector whose means do not permit thousand dollar purchases annually; the collector who wants really interesting stamps at prices that he can afford to pay, stamps which will prove profitable as well as pleasing purchases, can make no better invest-

Advertising Chat—No. 5.

With this number of the WEEKLY we make our bow for the business season of 1915-16. We think you will agree with us that it is gracefully done and that it portends activity for the coming months. Our leading article this week voices our sentiments in regard to trade conditions and we urge its perusal.

We acknowledge the splendid patronage accorded us during the summer months. Even as virtue carries with it its own reward so the dealer who takes space week in and week out thru the year must know the benefit in so doing. When actively dealing we used every issue of the WEEKLY, and used that paper only as a publicity medium—and it brought us the business.

This week we shall introduce some new names to WEEKLY readers.

Dr. W. I. Mitchell of Wichita, Kan., launches a precancel campaign and lovers of these stamps will find that Dr. Mitchell has an excellent stock. The wonder is that these stamps have been given so little advertising publicity in the past.

On our way thru Newton, Kan., we met our friend Dickey and we gently chided him for hiding his light under a bushel. Now he gets back at us by taking 50 line Adlets and pre-cancelled stamps will no doubt be one of his specialties. He has advertised with us considerably and says: "The WEEKLY brings me as many customers as I can handle and they are always the best class of buyers."

The veteran dealer D. T. Eaton who is with us frequently has his troubles as well as the rest of us. Sending in his ad copy this week he writes:—"If you should hear that I have sent to the 'bug-house' you will know the cause. I have been trying to complete sets of envelopes of the ones going out, and the new ones coming in. When I find a good thing the firm who has them thinks I'm crazy, and in one instance sent a P. O. Inspector several hundred miles to investigate me. Perhaps the same officer would not go a block to investigate a crook who is trying to beat a dealer."

Our old friend Mr. Micheloni is back with us again and the mystery of his absence is explained by the fact that he has been off to Uruguay. He returned a few days since on the steamer Crofton Hall of the Norton Line from Montevideo and the results of his stay in Uruguay will no doubt bear fruit in stamp offerings of more than ordinary interest.

Two large advertisements in this issue will attract attention. The Hussman Co. has a variety of offerings while Mr. Riedell in his advertisement makes low priced stamps a specialty and his used Nicaragua are deserving of special mention.

Sending in his advg. copy, E. C. Dodd adds: "I have the largest and finest stock in the west, my stock being particularly strong in stamps ranging from 25c to $10." In maintaining this claim we suggest that Mr. Dodd come across every week with some advg. copy.

Douglas G. Allen takes regular space this week. Mr. Allen specializes in U. S. stamps. M. Tausig an old time advertiser will use a half inch space during the coming months. L. W. Charlat wants to buy your collection and promises to resell it thru the columns of the WEEKLY.

We welcome the wholesale advt. of A. N. Ridgely. True we have Marks and Handshaw as wholesalers but the American stamp trade is woefully weak on this end of the business. Get in touch with Mr. Ridgely and let him know that he needs the WEEKLY regularly.

Guess we've said enuf!

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

ment than subscribing to some good and reliable new issue service, and thus form a collection that grows with him. To be sure, every stamp will not treble or even double in value as the years pass, yet, as we pore over the pages of our loose-leaf 20th Century albums, resplendent with their unused beauties, and compare their cost with the present values, we cannot help but thinking, "Truly, these are the good old days!"

SAN FRANCISCO STAMP SOCIETY.

The first six months' existence of the above society was brought to a successful close at the first annual meeting held September 7, at the Clubroom, 2233 Larkin St. Regular monthly meetings have been held during the summer and some very pleasant evenings have been spent by the members who took advantage of them. The secretary will be pleased to hear from all local collectors and to give any further information. The same officers were re-elected for the coming year:—President, H. J. Seiler; Vice-Pres., Chas. W. Arp; Sec.-Treas., Donald Piercy, No. 8 Forty-Eighth Ave., S. F., and Auction and Sales Manager, Edwin P. Seebohm.

OUR COVER DESIGN CONTEST.

Several weeks ago we asked our subscribers to send in suggestions for a cover design for our January special, when we shall celebrate the 25th anniversary of the birth of the WEEKLY. The response was very gratifying. No fewer than 22 designs were received and we have had no little difficulty in selecting the prize winner.

After due consideration we have awarded first honors to

Wm. H. Hoagland, 48 No. 51 St., W. Phila., Pa.

The entry of

W. G. Birdseye, 101 W. 106 St., N. Y. City was, however, so near it in merit that we shall make a second award of $5 to Mr. Birdseye and shall probably use his design on the February special.

We desire to give honorable mention to the entry of

L. M. Coe, 119 Church St., Bristol, Ct.

This entry ranked well in merit with the two prize winning entries but differed materially in that the sketch was in the rough. The entries of Messrs. Hoagland and Birdseye can be submitted to the engravers for a plate so soon as the required lettering has been added.

We give the names of the several contestants and are grateful to our friends for their cooperation. We might add that the designs submitted by Frank Aretz, Ernest W. Clarke, and Herman E. Heller are out of the ordinary. While we make special mention of these three entries we desire to add that we have made no attempt to list the following in any order of merit:—

Frank Aretz, Toronto, Can.
Frank Prescott, Los Angeles, Cal.
Willard Newton, Somerville, Mass.
G. B. Braun, Oakland, Cal.
Geo. Bos, Kalamazoo, Mich.
Frank Matthews, St. Louis, Mo.
E. W. Clarke, Pleasantville, N. Y.
A. H. Hall, Boston, Mass.
E. H. Robinson, Chicago, Ill.
H. L. Bock, Goshen, Cal.
Lloyd M. Coe, Bristol, Conn.
C. H. Loomis, McLean, Va.
Theo V. Zwehl, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Mary C. Ruff, Butler, Pa.
Lionel Arnold, Hampton, Ia.
Paul R. Rockwood, Iowa City, Ia.
Herman E. Heller, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Marion Putnam, Oshkosh, Mich.
John Ashenhurst, Chicago, Ill.

The cover design for our January special will be purely philatelic and very appropriate for our 25th anniversary celebration. We shall give those who like a "hunt" a royal one.

New York Stamp Society.

Tuxedo Hall, Madison Ave. & 59th St., New York, N. Y.

Eugene Klein, President; C. Forster, Vice President; G. Denzau, 1864 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, New York, Secretary; Baldwin Schlesinger, Treasurer; Henry Meininger, Librarian; A. Schiesel, Bourse Manager; Trustees: J. M. Bartels, A. Beck, Adam J. Wagner.

The meeting of September 16th was a social gathering. The weather being warm, members did not care to do much trading or exchanging. Mr. Klein and Mr. Schlesinger, having both been out to the Pacific Coast, had much to tell us that was of interest—and so it was with the other members present.

Our next meeting on October 7th promises to be an interesting one and a good attendance of members and their friends is hoped for. Mr. Klein will submit a paper entitled "A Philatelic Pilgrimage."

Our monthly exhibit will be "The Rarest Stamp in Your Collection." The Judges will award to the winner a "Point Certificate" which counts towards winning the "New York Stamp Society Cup." This cup differs from the "President's Cup" in that the winner will retain permanent possession of it. Just who the gods will smile on is hard to say as the contest is still an open one.

I may add, too, that the "Winner Certificates" for those who have already won an exhibit, will be given out at this meeting.

Visitors are always welcome and correspondence as to what the Society is doing will be given prompt attention.

G. DENZAU, Secretary.

FROM THE FAR EAST.

Australia.—J. F. Hambly of Melbourne writes that he has been informed that the supply of watermarked paper is getting very low and that possibly the 1d King George may be seen on unwatermarked paper. The same gentleman also says that the 2½d Kangaroo on the King George paper will be out soon.

Gilbert and Ellice Islands.—We received recently from our agent at Ocean Island some specimens of the 5sh King George stamps which he said were a new printing. On comparing them with some we had in stock, we found that there was a slight—very slight—difference. The paper of the new-comers is not such a bright yellow, the green is more yellowish than formerly, and it would seem to us that these stamps have been printed on the new colored throughout paper which is now being used for British Colonials.

New Zealand.—We have to thank E. C. Smyth of Wellington for a cable sent to us on Aug. 30, intimating that the new King Georges had been put on sale that day, and we received on the 3rd inst. a letter from A. T. Bate dated 29th, acquainting us that the new stamps would be put on sale the following day. Specimens of all the values have since come to hand.

Wmk N.Z. and Star, perf. 14 x 14½ comb. The colors are as follows:
½d yellow-green; 1½d grey; 2d bright violet; 2½d slate blue; 3d sepia; 4d orange-yellow; 4½d myrtle-green; 6d rose-carmine; 7½d red-brown; 9d olive-green; 1sh orange-red. — Aust. Stamp Journal.

THE COWBOYS AND THE MOVIES.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

The Heavenly Twins rushed tumultuously up to the path which led to my tent-house, and beat upon the door in a most reprehensible manner. The summons brought me forward on the jump.

"Seen Frevor?" breathlessly inquired Jimmy O'.

To my negative, and further anxious inquiries, Jimmy O' and Eddy Fyne both grinned sheepishly, and then sprawled upon the ground while they clung to each other and laughed.

"What's the matter with you two coyotes, anyway?" I ask. But my perplexity only redoubled their unseemly mirth. However, it was only a short time, and Frevor Moore, swinging from his horse, idled up the path. Jimmy O' and Eddy at once fell silent. Moore looked them over coldly.

"Ha! The age of chivalry!" he said. "And so you two deserted the range an hour ahead of me in order to tell my friend and yours how it all happened. Go ahead, you!"

Moore sat beside me on the door-sill. Jimmy O' rolled a cigarette and disappeared in the cloud.

"You see, it was this way," began Eddy.

"Oh, heck! Eddy, let Frevor tell it," said Jimmy O'. "He c'n let us break through an' explain now an' then as he goes along."

"Very thoughtful and considerate, Jimmy O'," said Moore, with fine sarcasm. Then he began:

"Two weeks ago that movie outfit from Chicago asked permission to stage some ranch-life scenes 'up on Three-Bar-X. Course, I granted it; but they were cautioned not to worry the cattle." "Meanin' both kinds," interpolated Eddy, with a grin.

Jimmy chuckled.

"Well, they set up their apparatus, made some films of a routine sort, around the ranche-house, and then asked as the final favor permission to stage a typical old-time cowboy-Indian-torture scene. For this scenic performance they chose a wide, sweeping mesa, with hills surrounding it on three sides. Then they hired twenty or thirty Mojaves from McDowell Reservation, fitted them out in trappings, paint and feathers, and set up the machinery behind a rough pile of overhanging rocks, looking squarely across the scene of trouble." "Plum' hostile, that bunch," mourned Eddy, lugubriously.

"I was far out on the range when these preparations were under way," resumed Moore. "Eddy and Jimmy O' hadn't been in for a couple of weeks. I thought I would look them up on my way back and tell them what was doing. Well, I didn't meet up with them, and so rode on down the divide, making for the site of the picture camp. As I drew near, I heard war-whoops and shoutings and when I reached the crest of the hill, I reined in and looked down. There was as rare a picture as one could imagine. A bunch of painted and be-feathered Indians were dancing around, brandishing weapons and about to put a captive cowboy to the fire torture. If I hadn't known the truth I would have believed it real—the more so because some cheerful idiot of a tenderfoot had but recently been chased by Apaches near this same spot.

"Well, I sat and watched things progress for two or three minutes. Then suddenly, a hundred feet or so from me I heard some of the worst cursing any wild and careless cowboy was ever treated to."

"Me—I done it," said Jimmy O' with a sigh.

"Me—I helped," declared Eddy, sharing in the ignominy.

"Then, over the top of that hill swept my two cowpunchers. I yelled at them. But the rush and slide of rock drowned my voice. It was one of the roughest parts of the divide—nearly ninety degrees slope—but down it pell-mell they went, horses slipping and sliding, guns out for action, and Jimmy O' swinging his riata. The whooping Indians looked up, saw, and scattered like rabbits. The intended victim rose to his feet, looked, and he, too, made a run for it. Eddy didn't shoot—Heaven be praised! Jimmy O', riding straight at the running movie-cowboy, with a mighty swing lifted him in front on the saddle, and swept on, men and horses disappearing over the next crest.

"When I reached the movie outfit the manager was bewailing the loss of his leading man. But the elation of the operator was beyond description.

"Best picture I ever saw—great—great!" he declared. "Wonderful rescue! Wonderful! Great hit! Crowded houses! Oh, my countrymen, what a picture!"

"Ten minutes later, over the top of the hills came Jimmy O' and Eddy, leading their horses. Accompanying them was the movie's leading man, volubly explaining."

Moore looked at Eddy, who promptly rolled over on his back.

"Kiss me, Hardy!" quoted Jimmy O', from behind his cigarette.

Right then the notes of the old song, "Listen to the Mocking Bird," were borne in upon the soft wind.

Jimmy O' and Eddy rose, alert. As the whistler came nearer, the two incontinently fled.

Up the path came a man I had seen with Moore several weeks before—the hero of the movies.

"I was just telling my friend here of the rescue at Three-Bar-X," said Moore.

The movie man laid his hat upon the ground as he stretched out in the hammock. His face had lost its youthfulness, and I saw he was long past the years of boyhood.

"Yes," he said, "Yes. It was wonderful! We had everything staged for a rescue at the last. But when I looked up and saw those two real cow-punchers coming I felt the heroism of it. Jimmy O' jerked me from my feet and swung me upon his horse, knocking the wind out of me. Once over the crest of the hill the boys slowed down a little, and then I explained. The humor of it caught them. But I know and feel and shall always know and feel, the compelling heroism of it. They had deliberately courted death—so they thought —to save me. And, for their sakes, I am sorry it wasn't a real rescue."

"Do not let that worry," said Moore. "They'll survive that shock."

There was more talk, mostly desultory, and then our visitor left us alone. Moore pulled at his pipe. Then, looking at me quizzically he laughed.

"It really appears that every one is in wrong today. I made Jimmy O' and Eddy think I took their rescue seriously."

"And I, Moore—even I!" Then I joined in the laugh.

"But those two limbs!"—Moore broke off abruptly. There was a noise of delaying feet.

"See the conquering heroes come!" drawled Moore.

Jimmy O' and Eddy stepped forth, hand in hand, bowed ceremoniously, and then groaned in unison.

"He used t' be a c'ollecter," declared Jimmy.

"Confed'rates," added Eddy.

"An' he wants t' hire us fer th' movies!" wailed Jimmy.

"Virtoo has its pangs," groaned Eddy.

"Yes," added Moore, sententiously, "likewise its vice."

It was at this point the light broke in upon the Twins.

BAR-LE-DUC.

Surrounded as it is by Dutch territory, Bar-le-Duc, a little undefended Belgian village in the north of the province of Antwerp, has a unique geographical position, for the Germans cannot reach it without violating the neutrality of Holland. It possesses its post a telegraph office, in direct communication with French and Dutch post offices, and people in Britain can easily correspond with Bar-le-Duc via Flushing and Tilbourg (Holland). For that reason Bar-le-Duc post office has become important, and good use is being made of that fact in obtaining help for the Red Cross society. Special postage stamps of the value of five, ten and twenty centimes, are being sold at ten, twenty and forty centimes, of which sums half is set aside for the Red Cross society. The post office of Belgian Monaco has obtained such celebrity that there is a great demand for these Red Cross stamps as souvenirs.—Newspaper.

EGYPT—A HISTORY OF ITS STAMPS.

By R. E. R. DALWICK.

VII. The 1892 and 1893 Stamps.

On January 1st, 1892, a 3 mil. stamp was issued in marone colour. After being in circulation for over a year and a half, the colour was changed to orange yellow. Just after this change was made the 2 piastre of the previous issue (which had never been changed) made its appearance in orange-brown so as to avoid confusion with the new 3 mil. stamp.

Several notices were issued regarding these two adhesives.

NEW ISSUE OF EGYPTIAN POSTAGE STAMPS.

Notice is hereby given that on the 1st February next, a new issue of postage stamps of 3 millimes and 2 P. T. will be put into circulation; the former yellow in colour, and the latter brick coloured, and the present issue of these stamps will be withdrawn.

ALEXANDRIA, 7th January, 1893.

NOTICE.

The issue of the new Postage Stamps of 3 M. and 2 P. T. which has been announced for the 1st proximo, will be postponed until further notice.

General Post Office.

ALEXANDRIA, 24th January, 1893.

NEW ISSUE OF EGYPTIAN POSTAGE STAMPS.

NOTICE.

From the 1st of August next the post-offices will cease to sell the stamps of 3 millimes and of 2 piastres of the present issue. From this date, stamps of the same values will be issued, the millimes will be in yellow, and the 2 piastres in brick. —From Official Journal, July 10th, 1893.

VIII. The 1902 "Chalky" Issue.

There is nothing new to be said regarding this series, as they are the old stamps printed on chalk-surfaced paper. The 4 mils. is a new value and was added to the set in 1906. A certain amount of the shading has been removed from behind the head of the Sphinx, the result being an undoubted improvement.

The sheet consisted of 240 stamps, divided into four panes of 60 each, in six rows of 10. Round the entire sheet is a line of colour in the same shade as the stamp. This line was just outside the perforations, but the top and bottom perforation of each vertical row between the stamps fell exactly on the coloured line. Occasionally, this line is missing on a sheet.

Between the panes there were also two lines in colour, one below the upper and one above the lower pane. On each of these lines a perforation row fell exactly. The right and left-hand margins of the sheet bore the plate number next to the first and last stamps in rows 2 and 11.

During the circulation of this issue, books of stamps were introduced. The following extract is from the Egyptian Gazette (end of 1902):—

"USEFUL POSTAL INNOVATION.—The Egyptian post-office intends to introduce, on the first of January, a convenient system of selling stamps in little books. Stamps may after that date be purchased in collections of twenty-four at a time. The stamps will not adhere to one another, as wax paper will be interleaved, thus effectually preventing this. The extra cost of buying stamps in this manner will only be one millieme the packet, and it should prove a popular innovation, as it affords special facilities for carrying postage stamps in the pocket."

IX. The 1914 Pictorial Issue.

January 8, 1914 was the anniversary day of the accession of the then reigning Khedive, Abbas II and to celebrate this event, a handsome set of pictorial stamps was issued. The new series were, as usual, the work of De La Rue & Co., the values up to 10 mils. being of normal size, whilst a larger size was used for the higher denominations.

The values and subjects depicted on the different stamps are:

- 1 mil. sepia (Feluccas on Nile).
- 2 mils. green (Goddess Isis).
- 3 mils. orange-yellow (Ras-el-Tin Palace).

We find on referring to our slips that a year ago we were sending out the 4p white back of St. Lucia and Trinidad and Tobago at 9c each. We have just received a "price list" pricing the 4p St. Lucia at 40c and the 4p Trinidad at $1.25. History will repeat itself on some of the things of today. You cannot afford to write for each new stamp that comes out. Put your name on our Mailing List and we will bear the trouble and expense. I am now breaking up a very fine collection of U. S. stamps, which is especially strong in the 1847 and early issues, consisting of single copies on and off covers,—some wonderful copies in the lot.

The collection also contains some most marvelous shades in blocks of 4, from 1890 to date. If interested, write me.

4 mils. vermilion (Pyramids of Ghizah).
5 mils. lake (Sphinx).
10 mils. cobalt (Colossi of Thebes).
20 mils. olive (Pylon of Karnak).
50 mils. lilac (Citadel, Cairo).
100 mils. slate grey (Temple of Abu-Simbel).
200 mils. maroon (Assuan Dam).

The stamps are printed on paper watermarked Star and Crescent and perforated 14.

Egypt was proclaimed a British Protectorate on December 17, 1914, and the Khedive Abbas II was deposed in favour of Sultan Hussein.

At the time, there was much talk about new or provisional stamps as an outcome of this historic event, but all such prophecies have failed to materialise. The issue in question, it should be noted, possesses one change of importance, the facial value is in English instead of French as before.

THE POSTAGE DUE STAMPS.

I. Issue of 1884.

On Feb. 1, 1884, the first issue of postage due stamps made its appearance, having been announced late in the previous month.

The public is informed that on and after the 1st January, 1884, correspondence taxed as unpaid or insufficiently paid will bear special stamps, chiffres-taxe, shewing the exact amount the addressees have to pay.

Consequently, no charge for correspondence unpaid or insufficiently paid is to be paid, unless the article distributed bears chiffres-taxe, representing the value of the amount to be paid.

The design, as will be seen from the illustration, is plain, but nevertheless, eminently suited for its usage. The design was the work of L. Barkhausen. The stamps were lithographed by M. V. Penasson, who printed the regular issues of 1867 and 1872.

Medium white wove paper impressed with a star and a crescent was employed, the gum generally having a yellowish appearance. The perforation was large, gauging 10 1/2.

The sheets were made up of 100 stamps (10 x 10) and bore a marginal inscription in large type red letters.

The total printing consisted of 150,000 copies, of which 70,000 were 2 piastre stamps.

The 10 paras is known imperforate, and the 2 piastres imperf. vertically.

II. Issue of 1886.

On August 1, 1886, the same stamps appeared printed in rose-red upon unwatermarked paper.

In other respects there was no change, Penasson again being the printer. The gum is whiter than before.

III. The 1888 Series.

As was only to be imagined, the sameness in the colouring for all values led to mistakes on the part of the postal authorities, and to remedy this defect, it was decided to print each value in a different colour. The old design was practically adhered to, but in place of the 5 and 10 paras denominations, 2 and 5 milliemes were substituted.

Penasson was responsible for the printing. A new perforation was adopted, gauging 11 1/2. The sheet contains 100 stamps as before.

There are two varieties of the 5 piastre value:

- (i) With stop after PIASTRES.
- (ii) Without stop.

This value is a decidedly scarce stamp, but collectors are to be warned against some very dangerous forgeries, both used and unused.

With regard to varieties, both the 2 mils. and 2 piastre values exist with double and even treble impressions.

IV. The De La Rue Issue.

In 1889, a series of four values in new design made its appearance, printed by Messrs. De La Rue and Co., of London.

The stamps were typographically printed in sheets of 240 stamps, arranged in four panes of 60 (6 rows of 10).

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

The watermark remained the same. The 2 mils. is fairly common bisected and used as half its original value. This stamp further is often seen in a pale dull blue colour; this is a changeling of no value.

These stamps have since appeared on chalk-surfaced paper.

V. The Issue of 1898.

The bisection of the 2 mils. adhesive of the last issue was required to make up the rate of 3 mils.—a value that was urgently wanted.

In order to avoid using half stamps, a supply of the 2 piastres orange was hurriedly overprinted diagonally "3 MILLIEMES" with the equivalent in Arabic in two lines below.

Referring to this stamp, The Weekly Bulletin stated:—

"In accordance with the regulations now in force the postage on letters from and to non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the Egyptian Army, in garrison on the frontier, as well as at Suakin and Tokar, is fixed at 3 milliemes for prepaid and 6 milliemes for unpaid letters.

This tariff is applicable also to letters of soldiers taking part in the Expedition to the Sudan, and, in consideration of the fact that such soldiers will most frequently be in places where they are unable to obtain postage stamps, it has been decided that unpaid letters sent by them shall only be liable to the single rate of 3 mil, instead of 6 mil. Consequently, all unpaid letters duly counter-signed by the officer commanding the Corps to which the sender belongs, and coming from a part of the Sudan where no post office exists, will only be charged on delivery with 3 milliemes. For the purpose of indicating this rate the department proposes to convert the 2 piastres unpaid letter stamps into 3 milliemes by means of a surcharge, but until these stamps are ready the 3 mil. rate may be represented by an unpaid letter stamp of 2 mil, together with the half of a similar stamp divided diagonally."

The overprint was applied in black and exists inverted.

—We are indebted for clippings received from Benj. Cadbury, M. Casper, F. W. Hodges, John C. Morgan, Edw. W. Steele and Dr. L. A. Micheloni.

AS SEEN IN THE MIDDLE WEST.

By C. STAUB (United Stamp Co.).

We have been watching the business here in the middle West quite closely and our opinion as to the possibilities of the coming season is very optimistic.

There is no question in our minds but what this country has adjusted itself from the depressing conditions at the beginning of the war. It is only natural that the luxury will naturally suffer at first when any depressions come about but I believe that after a year of readjustments all business has not only adjusted itself to the conditions abroad but at the same time has built up greater confidence and stability of the American business, so that we are safe in saying in our estimation, it will not be long ere the stamp trade will enjoy the most prosperous era for many years past. We have noticed an exceedingly great demand for stamps that ordinarily were unappreciated and we believe this was solely because of the decrease of importations from abroad.

Our stock of United States stamps is being hit the hardest. Of course, we attribute this largely to our new United States Loose Leaf Album which is issued supplementary each month with the Herald. As new sections appear, our readers call upon us to supply the stamps they need to fill in vacant spaces. This Album is not an experiment but based on the fundamentals of Philately, practical, handy in size as well as exceedingly educational. We can frankly state that the Album is a long felt want and judging from the daily orders from new and unknown collectors, the project is being well advertised by the users who are pleased with the idea.

The market is really fairly well cleaned up of good properties and therefore, we notice that prices are very firm on good United States.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Eugene Klein very kindly favors us with three group pictures taken at the A. P. S. convention. We would gladly use them in the WEEKLY were it not for the fact that the post card size would produce rather unsatisfactory half-tones.

—The Fordham Stamp Co. would like the present address of A. B. Winograd, formerly at 286 Beaubien St., Detroit, Michigan.

—The San Diego (Cal.) Stamp Club was recently honored with the presence of three of America's foremost philatelists, Eugene Klein, W. Parker Lyon, and A. W. Batchelder.

—The A. S. D. A. has instituted an investigation of J. F. Flynn, of the International Hosiery Co., of Dayton, O., and same is now in the Chief Inspector's hands at Washington. Persons having complaints against Flynn are requested to file same with the Chief Inspector, P. O. D., Washington, D. C., referring to "Case No. 47946—E."

—"Are the Canadian Victorian Jubilees demonized?"—This question is asked us. What do our Ottawa subscribers say?

—We have received from W. R. Ricketts several instalments of the Philatelic Literature Bibliography Index, the latest number being 36 and carrying the work up to and including "Kop."

EDITORIAL.

Open For All—Concurrently with the appearance of our season opening number, the wheels of business started to grind away right merrily; and though they will wheeze and squeak a bit before they get to running full tilt, yet, their hum will soon be loud enough to be heard through all the land. Let us all begin the season right by being right in all our stamp dealings.

Faithful—The following letter from Mr. Henry W. Wolseley, Chicago, warmed the cockles of the editorial heart; and none will be churlish enough to say that we are not justified in publishing it: "In renewing my subscription for the WEEKLY today, September 21st, 1915, I was curious how long I had been subscribing for the paper. I find from my books that exactly twenty years ago, on September 21st, 1895, I sent one dollar for my first year's subscription to the paper. I have successively renewed my subscription for the past twenty years and I take pleasure in renewing it for the twenty-first year. During that time I have subscribed for numerous other stamp publications but they have each and all suffered a timely or untimely demise. Your paper is the only one that has survived for so long a time and I offer you and the officers of your company my sincere congratulations. I have enjoyed the paper very much and each year as it passes seems to make it more welcome to me. I sincerely trust that for many years in the future you and the paper will continue to prosper and that the paper will be as entertaining and instructive as it has been during the entire last twenty years."

* * *

What of the Revenues?—As we understand it, the present revenue law requiring the use of stamps, expires automatically with the end of this year. There seems to be a general belief that it will be necessary for the government for some time to come to avail itself of the income from special taxes and consequently that revenue stamps will continue to be used. In fact, the manufacturers of proprietary medicines are anticipating that their products will fall under the ban of taxation in the preparation of another bill by congress and they are organizing to take steps to defeat any purpose to include medicines under the category of articles for taxation.

Canadian Details—From Mr. Frederick T. Norris, Bay City, Michigan, we have a preachment on Canadian hair-lines and paste-up strips that is worth attention: "I note your reference to the hair-lines in the King George issue of Canada, 1912. I have taken but little interest in the hair-lines to be found upon the one cent green King George, as they seem to be very numerous. In my collection, I find them first upon plates, 1 and 2; later, when plate 57 came out, I found that the sheet was covered with lines and I placed it entire in my Oriol album. The two cent red, hair-lines were somewhat difficult to secure but at last I got singles, block of four and the entire sheet, plate 4, with the lines. I notice that you do not call attention to the hair-lines on the five cent blue, which come only on plate 3, I think; the lines do not cover the entire sheet but on the contrary are found only on stamps 90, 91 and 92 in the sheet. A twenty cent with lines is found in plate 1. When in Quebec about three years ago, I saw the King Edward one and two cent on sale in the vending machine in the general office. As this was unusual, I made inquiry and found that the office, having a surplus of the stamps in question, tore them in perpendicular strips, pasted them into continuous strips and placed the coils in the vending machine for sale. The machine was opened and I purchased a yard or so of each. They are now in my collection in strips of ten, showing paste line, and I may add, in those of some of my friends who are my fellow-members in the Detroit Philatelic Society."

The Right Idea—The Detroit Philatelic Society appears in the minds of some of us as an example of the most refreshing spirit in philatelic society life in this country today. The motif of the organization is the benefit of all members through the unselfishness of individual members. The example of this body does much to restore one's belief in the possibilities of the cultivation of true service for members of stamp clubs in this country. We know of repeated instances where the good fortune of one member was shared by his confreres; and the story of how a lot of five cent blue imperforate, 1902, was given by a member who had obtained them at face to his fellows at the same rate when the scarcity of the stamp had already been assured gained wide currency. When the amateur instinct may be indulged with safety in the sense that it will not be taken advantage of, the society is on a high plane; and its example should inspire a desire for emulation in other societies where the commercial side of philately is emphasized at the expense of the finer traditions of stamp fellowship. Detroit has shown the way to improve the average philatelic society.

Free in This Country—A cover is described by Mrs. W. E. Underwood that has been a family possession for well over a century. The letter-sheet bears the date of "City of Washington, 21 Oct., 1808." The Washington postmark is in the upper left corner while "Free" in red is at right. At the right end of the cover, the inscription may be read: "Free to New York & British Packet. Joseph Nourse, Rs." We assume that "Rs." refers to Representative or some other officer in whom the franking privilege was vested but the frank was not considered as exempting the payment of ocean postage. The marking of 2sh on the cover indicated the ocean postage rate, no doubt. The cover shows how the frank worked in conjunction with ocean postage which was not subject to the wish of Washington.

* * *

By Post—Recent mails disclose a few wrinkles. The ten centavos map stamp of the current set of Cuba has appeared in a rather slightly changed color following the example of the two centavos. Olive gray about hits off the new color. A letter from the Canary Islands, via Madrid addressed to this country bears the censor stamp: "Ouvert par L'Autosite Militaire," and is resealed by the "Postes et Telegraphes" label. A pre-canceled current twelve cent is used on registered mail from Southridge, Mass.

* * *

In Store—The news of the return of Bill Bloss to our columns was enough to excite the philatelic multitude; and the further intelligence that we would print Bill's picture has fanned expectancy to fever heat. It is but fair that we

Edwardian Stamps of the British Empire

PART I

BY DOUGLAS B. ARMSTRONG

This book is Volume II of the series inaugurated by Bright & Son and known as "Bright's Philatelic Library." In the volume before us the Edwardian issues of Antigua, Bahamas, Bechuanaland Protectorate, British Central Africa, British Honduras, Canada, Cape Colony, Cayman Islands, Ceylon, Cyprus and Dominica are illustrated and described.

In addition to the bibliography there is an appendix giving the colonial color scheme, and the entire volume is one that will appeal to the philatelist who makes any attempt at a philatelic library.

GERMAN POST OFFICES ABROAD.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

With each change of stamps for the "Fatherland" it naturally follows that those in use in the foreign post-offices should be altered hence when the "Germania" and pictorial stamps appeared in 1900 the series was suitably overprinted for use in the Levant. The 2pf and 3pf values were not required but the values above 50pf were all surcharged so that this third issue is a much more comprehensive one than its predecessors. Both types of the 5 mark value were overprinted. The surcharges, with the exception of that on the 3 mark denomination, were in black while on the 3 mark, owing to its color, red was used. The word "PARA" or "PIASTER" is slightly higher than the numerals on all values. The word is in capitals except on the 1½, 1½ and 2½ values when it is "Piaster." On the 3 mark stamp the surcharge is "15 PIASTER 15" reading upwards on the left side and downwards on the right.

Reference List.

1900. Current stamps of Germany surcharged in black or red.
 11. 10 para on 5pf green, Scott's No. 513.
 12. 20 para on 10pf carmine, Scott's No. 514.
 13. 1 pia on 20pf ultramarine, Scott's No. 515.
 14. 1½ pia on 25pf black and red on yellow, Scott's No. 516.
 15. 1½ pia on 30pf black and orange on buff, Scott's No. 517.
 16. 2 pia on 40pf black and carmine, Scott's No. 518.
 17. 2½ pia on 50pf black and purple on buff, Scott's No. 519.

18. 4 pia on 80pf black and carmine on rose, Scott's No. 520.
 19. 5 pia on 1 mark carmine, Scott's No. 521.
 20. 10 pia on 2 marks blue, Scott's No. 522.
 21. 15 pia on 3 marks violet-black, Scott's No. 524.
 22. 25 pia on 5 marks black and lake, Scott's No. 523 or 523b.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

In March, 1903, the 1 and 5 pia values of the preceding set appeared with some slight modifications in the type of the surcharge. The most prominent feature of the new type is the "A" of "PIASTER" which has a conspicuous horizontal serif across its top. The 25 pia with similar overprint appeared about a month later while the 10 and 20 para values were not issued until November, 1904. The only other denomination to be issued with this type of surcharge was the 10 pia which was not placed on sale until June, 1905.

Reference List.

- 1903-05. Horizontal serif on top of "A".
 23. 10 para on 5pf green, Scott's No. 525.
 24. 20 para on 10pf carmine, Scott's No. 526.
 25. 1 pia on 20pf ultramarine, Scott's No. 527.
 26. 5 pia on 1 mark carmine, Scott's No. 528.
 27. 10 pia on 2 marks blue, Scott's No. 529.
 28. 25 pia on 5 marks black and lake, Scott's No. 530.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

Although the new "DEUTSCHES REICH" stamps were issued for the German Empire in April, 1902, it was not until October 1st, 1905, that any of them were issued with the Turkish overprints. The same values were surcharged as before but, following the system also applied to the Chinese and Moroccan offices, fancy Gothic or German lettering was used in place of the Latin characters which had sufficed to that date. On all values up to and including the 4 piastres the words were placed below the numerals thus reversing the plan of the previous set. The overprint on the 3 mark value was in red as before.

THE SIXTH ISSUE.

In January, 1906, the 2 and 25 pias values appeared on the paper with Lozenge watermark which had recently been introduced in Germany. In February of the same year the 1 1/2 pias appeared on similar paper to be followed by the 4 pias in March, the 10 para in April, the 2 1/2 and 10 pias in June, and the 1 pias in September. No more were on sale until February, 1907, when the 1 1/4 and 5 pias appeared and a month later the 20 para was issued. The 3 mark did not appear on this paper until late in 1913.

THE SEVENTH ISSUE.

In August, 1908, a regular surprise set appeared in the shape of five denominations surcharged with new values in "centimes" instead of the usual paras and piastres. Although many ingenious theories were adduced at the time of their issue to account for their special use these are so conflicting that we are still in the dark as to the actual raison d'être of the set. The surcharges are all in fancy Gothic type and are placed on the stamps diagonally, reading upwards from left to right.

Other Foreign German Post Offices.

In addition to the offices established at various towns in China, Morocco, and the Turkish Empire, Germany also maintained offices in Lamu, Zanzibar and Tonga for a short period, though this fact does not seem to be generally known.

Writing in the London Philatelist Mr. Reichenheim tells us that an office was opened in Lamu on November 22nd, 1888, and closed on March 31st, 1891. Lamu is a small island off the coast of and now included in British East Africa. The office here was probably conducted in connection with the German Consulate the stamps used being the ordinary German stamps of the 1880 and 1889 issues. Whether any special cancellation was used or not I have been unable to find out.

The office at Zanzibar was in existence for only a very short period: from August 27th, 1890, until July 31st, 1891. Here also the ordinary German stamps of the 1880 and 1889 issues were used.

An office was established at Tongatabu, the largest of the Tonga Islands, in September, 1886, and it was closed in April, 1893. Mr. Reichenheim tells us "This post office was in connection with the agency of the North German Lloyd, of Bremen, managed by their agent and officially named 'Postdampfschiffagentur (Royal Mail Steamship Agency)'. But as the Tongan Government introduced the Post Monopoly for letters shortly before the German post office was established, the latter was only used for parcel post purposes, and it is therefore very probable that only the 10pf, 20pf, 50pf and 2 mark stamps (unsurcharged) of the issues of the time were in use there."

Advertising Chat—No. 6.

What did you think of last week's paper, anyway? I think you will agree with me that you got your money's worth; twelve pages filled with stamp matter of various kinds was certainly a feast of good things.

We have other issues of the WEEKLY in course of preparation and we propose to give you so much for your 50c that you won't need to look at any other stamp paper. Our reading matter this season will surpass any previous year for real merit.

Our next special number will be issued Oct. 30 and it will be our Season Opener Special. This is the month when the cool evenings compel one to think of indoor pleasures and among other things the opening of the stamp album. We hope to make it at least 12 pps. If you advertise every week in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY it costs $1.80 per inch. We do not accept displayed advts. for fewer than six lines (one-half inch). A quarter page 144 lines, in any one number will cost only $15.00. It's the cheapest stamp publicity on earth.

You can't help reading a Bartels' advt. this week if you read the paper at all. Mr. Bartels writes: "We are looking forward to a big business this season and expect to do more advertising with you than we have ever done before. We do not remember when we had so busy a September as this year, both over the counter and in our approval business." Good. We shall do our best to make Mr. Bartels a satisfied advertiser.

Dr. Micheloni branches out into displayed advt. this week and will be with us frequently during the coming season. The Doctor has just returned from Uruguay his native heath and his announcements will no doubt reflect his stay there. He sends us a Montevideo newspaper and the only thing in it we can read is his picture.

A block of 50 lines adlet space has been taken by J. D. Hupe of Detroit who returns to our columns after a vacation season of a few months.

Better come along with your copy! Follow the example of Chas. S. Osgood who has opened up his publicity campaign!

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P.M.

Sept. 21, 1915.

The 342nd regular meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society, Inc., was called to order by Pres. Carpenter at 8.17 P. M. After the regular business of the evening, the collection of the stamps of Cuba belonging to Mr. Chas. E. Hatfield was shown. Mr. Hatfield was unable to be present and Mr. Carpenter had the collection in charge. The collection is very nearly complete and is especially strong in the Puerto Principe issue. The names of Edwin H. Finegan, George A. Gonbault and Gordon H. Crouch were posted. The meeting adjourned at 9.30 P. M. The attendance for the evening was 24.

A YEAR'S WAR ISSUES.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The first year of the world war has brought 327 new stamps into circulation, issued as a consequence, direct or indirect, of the present struggle. The influence of the war conditions on the postage stamps of the world is very far-reaching; I explained the other week how the colours of the United States stamps could not be exactly maintained owing to the impossibility of getting the right dyes, which came from Germany. Persia has suffered a stamp famine, and has had to resort to the issue of sixteen provisional stamps. Even far Siam, whose stamps were latterly printed in Germany, is now turning out the remnants of the obsolete 1906 issue and surcharging them with the modern "satang" currency, as the German-printed issue is running out. Turkey, on the other hand, is running out of its London-printed stamps, and has issued two provisionals, and may have to issue more before the Turks can issue a new series made at home or in Germany. Switzerland has issued three provisionals, because she has had to raise her postal tariff to help pay for the defense of her frontiers, and the three stamps of new denominations were required urgently. Apart from occupation stamps or military service stamps, the British Empire has only produced four provisionals as a consequence of the war, and these were scarcely necessary. St. Vincent ran short of penny stamps in January last, and the shilling green stamp was surcharged "one penny" to supply the deficiency. The use of two halfpenny stamps, instead of creating a provisional penny denomination, seems to have been overlooked. Three denominations of British Honduras stamps were specially overprinted with a burelé design in case the consignments should be captured by the enemy on the high seas; they reached their destination safely.

TURKEY'S JUBILATION.

Turkey alone among the combatants has issued commemorative stamps, seven of them to mark the national rejoicings over the abrogation of the capitulations in October. The Sublime Porte may not be in so great a hurry to jubilate over the subsequent events of the war.

The armies in the field have had stamps for their use, thirty-three in all. Ten of these are in use with the Indian Expeditionary Forces, two varieties of the 3 sen military stamp have been issued by Japan for her army and navy, and the Bosnian military stamps (twenty-one of them) have been overprinted for the Austro-Hungarian forces in Poland.

MILITARY OCCUPATION STAMPS.

Occupation stamps, which are mostly of a provisional character, form the largest proportion of the total of 327 war stamps of the past twelve months. Out of 159 occupation stamps, only fifteen originate from enemy sources. Britain and her Allies are responsible for the other 144, issued chiefly in connection with the occupation of former German colonies in the Pacific and in Togoland. The enemy occupation stamps are nine for the German administration of Belgium, five for the German administration of occupied parts of Russian Poland, and a local stamp of rather doubtful origin issued during the German occupation of the French lace town of Valenciennes.

WAR CHARITY ISSUES.

The charity postal stamps of the war are almost equally divided between friends and foes. It is worth noting that neither Great Britain nor Germany has issued a war charity postage stamp. Of the ninety-nine stamps in this class, the Allies have produced forty-eight, the enemy forty-four, and neutrals seven. France, her colonies and dependencies, have issued thirty-two stamps, which, in addition to serving as postage stamps, represent a contribution of a "sou" per stamp to the French Red Cross organization. Belgium has issued nine (eleven counting the scarce perforation varieties), and Russia five. Of the enemy issues in this class the total of forty-four is divided as follows: Hungary thirty-four, Austria seven, Bosnia two, Turkey one. The solitary Turkish stamp was for the benefit of the Sultan's navy. The neutral issues are those of Dutch Indies (three) and Roumania (four), the latter being in the nature of a surtax on letters, etc., obligatory on letters originating in Roumania, the extra sum going to the "Soldiers' Families Aid Society," for the assistance of the dependents of soldiers called to the service of their country. Canada's war tax stamps are not in the same class, as they are purely for the purposes of a tax to help to meet the costs of the war.

MORE WAR STAMPS TO COME.

The total of 327 war stamps in twelve months of fighting seems large, but this is a minimum figure, to which later information may yet add. It may be that recent provisional stamps of the Dominican Republic may be due to the war, as the country adjoining the much-disturbed Haytian Republic, has its stamps printed in Germany. A letter to hand this week is prepaid with a variety of new provisionals, and later information will probably show that these ought to be added to my total of war issues for the year ending August 4, 1915.

This prolific output of new stamps may be exceeded during the second year of the war. Printers who have eked out their stocks of colour bases for one year after the closing of Germany's oversea trade may not be able to eke out the supplies for much longer. Turkey, Siam, the Dominican Republic, Liberia and possibly other States, will require entirely new stamps. Bulgaria is planning a charity tax issue on the same lines as the "Timbru de ajutor" series of Roumania, and other neutrals are likely to issue stamps for tax or philanthropic purposes before another year is out. There are still many French Colonial Red Cross stamps expected and Russia is planning some changes in her Patriotic Fund stamps. The experience of the first and second Balkan Wars also holds out a promise of an excessive output of new stamps in the likely event of the entry of the presently neutral Balkan States into the conflict.—London Telegraph.

CHALMERS AND THE POSTAGE STAMP.

The postage stamp, the little gummed stamp issued by the Governments for the carrying of the mail, was the means of popularizing the sending of articles beyond anything else in the way of contribution, and an Englishman, James Chalmers, is responsible for having first conceived the idea.

Chalmers was born at Arbroath in 1782, and at an early age became a bookseller in Dundee, and later was a printer and publisher of the Dundee Chronicle. In the year 1825, he applied himself to the acceleration of the mails, and mainly through his efforts the time for a letter to travel between London and Dundee was lessened by a day each way.

Then Chalmers turned his attention to reforms in the postoffice system. He first suggested a minimum rate of postage. He first drew out a sample of an adhesive stamp, had it set up in type, and then printed a few gummed copies. These he exhibited to several merchants in Dundee in August, 1834.

These merchants thought so well of the scheme, that Chalmers laid his plan before Robert Wallace, a member of Parliament who was interested in post-office reform, and also took up the subject with Rowland Hill, one of the leading pioneers of the movement.

England was quick to adopt the adhesive stamp, according to a decree of December 21, 1839, and issued the first stamp for public use on May 6, 1840. A year later, they were introduced into the United States and Switzerland, and soon afterwards in Bavaria, Belgium and France.

Chalmers' idea was so much appreciated at home, that on January 1, 1846, at a public meeting of the citizens of Dundee, he was presented with a silver claret mug, a salver and a purse of 50 sovereigns for his efforts in reducing the time for the requirement of the transit of mails and for his plans of a uniform postage rate and an adhesive stamp.

There was considerable controversy in England after the death of Sir Rowland Hill as to whether he or Chalmers was entitled to the credit of being the father of the postage stamp. Sir Rowland died in 1879, and when it was claimed that to him belonged the honor, Patrick Chalmers, a son of James Chalmers, inserted advertisements and letters in newspapers and published several pamphlets in which he stated that his father anticipated Rowland Hill in suggesting the use of adhesive stamps, but had been fraudulently deprived of the credit of the invention.

Mr. Pearson Hill replied and showed that his father, Sir Rowland, had contemplated the possible use of the adhesive stamp before Chalmers' plan was made known. Chalmers was undoubtedly the first inventor, but it does not appear how the plan was suggested to Rowland Hill.

Mr. Patrick Chalmers has published several pamphlets endeavoring to prove the importance of his father's suggestion, especially "The Adhesive Stamp," which appeared in 1885.

Undoubtedly, Sir Rowland Hill did not attach as much importance to the adhesive label as to prepare envelopes representing Britannia sending letters to all parts of the world, which were first placed on sale on May 6, 1840. The envelopes were received with ridicule throughout the United Kingdom and were soon dropped out of use, the adhesive label taking their place.

The United States Government was rather tardy in accepting the adhesive stamp system, and until 1847, when the first stamp for general use was issued, the postal service depended either upon the old cumbersome system of the individual enterprise of the postmasters in various towns, who, on their individual responsibility, had postage stamps printed and sold at their respective offices.

Among established governments, Brazil was the first to follow the example of Great Britain with an issue of stamps for general use in 1843. Postage stamps were not issued by the Government of France until 1849, and it was in the same year that the German Government issued its first stamps. The postage stamps of different countries vary greatly and stamp collecting is one of the most popular of fads.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE POSTAGE ALONE

on 8,000 circulars or cards would be $80.00, but for only $15.00 you can tell a selling story in 8,000 copies of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. This story will go to possible customers who will not only read the paper carefully, but many of whom will pass the paper on to some collecting friend or else save the separate issues for permanent binding. Thus you have the name of your firm before 8,000 or more live stamp collectors. How many persons receiving circulars or house organs keep them for any length of time? The great majority throw them away without reading them carefully and it is folly for any stamp dealer to use circulars without advertising in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. If you have any stamps to sell, advertise them in this publication, and quick results will be evident.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN COLONIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Foreword.

The earliest instance we have of German colonisation dates back to January, 1683, when the Elector, Frederic William of Brandenburg, the so-called "Great Elector," bought from native chiefs a small territory on the Coast of Guinea, hoisted the Brandenburg flag, and built the Fort Friedrichsburg, of which small ruins are still in existence. This possession, however, was sold in 1718 by the grandson of the Great Elector, Frederic William I, second King of Prussia, to the Dutch government for 7,200 ducats ($9,400) and twelve slaves, as he was unable to hold it against Holland without a strong fleet.

But it was two hundred years later before colonial expansion began to be a serious affair with Germany. For several years after the establishment of the Empire, Bismarck and others worked hard at its internal consolidation—witness, among other things, the codification of all the conflicting laws of Germany, a gigantic work lasting nearly thirty years. No sooner had the imposing edifice of the Reich been fairly riveted within and without, than the national energy began to seek an outlet in the creation of a Germany beyond the seas. For years Bismarck had been indifferent, and indeed, positively averse, to colonial adventure; but at last he could no longer resist a popular impulse which was rapidly growing in strength. The result was, that within a year or two of this new departure, in 1884, Germany found herself included in the ranks of the colonial powers, with territories in Africa, New Guinea and the Pacific Archipelago, aggregating an area five times the size of her empire in Europe, though nine-tenths of this area is in Africa.

Germany may thus be said to have become an overseas power without becoming a colonial one in the British sense. It has been wittily and truly said, that France has colonies and no colonists; Germany, colonists and no colonies; while Britain had both colonies and colonists. It was too late in the day, as indicated by the world's clock, when Germany entered the colonial field, for by this time all the available waste spaces of the earth had already been appropriated by other powers. What she wanted was to found a new Germany, a new Fatherland across the sea for the accommodation of those vast numbers of her surplus sons who had hitherto migrated to America and other Anglo-Saxon lands; but it soon became apparent that none of the African territories which had now fallen to her were at all suitable for this purpose.

They were all sub-tropical, and fitted only to be plantation, not agricultural, colonies. Very small was the total number of Germans who went to seek their fortunes in the German colonies, and even of these, a large proportion were government officials employed to administer the protectorates without having first learned the very necessary art of ruling native races. The brusque manners of Prussian policemen and the brutal methods of some German drill sergeants were unsuited to the black tribes of the Kamerun and Damaraland. Rebellion was frequent, and even the German army, boasted at that time as being the best in Europe, was for several years powerless to put down a native rising in South West Africa involving the loss of thousands of German lives and millions of money.

For some years after the establishment of the various colonies, ordinary German stamps without surcharge were used. Then followed German stamps overprinted with the names of the respective colonies, to be followed in turn by a set of the stereotyped "ship" design inscribed with the name of the colony issuing them. The stamps are all so much alike that they are rather lacking in interest, the constant repetition of the same designs being very monotonous.

Cameroons.

The Cameroons, or Kamerun, as it is expressed on the stamps, is a German protectorate on the west coast of Africa extending from the Rio del Rey, a little east of the Old Calabar River, southwards to a point where it is bounded by French Congo. On the northwest, it touches Lake Chad and on its eastern boundary is the British colony of Nigeria. Its history dates from July, 1884, when a Hamburg firm bought the districts of Bimbia, Kamerun, Malimba, Klein Batanga, Plantation and Kribi, and

THE THIRD ISSUE.

In January, 1906, the 5pf value was issued on the paper watermarked lozenges like that used for the Imperial stamps in 1905. The 10pf value on the same paper was issued in the following year and the 5 marks in 1913, but since then no others have appeared. It would appear, therefore, that either very large stocks of the issue of 1900 were supplied or that the demand for stamps in the Cameroons is strictly limited.

EDITORIAL.

A Blow—It is with sincere regret that we have to record that financial disaster has overtaken America's most noted philatelist, Mr. George H. Worthington of Cleveland, Ohio, whose name for many years has stood for the superlative in a philatelic sense. While naturally the Cleveland newspapers gave much space to the news of the financial difficulty that Mr. Worthington was forced to cope with, the papers of other cities contained telegraphic despatches telling briefly of the assignment. Consequently, some of our readers already are aware that Mr. Worthington has made a complete assignment of property for the benefit of creditors; and in this connection we quote a Cleveland newspaper: "In less than one hundred and twenty words, the deed of assignment filed in insolvency court removes from Mr. Worthington's control, millions of dollars' worth of property which goes into trust for the benefit of creditors." The disposition of Mr. Worthington's stamps is accounted for in these words: "Included in the personal property is the famous Worthington collection, known to philatelists the world over as one of the most valuable and extensive in existence." The announcement of Mr. Worthington's misfortune will make a profound impression on many a dealer, American and foreign, who has long regarded Cleveland as the haven for the repose of the best and greatest in stamps and who have in many instances come in personal contact with Mr. Worthington; and their sympathy will be extended to the master who has yielded to the force of circumstances. Many a collector has seen portions of Mr. Worthington's stamps in exhibitions and at private view, through the intermediary of Mr. Alvin Good, Mr. Worthington's philatelic secretary, and they will feel keenly for one whose kindness has been a source of pleasure and, too, pride to them.

For the Future—We have been informed by our "correspondent on the spot" that anything that is said about the fate of the stamps just now is mere conjecture but we seize upon his statement that under the trusteeship no inconsiderable sum may be saved for Mr. Worthington. If it happens so, all of Mr. Worthington's friends will rejoice for if anyone deserves the good-will of his fellows, it is George H. Worthington whose allegiance to philately has been loyal, indeed.

More of Them—The publicity given the Baja California (or lower California) Mexican provisionals, coach type, two weeks ago, has resulted in some revelations that we shall proceed to set forth. Mr. A. Roterberg has shown us copies of the 1, 2, 5 and 10 centavos with the "Baja Cal." inscription including both used and unused copies, several of the former being on the original envelopes, and even strips numbering many copies. These stamps have been in Mr. Roterberg's possession for some months but as he was uncertain about their antecedents, he had not called attention to the specimens. In the same category, he assigned the four centavos, federal type, with the "Gobierno Constitucionalista" surcharge in the small type that we illustrated two weeks ago on the five centavos. It would seem from surface indications and the evidence adduced by Mr. Barr that these provisionals have a standing that compares favorably with that of some of the other Sonoras.

Memento—We have come into possession of a highly interesting example of the work of Rawdon, Wright, Hatch and Edson, whose claim to philatelic fame is based on their production of the 1847 issue; and as Rawdon, Wright and Hatch, the firm engraved the plate from which the New York five cent black was printed. The souvenir under notice is an ornate and elaborate example of the workmanship of the engravers in the shape of what at first glance resembles the face of a piece of currency. The impression is on a bond paper that is tinged with pink and the printed design is so embracing that it does not loan itself easily to description. It includes the noble red man and his consort, the American eagle and shield, the figure of liberty with picture of Washington in one hand and a laurel wreath in the other which she is about to place on eagle's head. A field containing the figure "5" at each of the upper corners is crossed with "Five" in green outline letters and surrounded by a double-line circle, containing "five" repeated ten times. The lettering otherwise, reads: "No. 148 Main St., Rawdon, Wright, Hatch & Edson, Bank Note Engravers and Printers, South East Corner of 4th & Main Streets, Cincinnati, Ohio, July 4th, 1851. Geo. I. Jones, Agent." In colorless letters, prominence is given to the legend: "American Bank Note Company. Patent Green Tint." An engraved tint-block covers the surface of the paper in a delicate green. The date on this old sample is just after the four year term with the government for stamp making expired. The production truly is a beautiful illustration of the excellence of steel engraving in its several aspects.

Benzene vs. Gasoline—The following extracts from a reader's letter were read with some surprise: "As our druggists seem to be somewhat divided on the difference between gasoline and benzene, I ask you for information. I have tried repeatedly to obtain benzene in a city of 250,000 population without success. Where may it be obtained." As we had been accustomed to buying benzene in small quantities for many years at the same drug store, our assumption was that it was readily obtainable everywhere. As we have been asked before by the beginner regarding the relative merits of benzene, gasoline and kerosene, we shall enter into a little dissertation on the subject. We learn that all these products are distilled from crude petroleum and skipping lightly over the technical details, the commercial products on the market today are found with gasoline first, as the fourth distillate of the highly volatile substance. The naphthas are next and commercial benzene is the last of these volatile distillates, followed by the paraffines or light-giving products of which the ordinary kerosene is third. Before the advent of gasoline-driven vehicles, benzene was the liquid that was in demand and the benzene handled by the druggist was a purified distillate made according to the standard of the United States Pharmacopœia. The greatly augmented demand for gasoline and the improved product have almost displaced the use of benzene as a cleaning fluid. We are informed that the better grades of gasoline are just as good for watermark hunting as the old-fashioned U. S. P. benzene, although their odor is more unpleasant. The inflammability of gasoline as compared with benzene is a deterrent that should always be kept in mind; and as for kerosene, it should be consigned to the philatelic limbo as it contains so much oil that it is apt to stain the stamps. It is realized now that there is an increasing difficulty in obtaining benzene, deodorized or not, in the drug store but after all, it appears that gasoline is "just as good" ammunition in the watermark hunt, even though its use requires more caution. For instance, to hold a stamp soaked in benzene up to the gas jet to see the watermark is not an evidence of sagacity on the part of the collector; and if one does court disaster in this way, one is sure to see that as the stamp burns up it has the rare watermark.

CANADA CUSTOMS DUTY STAMPS.

Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, to whom we are indebted for many items of news in connection with Canada stamps, submits a specimen of the 1c green Customs Duty stamp issued in July, 1914 and now illustrated for the first time. There are three values, 1c green, 2c red and 5c brown. Mrs. Oughtred thus explains their use:—"They represent customs duties on advertising matter sent by post to Canada and prepaid by advertiser in U. S. and Great Britain.

"THEN PITY, THEN EMBRACE."

She had made up her mind when she married him that, as it was a wife's duty to be interested in everything his lordship cared for, she would do her part. In fact, to please him, she had labored over bridge, and later, auction bridge, and for one possessed of little card sense, this at first was a great trial—he never knew how great. However, if she had known that "the stamp bug," an elf even more cunning and constant than Cupid, was lurking in his brain, I doubt if she would have made the final plunge in the sea of matrimony.

It happened after they had been married several years; he became enthused when looking over the collection of a small boy. He remembered his own boyhood collection, and a few nights later, the usual card game was not suggested; friend husband was deep in his stamp collection. To his wife's great surprise, the very next night, out came the collection again. Also, the centerpiece was removed from the dining room table, lights arranged for an evening's work, and husband was once more in bliss. Stamps were removed from the books, put in water to soak, while remarks such as "perfectly centered," "corner perforation missing," "perfection copy," "stitch watermarks," and the like issued from friend husband. Of course, she could not understand these terms, never having glanced at a stamp except in posting a letter. He tried to explain and arouse her interest, but it sounded like so much Greek to her, and at first, her interest was very much feigned, I fear; the stamps looked like so many bits of colored paper to her, and as for value, she couldn't believe the seeming fairy tales he told her of cash values.

From this time on, her dining room began to resemble, more and more, a junk heap—boxes were piled to the ceiling and her grandmother's pewter teapots were pushed behind them. He confiscated anything he happened to want for the use of the beloved stamps, her pet boxes, her books. More and more, talk of and about stamps became his general conversation and finally, he began to spend real cash on them. She had her doubts about this—in fact, many of her friends hinted divorce, and some thought him crazy—but thru it all, she thought: "I must become interested, and until I do, he must not know my interest is not real." And it seemed the hardest lesson she had yet tried.

One night, he set her to looking for stitch watermarks. She looked all evening, found none and went to bed feeling rather bored and wondering how long this stamp infatuation would last, at the same time grateful that it was not another sort of infatuation.

At times, he seemed to regret an evening spent otherwise than as a philatelist would enjoy it.

Finally, she gave up; worried no more about the appearance of the dining room or the spots on the table from soaking stamps, or the hours her husband spent on the ever fascinating work. She even spared him to go to auctions and the like without a murmur, and last, but best of all, she developed a true interest in the game; and I don't want to shock you, but last week I saw her reading the WEEKLY.

JEM.

WHY NOT DEAL IN STAMPS?

It's a pleasurable occupation and can be easily conducted from the home if office life is objectionable. It will not only give you pleasure but profit as well. We know because we have had the experience.

For seven years the managing editor made the catalog a constant companion in his leisure hours and with a benzine cup at his elbow, approval books blossomed into a successful stamp business. We know this not only because our stock books testified to it, but because stamp collectors put it into their correspondence.

Here is the WEEKLY ready to serve you. It has 8,000 subscribers. Our advertising rates are low, very low, the lowest in the world for service rendered. Of course you need a little cash to provide stock, but little cash can be made to answer if you have the necessary grit and enthusiasm.

Get "How to Deal in Stamps," a fine little booklet, only 10c.

BALBOA FILM FIRM BUYS STAMPS.

It isn't easy to make Uncle Sam do your advertising for you—even if he will lend his navy to any company that wants to do a martial photoplay, but the Balboa Company is making the best of a post office accident. Half of that accident is the color of the one-cent stamps. Like all the Balboa typewriting and press work, it is a bright green. Hence the Balboa offices always send out their letters with two one-cent stamps instead of a two on them. The other half of the accident is that the one-cent stamp of the Panama-Pacific special issue is not only green but carries the likeness of Balboa, the famous explorer, after whom the film company was named. Balboa has applied to Postmaster General Bursleson to reserve for it a million of them, for they are to be discontinued the end of the year. To make sure of a supply, the million lot will be contracted for.—Phila. Ledger.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—New envelopes are reported by J. M. Bartels, as follows:

J. E. Dennett has shown us a used copy of the freak 3c reported in 1921. This came from New York. Specimens are reported from various offices, so that Mr. Olson's sheet was by no means unique. Mr. Olson writes further in regard to the matter: "In talking to a man who is quite well up on the matter of inks and printing, he expressed his opinion that the Government printers are probably experimenting with inks and that this was some sort of chemical experiment. I have looked over all the open packages of 3c stamps in all the St. Paul offices, but there is nothing of this nature among them."

CAMEROONS.—We are also indebted to R. E. R. Dalwick for information regarding the Cameroon stamps overprinted "CEF" with value in British currency. A variety with inverted "S" occurs on the sheets of the shilling (mark) values.

CANADA.—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred reports that in addition to the nine varieties of King George post cards noted in No. 1289, a reply card has been issued with inscription in English only.

Post Card.

1x1c green.

CURACAO.—Hermann Focke has also shown us the new 5c envelope, noted in No. 1289. This pays the postage to the United States, under the new arrangement in effect Sept. 1.

Walter W. Fritzsche writes: "In No. 1291 you mention a Curacao envelope postmarked 'U. S. Sea Post — Porto Rico.' About a year ago, I received a letter similarly marked and upon inquiry of the sea post clerk on the N. York and San Juan P. Rico run he informed me that the clerks only run as far as San Juan but that the boats continue down to South America. The letters are mailed on the boat and later cancelled by the clerk."

ECUADOR.—H. Chitraro and Jacques Krebs have also shown us the new 4c red and black, chronicled in No. 1292.

ICELAND.—The 3 and 5 aur, double-head type, is coming on new paper, watermarked with multiple crosses. Rumor of a new issue is given unofficially (Iceland flag in blue and white) according to A. C. Roessler.

URUGUAY.—Hermann Focke has shown us the 50c value of the 1910 type lithographed. Like all the others of the lithographed series, the stamp is poorly printed, and the color does not show up well.

ZANZIBAR.—The 3c of the current series type of 1913 has appeared on the regular Colonial paper, watermarked Multiple Crown and CA, instead of rosettes, used copies having been shown us by Hermann Focke.

THE WHOLESALE STAMP TRADE.

(This article is taken from the "Fortnightly" but there is food for reflection here for American dealers. The United States is lacking in wholesale business and the time is now at hand for some enterprising men to grasp the opportunity of supplying the American trade. There is a splendid opening in N. Y. City or Boston for a big wholesale business.—Ed.)

Six months have now passed since the article on the wholesale stamp trade was written, and as yet nothing has been done, even mooted, to recover the business for British hands. The few wholesale lists still published are even scantier than usual in their lists of stocks; and the large-size packets and mixed Continentals for packets are conspicuous by their absence, or, if they are in the lists, orders for them are turned down with the remark "sold out". Also, if wholesale lots of any magnitude are offered to English dealers, they are promptly refused, and colonial dealers are told that no wholesale lots are wanted whilst the war is on.

It seems to the writer that the wholesale British dealers have very little pluck. They are absolutely scared by heavy lots, and there is no necessity for being so, as there has never been a single instance of even the commonest stamps going back—indeed, the rises in value in even the commonest stuff have been phenomenal during the last ten or fifteen years.

To sum up the position, the German trade had at least five big wholesale firms, whose fine even models attract buyers, and those dealers were also always open to take unlimited quantities of even the commonest goods. They also gave every reasonable credit, and were also only too glad even to execute orders for, say, new issues, out since their lists were published. In albums they were certainly far behind the British, and their catalogues are only medium.

The British trade can only be said to issue about three decent wholesale lists, and even these are not nearly as big and full as their competitors: very few sell the packets, which are such a strong feature of Germany, and what dealer of any standing can say he can afford to ignore the packet trade?

The British wholesaler also goes in far too much for particular varieties, and not enough for mixed lots of various countries.

It is apparently agreed that Germany has of late years "collared" the wholesale stamp trade, and ousted Britain from her former position. The retail trade is all right, and strange to say has suffered very little from the terrible war; but the wholesaling is different, and British dealers must bestir themselves to regain their lost ground, and to help them do so there is no doubt but that they have a sympathetic lot of clients, not only in Britain but in all the Colonies and perhaps farther afield.

NO RED CROSS STAMPS FOR ITALY.

The Italian postal department has turned down the request for an issue of Red Cross stamps. Stamp Collecting gives us the letter from the minister from which we quote:—

"Sir—You proposed to me, per letter dated 24th June, the issue of special postage stamps by the State, to be sold with an additional charge for the benefit of the Italian Red Cross Society.

In prompt reply, I am sorry to say that such a proposal cannot be accepted, owing to great difficulties of a material character.

The Government Printing Works in Turin, which by law, are entrusted with the issue of the postal orders, cannot see their way to issue the stamps in question, as a consequence of urgencies of a much greater importance for the State.

I must, however, thank you for such a proposal, which is a proof of your high patriotism.

Your obedient servant,

V. Riccio."

PUBLIC LIBRARY MISSION WORK.

By EDW. W. STEELE.

It may be of interest to those of your readers who believe in "missionary" work among youthful collectors, to hear something of the plan which the librarian of the Ansonia, Conn. Public Library has tried.

I gave her from my duplicates, a few ordinary stamps from the U. S., Belgium, France and Russia. These she mounted on cardboard and placed them on the bulletin board in the Junior room of the Library, together with a list of books on stamp collecting which were to be had at the library.

The librarian reports a great deal of collecting enthusiasm among the boys. This scheme might be used to work up more interest among the boy collectors, especially in the smaller towns.

BUSINESS METHODS DEMANDED.

By E. TUDOR GROSS.

In a recent issue, you speak editorially of the fact that the stamp season is at last "on," and you refer to statements of leading dealers predicting excellent business for the fall and winter. Your paper is doing a great deal toward furthering the interests of philately and incidentally furnishing an excellent medium for the dealer to sell his wares; but are the dealers, on their part, meeting you and the collector half way? While I realize that many collectors are boys, I also realize that a large per cent are men, and business men, who are accustomed to act along well established business lines. Although, to these men, stamp collecting is simply a hobby, and therefore, not a matter of vital importance, they nevertheless have a right to expect that their orders will be given reasonably prompt attention.

A week ago, I ordered some very common, easy-to-get United States stamps from a prominent advertiser. To date, I have heard nothing. About a year ago, I ordered a small amount from the same dealer and long afterwards, when I had found the stamps elsewhere, I received an approval card with part of the order represented. Very possibly, and quite probably, the dealer in question did not have the entire order in stock at the time, but it would have taken very little trouble to have acknowledged the receipt of my letter, by postal, and stated that the order would be filled as soon as possible. Friends of mine have complained of similar experiences with other dealers, and therefore, I think that a little thought given to applying business methods to the business of selling stamps will not only be reflected in increased sales, but will greatly add to the pleasure of collecting.

As you have spoken of the beginning of the stamp season, perhaps the above suggestion may not be amiss.

THE MALTA 4d BLACK.

The long-expected 4d black stamp—view of Valetta Harbour—has at last arrived. We have just received a copy from our Malta correspondent, who states that it was issued on Saturday, August 21st. Early last year the Colonial Journal intimated that new stamps had been supplied, and that the colour scheme of 1908 had been followed with the exception of the 4d, which would be in black (not dark green, as forecasted). In our issue for January 3rd, 1914, we announced that a correspondent had seen "specimen" copies of this issue.—Stamp Collecting.

We don't expect to fill Bill Bloss' shoes but until he gets back we will wriggle around in them. Moreover our dope is not so interesting as what Bill writes, but we are not to blame for that. Remember the placard that was placed on the wall of a western church:—"Don't shoot the organist, he does the best he knows how."

We really ought to enlist W. Parker Lyon in our publicity campaign. If we got him on the job pushing, there would be something doing. The trouble is he is too busy plating Sonoras—never asleep when he can buy, talk or exchange Sonoras.

Let's get down to business!

Andrew Sledd intends to sell his stock of stamps through the WEEKLY instead of the auction room. This means that the consumer will get a benefit. We advise a careful perusal of the quarter page used this week. Mr. Sledd is well known to us and we can guarantee absolutely fair and courteous treatment.

The "Stamp Trade" takes an inch space until further notice. While this is a dealers' paper, the collector will get sufficient value for his money to warrant sending in a subscription. Send for a sample copy, anyway, and justify the truth of our statement.

Our special number, Oct. 30, will be a Season-Opener special and we hope to make it 12 pps. A quarter page of 144 lines for $15.00 is a bargain, especially since the printer can strike off 200 or 300 reprints at a nominal figure. Watch out on that "postage overhead."

All copy must reach Boston on Saturdays. Monday is too late! If you slip up any week mail copy direct to the Jewett Printing Co., Portland, Me., but don't make a regular thing of this—simply an emergency.

Once in a while we get a letter that has the ring of sincerity in it and we like to use it. F. J. Rider of the Gray Stamp Co., who has used large space in the WEEKLY during the past six months, writes us as follows:—"I want to say how well pleased I am with results. I get a fine lot of replies and the last week or so has been extra good, more than I could keep up with. Have about thirty orders for approval selections and a dozen orders for special adv. stamps on hand now that I simply couldn't get time to fill today. Some have been waiting two or three days. These are all good customers, too, nearly all results of the WEEKLY ads."

When you write your advertisement, give all the information you can. Make it easy to locate the stamp you offer. Ceylon No. 5 is poor advertising. Give year, value and color—unless your entire offerings are from a single country. In the latter case numbers may be O. K.

Make it as easy as possible for the collector to locate the stamp you offer.

PACIFIC WAR PROVISIONALS.

About the middle of June, Colonel Pethebridge, Administrator of late German New Guinea, paid a visit to Melbourne on official business. He returned to Rabaul by the R. M. S. Morinda which left on 21st July. Colonel Pethebridge passed through Sydney from Melbourne on his way to join the steamer at Brisbane, and we took advantage of the opportunity to request the favour of an interview.

In response to our invitation Colonel Pethebridge paid us a visit before leaving Sydney and expressed his willingness to give us for the benefit of our readers any information he could.

On inquiring if anyone could now have German New Guinea or Marshall Islands stamps overprinted G. R. I. with the value in British currency, Colonel Pethebridge replied "No," and added that of late there had been no applications of that character as he assumed there were no more stamps to be overprinted.

He said that prior to leaving Melbourne he had made arrangements with the Commonwealth Stamp Printer for an additional supply of stamps, and he hoped in about six weeks' time to be able to supply them to the public in reasonable quantities, at face value of course, and without taking into consideration for what purpose they were required.

Colonel Pethebridge told us that he was taking up additional staff with him to attend to financial matters generally, which would, of course, include the handling of postage stamps. He also intimated that he had given instructions for the preparation of a proper obliterating stamp, which would supersede the oval rubber one now in use.

He said further that if anyone wrote to his office for stamps the stamps would be supplied, if there were sufficient stock to warrant compliance with the request, but he intimated that he was not a stamp dealer, and if anyone wanted any particular kinds of stamps they would have to get them from the regular dealers.

We showed him the various settings of the letter "S" in the word "Islands" of the overprint, and he was somewhat surprised to find that the difference in the shape of the "S" had been noticed, but he was quick to see that there was a difference, and when we explained to him what it amounted to from a collector's point of view and added that instead of a collector wanting one stamp of a kind he might now want 30, he was astonished; but he admitted that it gave him an insight into what stamp collecting really was.

Colonel Pethebridge is not a collector himself. He desired it to be known that he was not in any way antagonistic to the wishes or wants of collectors, but that so far as he was concerned he did not intend going outside his official duties which were to see that the territory was properly administered.

We omitted to ask our visitor if there was likely to be any alteration in the setting of the overprint in the fresh consignment of stamps, but that is probably a matter for the Commonwealth Printer and we shall have to possess our souls in patience until we have seen them. We should not be surprised to find that in subsequent printings the varieties had disappeared.

Having heard that some higher denominations than the 1sh had been overprinted for issue at Rabaul, the Colonel informed us in reply to our question that he did not intend having any higher stamps than the 1sh value.

He informed us also that he had read the various references to the New Guinea and Marshall Islands stamps, which had appeared in this journal from month to month and of which we had sent him copies, and that he was now a great deal wiser in regard to philatelic matters than he had been. He had no idea that stamp collecting was of such a vast character, and while there was at first a disposition at headquarters to ignore collectors, it was eventually decided that no obstacles should be placed in the way of any person acquiring stamps in the ordinary course should they wish to do so, but the Colonel said

You May Not Know It, But It's True

A prominent stamp dealer—one you perhaps know, writes:

"Enclosed please find the amount of bill. It is a pleasure to pay St. Nicholas bills. We find the purchasing ability of St. Nicholas readers in our line far better than any other medium we use, as returns to costs prove."

You can stay in business without using St. Nicholas, but good dealers find it a great help. It won't be much trouble to fill out this coupon, and find how we can help you too.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, BOSTON, MASS.

he was determined that nothing of an irregular character would be tolerated. He added that he was not going up to Rabaul to risk the dimming of a reputation which had taken him 40 years to acquire. His duty was to see that the territory under his control was properly governed, and he was responsible to the (Australian) Minister for Defense, only, for all his procedure. So far as postal matters were concerned, the Commonwealth Postal Department had nothing to do with them. On our suggesting that his position was analogous to that of the Resident Commissioner of the British Solomon Islands and other Protectorates, he replied, "Yes."

Our interview with Colonel Pethebridge was of a very cordial nature. He expressed his willingness to help stamp collectors in any way that he could, and he appreciated the various communications that we had sent him from time to time.

We are confident that stamp collectors and dealers will get fair treatment from the Administrator, but those who think they will be able to get freaks or curiosities through the post will be sadly disappointed.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

FOR A SHUT-IN.

We have received from Wendover Neefus a National Album for 1914 and several pounds of mixed U. S. If any subscriber can recommend a worthy shut-in, we shall pass along the kindness Mr. Neefus has manifested. For the benefit of some subscribers we might add that the album covers U. S. and its colonies.

Only Half a Stamp!

One of the most interesting provisional series of late years was that issued by the Governor of the Portuguese India in 1911-12. This issue was authorized by the Home Government at Lisbon, and was issued at Goa to fill a real need. Therefore there was a postal necessity for the stamps and they were used in the regular order of business. Both Scott and Gibbons list these interesting stamps, but with rare exceptions, no prices are given for used specimens. By a fortunate chance we are enabled to supply collectors looking for genuinely postally used stamps with the following list, at the low prices named. In most cases we can supply both right and left halves, but in no case can we supply used unsevered pairs. Prices are net, per half stamp, with postage extra on orders under 50 cents.

NASSAU STAMP CO.

118 Nassau Street, NEW YORK CITY

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

EGYPT—A HISTORY OF ITS STAMPS.

By R. E. R. DALWICK.

Official Stamps.

The first official stamp was issued at the beginning of 1892.

NOTICE.

The public is hereby informed that the special postage stamps, which from the 1st January will be used exclusively for official correspondence, will be on sale at the Alexandria and Cairo Post-offices on and after the 5th proxo. Price 1 P.T. each stamp.

ALEXANDRIA, 30th December, 1892.

The design is after the usual style of De La Rue's Egyptians, but the central oval has had the pyramid and sphinx removed for the inscription SERVICE DE L'ETAT which also appears in Turkish beneath.

It is rather curious that no value is expressed on this stamp, the idea being, doubtless, that the one stamp should do duty on any sized official parcel. The sheets at first consisted of 240 stamps in four panes of 60, but in June, 1914, the size of sheet was increased to 400 in four panes of 100 each. The new printing was in a darker shade. The 1907 officials when first issued were not sold to the public unused, but nowadays they are plentiful in that condition. There appear to be no overprint varieties. The overprinting was executed by De La Rue & Co.

At the end of 1908 the following notice appeared in Le Bulletin Postal Egyptien concerning the 1907 official stamps:—

Concerning the franking of articles sent through the post on the service of the State.

On and after January 1, 1909, the regulations relative to the franking of letters and other articles sent on the State's Service (i. e., those regulations contained in No. 3 of the Bulletin Postal dated January 29, 1907), will be modified as follows:—

1. Ordinary correspondence of all kinds is to be stamped with a special stamp, which will be, until further notice, the old stamp inscribed SERVICE DE L'ETAT.
2. Each article despatched, no matter what it be, nor what its weight, is to be franked with one stamp only.
3. Insured packets and parcels on which the rate has up to the present been paid in cash are to be franked with the stamps "O. H. H. S." which are now current; stamps to be equal in value to the rate payable.
4. The same "O. H. H. S." stamps are to be used to pay the rate for registration within the confines of the State, and to frank articles going abroad. It is therefore intended that registered letters be provided with two kinds of stamps: i. e., "O. H. H. S." stamps in payment of the registration fee, and stamps inscribed SERVICE DE L'ETAT to frank the letter.
5. The rates for money orders, etc., are still to be paid in cash.

The overprinted officials of 1907 bore the letters (in black) "O. H. H. S." in sans serif capitals with Arabic equivalent below. A shortage of the 5 mills official stamp occurred in November, 1913, with the result that a local "O. H. H. S." overprint was applied without any Arabic wording beneath. The local overprint exists inverted. The 4 mil vermilion was the last stamp added to this set. The "O. H. H. S." overprint has now been added to two or three values of the 1914 Pictorial issue.

Before leaving the subject of official stamps it is necessary to give an account of the large-sized officials which were in existence in the early sixties. They are not labels of artistic merit, nor do we advise collectors to take them too seriously.

"MORE UNFASHIONABLES"
Most "writers" say that a man that collects Salvador is fit for the Old Ladies' Home as that is one of the countries that "turn out" stamps by the bushel to sell to collectors. We note that Nos. 376 and 377 catalogued last year at 20c each used or unused, are priced this year at 75c each. As this price is based on visible supply and demand evidently they did not turn out many bushels of this stamp or there has been some demand. We sent out this stamp on our Mailing List at a few cents but you know what the wicked dealers do when the catalog advances. We have in this week the scarce surcharges of Siam also all the high values not priced by Scott. They won't last long.

H. F. COLMAN,

Second National Bank Bldg.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Before the existence of the Viceregal government post office, there was as we have seen, a private office known as the POSTA EUROPEA, under the management of Tito Chini. No stamps of course were employed, but official correspondence was franked by round franks on colored paper, bearing the above inscription. Strictly speaking these well-known circular labels are official seals. The reading of the first circular inscription was: AMMINISTRAZIONE DELLA POSTA EUROPEA IN EGITTO; the centre containing the name of town in three lines.

Offizio di Birket-el-Sab, deep-rose.
Offizio di Tanta, yellow.

The colours of the papers do not appear to be known for the following towns which are credited with the use of this frank:

1. Cairo Birket-el-sab, deep Alexandria rose.
Damianhour Suez
Kafir Zayat Damiat
Tanta, yellow. Zefla
Zagazig Mehalla
Benha Samanud

The next set was issued under the instigation of the viceregal postoffice. The impressions were struck in black on coloured porous paper, and were in use at the following towns:

2. Alexandria, pink [paper].
Cairo, green; variety pink.
Atfe, yellow (deep).
Birket-el-Sab, red-brown.
Took, brown.
Beuka, green and yellow ochre.
Zifta, grey.
Damiat, yellow.
Suez, rose.
Abuhomus, pink and light brown.
Damanhour, grey.
Kafir-Zayat, deep brown.
Zagazig, green (light).
Samanud, blue-green.
Kafir Duar, blue (deep).
Ramie, brown.
Galiub, green.
Tel-el-Barud, grey (dull).

There are several other sets of these officials, but it would serve no good purpose to tabulate them, as the towns at which they were used are mostly the same for all. We extract the following short cutting from The Stamp Collectors' Magazine of 1868:

"These stamps are termed 'official' stamps, and very probably if placed on official letters, would be taken to indicate the nature of such letters and free them from charge. But we take it that they are also used as a species of seal, and that it is indeed their principal employment to show simply whence comes the packet of letters to which they are affixed. The idea of these stamps was borrowed from the Italian post-office, in which similar labels are used to seal the bags of letters, and it will be in the remembrance of our readers, that a large number of more or less ornamental designs were offered for these stamps, when the emission of a new type was decided upon."

Collectors who wish an exhaustive history of these "Officials" are recommended to study the subject in Moens' handbook on Egypt, which book will be found in this article under the heading "Bibliography."

The following illustration gives a rough idea of the appearance in general of the stamps under discussion.

ROUMANIAN ISSUES.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The earliest stamps of Roumania, those of the principalities of Moldavia and Wallachia, are among the greatest of European stamp rarities, many of them beyond the reach of all but the wealthiest collectors. The rare Moldavians of circular design have already been discussed in these notes, and it is with the stamps issued during the past ten years that my remarks are concerned this week. These are chiefly of the commemorative or charity classes of postage stamps, and are of special interest at the present time when the eyes of the Allies and of the enemy, and, indeed, of the whole world, are turned anxiously in the direction of this Balkan kingdom.

Roumania had only issued one series of commemorative stamps prior to the period under discussion. This was the set issued in 1903 to mark, rather belatedly, a peaceful event which had taken place two years earlier, nothing more, indeed, than the opening of the new General Post Office in Bucharest. In 1906 two events of greater national significance were marked by special issues of stamps. The first of these sets is in a uniform design, with the portrait of the late King Carol turned to left; the second series bears a variety of vignettes of historical subjects. The same values occur in similar colours in each set, and whilst the King's portrait set marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of Roumania to a kingdom, the pictorial set marks the completion of forty years of the late monarch's reign.

MILITARY SCENES ON STAMPS.

The incidents depicted in the pictorial set are of a high degree of interest. On the 1 bani is a group showing Prince Carol taking the oath of allegiance to the Constitution in 1866. The 3 bani shows the Prince driving across the Steppes, and the 5 bani shows him in the midst of a battle scene, heartening and leading his newly reorganised army at the battle of Kalafat in the Russo-Turkish war in 1877. Then on the 10 bani is depicted the historic meeting between the Prince and Osman Pasha in 1878. The 15 bani has two medallion portraits, one showing Carol as Prince in 1866, the other as King in 1906. The 25 bani is a very remarkable stamp design, for in the small space of the vignette is shown the long line of the Roumanian army crossing the Danube in 1877. On the 40 bani is depicted the triumphal return of the army into Bucharest, 1878. The Prince, riding at the head of the army, is the subject of the 50 bani vignette. The two highest values, 1 leu and 2 lei respectively, show the King at the inauguration of the Cathedral "Curtea de Arges," 1896, and at the shrine of St. Nicholas, Jassy, in 1904.

This set of stamps, with its historic association of Russia in the elevation of Roumania to independence, and the union of Russia and Roumania against Turkish misrule, was followed last year with another series commemorating the recovery of the province of Silistria at the end of the last Balkan war, depicting, in addition to various allegorical devices, the passage of troops over the Danube (5 bani), and the towns of Silistria (10 bani) and Dobrudja (25 bani). On the 15 bani of this issue are two portrait medallions; one is that of Mircea, the old-time Hospodar of Wallachia (1387-1418), who wrested Dobrudja and Silistria from the Bulgarian, but had to surrender the right bank of the Danube to the Turks and to do homage to the Turkish Sultan; the other portrait is that of the late King Carol.

ROUMANIAN CHARITIES.
 The present Queen of Roumania, as Princess Marie, was responsible for the designs of several charity postage stamps, issued in aid of certain philanthropies under the patronage of the Queen Elizabeth (the present dowager, popularly remembered as the poetess-Queen, Carmen Sylva). The stamps were issued in sets of four denominations, and there are five sets which appeared in 1906-1907.

The charity stamps paid inland postage of the amounts 3, 5, 10, and 15 bani, the four denominations being repeated in each design; but they were sold by the post-office at 10, 15, 20, and 25 bani respectively, the extra sums going to the funds of the Policlinica and Tesatorea Institutions in Roumania.

The latest charity stamps of Roumania have been issued to collect funds for the refugees from Transylvania in the present war. Stamps of special design had been prepared, but as they were alleged to typify too plainly Roumanian national ambitions they were suppressed on Austrian representations. Instead, three ordinary stamps and one postage-due stamp have been overprinted "Timbru de ajutor" (aid stamp), and are sold at a premium, the premium going to the fund named. The values are 5, 10, and 50 bani postage, and the 10 bani postage-due.—Telegraph.

WINNIPEG COLLECTORS MEET.

The first meeting of the season for the Winnipeg Stamp Club was held Saturday evening, Oct. 2, at their club headquarters, 334 Main street. For the first meeting there was a large attendance and it bespeaks a most successful and enjoyable season ahead. F. E. Farnham, one of Chicago's foremost philatelists, was a visitor and a talk on the recent A. P. S. convention at San Francisco, which he attended, was enjoyed by all. An auction of stamps and refreshments were the other features of the evening.

BEER STAMPS—NEW WAR REVENUE LAW.

By JOSEPH C. ZANINI,
 Mem. U. S. Revenue Society.

Perhaps no series of tax stamps have, through the new Internal Tax Law, witnessed so many new varieties as U. S. Beer Stamps. On and after October 23, 1914, the tax levied on Beer, Ale, and Porter was increased from $1.00 per barrel (containing 31 gallons) to $1.50 per barrel and Congress further authorized in War Revenue Bill, "that until appropriate stamps are prepared, the stamps heretofore used to denote payment of tax on fermented liquor may be stamped or overprinted with suitable device to denote new rate of tax," thus it can be readily seen the why and wherefore of the following issues of these stamps. Immediately upon passage of Act the Commissioner of Internal Revenue forwarded notices by telegraph of the provisions of new law to the chief deputy collector of every district the collectors thereupon in the principal districts like New York and Pennsylvania issued the current beer stamps with rubber stamp surcharge: EMERGENCY TAX, about five mm. high in red, black, or violet color.

1st Issue—Rubber stamp surcharge: EMERGENCY TAX in black, red, or violet on 1909 Issue:

Values: 1/8th, 1/4th, 1/2th, 1/3rd, 1/2, 1 bbl., 1 hoghead.

The rubber stamp surcharge continued in use about one week when upon receipt of stamps with printed surcharge: EMERGENCY TAX UNDER ACT OF 1914, they were discontinued.

2nd Issue—Printed Surcharge: EMERGENCY TAX UNDER ACT OF 1914 in black or yellow on 1909 issue.

Values: 1/8th, 1/4th, 1/2th, 1/3rd, 1/2, 1 bbl., 1 hoghead.

Now comes the most interesting variety. Shortly after the printed surcharged stamps were out a collector noticed on a shipment of a certain brewing company's beer that several of the barrels bore the 1/2 bbl. stamp of the 1902 issue with the printed surcharge described above printed in black. After much trouble he secured five copies, all that as far as I know, have been saved for Philately, so this stamp is destined to be one of the great rarities of Beer stamps.

I have often been asked the reason of of this variety and my opinion is that upon passing of Law increasing the rate to $1.50 per bbl., that Bureau of Engraving and Printing reserve stock of the 1/2 bbl. beer stamps was very low and as the Bureau had their hands full getting ready other new revenue stamps to meet Act, they had no time just then to print a new supply of 1/2 bbl. of current issue but surcharged a batch of the remainders of 1/2 bbl. of the 1902 issue they had on hand, to tide them over until they had part of the work on other new revenues provided by act out of the way.

3rd Issue—Printed surcharge: EMERGENCY TAX UNDER ACT OF 1914, in black on 1902 issue.

Values: 1/2 bbl.

As the surcharged stamps were only a temporary issue and as Congress stated in Act that they should only be used until appropriate stamps could be prepared and furnished, early in 1915

EDITORIAL.

Introducing Nebraska—Nebraska must be reckoned with. The state was a factor in philately when it was some distinction to be an outspoken exponent of the pursuit. While the progress of each year is slight perhaps yet a quarter century has marked an advance that may well be regarded with complacency by those who would have philately flourish. The birth of philately may not be said to have taken place at any definite date but it became systematized about 1890 in Nebraska. Though the stamp paper and stamp dealer made their appearance in Nebraska in the '70's yet it was not until about 1890 that Nebraska's participation in American philately became recognized. One of the first state societies to be established was Nebraska's and though after years of usefulness it faded away, it may be recorded that a successor has been organized and at Omaha on Oct. 7th, 1915, the Nebraska State Philatelic Society was introduced at a convention held for the purpose.

All There—The Omaha convention was a success in all respects and though naturally the majority of those present were residents of Omaha, there was a representation of down state Nebraskans and several others. For instance, we shall name the guests at the dinner given at the Commercial Club of Omaha: W. R. King, Grand Island, Nebraska; L. T. Brodstone, Superior, Nebraska;

Reuben W. Ahlmann and W. C. Ahlmann of Norfolk, Nebraska; Charles M. Plein, Florence, Nebraska; T. C. E. Hunter, Topeka, Kansas; C. E. Severn, Chicago; F. S. Parmelee, Ora E. Stark, M. G. Newman, F. W. Schmiedeberg, S. L. Irvine, R. C. Hoyt, H. A. Whipple, N. T. Thorson and Frank Brown, all of Omaha. Other Omaha philatelists who were interested in the proceedings, were Dr. Wherry, J. Benson, and Mr. Welch. The crowd, it will be seen, was not large but it was of sociable size and philatelic intimacies resulted from the opportunity for close philatelic communion.

On Its Way—The state society for Nebraska was organized and started on its career. With newly elected officers and a constitution, the Nebraska State Philatelic Society steps forth to scatter seeds of philatelic flavor as it proceeds on its way. The annual convention will bring the members together and the society may be depended upon to promote collecting in Nebraska and to safeguard its interests. Of course, the Philatelic West was chosen as official journal but nevertheless the day may come when some society, somewhere, will not choose the paper in question as official journal.

Prizes—A feature of the convention was the exhibition of philatelic literature made by Mr. W. R. King of Grand Island, Nebraska, who has been for so many years a student and discriminating collector of philatelic literature. Mr. King brought from his library a selection that he thought would appeal to the members and it was examined with close attention. Among the volumes were: John K. Tiffany's Philatelic Catalogue, 1874, with original paper covers bound in: Mason's Coin and Stamp Collectors' Magazine, 1867 and 1868, with covers bound in: Stamp Collectors' Magazine, Volume One, 1863, with Nova Scotia, 2 cent violet, presentation stamp, on cover: The Philatelist, Stafford Smith and Co., Volume One, 1867: American Journal of Philately, Volume One, with covers, first series, 1868, and the Philatelic Journal, 1872-75, Manchester, England, Jas. R. Grant & Co. (Trade name of P. L. Pemberton) Volumes one and two. It is not necessary to add that Mr. King's philatelic library is one of the greatest and an advantage that attended Mr. King's endeavors was his early regard for stamp literature. Pieces that were rather readily available thirty years or so ago are almost unattainable today.

All Right—Omaha did entertain its visitors in a way to make them know that their presence was indispensable and one who had no conception of the philatelic resources of the city took his departure impressed by the courtesy, the stamps and the enthusiastic collectors that made the Omaha convention a pleasant and profitable one. Merely to indicate that the convention was a full and complete one the statement is made that a group picture of the delegates was taken.

THE LATE CAV. A. CAVE BONDI.

We learn with very great regret of the death at Leghorn on September 8th of one of the greatest collectors in Italy, the Cavalier Augusto Cave Bondi. Mr. Bondi was born at Leghorn on August 23, 1851, and obtained his diploma as Doctor of Jurisprudence at Pisa, and his degree of avocat at Florence in 1875.

In the Philatelic Record of October, 1906, it is stated that he was interested in stamps when at college. His first collection, numbering about 3,000, he presented to his uncle, M. César Cave, who had been for many years a member of the Société Française de Timbrologie, and whose collection, in spite of the fact that it was very badly arranged, had obtained a certain renown all over Italy.

Mr. Cave died in 1899, and left his stamps to his three nephews, including Cav. Bondi, who set about re-arranging the collection, but the latter was ultimately sold and the proceeds devoted to the acquisition of a charmingly situated villa at Ardenza close to Leghorn, and a Home was established there capable of accommodating 150 children. The Home was named the "César Cave" in memory of the founder of the collection. Another portion of the proceeds was devoted to a Children's Home in the city of Leghorn; in fact, all Mr. Bondi obtained for his stamps was devoted to charitable purposes of the kind.

It was in 1892 Mr. Bondi started his own great philatelic work of specialising in the stamps of the Italian States and United Italy. This developed into a monumental collection, which at the Milan Exhibition (1906) was contained in 24 volumes and gained the King of Italy's gold medal, the highest award at the Exhibition.

It was in 1910 that we first saw the Bondi collection still in 24 volumes, which, if displayed out in the ordinary manner, would have absorbed most of the show case area at the Berne Exhibition of that year. Here, also, Cav. Bondi secured a gold medal.

Dr. Emilio Diena, who sends us the sad news of Cav. Bondi's death, states that owing to the indifferent condition of his health, Mr. Bondi sold his collection a few years ago, and in the last period, he had no interest in stamps. Our friend adds, "I have lost with him a good friend, his city is deprived of one of the best philanthropists."—Postage Stamp.

CLIFTON A. HOWES, PRESIDENT A. P. S.

By JAMES H. LYONS.

C. A. Howes, who has been editor of the New England Stamp Monthly since its establishment, has been a familiar name to the readers of stamp papers and publications for the past thirty years.
 To those who have not a personal acquaintance with him, we have the pleasure of showing his very latest photograph. Mr. Howes has just been elected President of the American Philatelic Society and we gladly take this occasion to add our tribute to those appearing in the philatelic press.

He commenced to collect stamps in 1882 and in the course of time he acquired a very large collection. Mr.
 Howes became especially interested in Asiatic stamps and is now known as an authority on these stamps from his personal research work. He also made a special study of the stamps of Corea,
 Japan, Formosa, China and Chinese Treaty Ports. His collection of the latter is of unusual interest, not only because of its completeness but for the manner in which the stamps have been arranged and mounted. These Treaty Port pages not only show the stamps, but also copies of inscriptions, translations of the same and data concerning the purpose and use of the stamps, by what authority issued, etc.; the larger part of the information having been gathered by Mr. Howes from personal study, he having gone so far as to learn to translate the Chinese characters.

His specialized collection of Corea, which contains several unique things in the way of stamps, was perhaps the first real philatelic study of this neglected country, which contained much more in its issues that needed working out than anybody had previously realized. It is mounted with full annotations, translations of inscriptions, etc., as Mr. Howes has studied the Korean language as well as the Chinese. The collection has been exhibited and awarded bronze medals at London in 1907 and 1912, at Vienna in 1911 and a silver gilt medal at New York in 1913.

He is the author of a book called "The Stamp Designs of Eastern Asia," published in 1905, which illustrates and describes the stamps of China, Corea and Japan. The work that received the most praise from collectors of all countries is his exhaustive book on "Canada, Its Stamps and Postal Stationery," and the fact that he has been for some time past at work on a companion volume to treat of Newfoundland, the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia is a result of the favor with which the earlier volume was received. Mr. Howes graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Class of 1894. He was a charter member of the American Philatelic Society, is a member of the Royal and Junior Philatelic Societies of London, and has served the Boston Philatelic Society as President and was for ten years its Secretary. I might enlarge on this and tell many things, among others, that Mr. Howes has a very pleasing young daughter and how much she takes after her mother, but there are limitations and the editor has a blue pencil.—

N. E. Stamp Monthly.

 P. S. 2375, was a recent visitor at the Boston office. On his way east, Mr.

Baldwin honored Mr. Severn's office in Sawyer Stamp Co. called at the Boston office last Saturday.

MR. COLLECTOR PLEASE REMEMBER:

That the best way to shop is to watch very closely the columns of the WEEKLY.
 You will be well repaid for your vigilance.

That dealers always put the best foot forward and advertised offers will represent the very cream of their offerings.

That it is worth while to look up catalog numbers even though some dealers persist in advertising Ceylon 36 and similar offerings.

That the many mail auctions being held are good sources of supply. Bid high enough to get the stamp if you really want it.

That a good word for the WEEKLY when you order a stamp will "help some"
 as Brodstone says.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels reports having seen a size 14 envelope having the same shape that is now being used for the sizes 3, 5, 8 and 13. The new knife will be called 93. As this change of knife has not been mentioned by the P. O. Department it comes as a surprise. The paper used in the envelopes of the 1915 series is wove. So far we have not noticed a single exception.

The following new envelopes are noted:

Denom.	Die.	Wmk. 20 (1915).	Size.	Paper.	Kn.
1c	D	13		Blue	89
2c	A	14		White	93

BRITISH GUIANA.—Hermann Focke informs us that the 72c value of the new set has at last appeared, thus completing the set up to the 96c value. Mr. Focke also encloses two copies of the 2c stamp of the present issue, showing marked differences in the shading of the tablet bearing the value, the heavy shading being the first printing. The triangular dotted shading to the left of the crown has almost disappeared. The same varieties are found on the 5c value, and the second printing of this stamp is in a much deeper blue color than the first printing. The 72c value just issued is also of the second printing, i. e.: tablet lines very faint and shading to left of crown almost invisible. The 60c value has heavy lines in tablet but no shading to left of crown, whereas all other values, including the 96c on white back, are of the first printing. Peculiarities in the latter stamp were noted in No. 1277.

Adhesive.

72c violet and orange brown.

CUBA.—Grant Tiffany's note in No. 1291 regarding a variety of the 2c map stamp of Cuba, brings out the following interesting letter from Secretary J. T. Perdomo of the Asociacion Cuba Filatelica:

"Regarding to the variety of the 2c map stamp of Cuba, reported by Grant Tiffany, I must say that there has been published a list (the most complete one up to now) by J. Gutierrez Hernandez, a member of our Association, in which all those varieties are included. This list has been published in our official organ, El Coleccionista, and it contains the following varieties: 'REPUBLICA', 'GUBA', 'LEPUBLICA', 'HEPUBLI-CA', 'HEPUBLI-CA', 'REPIUBLICA', 'CURA'; of all these the scarcest is that reading 'LEPUBLICA'.

"In the 'Un Centavo' stamps, there is also found a noted variety, which consists of the stamp having a white dot at both sides of the word 'UN' in the tablets at the sides. These varieties are due to the fact of the plates being not clean. There are frequently found pairs, blocks, etc., of the different styles. Also it has been noted that some stamps, especially those of the 1c and 2c denominations are found on tinted paper. Rose tinted paper on the 2c, and light green tinted paper on the 1c. Others of the 1c having a white line under the 'N' of 'CENTA-VOS', and those of the 2c having a thin white line under the 'U' or 'B' of 'RE-PUBLICA'. There are many other small varieties due to the imperfect cleaning of the plates."

FRANCE.—I. Thurman Mann, M. D. calls attention to an item in The Journal of the American Medical Association for Oct. 2, 1915. In the "Paris Letter" from a correspondent there, dated Sept. 9, 1915, under a sub-head, "The Dardanelles Stamp," is the following:

"The Société Française de Secours aux Blessés Militaires has contributed toward the conversion of the Charles Raux, a transatlantic liner, into a floating hospital. The society has furnished the boat with 300 beds and important hospital equipment. It has entirely at its own expense, chartered another boat, the Saint Francais-d'Assise, which is about to set out for the Dardanelles. The society has also sent out 30 nurses, some of whom are to work on board of the Charles Raux, while others are to be assigned to ambulance units already established on the island of Lemnos. This work has imposed heavy expenses on the society. In order to meet these expenses, it has just issued a new 5c postage stamp called the 'Dardanelles stamp.' This stamp shows an ambulance unit composed of several tents under the shadow of the French flag and the Red Cross standard; a nurse of the society is caring for a wounded soldier. This stamp is sold in books of twenty. On the cover of each book is a colored picture representing the Charles Raux, whose white hull is barred with a broad red stripe; at the masthead flutters the French flag and the flag of the Red Cross."

ST. VINCENT.—M. Ohlman reports a variety in the new provisional having a right hand corner block with left upper stamp showing a period after the "T" of St. Vincent. This also ought to be found on the same stamp without surcharge.

DOCTOR HELD IN STAMP CASE FREED.

Dr. Adolfo Luria, 3611 Lexington street, Chicago, an alienist and former member of a commission which investigated the psychopathic hospital recently, was freed by Lewis F. Mason, United States Commissioner, today, when Anthony Telli, Washington, D. C., a stamp collector, failed to prove that stamps alleged to have been converted to his own uses by Dr. Luria, were genuine and valuable.—Chic. American.

Advertising Chat—No. 8.

It is possible that we shall soon be compelled to discontinue our "chat." It will not be because we have nothing to talk about but rather because of lack of space. Anyway we can wait until Bill Bloss returns when the tall timber will no doubt claim us.

In no previous year has October looked so good to us as this year and our columns are just bubbling over with bargain offers. The collector should revel in the good things offered and appreciate the fact that advertised stamps represent the cream of bargains.

D. M. Ward announces this week the purchase of the F. P. Collingwood stock of stamps and is better prepared than ever to accommodate his patrons.

The firm of W. C. Phillips & Co., Glastonbury, Ct., used 4000 lines last year and has begun on a new contract of 5000 lines for the coming year. The Phillips Co. intends to beautify their advts. with half tones. The wonder is that cuts are not used more frequently by our advertisers.

An addition to the list of auction advertisers will be noted in the announcement of B. L. Voorhees. The fact that Mr. Voorhees has already held more than half-a-hundred sales will indicate that he is an expert at the business.

Our western stamp firm using a quarter page to advertise approval selections shows enterprises surely. It's a bold venture and we hope it will be a profitable one. The manager has been a frequent user of displayed space.

W. F. Gregory has made a change in his Nassau St. address and will hereafter be found at number 95. We made public announcement last week and for good measure give Mr. Gregory the additional word.

A very gratifying word comes to us from the advertising manager of "St. Nicholas." Mr. Guion writes us that he will use 2000 lines the coming year to exploit his publication. This is more than double the space used last year. Mr. Guion says: "Actions speak louder than words and you can infer from this what results we expect from your paper."

We are especially glad to welcome back Bright & Son. Our dealings with this firm have always been of the most satisfactory nature. Our welcome is especially hearty in view of the fact that the firm has increased its space to double that formerly taken. See editorial page.

C. A. Stegmann of St. Louis wants to buy your collection as will be noted elsewhere in this issue. Emily King of Halifax, N. S., resumes regular advg. this week.

We are building for the issue of October 30. Have your copy reach us October 23. It will be our "Season-Opener" and a good one, too. Share with your fellow dealers in the splendid prosperity now apparent in all branches of the stamp trade.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. THE ILLS OF JIMMY O'. By EDWIN B. HILL.

The streets of Willow ran yellow with mingled 'dobe and water. Real rain had fallen upon the unsuspecting earth, and for fully three days the sun had not shone,—an unprecedented thing for Arizona.

"Right here is where I begin to get some peevish," declared my friend, Jimmy O', as he looked out upon the lowering sky. "Three days I can stand it, then I seek solitude, or I fight my best friends."

Now Jimmy O', be it known, had forsaken the way of the transgressor on pleasure bent, via the cow-boy route, and was hoarding his coin-of-the-realm to augment his "collection," donated—with the aid of $87.50 of Jimmy O'.s cash—by his bosom friend, Johnny Williams, of the Gila country; all of which has been duly set forth "in a previous issue," as the magazines say. Jimmy O' was just returning from a fortnight's visit to Johnny, and had reached my shack when the skies opened. For three days Jimmy had soaked up rain and stamper information alternately. But Jimmy could cook, and he was "good company," so I could endure a fortnight of him—almost—during a rain in Arizona.

"Finest climate in the world," chirped Jimmy. "Great country, too, until they put water on it. Now we're ruined."

Jimmy looked as gloomy as the skies. He made it personal. For me, I failed to see wherein the ruin lay. Six or seven crops of alfalfa a year under irrigation looked good to me. But Jimmy rambled on, and I knew something worth while was sure to follow, especially when he began deftly with one hand to roll a cigarette.

"The greatest game of baseball I ever saw was on Grand Island, Niagara River, on the 3d or 5th of July, '89. There was a collection of stamps on third base, and every man who reached it had his pick free. I don't just remember who got first choice, but I managed to get a couple."

This was the point where I sat up suddenly. Jimmy was just 26: that settled him. Then I remembered. There were some old amateur papers in the tent-house, vintage of the '80's and '90's, and Jimmy had been absorbing them with a purpose.

"Fine bunch o' sports. Friends o' mine, too. There was Sammy Stinson, who knocked always three-baggers; an' there was 'Willow,' who never agreed with 'Anti,' and them two delayed the game in-or-di-nate-ly. An' there was another friend o' mine there, too, who was some unfortunate. He never got to third base."

Be it known, en parenthese, that on that day of July, '89, both the managing editor of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and the humble writer of these sketches played in a game of base ball at the place designated. It was a battle royal between the East and the West, members of the National Amateur Press Association. But there wasn't a stamp collection on third base,—only a keg of water. I shall never forget that, for I nearly died of thirst. I was the old friend Jimmy felt sorry for!

"It was a great convention," continued

Jimmy. "I think I got these two stamps yet." He fumbled amongst some letters inside his shirt, drew forth a tattered envelope, and extracted a fragment of an approval sheet, which he passed over to me.

If I sat up when Jimmy began his monologue, I sat up some more here and now, for what my eyes rested on were two copies of the six cents Proprietary, orange, in immaculate condition, as like as two perfect stamps could be.

"And I says to myself, last week," continued Jimmy, ungrammatically, "if the gods are good, and I survive, I'll give one o' these souvenirs to a friend o' mine who sure got less than he deserved at that game in '89."

Whereupon Jimmy held out his hand for the sheet, gazed at it intently, detached the copy which he deemed the preferable, and passed it back to me. The other he poked into his breast-works once more, and resumed his attention to another cigarette.

"One lovely day in April," he began after I had expressed my thanks, "One lovely day in April, as I said before—and it didn't rain, either—Mr. James O', for short, went to see his friend Johnny W. for long—say a couple o' weeks."

I feared the absorption of recent magazine literature was corrupting Jimmy's "style," but he abruptly swung into his pace. I grew more interested.

"Gila is all right for about nine days. Then you wonder if you can stand it four more. The wonder gets on your nerves. Mine, that is, Johnny and I wore it out on the round-up, and then I began to wish I had an old catalogue along. I took to prowling around town. About four days after—it was the last day I was there—I hit on a drug store, run by an old codger who'd brought his junk out from the East in a prairie schooner, and most of it was there yet,—vintage o' '66. My eye! It was funny! An' then I spotted a bottle with a stamp—one o' those Father-of-His-Country affairs. 'Never say die,' says I. 'While there's life there's hope. Jimmy O', you're on the verge of a great find. Go slow—but not too slow. Also, you may have to borrow money!'

"Say, the symptoms I developed would stump a horse-doctor, let alone a human one. Why, I had everything from cholera infantum to the heaves! Honest! And that old Ananias aided and abetted me, b'jinks! It cost me $11.60—he knocked off a dollar and two bits when I had that acute attack of 'balm-for-women' disease—according to the symptom book—and the stamps. I annexed the only two bottles he had."

Here Jimmy waved his cigarette hand at the phantom six-cents Proprietary. "It was real unlady-like of him, but I sure appreciated it—him making me think I had it bad," declared Jimmy, with his humorous grin. "And say! I found when I rode on to Johnny's, to say good bye, that nine o' them bottles had busted on me, an' my saddle-bags was sure some afloat. But I saved the stamps."

Then Jimmy proceeded to dig out more letters from which another sheet was finally extracted. And I gloated! A four cents vermilion D. S. Barnes,—a one cent black Brandreth, perforated,—a two cents black, P. H. Drake & Co.,—and a six cents orange, James Swaim, were among the treasures. I figured Jimmy had acquired about $700.00, catalogue value, for his $11.60.

"An' now," said Jimmy, "as the sun begins to show symptoms, I reckon I'll saddle up and hustle along to Three Bar X. You see, I fed those two bottles o' that woman's friend to a Pima buck who sure had a thirst. He thought it was a new brand o' firewater. I bet he got revenge on his squaw, somethin' fierce. Johnny told me they was a dep'ty sheriff lookin' fer a young man on a pinto horse. I fear that's my name. I tell you, son, you let women alone!" With which advice, Jimmy rapidly effaced himself from the borderland of Willow.

Caroline Islands.

The Caroline Islands is an archipelago of 680 islands and islets in the Pacific Ocean between the Marshall and Pelew Islands. They are divided into two groups, the Eastern and the Western, and have a total area of 560 square miles. Most of the islands are only small atolls, but there are about fifty of other formation and size, the most important being:

	Area.	Population.
Babelthouap,	106 square miles,	10,000
Ponape,	134 square miles,	2,000
Yap,	70 square miles,	2,750
Ruk,	80 square miles,	12,000
Kusaie,	45 square miles,	400

The climate, though rainy, is temperate and healthy. The capital is Ponape on the island of the same name. Archeologically the islands are interesting on account of their cyclopean structures. The people are strongly built, gentle, amiable and intelligent; they are bold sailors and carry on a brisk trade with the Ladrões to the north, where they have several settlements. The total population of the group exceeds 50,000 and Mr. F. W. Christian in his work on the Caroline Islands describes the people as "a fusion worked out for many centuries past between trader, explorer, fugitive, castaway, exile and pirate—streams of overlapping population following wave on wave."

The islands were discovered by the Portuguese Diego de Rocha in 1527, and called Sequeira; in 1686 they were annexed and rechristened with their present name in honor of Charles II by the Spaniards. Later still they were, for a time, known as the New Philippines. Several attempts (1710, 1731) to Christianise the inhabitants by the Jesuits from Manila were unsuccessful. In 1885, the hoisting of the German flag on Yap, gave rise to a sharp dispute with Spain, who claimed older rights to the islands. After much discussion it was decided that both countries should submit their claims to the Pope and abide by his decision in the matter. The Pope, Leo XIII, declared the islands belonged to Spain, but Germany should be allowed to establish a naval and coaling station there, and that German merchants acquiring land and residing there should have the same political rights as Spanish subjects. On 30th June, 1899, the islands became a German possession Spain having agreed to relinquish her rights in them and also in the Marianne Islands (except Guam), and Pala'u Islands for a monetary consideration of about five million dollars. Spain still, however, retained a coaling station on the islands.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

A post office was established at Ponape on October 15th, 1899, and on November 7th of the same year an office was opened at Yap. Special stamps were issued coincident with the opening of these offices or shortly afterwards the set consisting of the German stamps of 1889 overprinted "Karolinen" diagonally in black. Specialists distinguish two sets varying in the slope of the overprint and though these are not so pronounced as the two slopes of the "China" overprint previously referred to they are quite noticeable when placed side by side. As one variety is much rarer than the other on the 3, 5, 25 and 50pf denominations it is as well to learn to distinguish between them.

Reference List.

1899. German stamps of 1889 overprinted in black.

 - 25pf orange, Scott's No. 5.
 - 50pf red-brown, Scott's No. 6.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

In 1900, in common with the other German possessions, the Caroline Islands were provided with a set of thirteen different values in the stereotyped Colonial "ship" type. These call for no special comment and a detailed description of the designs is given in the Cameroons chronicle.

a degree of Asiatic culture and the fact of their tongue being the lingua franca of Central Africa.

Historically the territory dates from 1498 when Portuguese adventurers under Vasca da Gama destroyed many of the coast towns. Many of these places have never recovered and have remained ruins to this day. The Portuguese and other Europeans had a more or less secure foothold on the coast for two centuries until 1698 the Imam of Muscat dislodged them.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

On October 4th, 1890, regular post-offices were opened at Dar-es-Salaam and Bagamoyo but no special stamps were issued until 1893 when the then current German stamps—the issue of 1889—were overprinted with new values in the local currency of pesas. The unit of currency was the rupee (worth about 32c U. S.) divided into 64 pesas. The new stamps were placed on sale in August and they form the first of the special colonial issues made by the German government. The surcharges were all in black and were all placed horizontally across the lower portion of the labels. The 5 and 10 pesas values exist in two pronounced shades and the surcharge on the 50pf stamp provides two varieties, one measuring 16 1/2 mm. and the other 17 1/2 mm. in length. Equal numbers of both were issued, or possibly both varieties existed in equal number in the printing form.

RUSSIA TO USE STAMPS AS MONEY.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 17.—A scarcity of change has prompted the Russian ministry of finance to issue an order making postage stamps issued on the occasion of the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the house of Romanoff legal tender. The stamps range in denomination from 1 to 20 kopecks. The order was made effective by being telegraphed throughout the empire.

COMMENDABLE PUBLICITY.

Would you do something for the hobby? Follow the example of W. J. Prinzing. Mr. Prinzing arranged a card showing some of the war issues of the past year in an attractive form and placed it on exhibition in a store where it met with much attention.

Why not perform a similar service for the public by using the foyer of the Y. M. C. A., the lobby of the hotel, the Post Office "official" board, in fact any place where people congregate?

GERMAN DEALERS PLEASED.

(Oswald F. Schnette in a letter to the "Philadelphia Press" indicates a letting down of the bars in regard to stamp dealers doing business with stamps of a hostile nation. The following is written from Berlin.—Ed.)

The German Government has just withdrawn a regulation that forbade German subjects dealing in the stamps of countries with which Germany is at war. This had caused great protest, because Germany is a great philatelist centre, and literally millions of dollars of German money are tied up in collections belonging to men who make a business of dealing in rare stamps.

And with two-thirds of the world at war, this embargo was a hard blow. So the new rule merely prohibits the purchase and sale of current issues of stamps of the hostile countries. The German authorities take the position that the purchase of these current issues increases the revenues of the countries that put them out.

The German philatelists are rejoicing in the fact that the war is really a triumph for them. For the war issues for conquered territory in this great conflict are largely limited to Germany. These are the issues that will be the philatelic prize of the war. The German issues for Belgium, Northern France and Russian Poland will be important features of every future collection.

As there are genuine German post-offices, and a busy mail service throughout these regions, the surcharged issues are certainly legitimate ones. In the few square miles of Germany, Austria and Turkey which the Allies are able to hold there has been no pretense of mail service by the conquering governments.

SPEAKS BY THE BOOK.

Regarding your editorial on "benzene vs. gasoline":—

Benzene never was handled by druggists being the name used in England (and to some extent in this country) for what we ordinarily call benzol. This is a product of the destructive distillation of coal, being recovered in by-product coke ovens, tar distillation plants, etc. It can be used for detecting watermarks, but dissolves many colored inks, is very much less volatile than gasoline, and leaves a disagreeable odor behind after evaporating. Also, at present on account of the war the price is very high.

The liquid formerly used for detecting watermarks is benzin (or benzine), a petroleum distillate, and usually came out of the same barrel as the gasoline. Pure gasoline is suitable in every way for watermark detecting, but the liquid used in automobiles at the present time is "motor spirit" and not gasoline. Motor spirit or what they sell as gasoline is not the product of a straight distillation as is gasoline, but is the product of "cracking" the petroleum, i. e., heating it under pressure to high temperatures, either with or without the use of a catalyst.

There are a large number of liquids which will show up the watermarks in paper but nearly all of them attack the printing inks used in stamp manufacture.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

So Reported—A correspondent writing in the Philadelphia Bulletin says that stamp collectors have been made happy in consequence of the rescinding of the regulation that forbade the Kaiser's subjects to traffic in the stamps of the enemy or the countries at war with Germany. It is written that the Germans did not rest passively under the restriction of the authorities in view of their extensive philatelic affiliations and that they are now in that mental state that calls forth the reportorial standby "jubilant" because of the repeal, which falls short of "the purchase and sale of current issues of stamps of the hostile countries," which are still under the ban on the score of public policy.

Due Marks Continued—The reference to early due marks in our issue of September 25th, 1915, has attracted some attention. Mr. Ulrich of Hartford, Conn., writes: "I have a folded letter which was posted at Wetumpka, Montgomery County, Alabama, February 19th, 1839, that bears a mark 'Paid 6' in ink and also the written notice, 'Cheshire, Conn., March 21, undercharged 4.' A letter posted in Columbus, December 20, 1851, is marked 'Due 4' in ink. I have also an envelope postmarked 'Philadelphia, June 16, 1858,' with a three cent 1857 and stamped 'Due 3' with a rubber stamp and another Philadelphia envelope postmarked June 27, 1862, with the three cent 1861 stamp that is marked with rubber stamp, 'Due 3.' All of these antedate the envelope of which you speak, which was dated August 28th, 1864." Mr. Palmer of East Haddam, Conn., sends for inspection a letter with Cairo, Illinois, postmark of Dec. 19th, 1862, that has the die impression, Due 3. The letter was sent "by cousin Lieut. Frederick Dayton of Muscatine, Iowa, to his sister who gave it to me a long time ago."

Stamps Gone—A batch of foreign mail was received by a firm in Chicago recently without stamps although it was apparent that the letters had been posted with them. The explanation was stamped on each letter, in six lines, "Postage Stamp Removed Before Receipt at the N. Y. P. O. (Hud. Term. Sta., Foreign Sec.)" The envelopes showed signs of wear and tear and it is possible that they had been immersed in water. We are pleased to find that the authorities, however, appreciate the importance of the used stamp and do not take its absence as a matter of course.

"I's" Have It—One should mind one's p's and q's when speaking chemically not to mention e's and i's. For instance, we wended our wordy way editorially in the issue of October 9th with the iteration of the word benzene. Why we should have spelled it "benzene" is a mystery to us as for a score of years we have made it benzine. We now say that through our own fault and not the printer's, benzene appeared in said editorial in place of benzine. Benzene is dismissed from philatelic consideration as it has no place in watermark hunting. Benzine and gasoline are what the watermark Nimrods must use in their squirt-guns. We think that readers could gather from the context of the editorial that good old benzene was in mind even though in some perverse mood benzene was brought forth. Anyhow, benzene, we are pleased to say attracted the attention of Mr. D. D. Berolzheimer, New York City, whose chemically pure observations will be found on another page.

Now Then—The proper detecting agent must be effective without disturbing the gum of the unused stamp or impairing the color in the slightest. In this connection, Mr. G. A. Hunt writes: "Where one is fortunate in having electric lights to work by, either agent is safe, barring of course lighted cigar or pipe. There is a perfectly safe substitute in the form of a so-called cleansing agent known as 'Carbona' and Mr. Hunt extols the fluid as one perfectly safe, efficacious and harmless to the stamp. Still, in view of the fact that Mr. Berolzheimer in his letter appended a list of the agents nearly all of which attack the inks in which stamps are printed, and in this philatelic index expurgatorium, we find: "Carbon tetrachlorid ('Carbona' is tetrachlorid)." Under the circumstances, readers should "look a little out."

Mexico Emits—The stamps that Postmaster General Hinojosa "had made in this country" were seen several weeks ago while at the Omaha convention. We have been told that this portrait set of lithographed stamps depicting Mexican celebrities is one that is to be followed by a permanent set! We have been shown the set of stamps issued by Villa which did not get into circulation, the 1, 2, 3, 5 and 10 centavos, all with head of Madero in the frames of the Denver issue, it seems.

Where, O, Where?—Our readers are on the qui vive for news of Bill Bloss. First, we hear from him that he is making for the WEEKLY office by easy stages and later, he writes that he is tracking a collection to its lair in Mexico. We sincerely trust that Bill's martial spirit will not lead him into the factional frenzy pervading Mexico and finally to start an insurrection of his own. Still, if Bill heard duty call he would not flinch and if it came to pass that Senor Bloss wiped out all his rivals, we know that his stamp issues would at least be orderly as he would keep a card index of them and make each one distinctive from its fellows. The suggestion that we print a few hundred thousand copies of Bill's photograph on heavy paper after we run it in the WEEKLY is under consideration. As has been said a picture of Bill hanging in each schoolhouse of our teeming country would be a grand inspiration to the youth of the land. Again we congratulate our readers upon having in store the supreme delight of beholding Bill's likeness. We do not know when the picture will be published but in the meantime we wish to say that there is no truth in the rumor circulated by envious competitors that we do not accept subscriptions by telegraph.

Too Kind—Again we are indebted to the Reverend Joseph Dreyer of West-erly, R. I. He send us copies of the Swiss Field Postmark, "Bataillon—99—Feldpost", originating in the Basle district, on the surcharged 1 on 2c, Switzerland. The following additions are made to the Alsatian postmarks mentioned last summer on French stamps: "Wessering, N. W. of St. Amarin in the Valley of the

A Little Adlet

It sounds small and inconsequential but "adlet" means power. The name is not everything. We read recently of a new society organized down in Reading, Pa., that was called, "The First Preceptory of the College of Antiquities Hall of Antiques and Knights of the Grand Cross of the Sublime Rite of Exalted Chivalry for the United States of North America."

This is some name sure. Wonder if Cliff Kissinger is High Mogullion. That can't be for he is neither "ancient" nor an "antique." An "adlet" sneaks for itself.

20c per line.

$7.50 for 50 lines, used at will.

M. E. Marchena of New York City has taken adlet space till further notice. You can do the same and get the 15c rate if we get a business ref. Space must be used every week.

The Eagle Press has made a success of its printing proposition and is also with us on same basis. Approval sheets etc., for dealers.

Geo. A. Goubault, Annotto Bay, Jamaica, has purchased 50 lines. He was much pleased with results from his recent flyer.

Why not try an adlet?

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

AUSTRALIA.—Ewen's Weekly notes that the 2 1/2d, 1sh and 2sh values in the Kangaroo design have appeared on the King George paper.

CHINA.—Freeman C. Allen has shown us a cover with 1c and 7c stamps of the Junk type, which have a vertical overprint of five characters, entirely different from any of the Republic overprints. The letter came from Tihwafu, Sinkiang, via Shanghai. Can any of our readers throw any light on this overprint?

HONDURAS.—Reexamination of a sheet of the "Official—$0.01" provisional referred to in No. 1292, discloses that the error, "0.10" was the last stamp in the sheet, the "$0.20" error being the seventh stamp in the same or bottom row. The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. kindly submitted a sheet for examination.

A. W. Dunning has shown us the 6c value in the new lithographed set, the design being the same as the 5c previously noted, with the "Teatro Bonilla" as the centre piece.

Adhesive.

6c deep purple.

JAMAICA.—George A. Goubault informs us that another printing of the 3d violet on yellow paper (not surface colored or white back) was placed on sale on the 1st inst. The stamps can be distinguished by the color which is a lighter shade than the 1912 issue. Also the paper is bright yellow.

JAPAN.—Tadayasu Maki writes as follows:

The special postage stamps to be issued by the Department of Communications to Commemorate the Coronation are now being printed at the Government Printing Bureau. The stamps are of four kinds, 1 1/2 sen for cards, 3 sen for envelopes for domestic mail, and 4 sen for cards and 10 sen for foreign postage.

The 1 1/2 sen has an oval in the center in blue, within which is drawn a picture of the Imperial Crown, in black. Outside the oval in the right upper hand corner is a cherry tree and in the upper left, a noble citron tree, in red. The 3 sen has also an oblong in centre, with a picture of "Takamikura," the Imperial Throne, in purple, surrounded with Arabesque design of bamboo, panlownia and phoenix in faint yellow. The 4 sen and 10 sen stamps are printed in one colour and of same design. In the centre is seen the "Shisheeden Hall" where the Coronation takes place. On the right side, a warrior of the court, equipped with the old time armour and arms, is standing and on the left, a banner, a gong, a drum and a shield are shown. In the shield will be "4 sen" and "10 sen." At the bottom, "Memorial Stamps, Imperial Japanese Government Communication" will be printed. The same words will appear on the 1 1/2 and 3 sen stamps.

MARSHALL ISLANDS.—Ewen's Weekly notes that the 10pf ship type has also been surcharged "1d" in addition to the "2d" surcharge previously printed thereon.

Provisional Adhesive.

"1d" on "2d" on 10pf carmine.

MEXICO.—It looks as though the many provisional issues of the so-called Constitutional Government in Mexico were to be replaced by a definite issue. At least, we have received from Hermann Focke, S. B. Hopkins, Howard C.

Hopkins and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. specimens of a new lithographed set, which was placed on sale in Mexico City on Sept. 15. The stamps are poorly executed, though not displeasing in design. They are of local manufacture, and are printed in sheets of 100 stamps, following the 1910 issue in arrangement of margins, lettering of plates and numbering of sheets. Excessive space is provided between the stamps, which are rouletted all around, with no straight edges. Difficulty is found in separating the stamps, owing the light impression on the roulette, and the stamps tear and stick easily. Evidently it was intended to follow the colors of the 1910 issue, but the shades are widely different. Howard C. Hopkins informs us that in lettering the plates, "A" was left for the 1c value, but that value has not yet been made, and under the present rates of postage, there seems to be little need for it. In addition to the values chronicled below, the 30c, 40c, 1p and 5p values are soon to appear, but have not yet been printed, and we are unable to give the portraits or colors. There seems to be a need for all these values. This issue was necessitated by the exhaustion of the 1910 issue, which has been in use recently with various overprints. The new issue will be in use but three or four months, or until the new issue is received from the American Bank Note Co. in December or January.

The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. informs us that no 20c value was issued, or even ordered, of the Madero set chronicled or illustrated last February. Some of the stamps in that set have been found imperforate.

The latest issue has portraits of various Mexican worthies, and may be taken to foreshadow the main feature of the permanent set now being prepared in New York.

Adhesives.

2c green, Monument of Cuauhtemoc.
3c brown, Ignacio Zaragoza.
4c carmine, Jose Maria Morelos.
5c orange, Francisco I. Madero.
10c ultramarine, Benito Juarez.

We are also indebted to Philip H. Ward, Jr., for information regarding the new Constitutionalist set. Mr. Ward says the stamps are lithographed in sheets of 100 stamps.

W. J. Stanton writes: "I note you list the Villa issue for the Southern District of Lower California as something new. This was mentioned in 'News Gleanings' May 1 issue and again in 'New Issues,' Aug. 21 issue. The entire set was issued, 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50c. I have copies of all except the 20 and 50, but a Mexican correspondent writes me that he has them. The handstamped surcharge preceded the Villa Sonora type."

Colima.—A. C. Roessler reports that this state has issued the Mexican 1910 Jubilee low values by overprinting with a rubber stamp in red-violet, "E. C. Transitorio," probably meaning State of Colima. The size of type appears to be 14-point. There is no doubt that these stamps were legitimately used having come on the mail to the large New York commercial credit rating companies. Denominations noted are 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c.

NEW ZEALAND.—A. C. Roessler writes that a special War Tax stamp will be issued. "War Tax" in capitals, with two stars, overprinted on the 1/2d stamp, we gather to be the form of the additional printing.

NYASALAND.—According to Ewen's Weekly the 2d value in the King George set has been issued.

Adhesive.

2d gray.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—C. J. Reese has shown us a cover from South Africa franked by three 1/2d and one 1d stamps. The latter appears to be imperforate vertically, but as the margins are very narrow, this can not be verified. The cover has two Censor rubber stamps as well as a large label, with "Opened by Censor" in English and Dutch.

You can get a Scott 1916 Catalog Free if you renew your subscription to the WEEKLY for six years. It's an easy way to get a catalog. See adv. elsewhere.

EUGENE KLEIN, Pres.; C. FOERSTER, Vice-Pres.; B. SCHLESINGER, Treas.; H. MEININGER, Lib'n; A. SCHIESEL, Bourse Manager; G. DENZAU, Sec., 1864 Putnam Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Trustees: ADOLPH BECK, J. MC RRAY BARTELS and ADAM J. WAGNER.

256th meeting, October 7th, 1915. Those present were Messrs. Brooks, Denzau, Herrmann, Jancovich, Klein, Lewy, Loewy, Koller, Mann, Meininger, Moye, Schiesel, Schlesinger, Staeb and Wagner.

President Klein and Mr. Schlesinger told us of their very interesting trip to the Pacific Coast and the Exhibition, also of their amusing experiences which brought forth many a laugh.

We are greatly indebted to President Klein for the sterling silver cup he donated to the society. This cup will be called the "New York Stamp Society Cup" and will be presented to the member winning most exhibits during the year 1915. It is a beauty and worth winning. Mr. Schlesinger so far is ahead having acquired at this meeting another win for the "Rarest stamp in your collection." Mr. Schlesinger's exhibit was Egypt 1866, 10 piastres on 5 piastres error. Mr. Lewy exhibited 10c State on original cover. Other exhibits were Cayman Islands, Hong Kong, Argentine Republic, St. Vincent and the first envelope issued by Great Britain. The judges were H. Moye, P. McGraw Mann and E. Koller.

The Secretary brought the Winner Certificates which were presented to Messrs. B. Schlesinger, C. Jancovich, E. Koller and A. J. Wagner. We were pleased to have with us Mr. Percy McGraw Mann, who tells us that he has again started a publication of interest to philatelists.

Our Fall and Winter season is now with us and it is urged that members attend the meetings and lend their support to the good of the society. Bring your stamp friends with you to the meetings. Visitors are always welcome. We meet the first and third Thursday of every month. Correspondence invited.

Next meetings: October 21st and November 4th.

DECIDEDLY DISTINCTIVE.

For 15 years the H. S. Powell Stamp Company, of Storm Lake, Iowa, have dealt extensively in packet-collections and are today recognized as the foremost dealers in this line in the country. Their assemblings are decidedly distinctive and have set the pace for the standardizing of packets. First, they eliminated revenues, telegraph stamps, etc. Then, they included only postage stamps. Now, the Quality First assemblings contain only good, clean postage stamps that the most discriminating collector would allow in his album. Each stamp in every assembling is carefully gone over to see that it is Right as to condition. This is something New for this season. In this issue they offer a "Get Acquainted" lot for $5.95, being the price of the 1500 different postage Quality First assembling. The accessories are given free of charge so you can enjoy your purchase to the fullest extent. Try the lot—every stamp a perfect postage stamp. All junk and damaged or imperfect stamps having been eliminated. You get 1,500 good, clean and all different postage stamps of the highest quality. Immense value, too, for the price!

Advertising Chat—No. 9.

You will agree with me that last week's paper breathed a spirit of optimism that was contagious. There were bargains galore in our advertising columns—enough to satisfy the most fastidious.

Collectors should realize that our advertised offers represent the cream of bargains and the best way to build a collection is to read our columns carefully and patronize those who are bidding for your business.

L. V. Lindsey has a rather interesting exchange proposition that will receive attention. Chas. A. Townsend takes a half column to present his "one cent each" approval selections. Both these dealers will be heard from frequently during this season.

W. W. Walsh, Halifax, N. S., has again taken space in the WEEKLY and will be heard from regularly. Mr. Walsh has a special and popular line which will be made more popular with Mr. Poole's serial story on "The Stamps of Br. No. America" soon to be commenced.

We are pleased to secure a regular in George A. Goubault who has taken 50 lines of adlets and naturally will specialize in Jamaica.

Must cut it short this week!

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—"Congratulations are in order on that ball team of yours up there. Boston has lots of champions, even the champion stamp paper."—W. F. FERGUSON.

—We intended to do Stamp Trade a favor in our recent notice of this admirable paper, but the publishers inform us that it is purely a dealers' paper and they do not solicit subscriptions from collectors. We take this opportunity of correcting the false impression that we conveyed to our readers.

—Leon V. Cass, the Stroudsburg, Pa., dealer, informs us that he has been ill for some days but will soon be able to attend to business. In the meantime he begs the indulgence of his patrons.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from L. J. Ragatz, Wm. L. Aldrich & Co., E. H. Robinson, G. F. Hammond, Milton P. Lyons, Jr. (2), Benj. Cadbury, H. F. Rech, Geo. Clothier, Jr., Lewis B. Sebring, Jr., Edward A. Crumb, Ernest Roberts, Jr.

—"I have secured a magnificent strip of three of the type I 1c imperf., 1851, on original cover, showing the distinctive type very clearly on all three copies and part of same on top of one from the stamp above. This is perhaps unique and as it is quite a rarity (cat. $60.00 each) I thought you might like to note it in the WEEKLY."—FRANK CLARK COSBY.

—W. F. Ferguson, 280 Fourth Ave., N. Y. C., would like name of West New Brighton collector who has ordered some stamps from him.

—"I want to say that my ten line advertisement in the issue of Sept. 25 has brought me more business than a half page in a Western monthly run all summer."—D. G. ALLEN.

—Five Regina, Can., collectors have just applied for admission in the S. P. A., and when admitted mean to apply for recognition as a branch of the S. P. A. The S. P. A. convention was set at Reading to meet in Washington, D. C., Aug. 15, 16, 17, 1916. It is hoped that the A. P. S. convention date will not conflict, for convenience of members of both societies.

STAMPS ARTISTIC—BELGIUM.

By DEREK INGRAM.

"Tongues in trees, books in the running brook, Sermons in stones, and good in everything."

Looking through the album of "Stamps Artistic," we find that pride of place is held by a block of four "V. R." Penny Blacks and a block of 1840 2d Blue, no lines, both pieces being the pick of the Earl of Crawford's collection. Very close run the first issues of Belgium, Sicily, Argentine (Rivadavia), Grenada, Queensland, New Zealand, St. Helena, first Saxony, a few Canadas, Ceylon, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, some U. S. A., Nova Scotia, Brazil, France, etc., all portraits. There is also a fine lot of Cape triangulars and Pacific Steam issues. The Oldenburgs are superb, but not so artistic. A more detailed notice of these classic specimens commences with the beautiful early taille-douce stamps of Belgium.

On the first page are mounted the very finest impressions of the printing-plate-proofs of the First and Second Types of Belgium. Here we should like to suggest an improvement, or rather an extension, for there is only one proof of the July, 1849, issue, i. e., the 10 centimes, black on yellow paper, whereas, by diligent searching, our collector might procure one of the same value in red-brown on yellowish-white card or on thick or thin paper, while proofs in violet-brown on pelure paper are known. There is no proof of the 20c, First Type, in this album, which is an omission which should be remedied, although it is recompensed by one of the Second Type, in the same lovely blue, and by proofs of the 10c and 40c of this issue in red, red-brown and violet-brown.

In the case of the actual stamps of Belgium our collector, following out his colour scheme, has mounted his first and second types in the following manner, which, having some acquaintance, as we have, with the wide field of study in regard to the retouches of the medallion types, prejudices us somewhat against the exclusion of these varieties:

1st July, 1849. Wmk. L. L. in frame. Engraved by J. Wiener.

10c	10c
brown	grey-brown
10c	10c
grey-brown	Second Type (1850)
10c	10c
brown	20c
20c	20c
deep blue	10c
10c	deep blue
red-brown

The solitary example of the Second Type on the page outlined above should, in our humble opinion, be removed to the next page and its place taken by another shade of the 10 centimes of July, 1849.

The page representative of the issue of April, 1861, is mounted in the following style:—

20c	10c	40c	20c
blue	grey-brown	vermillion	deep blue 1c green
1c			1c
green			green
	1c green
	10c	(pair)
	brown	brown
10c	20c	10c
brown	blue	brown

The same issue, including the 40 centimes, is continued on the next page of the album. No notice is taken of the varying sizes of the medallion, due to the expansion of the paper, and the 1 centime is mounted before the other values, although issued after those stamps.

Subsequent pages of the collection are mounted on the above principle, the Belgian examples, of which several are in mint pairs, terminating with the issue of April, 1863.

On the whole, while there is no gain-saying the fact that these Belgian speci-

Postage Decrease

A new postage stamp at one-fifth of a cent, to carry your ad-story all over the country—how would that strike you?

Advertisers would jump at it—"eat it up!" Many might stop advertising to take advantage of that more economical means of telling their story, but MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS rate for a quarter page advertisement gives you just that economy.

It gives a circulation of 8000 actual prospects at less than one-fifth of a cent per subscriber.

With the added prestige that the WEEKLY gives (with its paid and responsive circulation) over a circular, and with the further added prestige of many extra readers:—$15.00 for a quarter page is bargain advertising!

See the point, Mr. Advertiser? Better get in consultation with the Managing Editor for a bigger and better business—right now!

Next Auction

We beg to announce to our auction patrons that the next regular sale will take place SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 13th, 1915.

This sale contains the collection of I. E. Sargent, Atlanta, Ga., and others. There are many choice stamps in this sale of the medium class that are always looked for by collectors. There are many combination lots in which will be found exceptional value because many medium hard-to-get varieties are necessarily included in these lots. A very nice lot of United States Postage and Revenues such as the $500.00 and $1000.00 Rev. uncut, France 1fr, No. 9 (cat. $125.00), superb, etc.

We recently purchased the entire stock of the Garden City Stamp Co., which stock contained nothing but the very finest specimens from the cheap stamps to the highest priced. Part will only be available in this sale.

Our catalog is gratis and will be cheerfully sent on request to earnest buyers.

mens present a fascinating feast of colour and engraver's art, we are inclined to criticise the classification purely on colour lines only, and doubtless any specialist who glories in retouches, re-entries, double impressions, and other varieties, will be of the same opinion, whether in respect of Belgium or any other country whose philatelic interest cannot be confined by a colour scheme. It must be remembered, however, that the collector whose work we are now considering in detail has his own ideals, summarised in the title of the album, "Stamps Artistic," which might profitably be emulated by a goodly number of philatelists whose outlook is so narrow that they can only see through perforation holes.

Reference has already been made to this class, however, and, reverting to the colour scheme question, we do not see why our idealist, if he is going to be guided solely by the shades of blue, brown, red and green, should not include Colour Trials, in which there are some lovely impressions. The 20 centimes (medallion type), for instance, was printed in trial colours of blue, carmine, deep red, yellow, orange, yellow-green, violet and black.

Possibly we shall have something to say on the general question of colours when we have gone through our detailed notice of the collection, with which we will now continue by reference to the stamps of France.

The proofs of the First Type are handsome representatives of early stamp engraving. They have a decided "burr" and while they must of necessity find place in a specialised collection of the stamps of Belgium, they are also a useful feature in this volume of "Stamps Ar-

Postmarks of Interest.

The postmarks of Egypt form a very interesting study, but a volume of large size could only adequately deal with the subject in extenso. The observations and remarks made here will only deal with what we term "Postmarks of interest," that is to say postmarks found on Egyptian stamps used abroad, i. e. out of Egypt; and, secondly, Egyptian postmarks found on the stamps of foreign powers.

As is well known, several European countries had post-offices in Egypt at the time the viceregal post was established. The specialist is fully alive to the study of postmarks, as they are often a means by which research work can be aided, especially in determining the approximate date of issue.

No collection of Egypt—however complete in actual stamps—can be called complete without a section devoted to

The Egyptian stamps used at above were, of course, unsurcharged and can only be recognized by the cancellations. All these offices were suppressed by the instigation of the British Government. Constantinople and Smyrna are the two commonest postmarks, most of the others being very hard to find. The names of the towns on the cancellations are in Turkish, but in every case they much resemble the English.

The following are examples of some of the foreign postmarks.

postmarks of interest, as these are the items which tend to give the collection a finishing touch.

I. EGYPTIANS USED ABROAD.

First let us take the foreign postmarks found on Egyptian stamps. About 90% of the stamps bearing foreign cancellations belong to the third issue, the remaining 10% comprising stamps of all the other issues up to 1879. There seem to be no records of dates when Egyptian stamps were first used abroad, so circumstantial evidence must be employed. From specimens seen and the evidence of certain specialists it would appear that 1866 was the year of origin. There were in all twelve Consular Offices in the Levant which used Egyptian stamps.

The following are the twelve offices: Constantinople Opened 1886 Closed 1879 Beyrout

II. EUROPEAN CONSULAR OFFICES IN EGYPT.

We abridge the following interesting description from Le Timbre-Post of 1866: "By the operation of old treaties, each Consulate in Egypt has become possessed of peculiar powers. Each one has the right to establish and maintain a post-office, and private societies have gained equal privileges; thus it happens that several offices are in existence beside the viceregal one. This latter is under the excellent management of the Chevalier Muzzi Bey, ex-chief of a European post, and first founder of the regular administration in Egypt. The following are the posts of other countries: 1.—The French Post. 2.—The English Post. 3.—The Italian Post. 4.—The Austrian Post. 5.—The Russian Post. 6.—The Grecian Post. Each of

U. S. CUT SQUARE ENVELOPES

Have been growing in favor for the past two years. They certainly deserve the attention of every American Collector.

Our next Auction Sale, No. 203, consisting of nearly all United States stamps, will contain 101 fine lots of these beautiful and attractive U. S. Cut Squares. Catalogs "FREE" to Auction Buyers.

The following British stamps were used between 1860 and 1877 at Alexandria—1/2d, 1d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 4d, 6d, 9d, 10d, 1sh, 2sh, 5sh. A large quantity of plates of the above were brought into use.

SUEZ. There is not much to be said about Suez, as the cancellation B02 is similar in effect to the B01 already illustrated. There is, however, one slight variation: in the B01 postmark it will be noticed that there are two lines (vertical) on each side of B01, whilst the Suez cancellation possess only one vertical line on each side, as a rule.

The date stamp we illustrate below:

The stamps used at Suez were the same as at Alexandria, with the addition of the 8d (plate 1).

Stamps are occasionally seen postmarked Port Said, but generally this cancellation is on the envelopes alone. Letters posted at Cairo were forwarded to Alexandria, where the stamps were affixed. The Port Said postmark was on letters posted from British ships.

3. The Italian Post.

Cancellation
 Offices at. No. Established. Closed.
 Alexandria 234 1873(?) 1883 (Dec.)
 [Alessandria]

The postmark of the Italian office was of the duplex type, consisting of a serial number surrounded by diagonal lines, and a circle enclosing the name of town and date. The Italian service was in a very direct communication with Europe via Brindisi and Ancona. Ordinary Italian stamps were used (1863-67) prior to 1874—after that date the ESTERO (foreign) series were employed.

4. The Austrian Post.

Offices at. Cancellations. Establ'd. Closed.
 Alexandria Alexandrien 1845 1889
 Port Said — 1869 (?)

The Austrian service was in the hands of the Austrian Lloyds, extending on the one hand to Corfu and Trieste, and on the other to Syria and Constantinople direct.

The stamps used at Alexandria were those of Lombardo-Venetia and not Austria proper.

The cancellations appear to have been numerous, they are, however, always recognisable as they all bear the name Alexandrien and are not represented by a foreign office number (as Great Britain or France). All the cancellations we have seen consist of a circle with "Alexandrien" along the top half. The size of the circle varies for different cancellations from 27 mm. to 20 mm. [diameter].

NOTE. The above illustration of the "small type" postmark is incomplete as the lower inscriptions are indecipherable on the specimens we have seen.

Another cancellation to be met with is of a rather large size (about 25 mm.) and is struck in blue-green.

Austrians used at Port Said are extremely scarce.

5. The Russian Post.

Offices at. Established. Closed.
 Alexandria 1856 about 1876(?)

The Russian office was connected with Russia by The Russian General Steam Navigation Company, and with Syria by The Russian Levant Steamship Company.

The ordinary current Russian stamps were in use, except on letters bound for Syria upon which stamps of The Russian Levant Steamship Co. were used. The latter thus used are of considerable rarity.

6. The Greek Post.

Offices at. Established. Closed.
 Alexandria 1834 1881 (Dec. 31)

The Greek stamps found with this cancellation are those bearing the head of Mercury (first type).

There appear to have been three or four different cancellations used during the life of this office, the differences being slight. In one cancellation there was a double lined circle containing name of town at top, country of origin at bottom and the date (plus the serial number 97) in the centre. Another postmark used consists of only a single lined circle, otherwise the same with the exception that "97" is omitted.

Prior to issuing her own stamps in 1861, the Greek mails from Egypt were impressed with a large circular frank, which is of extreme rarity.

Belgium had a Post at Alexandria for a short period during the early sixties, it was closed when the service between Alexandria and Antwerp was suspended. Belgian stamps used in Egypt are very rare.

Spain intended to open an office at Alexandria in the sixties, but the intention apparently fell through. A contemporary magazine [1866] announced that "a Spanish office will shortly be opened."

We quote below an extract of interest from an article by Mr. D. B. Armstrong in The Stamp Lover Vol. II.

"This country [Egypt] also presents one or two interesting possibilities as regards extra territorial postmarks. For instance, it seems reasonable to suppose that the Egyptian Government maintained a postal system of sorts in the Soudan and Equatorial Provinces previous to the Mahdist Rising of 1884. Khartoum and towns even further south, were, we know, in telegraphic communication with Cairo, and it therefore strikes one as being highly probable that the less modern, though equally serviceable letter post was also in operation in those regions at that period. Egyptian postage stamps of the issue prior to 1884 with the postmarks of Soudanese towns would, doubtless, be much prized by Soudanese specialists [also Egyptian] if obtainable.

GRAY STAMP CO., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

Previous to the same year (1884) the territory now forming the Somaliland Protectorate was included in the dominions of the Khedive of Egypt, and Egyptian garrisons were maintained at Berbera, Zeila and Bulhar. It is impossible to say whether or not there was a postal system in operation there in those days, but should such prove to be the case it opens up delightful possibilities for the specialist in the postal emissions of either Egypt or Somaliland. At any rate, it is a clue well worth investigating by those having large accumulations of cancelled Egyptian postage stamps of the earlier issues."

All the various postmarks described have a special value of their own, and the specialist has a good chance of picking them up at ordinary rates if he keeps his eyes open. Ordinary Egyptian town and district cancellations are legion—especially on the later issues, whilst (in most cases) they are of no special interest.

Before concluding our remarks upon "Postmarks of interest," it may be well to give a short survey of the postmarks used during "The Egyptian campaign."

The following notes are culled from Messrs. Bernstein & Nissen's article in Gibbons Stamp Weekly (Vol. VIII).

It is not necessary from a philatelic point of view to go into lengthy details of the riots and massacres at Alexandria and Cairo which eventually led up to the British Expedition. The riots were under one Arabi, who after causing many disturbances fortified himself at Alexandria (1882), where he was soon put to flight by the British fleet. In the meantime the Khedive had been ousted from his position, so accordingly a British force under Lord Wolseley was landed to put a final end to all the unrest of the country. Arabi was routed at Tel-el-Kebir and shortly afterwards taken prisoner. The country was then in complete order, so only 7000 men were left to help reorganise the Egyptian Army. In Nov. 1883, the Egyptian army under Hicks Pasha was practically annihilated by the Mahdi in the Sudan; a catastrophe which again necessitated British intervention.

With regard to the establishment of the "Field Post Office," Messrs. Bernstein & Nissen say: "The actual date of the establishment of the Post office can be definitely fixed as occurring in the last week of August, 1882. . . we have definite information that the Army Post office was organized and sent with General Wolseley's expedition, which arrived on the 16th August and finished disembarking the 31,500 men by the 20th."

"At the suggestion of the officer in command of the Post Office Volunteers one hundred non-commissioned officers and men were enlisted as soldiers in the regular army under certain conditions as to pay and reinstatements in their old positions at the Post Office, one-half being detailed for active service and the other forming a first-class army reserve."

Major Sturgeon was Army Postmaster-General, and under his immediate orders were the active service corps. Posts were established at all the positions held (or taken up) by the British force, where mails passed through, and money orders, etc., could be received or despatched.

For the first week the current British 1d stamp was used, defaced with the letter E written across it in red ink, whilst a penmark served as the mark of cancellation. Later the penmark cancellation was superseded by a lozenge shaped postmark of local origin.

Eventually a circular postmark of normal appearance was used with the following inscriptions BRITISH ARMY POST OFFICE and below EGYPT—the date being in the centre.

In 1884, Major Sturgeon led an expedition to Suakim and established Army offices at Suakim, Handoub, etc., the same circular postmark being employed.

As these Army postmarks were only used for some six months, it goes without saying they are all rare.

The following are the stamps which were used during the two expeditions:

1882 (August) 1d lilac
2 1/2d blue plates 22 and 23.

1884 (March) 2 1/2d lilac

THE TOGO 3d W. B. ADVTS.

We feel compelled to give publicity to the following communication, not that the firms in question advertised this stamp with any intent to deceive but in order to impress upon all dealers the need of care in preparing their advertising copy. We quote:

"In your issue of October 16; the advertisements of two New York dealers offered the 3d Togo on Gold Coast white back. I ordered from both, and this morning have received the following:

J. W. Scott Co. Ltd.—"Enclosed please find money returned as we have no 3p outside of sets."

Economist Stamp Co.—"Your favor received. Owing to a printer's mistake the 3p Togo schgd. on Gold Coast should have read yellow back instead of white back, and therefore refund your remittance, regretting we cannot fill your order with the white back."

Of course, the explanation of a printer's mistake is satisfactory, but if the first company sells stamps only in sets, why does it not say so in its advertising, and why does it price each stamp singly? Do you not regard advertising such as this misleading, and do you not realize that when such a stamp is offered at such a price hundreds of your readers are going to waste time, not to say postage, in sending for it?

I am not writing from any sense of surprise or of disappointment. I would have been surprised if I had obtained the stamp from either dealer. My purpose in writing is merely to suggest that offering stamps priced singly and then informing those who order that they have none "outside of sets," is a practice which should receive your condemnation, along with your other commendable efforts to improve the standard of philatelic advertising. I simply offer the suggestion for such consideration as you may see fit to give it, trusting that you will consider it in the helpful spirit in which it is offered."

We feel that the criticism of our correspondent is justified. Where a firm advertises sets of stamps with the stamps priced singly orders should be filled so long as the supply lasts. We have yet to learn that the firm has any of this stamp to send out even with orders for full sets.

So far as the "printer's mistake" is concerned Mr. Jewett pleads "not guilty." The copy reads very plainly "w. b." and the printer declines to be the goat.

EDITORIAL.

Rushing—This issue of the WEEKLY shows how sturdily the season, but recently opened, has progressed. Tangible evidence is presented to prove that philately is flourishing to an extent that over-matches the most sanguine expectations; and surely collectors in our country may deem themselves fortunate in not witnessing the slightest demoralization of their hobby. Too, it must be said that the appearance of the new edition of the catalogue gives an impetus to philatelic interests and activities and thus far the season, it may be remarked, has not had the adventitious aid of the catalogue. It may be added here that the new edition of the catalogue may be expected at any time.

Remember—A letter has been received from Dr. Arthur F. Twogood, Memphis, Tenn., that takes us back over twenty years when the Autaugaville, Alabama, Confederate impressions were the subject of no little speculation. Dr. Twogood says: "Among some old letters of my uncle, I found some correspondence between the son of the former postmaster of Autaugaville, Ala., in 1861, and my uncle. These letters were written in 1893 and my uncle was trying to purchase the dies or hand stamp of the Confederate provisional Autaugaville, Paid 5 and Paid 10. Enclosed in the envelope were reprints of all the Paid 5 and Paid 10 on a blotter, perfect copies, although only the Paid 5 is catalogued now. The son of Mr. McNeel, the postmaster who issued the stamps, tells of the stamps in an interesting way and the reprints he sent to my uncle as samples." We remember when the Autaugaville local envelopes were brought into prominence and we have the reprints that are spoken of, from the old hand stamp die in purple color on yellow blotters. Some time afterwards the cataloguers accepted the five cent envelopes but the ten cent were barred for reasons that were considered satisfactory no doubt. It was in an auction sale of Mr.

Odd—The one cent postal savings stamped envelope has been "converted" into a penalty envelope, without the bars over the stamp, after the manner of the two cent envelope. "Bushire under British Occupation" in three lines has been surcharged on the 5 and 24c, respectively, 1913-14 issue of Persia. On the 5, it is said 257 printings were made and on the 24c, an even 200 impressions.

He Knows—From Doctor I. Thurman Mann, High Point, North Carolina, we have received an interesting account of the postmark, "U. S. Sea Post, Porto Rico," which we know will be followed closely by those of our readers who are interested in "extra-territorial" markings. Dr. Mann writes: "During October, 1914, I took a trip as ship surgeon on board the U. S. M. S. Zulia of the Red D Line to Porto Rico, Venezuela and Curacao, touching at Mayaguez, Porto Rico; La Guaira, Venezuela; and Curacao, and back by Mayaguez to New York. I mailed several postals at La Guaira, half of which never reached their destination. However, I have seen some of them postmarked from this same place. I also mailed some from Curacao, which arrived postmarked all right and a few that I had written and stamped in Curacao I handed to the mail clerk at Mayaguez and they arrived postmarked, U. S. Sea Post, Porto Rico; also, two letters. The Red D line of boats are the only vessels sailing from this country to Venezuela, regularly. A postal clerk goes down on one boat to Mayaguez, crosses the island and comes back from San Juan to New York, making the trip in about two weeks. Half of these boats put in at Mayaguez and half at San Juan. There are other lines, of course, that carry mail and a mail clerk. When the clerk boards the boat at Porto Rico, he spends the six days from there to New York in going through the mail on board, separating it and thus facilitating its forwarding from the New York office. Recently, I received a stamped envelope that I sent the purser aboard the Zulia for a reply, which he mailed on board; and the envelope is postmarked: U. S. Sea Post, Sep. 4, Porto Rico." In a drawing of the envelopes just described, the obliteration takes the form of one of our standard canceling machines.

Postal Reform Memorial—The following explanation is taken from a letter that came from Mr. C. W. Woodson, Rustburg, Virginia: "Enclosed I send you a petition dated 1848 which seems to have been referred to Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. This petition deals with reduction of postage. It was found in the papers of Wm. L. Goggin, who at that time was a congressman from Virginia and chairman of, or a member of, Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. I have a number of his papers dealing with the question of postage and am sending this as an interesting item; and the fact that it contains the signatures of men such as Horace Greeley and others should make the paper valuable." On the back of the petition is the endorsement: "Memorial of B. Bates and others, citizens of the U. S. in favor of the reduction of the present rates of postage on letters and newspapers and the free delivery of letters and newspapers, in the principal cities. May 10, 1848: Referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads." The petition is addressed to: "The Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress Assembled" and is dated Washington, April 20th, 1848. As our correspondent says, the names of Horace Greeley and other prominent men of that time are subscribed to the instrument which well repays reading. The petition covers both sides of three sheets of fool's-cap paper, however, and at present, we may only summarize its statements. After a hope is expressed that the "usefulness and prosperity" of the Post Office Department may be increased to the extent that its service will defy "all competition," it is suggested that this end be accomplished by a reduction in postage rates. It is argued that a reduction of the kind is always followed by a volume of augmented business that turns a deficit into a profit. It is alleged that the millions of letters carried by "private conveyances" would be entrusted to the U. S. Mails if the exorbitant rates were reduced. Free delivery of letters by carriers was recommended in cities of over twenty thousand population and reforms in the rates charged newspapers and periodicals were urged.

Next—"Are you running a symposium, The Happiest Recollection of My Philatelic Life? No. Then the following little observation will not interest you: The happiest recollection of my philatelic life is of the day thirty odd years ago when I was given a dollar and allowed to go, for the first time all by myself, to the stamp dealer whose office was in a building that had an elevator in that wonderful section called 'down town.' As my little chum and myself rode to the enchanted land that crisp Saturday morning, in the old horse-car, elated at the thought of the coming stamp Saturnalia, I can say that my spirits soared to the 100% mark."

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE STAMPS OF THE GERMAN COLONIES.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

In 1896 it was considered desirable that the name of the colony should be overprinted on the stamps as well as the new currency and a number of essays were prepared before it was decided which was the most suitable way of applying the surcharge. Mr. Reichenheim describes the various essays as follows:

1. Vertically surcharged on the left side DEUTSCH reading upwards, on the right side OSTAFRICA reading downwards, and currency as in the first issue.
2. DEUTSCH—OSTAFRICA in two lines horizontally above the currency.
3. DEUTSCH—OSTAFRICA curved above the currency.
4. DEUTSCH—OSTAFRICA in diamond type in one line horizontally above the currency.
5. Surcharged in black diagonally from the left lower corner to the right upper corner in three lines, the first one showing the numerals, the second one the words DEUTSCH—OSTAFRICA, and the third one the word PESA.

The latter was the type finally decided on and the new stamps were issued in April, 1896. The 3pf and 20pf values of this series are each known in two distinct shades. The yellow brown shade of the 3pf is the scarcest of all the early stamps for this colony.

Reference List.

1896. German stamps of 1889 surcharged with name and new values.
6. 2 pesa on 3pf brown, Scott's No. 6.
 7. 3 pesa on 5pf green, Scott's No. 7.
 8. 5 pesa on 10pf rose, Scott's No. 8.
 9. 10 pesa on 20pf ultramarine, Scott's No. 9.
 10. 25 pesa on 50pf red-brown, Scott's No. 10.

THE THIRD ISSUE.

In 1900 the regular colonial "ship" design was issued for German East Africa in the same types and colors as those already described for the Cameroons and Caroline Islands.

Reference List.

1900. No wmk. Perf. 14.
11. 2 pesa brown, Scott's No. 11.
 12. 3 pesa green, Scott's No. 12.
 13. 5 pesa carmine, Scott's No. 13.
 14. 10 pesa ultramarine, Scott's No. 14.
 15. 15 pesa black and orange on buff, Scott's No. 15.
 16. 20 pesa black and carmine, Scott's No. 16.
 17. 25 pesa black and purple, Scott's No. 17.
 18. 40 pesa black and carmine on rose, Scott's No. 18.
 19. 1 rupie claret, Scott's No. 19.
 20. 2 rupien green, Scott's No. 20.
 21. 3 rupien black and red, Scott's No. 21.

THE FOURTH ISSUE.

In 1905, the metrical system was adopted for the currency of this colony and the rupie was divided into 100 hellers instead of 64 pesa as before. This necessitated a new issue for the values below 1 rupie, though the same conventional design was retained. The new stamps were placed on sale in March.

Reference List.

1905. Change of currency. Perf. 14.
22. 2 1/2 heller brown, Scott's No. 22.
 23. 4 heller green, Scott's No. 23.
 24. 7 1/2 heller carmine, Scott's No. 24.
 25. 15 heller ultramarine, Scott's No. 25.
 26. 20 heller black and red on yellow, Scott's No. 26.
 27. 30 heller black and carmine, Scott's No. 27.
 28. 45 heller black and purple, Scott's No. 28.
 29. 60 heller black and carmine on rose, Scott's No. 29.

THE FIFTH ISSUE.

In 1906, the paper watermarked lozenges, which had been introduced in Germany in the previous year, began to appear for the stamps of German East Africa. The 2 1/2 hellers value on this paper was issued in April, 1906, to be followed in June by the 4, 7 1/2 and 60 hellers. In 1907, two more values appeared—the 15h in February and the 45h in March. In October, 1908, the 3 rupien was issued on watermarked paper and in June, 1909, the 30h was issued. It was not until two years later (1911) that the 20h was placed on sale and since then no others have appeared.

Reference List.

- 1906-11. Watermarked lozenges. Perf. 14.
30. 2 1/2 hellers brown, Scott's No. 31.
 31. 4 hellers green, Scott's No. 32.
 32. 7 1/2 hellers carmine, Scott's No. 33.
 33. 15 hellers ultramarine, Scott's No. 34.
 34. 20 hellers black and red on yellow, Scott's No. 35.
 35. 30 hellers black and carmine, Scott's No. 36.
 36. 45 hellers black and purple, Scott's No. 37.
 37. 60 hellers black and carmine on rose, Scott's No. 38.
 38. 3 rupien black and red, Scott's No. 41.

AN UNAUTHORISED ISSUE.

In 1893, the philatelic journals chronicled a set of curious looking labels of the facial value of 5, 10, 25 and 50 cents and 1 peso, printed in different colors and perforated 11 1/2 which were presumed to be a local issue for German East Africa. The design consists of a large numeral in white on a solid disc of color with "AFRIKANISCHE—SEEN—POST" in a curved horseshoe shaped label above the space between the disc and inscribed band containing a small view of palm trees and foliage. On a straight label at top is "SCHULKE & MAYR's", and curved at the base is "unter Contract mit dem Kaiserl. Gouvernement in—DEUTSCH-OST-AFRICA" in two lines. These were stated to have been circulated by a private company who had a contract in 1892 for conveying mails between the German post on the east coast and Victoria Nyanza. That these curiosities were never issued or authorised to be used is proved by the following official letter.

Imperial Government of German East Africa.

Duessalem 30th Sept., 1893.

Gentlemen,

In reply to your request for information, dated 25th August of this year, I have to inform you that the Imperial Government made a contract with the firm of Schulke and Mayr with reference to postal communication with the Victoria Nyanza. At the expiration of a year this contract was not renewed. This firm also requested of the Post-office Department of the Empire permission to introduce stamps, but the request was refused.

Consequently, according to the information which I now give you, the stamps which accompany your letter, and others similar to them, were never in use.

(Signed) VON SCHELE,
 Imperial Governor.

THE THREE CENT FIFTY-ONE.

She had been asked to join some friends at the Movies, but being the wise wife, she did not accept before consulting her "lord," remembering that even Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Du Barry," might have no charms when compared to the ever increasing varieties of the three-cent fifty-one. She was right; he came home full, I mean of stamps, of course, and could not wait for dinner to be served before starting to sort some lucky "buys" he had made that day.

Dinner was called and friend wife took her place unassisted. His lordship heeded not the pangs of hunger nor the plaintive calls of his wife. He had found a cracked plate of the three cent fifty-one, which on closer examination proved to have a green cancellation, and his enthusiasm knew no bounds.

"Dear, your coffee is growing cold!" she suggested—you note I say, suggested.

"What care I for coffee," quoth he, "when I am holding a three dollar stamp in my plucky tongs?" So after ten minutes of patient waiting, she finally served herself, and to her credit, gave him a pleasant smile when at last he came to earth and remembered that the animal must be fed.

After he had taken a few mouthfuls she started, in a gentle way to introduce the subject of "Du Barry". He replied, "Yes, yes, surely—but, dear, did you ever see such a wonderful color? and note the clearness of impression!" the stamp mentioned being at that moment next to his salad fork for closer inspection.

Again she tried—"We haven't been to the movies for a perfect age and this is an especially fine program tonight!"

He—"I, I know, dear, we'll go some night this week—let me see—tomorrow night I must work on the plating of my New Yorks, the next night is a stamp auction, which I can't fail to attend, Friday night is A. P. S. meeting, but perhaps we can go Saturday night if I don't have to see Mr. Besern on some business."

She sighed and tried to smile and the smile became quite fixed as she listened to his plan for her evening's pleasure.

"Now, dear, I know you are anxious to help me, so just bring your stamp tongs, draw up your chair and help me sort this batch of stamps for cancellations. I imagine we can go through several thousand this evening if you work steadily—there's a good girl!"

Then she raised her eyes and looked at him, saw the boyish enthusiasm which had always made him successful in anything he undertook, love included, and she thought, "Well, isn't it ripping, anyway to have him want to stay home so much and what would I do without his stamp boxes and books and magnifying glasses and onion-skin stickers littering up the house? It wouldn't be home without them!" and she uttered a prayer—"God bless Philately." Then resolutely picking up her tongs she set to work.

A PHILATELIC TIP.

(Frank M. Mason sends us the clipping republished below and we quote from his letter the following relative to the same: "This clipping is from the South Essex Quarterly Philatelic Advertiser-Circular, Leigh-on-Sea, Essex, Eng. It is something that I have had in mind for a long time. I had thought of having a rubber stamp and placing the request on my letters. I have a J. W. Scott album for single stamp with plate numbers and have saved a great many unused. Some numbers never come one's way, and if friends would put them on letters many might be added to a collection. Used in my case would be as good as unused."—EDITOR'S NOTE.)

"When posting a letter—If the stamp you are about to use bears a control or marginal number on the stamp edging directly below—Do not separate the stamp from the edging in question but put the stamp with the control on the letter and let all go through the post. The addressee may be interested in marginal numbers if a Stamp Collector."

Improved Great Golconda

Inimitable Collection of 1,000 all different varieties of CENTRAL and SOUTH AMERICAN Postage Stamps only, the "Ne Plus Ultra" of assemblings, absolutely beyond competition; which are legitimately postally cancelled, and the balance are in Mint condition, and are from PANAMA, HAYTI, GUATEMALA, SALVADOR, HONDURAS, NICARAGUA, COSTA RICA, VENEZUELA, ECUADOR, CHILE, PERU, ARGENTINA, BOLIVIA, URUGUAY, BRAZIL and PARAGUAY MOSTLY.

The varieties cover a large desirable selection of the above named countries and the "beauty" of the collection is that the stamps catalog from $3.00 down to 3c each and that the lot is SOLID. By "solid," we mean that there are plenty of complete sets, HIGH values, scarce surcharges, and stamps cataloging from 10c to 60c each in goodly numbers throughout. Old, scarce and costly specimens, new issues and many scarce commemorative and jubilee stamps.

The lot will catalog from $75.00 to $100.00 by Scott's 1915 catalog. Condition is very good, stamps having been carefully gone over, and all damage and imperfections detected, have been eliminated.

To the new collector the opportunity presents itself, whereby for a nominal sum, he at once comes into possession of a ready-made nucleus leading to the formation of a larger collection.

To the more advanced collector, the certainty of securing many surcharges and new issues, at an extremely insignificant price, of stamps hard-to-get, and to the dealer, the IMPROVED GREAT GOLCONDA offers all desirable and saleable postage stamps of the better sorts which will yield big returns on the investment.

THE VERY FACT THAT THERE IS NOT A DEALER IN ALL AMERICA THAT CAN DUPLICATE THIS LOT AT $20.00 NET—STAMP FOR STAMP—WITHOUT LOSING MONEY IN SO DOING, IS AMPLE PROOF THAT THIS IS THE GREATEST REAL BARGAIN EVER OFFERED TO THE DEALER OR COLLECTOR.

—Many of our readers will remember the "Great Golconda" packet as offered by the late H. Cormack. Mr. Cormack's stock of South and Central American stamps was known to be the largest in the world. The Powell Stamp Co. purchased the stock outright and found that it was possible for them to improve the lot and still lower the price from $15 to $12.98. As dealers have bought these lots and have found them real bargains, they will please the collector.

THE NEW MEXICANS.

By HOWARD C. HOPKINS.

The 1c of the new issue of Mexico has appeared. The following are the quantities printed:

1c, 1,000,000; 2c, 2,000,000; 3c, 2,000,000; 4c, 4,000,000; 5c, 2,000,000; 10c, 6,000,000.

These will probably last until the new engraved stamps are ready. These are not being made in New York, as I previously reported, but here in the government printing office. I have seen a copy of the 40c,—it will be issued in a few days. It is in commemorative size; appeared, by artificial light, to be a pearl grey, bears the map of Mexico and is a very handsome stamp. They are preparing the plates for the lower values and also the 30c, 1p and 5p as rapidly as possible.

THE CARELESSNESS OF WILLY GROW.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

"Whenever you see a four-eyed man, specially the kind that anchors the binacles back o' the ears, do your thinkin' first," said Jimmy O., oracularly, as he swung lazily in the hammock.

Jimmy's quizzically twisted smile meant another of his varied experiences, so I just held my tongue and waited.

"One a minute, I've had 'em—experiences," declared Jimmy, as he dug his boot-toe into the dust, and set the hammock swinging. Then he began to laugh until I feared hysteria.

"Reminds me o' the time I was punchin' cattle upon Wild Rye—Lazy S rancho. We had fer neighbor the meanest man the East ever turned loose, I reckon. And crooked—well, he couldn't turn a corner square. But he got his, good an' plenty—$700 it cost him, too."

Jimmy felt in his shirt for his cigarette papers and his package of tobacco. They were missing. Then he laughed some more.

"Gee! that Mex. I lent the makin's to give me the cigarette an' kept the outfit!" Jimmy chortled at the trick which he had played so many times himself upon fellow cowboys.

"You see," resumed Jimmy, "this fellow—Old Crabapple we called him—had a buckskin outlaw that he'd made a standing offer of $100 to any man who'd ride him."

"Not for Jimmy—that blamed outlaw near bit my laig off once, an' then sat on my stummick for near twenty minutes—maybe ten—deliberatin'."

I laughed. Jimmy looked aggrieved. But he soon beamed again, and went on:

"One day, when we were all in the bunk-house, playin' solitaire or casino or old maid or somethin'—pay day being some remote—a man rode up on that same outlaw. Say, we fair fought to get into the clear to look him over. His saddle was cowboy, but some bob-tail; bridle, some silver; bit, more silver; and spurs—say, they was $90 worth o' silver and work on 'em—an' rowels big as dollars an' wicked as a squaw full o' tizwiz. But he didn't wear the spurs. They was tied on his saddle. I couldn't figger out his make-up—not me."

"Then I looked the man over some more careless-like. Overall, new; boots, medium; shirt, new; vest, old; gun in scabbard, old, wood-handle Colt's .45; belt, full o' cartridges; and the gun—tied-down."

"This wasn't any tender-foot—not with a tied-down gun. Right there I began to study him out. He wore steel-bow spectacles, glasses thick an' round as a dollar Mex., and he had the sweetest baby-like smile you ever see. Say, honest, I was fair scared o' that man's smile. He was too dern soft an' easy lookin' with that smile, an' too dern hard-as-nails lookin', an' that tied-down gun was more eloquent than a super-dreadnaught."

"Now they's a fool in every cow-camp. We had more'n our share—me an' Eddy Fyne. I was some slower 'n Eddy that time, 'count o' doin' the lookin'-over first."

"'Alight, stranger, an' anchor your cayuse,' says Eddy, genial-like."

"When I see that man swing off'n that horse, I hiked into the bunk-house an' thought hard. I couldn't just place him, but anyway I was mighty glad I'd done my thinkin' first."

"I'd like to get on, here, if you please," says the man, gentle-like, to Eddy.

"Me—I butted in quick: 'Sure! See the foreman.' Then I walked him over to the boss, an' he was took on."

"Nex' day I sure seen some ridin' o' that outlaw—plum gentle he was, too. An' that new cow-hand—say! when I see him drop a rope on that loco steer it all come back quick. Willy Grow! Late o' Wild Bill's Wild West, where he was some with the rope. Me—I was with that outfit one consecutive night when ole Unc' Billy Barr an' I mixed with the outfit fer fun, an' then beat it out o' town, not drawin' any pay. Too much like a circus fer me—them idiots applaudin' when Unc' Billy's saddle turned an' the bronchos near tromped him."

"As I was sayin', Willy was some puncher. He stayed with us till the end of the round-up. Then, when he drew his pay, we explained how ole' Crabapple had offered $100 to any man who'd ride that cayuse. Seven of us fixed it up. Funny thing about that outlaw. Willy'd go up to him an' fuzzle his ears with some kind of eeny, meeny, miny, moo gibberish an' tell 'im to be good an' he'd be good. Then anyone could ride 'im."

"Well, as I was sayin' when you interrupted me, one likely mornin' we saddles up an' goes over to ole' Crabapple's."

"'Mornin'," says he, some polite an' gentle, lookin' at our guns, for we'd tied 'em all down. Me—I had two, an' Eddy had swiped cook's knife. Would a swiped another, only cooky yelled like you was stealin' candy."

"'Mornin'," says Willy, sweet an' soft. Say, ole' Crab was mad inside, fer he knew we meant some devilment. But he sure was polite as buckwheat cakes."

"We hear tell you've offered a premium fer any one who'll ride this here cayuse I paid you forty for," says Willy, cheerful-like."

"Not now," says Crabapple. "You've broke him."

"All right," says Willy. "Bet you $100 you can't stay with him ten minutes."

"Ole Crab swells up some at that, an' goes to it. Willy fuzzles the outlaw's ears, first, me feelin' some mad at him, fer I sure wanted ole Crab to enjoy the run he'd get fer his money."

"Now ole Crab could ride, an' fer nine minutes it was easy."

"Then he made a fatal error."

"I get the $100,—what?" says he.

"Willy just grinned. The minute old outlaw heard that voice, he cut loose. With ten seconds to go he sure eats up ole Crab. I've seen 'em shook up some, but this scared me. The last pitch, an' Crab hit the ground in a heap—five seconds too soon to win the century."

"Crab was madder'n all get out."

"No man can stay with 'im," he yells. "I'll bet you $100 a piece."

"You're on," says Willy, that quick."

"Me—I was first. Tell you what, I most prayed. I sure wanted to lose that $100 right fast. Thought it was my last day this side o'—er—heaven."

Jimmy doubled up with mirth.

"Ole outlaw was plum' gentle my twelve minutes. They was seven of us. Twelve minutes a-piece strung it out some. Ole Crab yells fraud, but Willy looks hard an' reaches fer his gun."

"No checks go," says Willy, "Cash down, and we get it in gold."

"Now ole Crab had sold his steers the day before, an' Willy timed it right. So Crab pays over the $700, and never yells no more."

"An' what do you think Willy done with his? The bloomin' idiot goes down to the river and threw them five twenty-dollar gold pieces in, one at a time, just like a kid, watchin' 'em skip, me standin' by with my mouth open."

"Oh, thunder!" says Willy, when the last one's gone. "Who wants that kind o' money? Come on, let's go over an' look at Moore's stamp c'lection."

BELGIUM—Stamp Collecting illustrates the 50c and 10fr values of the new general issue for Belgium which is now in course of preparation, having been shown proof impressions from the dies. Some departures are being made from the scheme as originally forecasted. The 50c for instance, is in the design at first intended for the 1fr stamp, commemorating the most important Belgian economic event—the freeing of the Scheldt in 1862. The 10fr portrays the three sovereigns who have ruled over Belgium's destinies from the foundation of the Kingdom until the present day, with the added French and Flemish equivalent to the words "Union is Strength."

The 50c proof is in green and the 10fr in Indian red. Although it has already been stated that the issue will only take place when the Germans have been driven out of the land of King Albert, it is quite within the bounds of possibility that the authorities will not necessarily wait until the accomplishment of that act, but that the new stamps may make their appearance shortly. The set will be a long one (1c to 10frs) and will include a 15c stamp.

BRITISH COLONIES—Ewen's Weekly notes the issue of the following stamps on paper colored through, which have recently been printed on "white backs":

Ceylon—5r on green.
Fiji Islands—3d on lemon, 4d on yellow.
Grenada—3d on deep yellow.
Nigeria—3d, 4d, and 5sh on yellow; 1sh and 10sh on green.

BUSHIRE—This Persian town is to have a place in the Catalogue, as 13 values of the Persian stamps of 1911-13 have been overprinted "Bushire—Under British—Occupation," in three lines, according to the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

CANADA—G. Hemond sends us an officially sealed stamp issued in the Dominion about a year ago, but not previously chronicled. The design resembles that of 1879, but the "Officially Sealed" is longer, and the inscriptions, "Post Office Canada—Bureau des Rebut" above and "Dead Letter Office" below are respectively above and below the rays. A large maple leaf is placed in each of the four corners. The stamps are printed on white paper and perforated 12.

Officially Sealed Adhesive.

No value, black brown.

CHILE—Robert J. Wagner sends something new from Chile, the 2c scarlet of 1911 having been issued in lithographed form. There is a general coarsening of all features of the design, while the colorless letters and figures, especially the figures of value, are noticeably larger. The background around the head is of horizontal instead of crossed lines.

Adhesive.

Lithographed from design of 1911.
2c scarlet.

JAMAICA—Ewen's Weekly notes that the 1sh King George stamp has been found with the portrait in purple instead of black. Only one sheet was printed thus as far as known and this was evidently sold in the regular order of business, as only a few used copies have been found.

Adhesive.

1sh black and purple on green.

MEXICO—Hermann Focke has shown us the missing 1c value in the new lithographed set the design being the same as the other values chronicled last week. All have "Correos Mexico" in a curved line at the top, with a minute eagle between the words. This is supported on pillars, with Aztec capitals, and resting on bases containing the figures of value in the lower corners. The value in words runs across between these bases. Portraits, pictures, etc., are contained in a circle framed at the bottom in oak and laurel (?) leaves. The 1c value shows the Arms of Mexico as a vignette.

Adhesive.

1c violet blue.

Mr. Focke also shows us a private charity stamp, a large horizontal oblong, with "Pour les Allies—Victims de la Guerre" in two lines at the top, the second being curved downward. In the lower left is "5" very large and "Centavos" small, and opposite "Mexico 1915". Between these in a different color is a representation of a mother and her children. This description gives but an imperfect idea of the stamp, which is neat and attractive, and one of the prettiest of special war issues that have come to hand.

We have been shown by W. E. Dowser an interesting variety of the 5c G. C. M. Villa issue. The monogram is of the upright type and is overprinted twice. Mr. Dowser writes that this is a genuine error and the sheet was found in the interior of Mexico and brought out by an assayer who is now in El Paso, Texas.

NEW CALEDONIA—The Australian Philatelist states:—

"Our correspondent at Noumea informs us that only 100,000 of the Red Cross stamps were printed, but probably a further lot would be printed, bringing the total up to 200,000, as originally intended; but he was unable to say whether the overprint would be the same or not; he made enquiries from the official responsible for the printing of the surcharges, who stated that none of the stamps were printed or issued with inverted surcharge; one sheet only became damaged in the course of printing. This was destroyed by fire in the presence of the Commission of three officials appointed to examine the stamps. We have seen several 'inverteds,' but in every case they are in a slightly different shade of colour from the genuine."

TWO CROWN WATERMARKS.

We are frequently requested to differentiate between the Crown watermark, as first supplied for the "Kangaroo" issue, and the new variety for the "King George" designs, which has been in part adopted for temporary printings from the "Kangaroo" plates. The descriptive details given in the August edition of the Australian Philatelist we cannot do better than quote:—

"Kangaroo" Crown (1) has a large ball on the top resting in a slight curve. In the "K. G." Crown (2) the ball is very small, and rests in a deep curve.

In the "Kangaroo" the central division of the Crown is much wider on top than in the "K. G." The horizontal line in the "Kangaroo" meet at the corner of the bend; but only half-way down in the "K. G." The space between the two bottom lines is much narrower in the "Kangaroo" than in the "K. G.", and the letter "A" is wider and shorter in the former than in the latter.—Ewen's Weekly.

Meeting called to order at 8.30 P. M. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Resignation of Mr. Beck has been accepted with regret.

Mr. Arnold Herrmann nominated and elected to fill the Trusteeship for the balance of the year.

It was decided that the New York Stamp Society take proper steps to form a New York Branch of the American Philatelic Society.

Next exhibit will be on November 4th and will be of "General Collections, E to G," and it is hoped that we will have a goodly number of exhibits.

Remember the year is fast drawing to a close and members want to get as many "wins" as possible if they want to become the permanent possessor of the Cup donated by the President.

Visitors are always welcome and the Secretary ready to answer correspondence.

Next meeting November 4th, 1915, nomination of officers.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P. M.

BOSTON, Oct. 19, 1915.

The 344th regular meeting of the Society was called to order this evening at 8.20 p. m. by the President, 38 members being in attendance. The usual reports were read and approved. The Lantern Committee reported enough cash already received with which to purchase the lantern, and that they hope every one who has not yet subscribed will do so, as they feel that this will prove a very interesting feature of future entertainments. The resignation of Mr. A. W. Godfrey, No. 553, was accepted.

Messrs. Geo. A. Goubault, Edwin H. Finegan and Gordon H. Crouch were elected to membership, their numbers being 609, 610 and 611, respectively.

The meeting was turned over to the entertainment committee consisting of Messrs. A. M. Wright, W. C. Polk and J. S. Bell, Jr. This consisted first of a series of questions which had to be answered in a limited time and the prizes were won by Messrs. Kelleher, Lyons and Powers in that order. Mr. Phelps received the "booby." Mr. Polk then exhibited a set of Finland complete, belonging to Mr. Oscar Hill, which was admired by all present. The meeting adjourned at 9.45 p. m.

THE STAMPS OF GERMAN NEW GUINEA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

The second oldest German colony is German New Guinea which, geographically, only applies to Kaiser Wilhelm's Land—the north-east portion of the island of New Guinea or Papua. Administratively it also comprises the Bismarck Archipelago (including some of the Solomon Islands), the Caroline Islands, the Marianne Islands, and the Marshall Islands. The name German New Guinea is certainly somewhat of a misnomer, the more so as the seat of Government is situated at Herbertshöhe, on Gazelle Island in the Bismarck Archipelago. It was at one time decided that the name of the colony should be altered to German Australia—a much more fitting description—but the change was never made. The three last groups have been supplied with their own series of stamps, so these will be discussed separately, and this article will only deal with the two first divisions.

New Guinea, or Papua, is after Australia the largest island in the world, and is separated from the Australian continent by the shallow island-studded Torres Straits, 80 to 90 miles wide at its narrowest part. The two regions at one time formed continuous land, and an upheaval of less than sixty fathoms would again unite them, though elsewhere the mainland is washed by deep waters ranging from 500 to 1300 fathoms. The island appears to have been first sighted by D'Abreu in 1511 but it was some years later when the first Europeans visited it. In 1526, a Portuguese commander, Don Jorge de Meneses, accidentally over-ran his distance in voyaging from Malacca to Ternate and found himself at New Guinea. It was visited by other Portuguese and Spanish traders in later years and one of these, Retez (Roda) gave it its present name of New Guinea on account of the resemblance of its inhabitants to those of the Guinea coast. In 1601 Luis Vaz de Torres passed through the straits which still bear his name, and sailed along the south coast of the island taking possession in the name of the King of Spain. In the same year the Dutch began their settlements in the west, and for more than two centuries afterwards practically all explorations in New Guinea were conducted by this nation. In 1700, Dampier, an Englishman, sailed along the north coast surveying and naming many points. In 1793, the East India Company occupied the island of Manassari in Geelvink Bay and in 1828 the western half of the island was placed under Dutch protection. Twenty years later the Dutch proclaimed their sovereignty over the portion under their protection and fixed the boundary line at 141° east longitude and this meridian was accordingly taken as the western boundary when England and Germany proclaimed spheres of influence in 1884. Protectorates were almost immediately declared by these two countries over the southeast and northeast portions respectively, and various conventions in later years fixed approximate boundaries.

While the coasts have been fairly well surveyed the interior of New Guinea is still practically an unknown land and the few expeditions that have attempted to open up the German portion have found progress exceedingly difficult. There are no paths, the territory is terribly rugged and covered with a dense undergrowth, and the whole country is covered with thick, dank forest. Timber valuable for cabinet-making purposes is plentiful but difficult to obtain. The climate is trying to Europeans on account of the heat combined with intense humidity. There are many rivers one of which, the Kaiserin Augusta, has been ascended by sea-going steamers for a distance of about two hundred miles.

The colony is directly administered by the Imperial Government but the development of its resources is in the hands of the German New Guinea Company which was granted an Imperial charter on May 17th, 1885. The Company has sovereign rights; no arms or spirits are allowed to be sold, and labor traffic (for years a vexed question in these parts) is forbidden except for German plantations.

The country is famed for its birds of Paradise which exist in many varieties, and gorgeous parrots, cockatoos, and pigeons are also found in abundance. Its fauna is closely related to that of Australia and includes more than thirty species of marsupials (such as the kangaroo).

The population numbers over 100,000 natives and these seem to combine at least four ethnical elements: Papuan proper, diffused over the whole region; Negrito; Eastern Polynesian; and Malay. Through the mingling of these elements small tribal groups speak a surprising number of distinct languages. Cannibalism is very prevalent; some tribes are predatory; but many others are peaceful, industrious and keen traders, displaying remarkable skill in the arts of pottery, wood-carving and husbandry.

In November, 1884, a German protectorate was declared over the New Britain Archipelago and several adjacent groups of islands. Later a portion of the Solomon Islands, including Bougainville and Buka, the two largest, were included in the protectorate and the whole group was then re-named the Bismarck Archipelago. Though under direct Imperial administration this territory is also developed by the German New Guinea Company, its charter being extended in December, 1886, to include the northern group of the Solomon Islands. New Hanover has an area of 570 square miles; New Mecklenburg has an area of 4,900 square miles, and New Britain or New Pommern has an area of 9,600 square miles. This latter and the small islands of the Lauenburg group are the only well explored districts. Here there are several successful plantations producing copra, coffee, cotton and rubber. The chief settlements are Matupi, a small island in Blanche Bay entirely occupied by a trading concern and Herbertshöhe, the seat of Government. New Pommern offers greater facilities to European settlers than any of the other islands many of which, though considerable in size are almost unapproachable, and man is almost wilder than nature. The natives are all very war-like and most of them are confirmed cannibals, and they offer the most strenuous opposition to all attempts at European ingress.

Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands, named after one of its discoverers, is exceedingly mountainous and has an extraordinarily heavy annual rainfall. Here also little progress has been made on account of unhealthiness of the climate for Europeans and the natural savagery of the native tribes.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

The first post-office in German New Guinea was opened at Stephansport on December 14th, 1889, and from that time until 1897 ordinary unsurcharged German stamps were used in the colony. In 1897, the six values of the 1889 series were overprinted "Deutsch-Neu-Guinea" in two lines reading diagonally upwards from the left lower corner and with the exception of two shades of the 3pf there is nothing in this issue which calls for special mention.

WE LEARN MORE.

To the Editor:—

Your dissertation on the Benzine Cup in the issue of October 9th was interesting, but to follow it might cause warm words.

In the first place, the terms gasoline, benzine, etc., are trade names, which, by usage, have all come under the one term, "Gasoline". We have low boiling and high boiling gasolines, the differences being produced by switching or "breaking" the stream of distillate as it runs from the still.

In recent years, an immense quantity of automobile gasoline has been produced by mixing different distillates to produce one of a certain gravity. The tendency is to get in those which approach kerosene, in consequence of which a stain will be left on evaporation. Benzine may be a high boiling distillate or a low boiling. Among chemists, it generally means a low boiling product. It contains none of the higher boiling distillates and leaves no stain. Undoubtedly, the older stamp collectors used this low boiling distillate with the accompanying danger of fire. On the other hand, to use an ordinary gasoline, is very apt to leave stains of near-kerosene on the stamps. While it is easy to secure the ordinary gasoline, one would have to apply to the wholesalers for the benzine, and many of them would have to order from outside.

It is rather surprising that no one has suggested the use of carbon tetrachloride. It has an odor not agreeable to some, but its good point is that it will not burn under any conditions. The price is higher than for gasoline, but the average collector would not use a very large amount.

Yours very truly,

THORN SMITH.

WILSON'S PURCHASE OF BELGIANS.

Certainly any one interested in Belgian stamps will longingly peruse the advertisement of W. T. Wilson published elsewhere in this issue. It has been many a day since so nice an array of unused Belgians have been offered for sale and if the later issues can be supplied on an "equally sumptuous scale" it is certainly some collection.

A REALLY VALUABLE PRICED CATALOG

Is the one based upon prices realized in actual competition. Our November 4th auction sale of nearly 1000 lots, close to 500 of which were U. S. stamps and proofs, many things in blocks, strips and parts of sheets, is a real index of value. Thousands of bids were received from over 200 different bidders by mail. In addition to this, some twenty-five philatelists attended the sale in person. Many of them represented other buyers—altogether competition from upwards of 250. Priced copies of the catalog $1.00 each by mail prepaid.

CANADA STAMPS SURCHARGED "R."

T. D. Churchill has brought our attention to the fact that Canada stamps are appearing with a large "R" surcharged in black. Mr. Churchill called our attention to this some weeks ago and we advised him to take the matter up with the P. O. Dept. at Ottawa. The reply received contained no information. Mr. Churchill pursued his investigations with the result as indicated below. We might add that on the specimen submitted for our inspection, the "R" was quite large in size and irregular in shape, as though applied by a rubber stamp or by means of a wood block.

We quote from Mr. Churchill's letter as follows:—
"In reply to your favor in reference to the Canada stamps surcharged with a large black "R", I sent them to the P. O. Department at Ottawa. You will note by copy of their reply enclosed herewith, that they could throw no light on the subject.

I then returned the stamps to the party who sent them to me, and have succeeded in clearing up the mystery. The stamps were placed on bottles of patent medicine by a druggist in a small Canadian town to cover the amount of revenue due thereon.

It is necessary to send to Ottawa for the regular revenue stamps, but the Government allows them to use the regular postage stamps for revenue purposes when surcharged similar to the enclosed. The surcharge is placed thereon by the parties using them. It is, of course, much less bother to obtain stamps at the local post office and surcharge them than it is to send to Ottawa for a supply of the regular issue.

I should judge, therefore, that they will be very common, as most of the small towns would no doubt use regular postage stamps similarly surcharged."

DEATH OF J. J. CODVILLE, OTTAWA, CANADA.

Among cable dispatches from England recently came word of the sudden death of J. J. Codville of Ottawa, Can., while on board a train between London and Brighton. Mr. Codville had gone over to see his son who is a graduate of the Kingston Military College in Ontario, but his son was fighting in the trenches in Flanders and he was unable to see him.

Many collectors will remember Mr. Codville. He was considered very high authority on Manitoba Law Stamps, at one time having probably the finest collection of these stamps in existence and the largest stock of duplicates. Unfortunately both collection and duplicates were burned in a hotel fire some years ago in Winnipeg.

Mr. Codville was member of a large wholesale grocery firm in Winnipeg, Manitoba, and amply able to indulge in philatelic fancies. His was a very kindly nature and all collectors who have met him will feel that they have lost a pleasant acquaintance and in many cases a good friend.

EDITORIAL.

Bill Is Back.—Bill is back with the WEEKLY. He is the same Bill, we trow, whose lucubrations have made so deep an impression in the polite centers of philately, yet, did we imagine a shade of hauteur in his tone when he said that our innocent, even if intimate, chronicles of our pilgrim's progress through the bounding west had led those who met him for the first time on his peregrinations to expect him to indulge in a Charley Chaplin line of conduct? Bill dislikes to disappoint his admirers and for that reason, he balks at having his picture published. We shall see, we shall see. At any rate, Bill will resume his thrilling stories of germless hinges, home-made albums, quadruple indices, etc., in the next issue.

Nobody Knows.—There is much speculation as to the action that Congress will take to raise revenue for the coming calendar year. Different reports based on as many theories are heard but it is futile to anticipate legislation and we shall have to await the action of the rulers. We notice a wavelet of interest at least in the current revenues and collectors are having all sorts of experiences in pursuing the high denominations of the documentary stamps. In this connection, we know that a fine pair of used (but not cut) fifty dollar documentary, the stamp withdrawn from use, was sold for one hundred dollars. The status of the fifty dollar documentary that was retired in consequence of a theft of the stamps after they had left the Bureau (as already described in the WEEKLY) will be determined by time. We have been informed that about ten hundred of the stamps were not returned to the department following the order of the treasury department and the inference is that some of the stamps retained have been used, and that others may be used, for tax purposes.

Flotsam.—We have seen a strip of four of the $1,000 documentary of the 1898 revenue issue. This is the entire "sheet" of the stamps and the document that yielded it bore another strip of the same denomination. Sonora comes out with a special issue something on the order of the Baja California stamps. Have you got your catalogue? Then you have not subscribed for six or seven years?

* * *

Here Are The Papers.—A copy of the "authorization" of the provisional set from Mexico, on the stationery of the Director General, Hinojosa, dated September 22nd, 1915, and addressed to the Postmaster General at Washington has been placed in our hands and a free translation of the notice follows: "Due to the fact that the stock of postage stamps in this General Office has been exhausted and not having sufficient time to make the impression of a new definite issue, this Government is compelled to make a transitory issue of the postage stamps that today I have the honor of sending you in, five sample copies of the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 10c values, passing over for the present the customary procedure while the office of the Universal Postal Union communicates to you the official letter, copy of which I beg to send enclosed. At the same time I request of you to give your orders to the various post-offices under your charge to allow the free circulation of all correspondence with these stamps on, as this General Office has been compelled to issue the new series, putting them on sale at once in order to eliminate all trouble to the public and commerce. I respectfully request of you to inform me of your decision on this matter that I may know the course to follow. I protest to you, Mr. Director, the assurance of my most attentive consideration." The "official letter" which contains details of the temporary issue is worth translating; and we hope to present the translation elsewhere. It may be added that there is no uncertainty about the issue of the one centavo lilac; a sheet has been seen with the control number A on margin and the number 00001.

Removing Temptation.—The third assistant postmaster general has issued a notice that does not arouse our pride in country to the cheering point. Indeed, one is abashed by the introductory paragraph of the order: "Post-office burglaries have increased to such an extent that the Department finds it advisable to lessen the number of postage stamps issued to postmasters, particularly the 1-cent and 2-cent denominations which are the main object of the burglary. Postmasters of the second, third and fourth classes who cannot properly protect their stamps will accordingly draw requisitions for approximately two months' supply of 1-cent and 2-cent stamps at a time," etc. If, however, the postmasters can protect their stamp supply, the department much prefers to send stamps to cover the demand for a period of from three months to a year. It is remarked that postal cards, stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers are "seldom taken by burglars because of their weight and bulk."

* * *

Accommodation.—The Kansas City Times says that writing paper may now be bought at the main post office in its city, in consequence of the demand for writing paper by patrons of the office who wish to do their correspondence on the spot. The paper is sold at cost and the convenience of the user is not taxed in any other way as needless to say, the department would not countenance any transaction that yielded any private profit in the precincts of the post office. We are informed that the Washington authorities have given permission tacitly heretofore by "a few Eastern cities." Mr. Michaels asks if it is possible that "the good old letter-sheet days of '86" are to return as a consequence of the enterprise indicated. The postal department has had two experiences with letter-sheets in 1861 and 1886, respectively, but the dear public seemed to lose its ardent longing for letter-sheets when once they became an accomplished fact. According to the wails of many, as it seemed, life without a special registration stamp would be a joyless desert. For many years, the authorities were importuned for a special registration stamp. It came—and went. The public is a fickle jade, a fact that the department well knows.

* * *

Postal Points.—From Mr. Paul Dillingham we have received the minutes of the convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers at Omaha last September as printed in the Postal Record. A perusal of the account would repay the one who is interested in the workings of our postal service, no doubt. Mr. Dillingham writes a letter from which we take the paragraph: "The nations at war, in Europe deliver letters and other mail, to their soldiers and sailors on actual service, free. A letter addressed to any foreign country and mailed without a stamp in this country must be forwarded to destination where double postage is charged for delivery." The postal department wishes the information repeated as often as possible that deficient postage on foreign letters is charged for at a rate just double that represented by the omission. The double postage due rate occasions no little objection and controversy which are based on ignorance of the rule.

MEXICO'S LATEST.

Resolutions pertaining to the issue of Postage Stamps of September 16, 1915.

The Secretary of Communications and Public Works has decided to put in circulation a new issue of Postage Stamps, that will become valid the 16th of the present month, as provided in the circular No. 6, dated July 1st, ultimo.

Hence, this General Office, having the authorization of the mentioned Secretary, has ordered the issue of the following postage stamps:—

Class A.—1. One-cent stamp, lilac color; design: Seal of the National Arms.

Class B.—1. Two-cent stamp, green color; design: Cuauhtemoc.

Class C.—1. Three-cent stamp, coffee color; design: Bust of General Zaragoza.

Class D.—1. Four-cent stamp, red color; design: Bust of General Morelos.

Class E.—1. Five-cent stamp, yellow color; design: Bust of Don Francisco I. Madero.

Class F.—1. Ten-cent stamp, blue color; design: Bust of Licenciado Benito Juárez.

As soon as the stamps of higher values are finished, it will be made known and will be sent to the different post offices together with a new circular.

In accordance with the provisions in the above mentioned circular, no exchange will be established, as large quantities of stamps have been fraudulently taken from several post offices. Hence, as soon as the new stamps reach the post offices, the postmasters in charge, of course, will return properly invoiced, whatever stamps that they have of the discontinued series, with the exception of letter cards, postal cards, stamped envelopes and bands, which will be used till new orders are given, providing that when used enough stamps will be adhered to, so as to conform with the new rates of postage.

The Postmasters, after receiving the new stamps and returning the old series, will report to this office by telegraph the same day, thus making all stamps used up to this date void and useless.

All mail that the following day after the new stamps are placed on sale, should be deposited with stamps declared void, will be considered unstamped and will be subject to the provisions in the Postal Code, articles Nos. 179 and 183.

If the time disposed of for the impression of the new stamps is not sufficient, it will be the local post offices of Mexico City and its branches, also, the various offices in the Federal District, that will commence using the new stamps after September 16. As to the rest of the post offices in the republic, they will be supplied as soon as the stamps are ready, and for an efficacious vigilance for the compliance of these orders, in due time we will notify, to which offices stamps of the new issue have been sent.

Of this circular, kindly acknowledge receipt, and make it known to the branches under your charge, for which we are sending the necessary copies.

CONSTITUTION AND REFORMS.

MEXICO, September 10, 1915.

The General Director,

COSME HINOJOSA.

To the Postmaster in

$1,300 IN STAMPS STOLEN.

George R. Tuttle, a postage stamp dealer, at 116 Nassau Street, announced to the assembled collectors just before his sale, Oct. 30, that more than 150 lots, including nearly all of United States stamps, had been stolen.

The lost stamps were valued, at standard catalogue prices, at more than $1,300. The stamps were in a little book which Mr. Tuttle prepared for the inspection of prospective bidders. A caller spent some time looking over the book a few days ago and after his departure Mr. Tuttle found that the book had also gone. He notified the dealers in the Nassau Street stamp district and a man was arrested last week while endeavoring to sell some of the stamps on the original pages to a dealer in John Street. He gave his name as William Demarest, living in East Fifty-second Street. He was held in bail for trial, but has since confessed and will come up for sentence this week. Some of the stamps were recovered, but more than 150 lots have not been recovered. Among the missing lots were some fine specimens of early United States issues, including rare department and revenue stamps.—N. Y. Times.

A TEN YEARS' RENEWAL.

Few papers can boast a clientele so loyal as can the WEEKLY. It is nothing unusual for us to receive two-year and three-year renewals, but to Marshall S. Howard, Manila, P. Ids., belongs the credit of sending in during the past week $5.00 for a ten-years' renewal. Mr. Howard writes:—

"Why not start a contest to see who can get his subscription paid farthest in advance? Every collector will want your paper so long as it is published and if such a calamity should happen that you were compelled to suspend its publication, all will have received their money's worth."

This is all very kind of Mr. Howard and we appreciate the spirit that prompts the suggestion. We question whether anyone could be found who would surpass Mr. Howard in his loyalty to the WEEKLY.

ATLANTA FORMS A STAMP CLUB.

We are pleased to announce that the stamp collectors of Atlanta, Ga., have organized the Atlanta Philatelic Society with Clarendon Bangs, deputy collector of customs, as president and R. W. Mead secretary. At the organization meeting Maj. F. L. Palmer made the principal address and at its conclusion exhibited a portion of his collection.

20th British Colonials

We have just bought a very fine 20th Century collection of British Colonials, almost complete to date, including all the "white backs," etc.

The collector that made this collection was an ultra "condition crank" and every stamp in the collection is in the very finest condition.

We will be pleased to fill want lists from this grand collection at our usual reasonable prices, and would suggest an early application, as the best things go first.

John F. Hammell reports having found a block of 30 of the 7c current stamps—part of plate No. 6903, with a fold in the paper before printing. The fold is 1/2 of an inch wide running diagonally across eight stamps. It is rather a curio. I have never seen or heard of anything like it. The value of such a freak is problematical, depending entirely on finding a possible customer, and how much he might be willing to pay.

BUSHIRE.—Henry Pepper Norris reports the 5c overprinted "Bushire—Under British—Occupation" as noted last week. He is informed that only 257 copies were issued, and that further overprinting will probably be on the current issue.

CANADA.—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred corrects the Chronicle in a recent number. The new Canadian reply card is printed in black and not green. There is only a 1c special wrapper for the use of publishers with portrait of King George. The two varieties of King George wrappers are 1c green without inscription and 1c green with inscription.

Post Card.

1+1c black.

CHINA.—Ora E. Stark writes as follows regarding the new overprint noted in No. 1295:

"While it is probably too late to be of information to you, noting your paragraph on page 362 of MEKEEL'S with reference to the overprint on the junk type stamps of China, you are informed that these stamps from 1/2c to $1.00 have been surcharged with the five characters as mentioned for use at Chinese offices in Eastern Turkestan. The surcharge is in black on all but the $1.00, which is in red."

FRENCH MOROCCO.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a new Red Cross stamp, the 5c value of the current "Protectorat Francaise" set having been overprinted with a Red Cross and "5c."

Adhesive.

5c5c green.

MALTA.—The Stamp Shop has submitted the King George 1sh stamp printed on green paper colored through.

MEXICO.—We are indebted to Lowell J. Ragatz, A. C. Roessler, Ora E. Stark, the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. and others for specimens of the new Carranza stamps as noted in No. 1295, Mr. Roessler also sends us the 1c value, which was missing from the first consignment.

The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has shown us the latest fall styles in Sonoras, the familiar stage coach background having given place to anvil surmounted by a rayed liberty cap, enclosed in a wreath and dotted line.

Adhesive.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—A. C. Roessler reports that all proposals for a new issue of stamps for the Island are now called off, according to semi-official advices from thence.

PAPUA.—The Stamp Shop has shown us the current 1d red of Papua printed on the Australian King George paper, as noted in No. 1283.

URUGUAY.—Dr. L. A. Micheloni advises us that Sept. 12th new 23c and 1 peso stamps lithographed were put in circulation, and that on the 16th of the same month an entire new set of official stamps and due stamps of 1c and 6c values were issued. Both officials and dues are lithographed. While Dr. Micheloni has not yet received specimens of the above he is informed that the official stamps are not of the type of previous issues but a plainer type of the word "official" is employed.

Do not be misled, we are 68 years in the stamp business, and have always upheld the principle that faking does not pay.

Some collectors are unreasonable, want something for nothing, we can't satisfy them. Others are afraid to deal with us lest they (think) may have to pay high prices for stamps. They are losing money.

If we should publish all the letters we have commending our business, this column would be too short.

What we want is that you compare, and if you can't get satisfaction with us the reason lays with you.

BRITISH PHILATELIC WAR FUND.

The Executive Committee of the National Philatelic War Fund has made a good start with its plans for the great auction sale of stamps in aid of the British Red Cross and St. John of Jerusalem. Several valuable gifts have already been received.

At the meeting of the committee, held October 7, and on the nomination of Mr. Castle, seconded by Mr. Hausburg, Fred. J. Melville was elected to the vacant (third) Hon. Secretaryship of the Fund.

The most appropriate season for the sale was discussed and the meeting decided that it was not advisable to hold the auction earlier than the middle of January next, to allow time for English speaking philatelists abroad to participate.

Gifts of stamps should be sent to L. L. R. Hausburg, (Hon. Secretary), Heathside, Weybridge, Surrey; or cash to C. E. McNaughtan, (Hon. Treasurer), 4 Southampton Row, W. C. Mr. Wilmot Corfield (Hon. Secretary), 27 Longton Grove, Sydenham, S. E., is in charge of the section for gifts of philatelic literature.

LIMITED SUPPLY

We have just secured two sheets of the current 3c stamp, perf. 10c, which have a peculiar reddish tinge which extends through the paper to the back of the stamp. This is not due to offset. The marginal stamps show dry paper print, being a very deep and mottled purple. The sheets are of fine well centered and we feel the blocks well worth the prices asked:

Block of 4 from outside of sheet showing dry paper print and reddish back	$2.00
Block of 4 from interior, merely showing red back	1.00
Block of 8, showing both above	3.00

Order immediately as supply is limited.

EGYPT—A HISTORY OF ITS STAMPS.

By R. E. R. DALWICK.

Remainders.

The word "remainders" is usually associated with unused sheets of stamps (obsolete) sold by the issuing government. As far as we know Egypt never sold any such remainders, but, instead, adopted the rather unusual procedure of selling off used stamps in quantities. The following letter from the Postmaster General of Egypt is quoted from The Monthly Journal 1899.

"Sir,—I have the honour to inform you that this Administration will sell, for the benefit of the funds of the Postal Benevolent Society, obliterated Egyptian postage stamps, taken off correspondence and parcels despatch notes, which have been destroyed after the prescribed day.

The approximate quantity of stamps to be sold is as follows:

Stamps of 10 piastres,	10,000
Stamps of 5 piastres,	95,000
Stamps of 2 piastres, Issue 1893,	38,000
Stamps of 2 piastres Issue 1879,	2,300
Stamps of 1 piastre,	120,000
Stamps of 5 milliemes,	35,000

Total, 300,300

Offers may be made for the whole lot or any part.

In the latter case the price per 1000 must be given for each variety. The prices will be for stamps delivered in Alexandria only, in the present condition and not packed. Packing and posting to be at buyer's cost. Terms: cash to be paid on delivery of stamps. Offers must be sent in sealed envelopes, with the mention, 'offer for Obliterated Stamps.'

There is no guide as to what issue most of the stamps belonged, so presumably they were current except where specially stated to the contrary.

Somewhere about the end of 1908 there was a repetition of the above sale procedure. According to L'Echo de la Timbrologie (1909) three lots of stamps were offered for sale to the highest bidder. All offers were to be sent to the Director-General of Posts at Alexandria. The following is the list all obliterated:

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

Lot I. Egyptian Stamps.

1 and 5 mil and 1 pias.,	187,500
2, 3 and 4 mil,	37,500
2 piastres,	225,000
5 piastres,	75,000
10 piastres,	15,000

NOTE. Lot 2 consisted of Sudanese stamps, all in bundles of 5,000 and under, whilst Lot 3 contained used German (Reichspost 1900) stamps, consisting of the values 1-5 marks!

The sale of used German high value stamps is somewhat curious. The land of "Kultur" evidently possessed much urgent business with the land of the Pyramids!

On January 10, 1912, the Egyptian Post office sold the following lots of used stamps to the highest bidder:

Sudan, 10 piastres,	1,700
Germany, 5 marks,	6,300
Switzerland (1905-07) 3 francs,	8,000

This constitutes all the "remainders" sold as far as we have been able to gather.

In the case of these latter items "wholesale stocks" would be a better term than "remainders"!

Proofs and Essays.

A representative collection of the proofs and essays of Egypt would fill two or three large albums! The proofs are many in number whilst the essays (with their trials in multitudinous colours and shades) are legion. Many of the essays are of great interest, and it is a matter of opinion whether many of the rejected designs are not much finer in every way than those actually chosen. Unfortunately some of the essays of Egypt were of an entirely speculative nature; made "to sell to collectors." About the time that most of the Egyptian essays were submitted, there was a regular "boom" among collectors for these highly desirable items accordingly it was found that a little revenue might be made if essays were made to supply the philatelic demand.

The proofs and essays of Egypt make as good a display of their kind as one could wish to see: the designs are very numerous, the colours are good, and some of the engraved designs are works of art.

M. V. Penasson of Alexandria was responsible for a goodly number of designs and he proved himself a designer of more than average ability. The essays of the Continental Bank Note Co. of New York were also designs that might well have been adopted.

M. Moens in his work Timbres d'Egypte gives a very thorough and exhaustive list of the proofs and essays and we recommend all students interested in proofs to carefully peruse this work.

THE PROOFS OF ISSUE I.

The proofs of issue I form an interesting basis from which to work up the stamps themselves. The stamps of the first issue are getting very scarce in blocks of any size, and so there is nothing much available to learn from the stamps as to the dimensions of the sheets and the positions of varieties A and B.

It must also be confessed that large blocks of the proofs are seldom seen, whilst complete sheets of 200 are of the greatest rarity—only two complete sets in sheets being known.

The proofs are printed on thin, glossy unwatermarked paper. The paper, although thin, appears as if it could stand a lot of "wear and tear." This paper lends itself to "rust," so it is very necessary that these proofs be kept in a dry place.

Single copies and pairs are often seen and are even fairly common, but blocks of four and anything larger are extremely difficult to find.

The overprint on the 1 and 2 piastres is typographed, and unlike the stamps, the fact is very obvious.

As the 1 piast. stamp and proof are both on unwatermarked paper, there is often some difficulty in separating imperf copies of the 1 piast. stamp and proof. As a matter of fact there should be no difficulty whatever as the thickness and general appearance of the two papers are very obvious.

The 10 piastres tête bêche does not exist on the proof sheets.

PROOFS OF ISSUE II.

Again the proofs demonstrate what can be learned about the stamps themselves by a study of the proof impressions. The varieties of the stamps could not be determined without complete sheets, at any rate it could not have been determined which of the four types was Hoff's types I, II, etc. But some blocks of four of the original proofs made this point clear.

The proofs we have seen are all printed in black, the paper is thin (but not quite so thin as the proofs of issue I) and is unwatermarked.

The proofs of the later issues call for no special remarks, with the exception perhaps of the POSTAGE DUE PROOFS. It is stated under the various issues of these labels that "Imperfate specimens are proofs." Although in no way doubting the eminent authority who stated that all imperf. postage dues were proofs, we nevertheless maintain that certain of the imperf. P. D.'s are imperf. specimens of the stamps.

The proofs are on thin paper, whilst the imperfate stamps are on the same paper as the stamps, either watermarked or unwatermarked as the case may be.

In 1874, the Continental Bank Note Co., of New York, submitted some very striking essays to the Egyptian Government, which were not accepted. The designs were very neat and effective, the only thing which seemed unsuitable was the Turkish overprint struck across. The pyramid and stars formed the central portion of one suggestion, whilst the sphinx and stars made up the central design of the other proposal. The remainder of the design consisted of intricate scroll-work. These essays have one unique point—they were bi-colored.

The only other essays of importance were two submitted by M. C. Borroni (1874) and two by Bernardi Wagner & Co. of Milan. All four essays were of the most extraordinary designs, the main object being to crowd as much as possible into a small space as possible. One of Borroni's designs has a central oval (quite small) which contains a sphinx's head, two pyramids, two towers and a quantity of (?) telegraph poles!

Forgeries.

The first three issues of Egypt have been somewhat extensively forged, but, except in one instance, the forgeries are poor and not likely to deceive anyone.

We cannot deal with this subject at length, but will give a few notes which we think will be sufficient for anyone to recognize any forgeries he may come across. In that most useful work Album Weeds there is a lengthy description of all forgeries of the first three issues, and we advise anyone who is doubtful upon a specimen to refer to the subject in that work.

The following are some general points to bear in mind, and they will be found to be quite sufficient to determine the status of a label in most cases.

ISSUE I.—Genuine—All stamps (except 1 piastre which is unwatermarked) are upon watermarked paper (pyramid and star). The paper is inclined to be thin and is greyish white in tint. The Turkish overprint is in very black ink and is evenly applied: The characters of the top part of the overprint being all joined together.

Forged—The counterfeits are lithographed on stout thick white wove paper which is unwatermarked. The perforation is sometimes 12—on others 12½. The Turkish overprint is almost invariably badly done. The ink is thin and not full toned, whilst the characters do not bear comparison with the originals.

ISSUE II.—The forgeries of this issue are far more dangerous. There is a particularly clever forgery of the 1 piastre, which is really well done—its only fault being that it is on unwatermarked paper. There is also a fairly clever fake of the 5 paras.

Genuine—Lithographed on medium-thick to thick white wove paper, impressed with star and crescent. Perf. 15x12½. The impressions are clear and the lines of shading in the central oval behind the pyramid and sphinx head are continuous and equidistant.

P. M. WOLSIEFFER, President-Mgr.

CHARLES BEAMISH, Secretary-Treas.

Forged—There is no impressed watermark and the paper is generally very white and of varying thickness. The perforation is pin-perf. and badly done.
The impressions are much more indistinct in general detail than the originals.

Issue III—The forgeries of this issue are very feeble, considering the poor-ness of the originals. It seems apparent that the forgers considered the original too easy a job to copy, so the forgeries lack many of the points of the genuine stamps.

Genuine—Typographed on rather thick, hard, brownish paper (1872), and also on a thinner paper (1874). Watermarked crescent and star, and perforated 12 1/2, 13 1/2 and compound. The bottom label reads: POSTE KHEDEVIE EGIZIANE.

Forged—Lithographed on similar paper to genuine, but smoother and whiter. No watermark and pin-perf. 11.
The bottom label reads: POSTE KHE-DEVIE EGIZIRNE.

The following extract from Le Phare d'Alexandria is interesting as it says these forgeries were printed on official paper—we have not heard of these forgeries anywhere else.

"June 15th, 1898."

"The police of our town, having been advised that false Egyptian stamps had been for some time put into circulation at Alexandria, took steps in the matter, and succeeded in discovering the workshop whence they came.

They told the Italian consulate, as the forger could lay an appeal to that place.

The Consul appointed M. Nacouz, first interpreter, who worked in the workshop situated in the Rue Mahmoud, and Falaki a court of enquiry, with the aid of Harington Bey, Chief of the Police, Mayor Treves, and some members of the local police.

Several hundreds of old postage stamps of Egypt were found, and a stone engraved with the stamp of the first issue.

The imitation is so perfect that a careful examination is necessary for finding out the deception.

The stamps of the first issue are upon official paper, which the forger obtained by favour of an accomplice. The forged stamps were sold to philatelists. It is about two years since this forger carried out his work by the aid of some apprentices. He will be prosecuted for forgery because he has deceived buyers as to the quality and genuineness of the objects sold to them. This is the first time that there has been any question of issuing forged postage stamps in Egypt."

This Italian, Sebastiano Giorgini by name, duly appeared before the Consular Tribunal, but was acquitted on the grounds that he sold his counterfeits as forgeries.

The remark that this is the first time that Egyptian stamps have been forged in Egypt is worth noting. There does not seem to be much to show where the older forgeries originated, but we have always been under the impression, that many emanated from Egypt as well as Italy.

The Unpaid Letter stamps have been forged, both on watermarked and unwatermarked paper.

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

(H. C. Macdougall sends us a clipping from the "British Weekly" that deserves reprinting.
As Mr. Macdougall observes "it illustrates particularly well the charm that stamp collecting has even for men whose lives have the most varied and widest interests."—ED.)

The American professor, Dr. R. W.
Rogers, who writes so interestingly of his experiences in this country, has a graphic sketch of the late Sir James Murray in the Christian Advocate. He says with real insight that Sir James "never seemed in haste to cap another man's story, but waited till it had been variously enjoyed and the laugh had subsided (what a curiously uncommon trait of gentleness and good taste that was!), then he would tell his story, and it was like to be well worth while." He describes Sir James as one of the supreme private gardeners of Oxford and a magnificent bicyclist. He was also a keen stamp collector.

"It happens that the last time I ever met Sir James, just before the beginning of his last illness, was over a set of stamp books. It was in the noble old lodge of the president of my Oxford College, the Rev. Dr. James, of Saint Johns, who is easily the premier philatelist of Oxford.
He had invited Sir James and me to dine in his private rooms in college, that we three might talk stamps while we looked at his superb collection. In the twenty big volumes there are 32,000 stamps. We sat before a small mahogany table, both before and after dinner, Sir James and I on one side and the genial and kindly president opposite, and the talk was a rising tide of enthusiasm as the rows upon rows of shades and varieties and uncommon perforations passed by. Sir James would point and say, 'I have a good specimen of that, which I got in Paris twenty years ago.' 'I never saw that before. When did you acquire it?'
'Yes, I have one, but it is perforation 10,' and so it went on. A very human person, and just a wee bit Scotch as he said, 'I made years ago a rule never to pay more than a pound for any one specimen,' and then after a pause, and with a deprecatory smile, 'But I broke the rule once and again.'"

EDITORIAL.

Somewhat Damaged—A new wrinkle in censoring has been reported to us. A reader says that he has seen censored stamps as well as censored contents of letters from the war zone, as he describes stamps whose centers have been removed. Perhaps, the "hunger cry," the special pet of the sob story artist, was responsible for this drastic measure.

Stamp Text—Several readers have called our attention to the discussion indulged in by several correspondents in the Chicago Tribune on the subject of the 1898 Canada Christmas stamp. In sending in the clippings, one of our readers asks what was the reason for the issue of the stamp and its withdrawal. If we had not been importuned to do so, we might not have hesitated long enough in our mad, merry career to have turned inquiring eye on the subject. The map stamp in question was issued to commemorate the adoption of a penny or two cent rate of postage for the British Empire, which became effective on Christmas day, 1898. We remember that one of our good friends stayed up late the night before so that he could deposit a letter franked with this stamp in the mails at one minute after midnight; he rightly conjectured that this early date would be appreciated. As one of the Tribune correspondents says: "That the stamp was ungainly and crude in design was beyond dispute, but its issue was only intended to celebrate an event which has been of immense benefit to all English speaking peoples." Anyhow, celebration stamps are the ephemera philately. It is something to know that a postage stamp can excite the readers of the unphilatelic press.

Beyond Us—At last it has come. A young reader asks us for a philatelic idea for a plot for a humorous scenario that he wishes us to prepare for one of the film companies. He says that no doubt we shall be glad to oblige with an idea because of the resulting advertising of our pursuit. He says that millions of people would see a picture of the kind and would be made happy by philately to which they would swear allegiance. For several reasons, only one of which we shall reveal at present, we cannot help our correspondent,—in the first place, we have not the idea and the humor at the same time.

O, Talcum—"Is the following confession eligible for 'The Happiest Recollection of My Philatelic Life' symposium? No? O, vurry well. My happiest hour was during one evening, ages ago, when the nice boy across the street, whom I was just dying to meet, came to our house with his parents. After my shyness wore off, I entertained him by showing my stamp collection. He was interested and I turned the pages, O, so slowly, as we sat side by side on the sofa. He had long eye-lashes; and every now and then, he looked right at me. I am still unmarried. P. S. Do not breathe my name, which I sign as an evidence of good faith."

In Andorra—In the Chicago Post recently there was an account by Marion Drake of her trip to Andorra, the "tiny republic" of the Pyrenees. At different times, Andorra has engaged the attention of collectors, once by reason of a pseudo stamp issue and at other times by rumors of stamp issues. The picturesque setting of Andorra is dwelt upon appreciatively and its people are described in favorable terms. They are "kindly, interested in the news of the outside world, courteous, some quiet and some loquacious." Andorra la Vieja is the capital of the miniature republic; and Spain is called the spiritual and France the temporal mother of the interesting little country. In other words, the republic with an area of 175 square miles and a population of 7,500 or so, is under the joint suzerainty of France and Spain. Mr. Drake says: "There is no Andorran postage, although there was once an issue of stamps designed and printed, of which I found a set in Madrid, but on the French side the mail goes to L'Hospitalet, with French stamps, and on the Spanish side, with Spanish postage, down to Urgel."

Verb. Sap.—The remarks on the use of plate-numbers on page 372 of the issue of October 30th, inconsequential as they may have seemed to some collectors who do not have the time to cultivate the amenities of philatelic life, have not passed unheeded. In fact, one of our "truly greats" has taken the trouble to write: "A few of us have been in the habit of using our duplicate copies of single plate-number stamps to pay postage on letters to each other; and we also use them when we send a stamped envelope for reply in writing to other people." Reciprocal courtesies of this and similar kind add to the pleasures of philatelic existence.

On Hand—By this time it is general knowledge that the new edition of the catalogue of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company has appeared. The book this year shows that its preparation entailed no little work, the addition of new stamps alone almost having established a record for number. We remark one point with much satisfaction; it is seen that the new issues are "written up" rather better than many that have long been established in the book. The price changes are many, more than 25,000, the publishers claim, and no doubt, the adjustments are made according to the best judgment of the cataloguers. We are given to understand that no alteration was made without justification based on authorities and conditions of fact. The publishers say: "This edition is complete up to the time of going to press. There will, of course, be many price changes of importance which it will be necessary to make during the coming year; and all such price changes will be shown in our Monthly Circular which is a supplement to the catalogue." The last disqualification now having been removed, the season is on in earnest; and what is now but the buzz of philatelic conversation will soon become a roar; and it cannot become too "roariferous" to suit us.

Needed—Writing from Hamilton, Canada, Mr. H. C. Burns says: "I am enclosing a clipping from the Hamilton Globe bearing on the War Tax issue of Canada. There appears to be quite a demand for a three cent stamp to cover both postage and tax and there is a rumor that such an issue will shortly be made." The clipping from the Globe is a plaint from a correspondent that has a whimsical touch. He says that inasmuch as the war tax may be paid by an ordinary one cent postage stamp, the result is three cent postage. While this discovery is not a brilliant one, yet "A Licker" scores with his subsequent remark: "Would it not be far better for the department to come out frankly with the issue of a three cent postage stamp so that one lick and one stick would suffice for the dual operation now necessary? What a vast amount of valuable time, energy and saliva must be wasted throughout this entire Dominion in procuring sticking and sticking the superfluous infliction imposed upon us!"

STANDING OF ALBINOS.

Postmasters Notified to Honor Defective Envelopes.

Notices have been sent to postmasters throughout the country calling attention to the fact that a number of stamped envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department recently have been found to be without ink or coloring in the embossing. In several instances letters contained in such envelopes have been treated as unpaid and held for postage.

The notices to the postmasters state that care must be taken that such envelopes are not treated as being without postage, as the stamp impressed thereon is valid for postage even though uncolored.

Purchasers of stamped envelopes should be advised that those on which the stamps are uncolored should not be mailed, but should be presented for redemption. Similar action should be taken regarding stamped envelopes which have been made up with the stamp on the inside, as such also have been found in the mail.—Washington Star.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—George Gandenberger, Jr., 291 Railroad Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., would like to hear from any dealers who have had business relations with C. Hall, 1921 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill. A speedy response is desired.

—Bryant Pollard of Proctorsville, Vt., was a caller at the WEEKLY office on Saturday, November 6.

—In the last two issues of the WEEKLY appeared an advertisement of Henry Voltz, advertising booklet panes of U. S. No. 304. The number is in error. It should have been 314 instead. The price of the pane of six given at 22c was correct and Mr. Voltz will be glad to fill any orders for the same.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Paul Dillingham, E. J. Southern, Hilliard Dusing and John T. Thompson.

—Mrs. Minnie H. Chaddock, 1 East Ave., Attica, N. Y., a shut-in, would like to hear from other shut-ins who would be interested in exchanging stamps. Mrs. Chaddock comes well recommended to us and we have no hesitancy in inserting this news note.

—"I was dealing in stamps to some extent back in 1907-09; using the trade columns at that time; and when I commenced again, shortly after the first of the year, naturally the WEEKLY received my first ad, and I only occasionally run an ad in another paper now. Seven Thousand Dollars

Do you who collect United States stamps take pleasure in paying from sixty to ninety per cent. of catalog value for your stamps? And would you continue to pay such per cent. if you knew where you could get fine stamps for much less?

We have $7000. worth of fine U. S. stamps for sale on approval. These stamps include all issues and catalog from 1c to $50. We have marked all of them at net prices, no special or any other kind of discount, and guarantee that, generally speaking, our prices are the lowest in this or any other country. Are you not making a mistake if you fail to write us for a selection? Your A.P.S. number, or any other good reference, sent with your application for a selection, will bring worthwhile results. Let us prove our assertions.

S. & H. STAMP CO., Rome, N. Y.

20th British Colonials

We have just bought a very fine 20th Century collection of British Colonials, almost complete to date, including all the "white backs," etc.

The collector that made this collection was an ultra "condition crank" and every stamp in the collection is in the very finest condition.

We will be pleased to fill want lists from this grand collection at our usual reasonable prices, and would suggest an early application, as the best things go first.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—In No. 1267 we noted that the current 2c had been found perforated 10x12. A letter from the Postal authorities was printed at that time explaining how the compound perforation occurred. H. C. Biggers informs us that he has found the 3c 1909 stamp perforated 12 at the top and 10 at the side, though we have not seen the stamp.

ARGENTINE.—The Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly notes the issue of the 1c, 2c and 3c values of the Laborer type on thin unwatermarked paper.

BECHUANALAND PROTECTORATE.—The current 1d stamp of Great Britain (King George second type) has been overprinted "Bechuanaland Protectorate."

BELGIUM.—We are indebted to C. B. Moore and Charles W. A. Braun for information regarding the new Belgian issue, which has at last made its appearance. This was described in No. 1275, and correctly, except that the pictures on the 35c, 40c, and 50c values show things as they were before the German invasion, and not after. The lower values have the so-called "large head" of the 1912 issue, and curiously enough the King is wearing his baldric over the right shoulder, while the Red Cross stamps show it over the left shoulder. These values have a cheap look resembling very much the first Red Cross issue, but the higher values are finely engraved and printed. From 1c to 25c the stamps show a portrait of King Albert. The 35c, the Cloth Hall at Ypres; the 40c, the College of Dinant; the 50c, the College of Louvain, these values being 22 1/2 x 28 mm., where the lower values are 18 x 22 mm. The franc values are still larger, and show pictures as follows: 1fr, Freeing of the Scheldt in 1862; 2fr, Annexation of the Congo; 5fr, King Albert Presenting a Flag to His Army on the steps of the Town Hall of Furnes; 10fr, Portraits of the three kings of Belgium, the two Leopolds and Albert. Printed on white, unwatermarked paper and perforated 14.

Mr. Braun sends used specimens, which are postmarked, "Ste. Adresse, Poste Belge-Belgische Post" and the date, instead of the special Havre postmark recently used.

Ewen's Weekly quotes L'Echo de la Timbrologie that the current stamps will not be valid for postal use after the 15th Oct., 1915. From the 15th Oct., the office at "Havre Special" open to the selling of Belgian stamps, will be transferred to a department in the premises of Dufayel, Place Frederic Sauvage. The address of this new office is as follows: "Saint-Adresse-Poste-Belge Belgische-Poste." On this date the new series of Belgian stamps, post-cards and letter-cards will be issued, comprising all the ordinary denominations now in use, and in addition a stamp of 15c and one of 10fr. The values of the previous issue, except the Red Cross stamps, will not be circulated after the 15th Oct. Any correspondence sent after the 14th Oct., and stamped with the old issue, will be considered as insufficiently paid, and taxed in consequence.

BULGARIA.—The latest entires of this country have the obverse divided by a vertical line and the sender's address in two lines, according to Mr. Schachne.

CAMEROONS.—Ewen's Weekly states: We learn that none of the recent issue with overprint "C. E. F." and value in English currency have been sold unused, excepting to the Officers of the Expeditionary Force, who were allowed seven sets, or the equivalent of about £5 face value, at the time first issued. Residents on the spot up to the present have not been able to purchase, and have to hand in their letters for posting, which may or not have stamps affixed by the despatch clerk. Indeed an extraordinary state of affairs. Until this recent issue in July last, all mail matter was conveyed without charge whilst the Postal Service has been in the hands of the Military Authorities. The service is now possibly in transition stage, and there may be no sale of stamps over the Post Office counter until the Military have relinquished control. Interesting developments may be expected shortly.

A correspondent writes: "My brother-in-law confirms that the C. E. F. stamps were not sold unused to anybody except the Military, and as he is a civilian the Postmaster refused to supply him. He also confirms that the Officers of the Forces were each entitled to be supplied with seven unused sets. The remainder of stock is being held for postal purposes. Civilians have to hand in their letters at the Post Office and pay the postage, and the stamps are attached by a black clerk. A notice to this effect is exhibited in the Offices. While my relative watched, the counter clerk having started to use a sheet of a certain value did not commence with another until all the stamps of the first sheet were disposed of. The customer therefore had no voice or control as to the denomination placed on his letter. The last eight letters or cards I have are each franked with two 1/2d on 3pf brown stamps.

"A word in respect of letters posted for some months past marked 'No stamp available.' Nothing has been charged on these either at time of dispatch or delivery. Therefore, letters home to England have been free of cost. Rather a long journey for nothing!"

velope which was one of a number placed through the post expecting to obtain some of the stamps duly used. All came through postmarked but without stamps. It looks as though the black clerks, or possibly their employers, have some cleverness quite new. Having found the touch-stone to excite the greatest eagerness to acquire the stamps, considerable revenue can be netted without using stamps or very few. Is the Official Control beyond reproach or question and no consideration of responsibility acknowledged other than the actual delivery of mail matter? Then why if stamps are not at present necessary, to have issued any, or if necessary to have fenced them if only for awhile? The riddle appears to be a gamble and not a fair and open one at that. The Officers who arrived from the West Coast on leave in August asked £30 per set, face value 13s 3 1/2d. Time certainly was required to endeavour to unload holdings at such expectation, but the market was not so enamoured and there has been a fall.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Evidently the English printers are having their troubles also with the dyestuff shortage, as Ewen's Weekly reports various new shades in the current stamps, the latest being the 1/2d in dull apple green.

MEXICO.—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has shown us full sets of the Madero stamps, illustrated in MEKEEL's last February. These were in use as late as Oct. 9, for the Hussman Co. submits a registered cover mailed at Ciudad Juarez, Chihuahua, thus postmarked, with additional postmarks at El Paso, Texas, Oct. 11, and St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 13. They were evidently issued both perforated and imperforate.

Adhesives.

1c green.
2c purple.
3c red brown.
5c blue.
10c orange.

There are different shades of all values, and as a rule, the imperforate specimens are deeper in tone than the perforated.

NEW ZEALAND.—Ewen's Weekly has the following regarding the new stamps: A letter dated August 17, to hand from our correspondent reads: "I had great difficulty in getting anything like well centred stamps, and had to go through a large number of all values to find and send you the best. In regard to the perforations I cannot get to the bottom of this. The 1/2d are all perforated 14x15, done with the old comb-machine, but the remainder vary, most of them being 14x13 1/2. I have seen one sheet of the 3d perf. 14x14 1/2, and have in my possession one block of four which shows one pair 14x13 1/2 and the other 14x14 1/2. How to account for it I do not know. The colours are very rich as you will have seen, but clash somewhat at night particularly the 6d and 1sh. I enclose entires with used 1st day of issue, July 30/15, which may be of interest to you, etc."

With the possibility of confusion re the colours, more distinctive shades are likely to be determined with further printings, and collectors should not miss the opportunity of making certain at once of the set in the first colours. Several of the perf. varieties will likely prove scarce.

Since the list quoted in No. 835 of Ewen's Weekly we have carefully examined all the sheets remaining on hand and can now tabulate the perf. varieties found.

Perf. 14x15. 1/2d bright green
Perf. 14x13 1/2. 1 1/2d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 4d

Perf. 14x14. 2d, 3d, 4d, 9d
Perf. 14x14 1/2. 2d, 3d, 4d, 9d
In certain sheets of the 2d, 3d, 4d and 9d values there were two different perf.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through the columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

PHILATELY IN THE WEST.

By BILL BLOSS.

Of course, on our recent visit to the Pacific Coast, we must keep in touch with stamp matters at all times, and look up all the "stamp bugs" in the places we visit. Hence, as soon as the dust of the desert had been removed from our person, and we had given the "up and down" to the palm trees along the streets, we settled down to explore Philatelic Los Angeles.

First of all, the writer called on B. W. H. Poole, and inspected his large stock, especially strong in rare errors and pieces seldom seen. Through Mr. Poole, I became acquainted with the other leading collectors and dealers in the city. Mr. Poole shares the field with several other dealers. While Los Angeles has a warm climate the year around and offers strong inducements for out-door sports, she is well represented in the realms of Philately.

Among the dealers, Mr. Poole probably has the largest stock. Mr. Goodman, of the Palm Stamp Company, has a very nice stock of the cheaper and medium priced varieties, and his counter-books prove very popular with the local collectors. The Los Angeles Stamp & Coin Co. also carries a nice stock and does considerable business. Mr. L. M. Passmore conducts a nice wholesale and retail business, from his motor-cycle emporium. Probably all readers are familiar with the advertisements of Payn, who specializes in the cheaper grade of approvals, and does a large volume of business.

Business conditions on the Pacific Coast are very favorable. The chief trouble lies in the shortage of desirable stock, a difficulty faced by all dealers, but stronger on the Coast than elsewhere, owing to the distance from the Eastern markets. The enterprising wholesale dealer should be able to do considerable business in this territory, if he will take the trouble to communicate with the dealers, and offer them desirable stock. The ready sales should pay for the delay caused by the distance. The Southern California buyers are even freer with their money than those in many of the other sections. Perhaps this is accounted for by the number of men who have accumulated their earthly pile and moved to that fair country to spend said pile. Los Angeles, Pasadena, and the surrounding country offer great inducements as a play-ground for the rich, and what is more natural than that stamp collecting be included in the play?

The Mexican Revolutionaries were a close second to U. S. in popularity in that section, probably because of the nearness of the battle-ridden republic.

A prominent collector of L. A. recently purchased the very large collection of an Eastern specialist for a handsome sum.

Leaving Los Angeles, I journeyed further into the South to San Diego, and the Exposition. The Exposition grounds and buildings are as near to Paradise as I have ever been. Philately was, to my knowledge, unrepresented at this Fair with the exception of the Exposition postmark, and this is scarcely to be included as a philatelic item. A post office was maintained on the grounds.

Taking an auto from San Diego, the writer rode eight miles, across the International Boundary to Tia Juana, Mexico. The International Boundary consists of a wire fence in poor repair, and is the terminal point on the North of good roads, and law and order. After being shook up for a quarter of a mile, we were held up by a genial Mexican customs officer, who it is safe to say, never took in a cent in revenue in his life, and inspected thoroughly for smuggled arms. Soon we reached the town, an adobe affair, very dry, very hot, and very, very dusty. We passed the Fort, where some twenty privates and two or three generals were ready to defend it for Sr. Villa. The fort is also of 'dobe, built in blocks and veneered with a sort of stucco which was peeling badly in spots. An efficient general had cut a door and two windows in one corner, entering into his office, to save the steps necessary to leave by the main gate. This will, of course, give the enemy an easy access to the interior, and probably save the place from destruction, which could be done without a great deal of ammunition. We were cautioned not to photograph the fort, so of course we all did it. After buying the usual post cards to overwhelm our less fortunate friends at home with the importance of our travels, and a casual inspection of the "Fair" with its gambling devices, cock fights, and "hooch" dancers, (of which we saw none, it being in the morning) the writer separated himself from the crowd and made way to the Oficinas de Correos. The smiling postmaster was about to close the office for luncheon, but was persuaded to keep it open by my urgent waving of a dollar bill and my shouts of "Estampillas" and "Pesos". He smiled in good natured contempt at my attempts at Spanish. (My vocabulary in that language consists only of the words Nina, Senorita, and a few kindred words not usually spoken to postmasters. I said, "Estampillas por un collecion," and he grinned and said, "Si", and produced a beautifully decorated card of one of every kind of stamp on sale at the office. I pointed out the ones I wanted, and he smilingly, as usual, procured them for me, taking great care to give me nice copies and even to pick me out tete-beche pairs of the Coach Seal issue.

The set was made up of a few values of the $ surcharge, some of the monogram (Villa) and the Coach Seal series. I tried to reason with him in English and Spanish that I wanted a "Cinco Peso", but he said it was above the limit of the office. (At least it sounded like that to me.) He carefully put them in an envelope for me, and even went so far as to offer me a lovely hand-rolled Mexican cigarette, but as I preferred to die a natural death, I declined it. I was told by our chauffeur later that the courtesy was because he had probably sold me more stamps than had been used in the office in the previous month. The town consists of two hundred inhabitants (estimated) and a post office is not the busiest place in town. However, the gentlemen showed me far more courtesy than I have found in many of our own country's post offices.

After having steeped myself in a mess of Chile and yonions, with a couple of real tamales, I proceeded back to the old U. S. A., where I disclosed my purchases to a U. S. customs officer who probably also never took in any revenue, and to show him there were no hard feelings, offered to start him collecting if he would write me. (This because he seemed to manifest concern in my sanity at spending $2.16 for perfectly useless Mex stamps.)

The next place visited was San Francisco, the city of fogs and home of the finest exposition ever held. Here the stamp business is even more active than in Southern California. Messrs. Doscher, Seeborn, and Stern each have down-town ground floor stores, and all reported business as fine. Mr. Seeborn, assisted by his brother, conducts the Postage Stamp Company. They carry a very nice line of stamps and accessories, and also conduct auctions at intervals. Mr. Seeborn is versed in several languages.

Mr. Stern, of the Imperial Stamp Co., has but recently entered the business, but he is a live wire, and already has gathered a nice stock of the hard-to-get stamps.

Mr. Doscher has one of the finest stocks on the Coast. We only had a few minutes to spend with him, but in that time, he showed us part of the Crocker collection of German States, and last, but not least, his little 'private stock', containing some magnificent items in early issues and curious and odd pieces, all in superb condition. This 'private stock' is the result of several years' work, and he absolutely refuses to sell anything in it, much to our sorrow. However, Mr. Doscher is not the only dealer who indulges in these fine things, and who refuses to sell them, so we heartily excuse him.

Unfortunately, time was too limited to allow us to call on the other dealers in San Francisco. We stopped at Salt Lake and Colorado Springs, but philately is not heavily represented in either of these points.

Philately at the Fair will be taken up at an early date.

AT OUR OFFICE

We have acquired a "collection de luxe" of 19th Century foreign and shall be ready to sell from it over our counters after Nov. 24th at NET PRICES. This will interest advanced collectors and searchers after we have about 100 books (120 spaces each). These were made up in the summer, some 1914, some 1915. BRITISH HONDURAS.—Hermann Focke and the New England Stamp Co. have shown us the 2c value with moire overprint. This has just been issued, though announced some time since.

CUBA.—The color of the 10c map stamp has also been changed, a used copy having been shown us by Hermann Focke. The stamp is now black brown instead of yellow brown.

Adhesive.

10c black brown.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Another value has been added to the locally printed series, the 5c appearing in the color of the 10c of the previous set, with the usual "1915" in red, specimens having been shown us by Hermann Focke.

Adhesive.

5c red violet, black and red.

EGYPT.—Evidently supplies of low value stamps are running low in Cairo, as the New England Stamp Co. has shown us a new provisional, which was issued Oct. 15. This was made by surcharging the 3m orange pictorial stamp with "2 Milliemmes" and Arabic characters in black, diagonally in two lines reading up.

Provisional Adhesive.

"2 Milliemmes" on 3m orange; black surcharge.

FRANCE.—L'Echo de la Timbrologie states that it is seriously being considered to issue a special stamp in order to prevent the people at the mobilised villages at the base to constantly send thousands of circulars to their clients, post free, in closed wrappers. By this means anyone has been able to advise friends of even trivial incidents. Regulations must be made to repay the military correspondence.

HAYTI.—A. W. Dunning writes entertainingly regarding recent happenings in the Republic:

"Under date of Nov. 1, my correspondent writes 'Running out of 1c Interior stamps, the postal authorities have surcharged Scott's No. 101 with "1" and frame in blue ink, also No. 107 with same overprint in red ink and a very limited number of No. 107 in blue ink.' I cannot at this time give you the numbers of either surcharge issued, but hope to do so later. In regard to the permanent (?) 'O. ZAMOR' issue, Scott's Nos. 219 to 234, I am informed that these have never been officially issued, but that a number were stolen from the Custom House during one of the recent uprisings. These stolen stamps probably constitute the supply now on the market (as listed and priced by Scott) but I

Danish West Indies and Porto Rico Specialized Collection

PROPERTY OF MR. GEO. L. TOPPAN

Both of these collections are highly specialized and the Danish West Indies consists of 675 stamps, unused with a very few exceptions, in blocks, pairs and single copies including all of the rarities, among which are blocks of four of Scott's No. 1a (probably unique in a block) 4a-4b-12 (two blocks and a single copy) and 26 (this last including the exceedingly scarce No. 26a) and a pair of No. 6d.

PORTO RICO

Practically all unused picked copies, with a few pairs and blocks, containing many errors of surcharge and imperforate pairs. It is useless for me to go into detail about these collections as most collectors know well that when Mr. Toppan makes a specialized collection it is the last word in Philately. Write me for further particulars and prices if you are interested.

HONDURAS.—Hermann Focke has shown us the 6c of the new issue, overprinted "Official" in red.

MALTA.—The new 4d stamp has appeared, used copies being shown us by Hermann Focke. The design is the same design as the farthing stamp of 1900, but with the addition of "Postage" at the left and "Revenue" at the right, and the figures of value in shields in the lower corners. The color of the stamp brings out the beauty of the engraving, and the effect is very pretty.

MEXICO.—Philatelic history is also making fast just over the Southern border, the latest addition to the list being a new engraved 40c stamp, engraved and printed at the "Oficina del Gobierno, Mexico." This is one of the hand-somest stamps ever issued in that country, the main design being a large map of Mexico and adjacent waters, with "40" in each corner, "Correos—Mexico" at the top and "Centavos" printed twice at the bottom. The stamp is of large size, 31 1/2 x 22 mm., and is printed on white unwatermarked paper, and perforated 12. The Albemarle Stamp Collector sends for notice an unused copy, and Hermann Focke submits a used pair. The former states that stamps of 1, 5 and 10 pesos will be issued in the same design, but bi-colored. From the Albemarle Stamp Collector comes also a complete set of the new lithographed stamps, imperforate and overprinted "Official" in large Roman capitals. These are used by the Secretary of Communications and are not sold to the public. Sheets of the regular lithographed stamps have been found imperforate, with the possible exception of the 1c, about which we are not certain. This lithographed series is to be soon followed by an engraved series, for which the plates are now being prepared at the Government Printing Office, and not by the American Bank Note Co. as previously stated. All other issues are reported to have been demonetized.

W. J. Stanton corrects the Chronicle regarding the issue of special stamps for the state of Colima, and from the Albemarle Stamp Collector we draw the following:

General Obregon in taking his army from Manzanillo to Guadalajara, issued stamps at the various post offices encountered, with a distinctive overprint in violet thus: "E. C.—TRANSITORIO".

The initials are for "Ejercito Constitucionalista" the inscription meaning "Constitutional Army in Transit."

The first of these stamps that came to this country were from Colima and therefore wrongly ascribed to that place. The 1c to 20c of 1910 issue exist. Several types of overprint having the same significance were in use by armies in different parts of Mexico. The "Ejercito" issues could be quite properly classed under a special heading as distinct from the State issues of Sonora, and the provisionals authorized by the Constitutional Government.

The J. M. Bartels Co. and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. have also shown us the new 40c engraved stamp.

NEW ZEALAND.—I. W. Risdon and D. F. Kelleher have shown us a novelty from New Zealand, evidently an adaptation of the Canadian idea of raising revenue through the use of postage stamps. This latest development is made by overprinting the new King George 1/2 stamp "War Stamp" across the lower part of the portrait and two large stars in the upper corners of the colored space. This is done in black. We are not yet definitely informed as to the restrictions on its use.

NORTHWEST PACIFIC ISLANDS.—Hermann Focke has shown us a couple of interesting covers from Rabaul. Both are registered, but while one, dated "Sept. 16," has the German Registration Label, without surcharge, the other, and the earlier one, dated "June. 8," has the same label surcharged "G. R. I.—3d" in two lines. The earlier surcharged label is numbered "999" while the other is numbered "8". In a small consignment of stamps from Rabaul under the later date, the 1d and 4d were missing, the latter being franked with 3d and 6d kangaroos, overprinted "N. W. Pacific Islands." Philatelic history is making fast in Oceania, interest being heightened by the possibility hoped for by every German sympathizer that the British occupation is only temporary.

PANAMA.—Bright & Son have shown us Scott's No. 201, printed in claret instead of orange. A few of these have also turned up in the Boston market and are being retailed at fancy prices. Information as to whether this is an error or change of color appears to be lacking. Bright and Son report having found "some" copies in a mixed lot of Panama stamps recently received from that country.

Adhesive.

1/2c claret.

SALVADOR.—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has submitted complete sheets of the Salvador 1914 officials, Scott's Nos. 801 to 808, showing many minor varieties of type and broken letters and figures. One stamp on each sheet of the 17c, 50c and 100c having a figure "1" in place of the "I" in the value in words. This occurs on the first stamp of the second row, the stamps being all printed in sheets of 25 stamps, in five rows of five. Variations in the shape and size of the figures of value occur on nearly all the sheets, while on the 2c the "O" in "DOS" on the fourth stamp of the first row has a wrong font, or smaller letter. By the way, we note that Scott gives the color of the 17c as violet, whereas the printer would probably call it bronze blue.

Hermann Focke has shown us used copies of the 5c and 12c stamps, dated, "1915" as noted in No. 1291, with additional overprint "Official" in condensed Gothic caps, printed diagonally reading up.

PREPAREDNESS

Is the watchword of the hour. Not only in the affairs of the nation, but also in business or wherever effort, care, thought and caution are required. This word "Preparedness" fits with particular emphasis in the preparation of a Stamp Auction Sale and especially in the comprehensive and explicit manner in which a well prepared Auction Sale is written up. Our Stamp Auction Sales embrace the full meaning of the word "Preparedness" and that explains why the Mail Bidders favor us as they do. We do not ignore those patrons who are present at each sale, and also take the best of care of them, but we make it a point to give the Mail Bidders, and service, and we treat all with equal fairness. That the Mail Bidders appreciate our efforts in their behalf, is shown by the increasing number of Bids received at each sale. The catalogs of all our Stamp Auction Sales are mailed "FREE" to all Auction Buyers. Is your name on our mailing list? and have we your correct address? We have some splendid sales in preparation.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit to services rendered.

—Through an inadvertence on our part we neglected to give Jesse T. Lillibridge, Cliftondale, Mass., credit for having shown us the 3c U. S. in the peculiar reddish tinge recently noted in our columns. Mr. Lillibridge feels that the credit of making this discovery belongs to him and in justice to him we wish to state that the new shade was first called to our attention through his kind offices.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. M. Slicer, Lyman F. Barry, H. W. Boers, B. W. Laird, Smith McGregor.

—We have received W. T. Wilson's latest list, showing a choice line of Belgian stamps. It is very comprehensive and well worth sending for if interested in the stamps of this country.

—Dr. J. T. Mann sends us an advertising postmark consisting of the regular flag cancellation and the following in five lines:—"7th Annual Convention—Southern—Commercial Congress—Charlestown, S. C.—Dec. 13-17, 1915."

—"For the sake of truth, if I made the mistake, please correct that '68' to '48' and that would be exact. If, however, Mr. Jewett made the slip—just make him take it back. Why if I was 68 years in the biz, I would probably be nearing the century mark, eh?"—Mr. SAULNIER, (Fordham Stamp Exch.).

Mr. Jewett does not take it back! The mistake is on the ad writer. However, we are willing that Mr. Saulnier should correct the impression that he is close to the century mark.

—We learn from the Postage Stamp that M. Z. Booleman, the Amsterdam, Holland, dealer is deceased. Mr. Booleman will be remembered well by many subscribers of the WEEKLY, having been a patron of our advertising columns for many years. He was in his 50th year.

—H. A. Ramsden, manager of the Jun Kobayagawa Co. for many years, died last January, but we do not recall that we have noted the fact in the WEEKLY. Mr. Ramsden was a strong factor in the business of the company and was the editor of the quarterly magazine published by the firm above mentioned. This magazine has now been discontinued because of the inability of the firm to secure anyone to fill Mr. Ramsden's place.

—Clifford W. Kissinger, Reading, Pa., president of the S. P. A., spent Nov. 8-9 and part of the 10th with C. V. Webb, secretary S. P. A., Perry, Ohio, at the home of the latter.

—It will be of interest to dealers to learn that at the Reading S. P. A. convention 10c from the regular 25c initiation fee from each applicant was voted to the Recruiting Chairman, Albert E. Gorham, to thoroughly investigate the references and the reliability of each applicant. This will make the S. P. A. number even more valuable as a reference. The keynote of the present year is quantity of members and quality of members; but not one without the other. The S. P. A. has 1105 members with 25 applications pending.

FOR PHILATELIC RELIEF FUND.

I will ask you to please bring the enclosed letter to the attention of the Chicago Philatelic Society and to Mr. Chas. E. Severn, and to any others who might be interested in the matter proposed.

My idea which I proposed to Mr. Wolsieffer to incorporate with one of his sales, and which I now turn over to the Chicago Philatelic Society for approval and prompt action, since Mr. Wolsieffer cannot act, is this:

1st—Some society or firm to hold a "Red Cross" auction sale about Christmas or New Years with the motto "Peace on earth, good will toward men".
 2nd—Stamps (etc.) to be donated for this auction by individuals, firms and societies from anywhere.

3rd—Such donator may specify particular Red Cross Society to be benefited, as "English", "German", "French", etc., etc.

4th—Net proceeds from such sale to be distributed to the various Red Cross societies in Europe, according to amount realized in each section.

5th—To attempt to secure cooperation of other philatelic societies in America, and the cooperation of the Philatelic Press in notices and in donation of advertising space or reduced rates therefor.

6th—While not essential, it might be politic to have a representative of some Chicago newspaper or press association associated on Auction Committee, and have the auction open to the public at large.

As the philatelic press reaches at best a limited number, the Red Cross Auction Committee should endeavor to enlist the secular and religious press also, as many old and forgotten stamp collections may be donated.

7th—Some member of philatelic societies in other cities, as Detroit, Cleveland, etc., etc., be appointed on Red Cross auction committee. In that way a friendly rivalry may be instituted as to which city or society will donate largest amount of stamps, etc., etc.

No doubt the C. P. S. can suggest other plans to advance this idea, and a city so cosmopolitan as Chicago should support each section of the Red Cross, both in donations and in bids.

The friendliness among stamp collectors in general, and the "fellow feeling" that makes one wondrous kind" seems to me to need a medium for its expression, and this Red Cross auction at a time when we are enjoying Christmas festivities while fellow philatelists are suffering in the hospitals or freezing in the trenches, would give an outlet for the humanitarian spirit in all stamp collectors, and who—as a class—have not yet been appealed to!

I remain,
 Very truly yours,
 W. G. WINDHURST.

EDITORIAL.

War Relief—A philatelist of many years' standing, Mr. W. G. Windhurst, Marion, Ohio, animated by the most kindly of instincts, it is not necessary to say, has proposed a plan for philatelic co-operation with the object of contributing to the relief measures instituted by the Red Cross in the countries at war. While Mr. Windhurst in his formulations which we hope to publish elsewhere in this number, speaks with especial attention to the philatelist-soldier, he does not mean that the collectors in the ranks are to be the sole beneficiaries. It is apparent that it would be inexpedient to attempt to resort to limitations of the kind. Basically, the proposal is practical and with a few alterations that may present themselves when the plan is in operation, results will be forthcoming. Needless to say, the WEEKLY will do all in its power to further the work, which properly could be undertaken by the Chicago Philatelic Society in conjunction with other local societies. The time is almost too short, we should say, to have the movement at full tide at the time specified by our correspondent, but this detail need not affect the results of the work.

Our Idea—The WEEKLY tries to do a part in humanitarian work of the kind indicated in the foregoing paragraph, but it has not undertaken to stand sponsor for any philatelic movement. However, its publishers have shared in the prosecution of general relief work and the editor, speaking from experience in working for the benefit of a war fund, may say that time is the essence of successful accomplishment. It must be remembered that an immediate start should be made on the philatelic fund for collectors, as part of the public, constantly are being invited to contribute to war funds in increasing number. If, by any chance, the philatelic fund does not realize the most sanguine expectations of its originator, we shall attribute the disappointment to the liberality with which collectors as well as public have given to general funds.

December 14th and 15th Auction

British Colonies including many used high values, United States entire envelopes and Old Germans. Catalogue free.

Specialist's collection of U. S. 1851, 3c stamps, including pairs, covers, cancellations and varieties, is being broken up. Ready to send on approval.

EUGENE KLEIN, 142 So. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

He Remembers—"Do you wish to wring from my unwilling lips, the story of the Happiest Recollection of My Philatelic Life? You will see? My father got a letter from President U. S. Grant (whom our family knew) telling him of his appointment to a federal office. On the envelope was a three cent Executive Department stamp and I can still see in my mind's eye, the 'Executive Mansion' imprint on the upper left-hand corner of the envelope. As I literally tore the stamp off the envelope, thinning it more or less, I was the happiest boy in Illinois."

* * *

So It Goes—"Why do you not run a Saddest Moment symposium? You have troubles enough of your own? My Saddest Moment was when as a boy, I pasted most of my stamps in a new International Album given me by my parents, only to have the smart Aleck neighbor's boy say before all our folks that most of the specimens were in 'wrong.' I can still hear the hateful guffaws and raucous taunts of the kid as he gloated over my embarrassment."

* * *

In Sooth—This week, the merry wights are having an inning. One mad wag really has the effrontery to write: "Our little girl swallowed (rully and truly) an unused Indian that fell off an approval sheet. This event in itself is enough to command a bit of your space. However, I now wish to ask if the tiny tot has become part Indian?" If our opinion is asked about the father who sent in the "news", we should say that he has been feasting off one shilling prunes of Turks Islands.

* * *

Out With It—We did not have to pay telegraph tolls on the following bit of momentous news which is presented merely to show that the movie censors are still on the job. In a list of censor "cut-outs" in newly released pictures, we find: "The Woman Pays (Metro-Columbia). Two views of stamped envelope."

New Mexicans—We have received a clipping from a Mexican newspaper that shows enlarged cuts of the forty centavos and the one peso* of the permanent set of the republic of Mexico. The one peso shows a reproduction of the "Edificio de Faros, Vera Cruz"; and a map of Mexico is shown on the other stamp. A copy of the forty centavos which is before us is a creditable production and bears the imprint in common with the other values, "Oficina del Gobierno Mexico." The stamp in question has a substantial appearance, is line-engraved and evidently is an earnest of the character of the other values of the set.

Issued in 1868—From Mr. A. N. Reggio, Boston, we have received the following letter: "Among some old papers and books I found recently, an old stamp catalogue, being the second edition of the catalogue of Stafford Smith & Company, North Street, London, date of issue, 1868. There are 1947 stamps listed as having been issued up to date and it is the editor's opinion that the number is correct. To this catalogue is appended the first issue (Vol. I, No. 1) of the Philatelist, published December 1st, 1866, three pence monthly. The advertisements are very interesting, being of the wholesale order for the most part." Mr. Reggio has copied a list of two or three dozen stamps with prices, unused and used, from this old catalogue that are examples of the modest valuations placed in 1866, on the desirable stamps of today. For instance, the twelve pence Canada is offered for twelve shillings, six pence, unused; and the three pfennig Saxony for three and six, new, and a bare shilling used. The Sydney Views are valued at from two and six to four and six pence. The record prices are appended to the three, four and five pesos, Buenos Ayres, ship type, which are priced at thirty-five, sixty-three and sixty-three shillings, unused, respectively, and considerably cheaper used. That standard rarity, the three lire Tuscany, provisional government, now listed at three hundred dollars, was quoted at forty-two shillings, unused. In the U. S. section, the ten cent of '47 is given at three and six unused and at less than half this price used. The twenty-four cent, thirty and ninety cent, 1851 (undoubtedly the perforated stamps), are tagged at two, two and six and five shillings, six pence, respectively, unused; and at about half the prices canceled, the twenty-four cent used being but three pence or six cents. The ninety cent, 1861, is given the same valuation.

Somehow We Cannot Place Them—From Bangor, Maine, Mr. W. B. Gould writes: "I am sending you three Moose Stamps (so-called), 1c green, 3c brown, and 5c blue. I recently discovered these despatch stamps in a friend's old collection. It seems that they were issued many years ago and I should like to get something of a history of them. Perhaps, some of your readers can give data on these stamps from Chesuncook Lake. It is not impossible that they are a sort of fore-runner of 'Moose Party' and in some way connected with ex-President Roosevelt when he was young and came to Maine Forests for moose and bear." The central design of the stamps is a moose head, under the legend, "Tourists' Despatch"; above is "Chesuncook Lake", and below figure of value which also is expressed in words. We think we remember having seen the stamps before, but when and where?

BOSTON MOURNS ITS LOSS.

Boston lost two of her old time collectors, last month, within a few days of each other. The first, Nathaniel C.
Nash, was not very well known to collectors of the present time as he sold his collection in 1896. At that time it was one of the best in the country containing as it did among other things, the entire set of Hawaiian Missionaries, the im-perforated Ceylons, unused, in mint state, United States practically complete, including nearly all of the Postmasters Provisionals, one of the only two 5c grilled all over known at that time, several sets of the high value State Departments, etc.

It was the first of the big collections bought by the New England Stamp Co.
and while the price was not made public, it was understood to be not less than $30,000.

The other, Francis C. Foster, although a much older man, was better known as he retained his interest and was an honorary member of the Boston Philatelic Society at the time of his death.

He had, originally, a very fine general collection, being particularly interested in the United States (including the Confederates), British North America and Spain, all of which he had practically complete in brilliant mint condition.

He gradually disposed of all except his

U. S., which he continued and got together one of the finest lots of these in existence, specializing in all the shades and minor varieties, while the condition was superb.

They were both directors of the New England Stamp Co., during the early days of its incorporation but sold their interest to Messrs. Batchelder and Carpenter in 1895.

A TWELVE-YEAR RENEWAL.

Don C. Alexander of Franklin, Vt., does not intend to permit any subscriber to the WEEKLY to surpass him in loyalty to this publication. Noting the fact that one of our subscribers had renewed for ten years Mr. Alexander proceeds to renew for twelve years and here is a portion of the letter that brings us the welcome message:

"I saw in the WEEKLY where one of your subscribers had renewed his subscription for ten years so I thought I would go him one better. I enclose remittance of $6. I do not know exactly when my subscription expires, but please renew it for twelve years from the time when it does expire. I do not think that I could collect stamps without the WEEKLY."

We have a right to give a bit of publicity to this splendid tribute of Mr.
Alexander's.

G. W. MATTHEWS,

RE CANADA SURCHARGED "R."

By GLADSTONE PERRY.

I notice in your issue of the 6th inst., a note on the Canadian stamps surcharged "R" in black by a rubber stamp or wood block, together with the explanation that this surcharging was done by the stamp user to make postage stamps available for revenue purposes.

I have before me a copy of Bill 76, as passed by The House of Commons, 27th March, 1915, known as the Special War Revenue Act, 1915. In this Act, Section 12, Part 3, refers to stamp tax on cheques and certain other instruments; Section 13, on Money Orders, Letters and Post Cards; Section 14, Stamp Duties on Articles in Bottles and Packages. In each of these sections, the taxes mentioned may be paid by "an adhesive stamp."

Section 19, sub-section 3, says in full: "Postage stamps of the requisite value may, in lieu of stamps prepared under sub-section 1 of this section, be used in fulfillment and discharge of any requirement under this part that adhesive stamps be affixed."

It is not necessary to surcharge postage stamps used as revenue stamps, in fact, half the banks and druggists in small towns use postage stamps in the ordinary way, and if some users have seen fit to surcharge or cancel the postage stamps with the letter "R," I do not think that it constitutes a variety on either postage or revenue stamps.

Every user of an adhesive stamp on a bottle or package containing a proprietary article must cancel the stamp before the article is sold over his counter, failure to do this subjects him to a heavy fine. Would not this "R" stamp be properly regarded as a cancellation?

Furthermore the regular revenue stamps are on sale in all the large centres and practically every place there is a branch Customs Office and it is not necessary to send to Ottawa for the proper stamps.

$200,000 STAMP COLLECTION SOLD.

(Just as we go to press the Nassau Stamp Co. wires us to change their advertisement announcing the purchase of the Earl of Crawford's United States collection. This is a marvelous stroke of enterprise upon the part of the Nassau Stamp Co., and we congratulate the firm upon negotiating this great transaction. We presume in due season our columns will reflect more fully the extent of the purchase. The clipping below reaches us from Herman W. Boers and others.—Ed.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The famous collection of American postage stamps made by Alexander Edward Lindsay, the late earl of Crawford, has been purchased by a New York dealer and is now in this country. The collection is said to have cost the late earl $200,000. It was sold by his son, who succeeded to the title.

In addition to the stamps, the collection contains a complete history of American postal issues, in which the stamps are traced from the artist's original drawings to the finished issues.

The earl arranged his collection and wrote the history of it while traveling about the world on board his cruising yacht, the Valhalla. In addition to the American stamps, he owned also a collection of British stamps and another of miscellaneous issues, both of which have been sold.

What is a "Profitable Investment"?

One man's answer is: "When one order from a reader pays for a year's advertising campaign in a magazine." This actually happened. A stamp dealer told us he received a $42.00 order from one St. Nicholas reader, a few months after he started advertising.

And it will happen again because St. Nicholas reaches 75,000 first-class American homes each month. Parents in these homes encourage good hobbies and they appreciate quality enough to pay 25c a copy for a young folk's magazine.

Don't you think a few dollars spent in getting new customers in this class would be a "profitable investment"?

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. RATE.—20c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (82 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $7.50, where cash is paid in advance. Have you tried our approvals? ROBINSON STAMP CO., 4623 Vincennes Ave., Chicago. [99*]&H

A set of U. S. (cat. in 1916 Scott's at $6.00). Roessler's price 60c. Another U. S. cat. $15 for 75c. But you must be a subscriber to A. C. R. S. N. [tf]

JUST A WORD

Spare us a minute and perhaps it will mean something to both of us. If you are looking for something for nothing we can do nothing for you, but if you are willing to pay fair prices we want to talk to you. We cannot see you personally so this adv. and our lists must be the medium. Dealers' prices average about the same but dealers' stocks and facilities for looking after your requirements DO NOT average the same or near it. This is no small matter. With over 15 years of business behind us, during which time we have always been on the lookout to improve our stock we believe there are few firms anywhere who will do better by you either in prices or variety. Give us a chance to show you.

There is no use in our offering goods here, as it's a small chance we'll hit on anything you want in this limited space, but get our 12 page Nov. Bargain List, and get on our mailing for other monthly lists as issued. They're free.

Approvals are our specialty and we have hundreds of books systematically arranged in series, something for most any collector, general or specialist. Books full of the hard-to-get stamps that are only obtainable in quantity by importing from every corner of the world. Stamps the average dealer never had in stock. Send for list of approval books and better still ask us for a selection, telling us what you want and giving us a chance to "show you."

Mr. U. S. Specialist, have you neglected the Booklet Issues? If so, why not let me fill in that gap with superb specimens, reasonably priced.

MR. MUDGE IN DENVER.

B. W. Laird sends us a clipping from the Denver Times which is of more than ordinary interest to collectors in that it states that Henry N. Mudge for a long time resident in Chicago, where he was connected with the Rock Island and Pacific, will hereafter be located in Denver.

At a meeting of the directors of the Denver and Rio Grande held at New York, recently, the general offices of the company were removed from St. Louis to Denver and Mr. Mudge has been placed in charge as head of the system. He expects to assume his duties at Denver at once. The clipping sent us by Mr. Laird announces that "Mr. Mudge has a hobby in the collecting of stamps and has a large and valuable collection." His many friends will congratulate him heartily upon his succession to the post of operating chief of this big railway system, but Chicago will certainly miss him.

A NO. NIGERIAN ODDITY.

Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. kindly send us an unused copy of the Georgian Ten Shillings, green and red on green, which presents some most curious features. Our friends call it a part "double-print"; and so it is, but the double printing is of the uncoloured parts of the impression.

Take the word "POSTAGE" on the left—above the top outline of the letters appear the upper parts of the same letters, so that in the "o" we get an uncoloured thick curve, then a thin line of colour, and then an entire letter. Some of the thicker lines of the design are split up into two thin ones; parts of the ornamentation, particularly on the left, are in duplicate; and the King's profile has an extra, somewhat faint, additional outline. The peculiarity is less noticeable on the right-hand side of the stamp.

We know something of the process of printing, and can understand the second impression, in a double print, obliterating some of the "white" parts of the first; but here we get the "white" parts doubled to the apparent elimination of some of the coloured portions of the first print.—S. C. Fortnightly.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT STAMPS.

By FRANK E. GOODWIN.

Department of State Stamps.

Probably the most popular of all the department stamps with collectors is the Department of State—unless it be that the stamps of the Department of Justice share the honor. This is due to the attractive coloring and handsome appearance. There is something about the shade which appeals to the collector, and a few pages of the stamps of State, if neatly arranged, make a showing that the collector is proud of.

The series consists of eleven values in cents and four values in dollars. The lower, or cents, denominations contain the same portraits and general designs as corresponding values in other Departments. The inscription, "Dept. of State," curves over the medallions containing the portraits. Large irregular initials "U. S." and labels of value are beneath the portraits.

Delivery of stamps was begun sometime between May 24, 1873, and July 1, of the same year. During this time, there were furnished by the contractors to the Department of State, 60,495 stamps.

The plates were all made by the Continental Bank Note Company, and all bear the imprint of that concern.

Four high values were made for transmitting state documents to foreign countries, they being $2, $5, $10 and $20 in denomination. These stamps were about double the size of the other stamps—in other words the dollar values are as wide as the others are high, and about twice as high as the others are wide. All contain the portrait of William Seward.

The following plate numbers were made:

1c	No. 55	24c	No. 117
2c	No. 59	30c	No. 116
3c	No. 70	90c	No. 67
6c	No. 83	$2 frame	No. 121
7c	No. 112	$5 "	No. 120
10c	No. 98	$10 "	No. 122
12c	No. 78	$20 "	No. 124
15c	No. 118

All dollar values were printed from vignette bearing plate number 123.

There were furnished between May 24, 1873, and December 31, 1873, the following number of stamps of the higher values: $2, 700; $5, 700; $10, 700; $20, 700. Between December 31, 1873 and up to 1882, 3,508 of the $2 value were supplied and 363 of the $5, $10 and $20 values.

The stamps of the State Department are given to shades, those from 1 cent to 15 cents coming in dark yellow green, dark blue green, dark gray green and bright blue green. The 24 cents, 30 cents and 90 cents are listed in dark yellow green and dark blue green.

The $2, $5, $10 and $20 come in green and black, and bluish green and black.

Few varieties are found, all being varieties of paper. They are "ribbed" paper, 2 cents; double paper, 3 cents and 10 cents. In soft paper the 15 cents and 30 cents are said to exist.

The stamps were overprinted "Specimen" with the following varieties: "Specimen" and the word "Specimen" with a small i instead of capital. Both varieties are very rare.

Post Office Department Stamps.

The portraits used in the designs of the other departments were not adopted for the stamps of the Post Office Department. From the nature of the use of the stamps, a different design was used, and while the effect is not displeasing to the collector, yet the stamps might be set aside by themselves, or made the rear guard of the department series.

A special design was used, consisting of large colored numerals of value, in an oval, with the words "Official" above and "Stamp" below. The inscription "Post Office Dept." curves above the oval containing the denomination, while the value is spelled out and occupies ribbons or panels underneath. Small colorless figures separate the amount of the value and the word "Cents." Initials "U" and "S" in shaded letters are placed in circles at the lower part of the stamps.

The series contains ten values from 1 cent to 90 cents. The 7 cent denomination was not needed. The stamps were first issued, along with others for similar departmental use, between May 24, 1873, and July 1 of the same year. During that time, there were furnished by the makers, 5,510,610 stamps of various denominations.

Danish West Indies and Porto Rico Specialized Collection

PROPERTY OF MR. GEO. L. TOPPAN

Both of these collections are highly specialized and the Danish West Indies consists of 675 stamps, unused with a very few exceptions, in blocks, pairs and single copies including all of the rarities, among which are blocks of four of Scott's No. 1a (probably unique in a block) 4a-4b-12 (two blocks and a single copy) and 26 (this last including the exceedingly scarce No. 26a) and a pair of No. 6d.

PORTO RICO

Practically all unused picked copies, with a few pairs and blocks, containing many errors of surcharge and imperforate pairs. It is useless for me to go into detail about these collections as most collectors know well that when Mr. Toppan makes a specialized collection it is the last word in Philately. Write me for further particulars and prices if you are interested.

H. F. COLMAN,

Second National Bank Bldg.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

All stamps of this series were printed in two shades—black and gray black.

The series are catalogued and listed on white and on gray surfaced paper, and they are often found described in this manner. It is acknowledged that the so-called gray surfaced paper was caused by imperfect wiping of the plates in printing, and is not an inherent paper variety.

The plates for this series (as was the case with all department stamps) were engraved by the Continental Bank Note Company, and all of the plates bear the imprint and plate numbers of this firm. A single exception to this rule occurs in the Post Office Department stamps, however. One plate, No. 428, for printing 1 cent stamps, was made by the American Bank Note Company, some time after the consolidation with the Continental Bank Note Company.

The plate number of the various denominations are as follows:

1c	No. 43	10c	No. 62
2c	Nos. 37, 38,	12c	No. 71
	285	15c	No. 66
3c	Nos. 30, 36,	24c	No. 74
	40, 41, 140, 141	30c	No. 68
6c	Nos. 39, 47,	90c	No. 88
	249

The printing of the stamp was discontinued in 1879, the following amounts having been furnished from December 31, 1873 to the close of the contract:

1c	1,114,250	12c	298,780
2c	894,600	15c	109,285
3c	65,297,700	24c	87,625
6c	3,306,800	30c	132,255
10c	182,450	90c	65,200

These figures do not represent the actual output, however, as 5,510,610 stamps of all denominations were furnished between May 24 and July 1, 1873, and a considerable number were destroyed later.

The varieties of the Post Office Departments are all in the paper, except one. Those printed on soft paper come in the following denominations: 1 cent, 2 cents, 3 cents, 6 cents, 12 cents, 15 cents. Double paper—3 cents, 24 cents, 90 cents. So-called ribbed paper, 3 cents. A diagonal half of 6 cents, used as 3 cents, is chronicled.

THE NEW PENN. STATE REVENUES.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20.—Precautions as rigid as the National Government employs in the printing of currency have been adopted by Auditor General Powell in the preparation of stamps for use under the stock transfer tax law, which becomes effective January 1. In one respect the Federal caution is being exceeded, for even when they have been printed and delivered to the Auditor General, the stamps will not be valid until they have been further printed upon with a fugitive ink.

Under the contract a special safety paper is being made, behind locked doors at a mill in Erie. Paper of this kind is to be made only for the department, and every sheet made must be accounted for. Chief Clerk Bell, of the department of public printing and binding, has been at the mill to superintend the safeguarding and counting of the sheets and their shipment to the Security Bank Note Company, of Philadelphia, which is to print the stamps. Each sheet is to be entirely covered with a safety design reading, "The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Auditor General." On their arrival at Philadelphia the sheets will be counted again.

The ink to be used in validating the stamps is of a kind which makes fraudulent transfer of the validating print to an unvalidated sheet impossible. On the application of moisture sufficient to the purpose of transfer, the fugitive ink will dissolve and run over the validated sheet spoiling it and exposing the attempt at fraud.—Philadelphia Record.

O. HAPPY DAY.

An announcement has been received of the marriage on November 18th, 1915, of Mr. William Hamilton Barnum and Miss Grace Rebecca Baker, of Cleveland. Until recently, Mr. Barnum was secretary of the American Philatelic Society and he is now a member of its board of directors. During Mr. Barnum's many years of activity in philately, he has made a host of friends who will rejoice at his happiness and they bespeak for him and Mrs. Barnum a life brimming with bliss.

The marriage of Mr. Oney Kem Carstarphen and Miss Blanche Kennedy Towson of Washington took place on November 18th, 1915. Mr. Carstarphen when a resident of Denver some years ago took a lively interest in stamps and society affairs; and he has kept in touch with some of his old friends even though his interest in philately has just been simmering for some time past. Mr. and Mrs. Carstarphen will be at home at the Hotel Clendenning, New York City.

A NEW SWISS PROVISIONAL.

As we learn from the Swiss newspapers, a new provisional is to be issued shortly, due to the raising of the parcel post rate from 70 centimes to 80 centimes. Switzerland, which had never given us a surcharged provisional prior to the war, has already given us three, and the new one will make the fourth. A prominent collector writing from Switzerland in our correspondence columns makes the interesting statement that the earlier alterations in the Swiss postal tariff had been discussed, although not adopted, some weeks before the declaration of war.—Postage Stamp.

PARIS USES STAMPS FOR MONEY.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Notices have been posted in many of the Parisian cafes that patrons who do not have the right change to pay for refreshments will have to accept postage stamps or checks for any sum less than ten sous. This is another indication of the scarcity of coppers, which numerous collections for charitable purposes have withdrawn temporarily from circulation, and the fact that since small money became scarce there has been a tendency on the part of the people to cling to what they have.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. Groeneveld, O. H. Phinney, F. C. DePuy (3), Louis Frey, Malcolm H. Ganser, I. T. Mann, D. D. Herman W. Boers (3), Hollis Thacher and H. C. Jarrett.

—"One of the first things that I look for in the WEEKLY is the wholesale advertising, and I am not the only one who does this. If dealers only realized this they would do more business if they paid attention to the dealer who wants to buy by the ten or dozen. I have no time to look up offerings made by catalog number only and want the stamps described so that I may know at a glance just what is offered."—H. C. KENDALL.

—"If you want to see weather that has the world 'skinned' to a frazzle, just come out and spend a few days with me in the best state in the Union. We could, but we won't tell the big fish stories you people do, but say, when it comes to the hogs, the cattle, the sweet potatoes, and this year the apples, we are a world beater. Apples are still hanging on the trees waiting for some one to come and steal them, but too plentiful to steal. I believe the War would end if the Kaiser would come to Iowa, because he would never go back."—D. T. EATON.

—An example of high-class philatelic advertising appears on the pages of "The Story of a Hundred Operas," a handsome book that has come to us from the United Stamp Company of Chicago. The company uses a full page to bring in choicest phrase, the delights of philately to the attention of connoisseurs and art patrons. In this instance, philately certainly is properly brought to the notice of the class to whom it should appeal.

—We are in receipt of an official communication from the Postmaster General stating that the parcel post service to Germany, Austria and Hungary has been suspended because of notice given by steamship company that it must refuse to accept parcel post mails for said countries.

—A letter addressed to A. Bergasin, 338 E. 100 St., N. Y. City is returned marked "Cannot be found." Information received from V. K. Yowell.

—W. M. Lester reports the new 11c stamp precancelled "Cleveland, Ohio". It is in the usual type of Cleveland overprinting.

—I. T. Mann, M. D., presents us with the first Red Cross seal of the season. It is printed in red and green and is in keeping with the issues of previous years.

—The London papers are suggesting that agents of the Kaiser have been trying to arrange a marriage of the Grand Duchess of Luxemburg with one of the Kaiser's sons. It is stated on good authority that the Duchess has declared that she will not marry but will enter a convent if such an alliance is forced upon her. The Postage Stamp in printing this item states that the Grand Duchess is beautiful and twenty-one, and that Joachim is the only unmarried son of the Kaiser. The picture of the Duchess seen on the current issue of Luxemburg would seem to indicate that the lady in question is quite pretty.

—The Philatelic Journal of India is authority for the statement that Sir Charles Stewart-Wilson, president of the Philatelic Society of India, has joined the Ministry of Munitions. He was formerly Director of Posts and Telegraphs in India.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

TO THE EDITOR:

When the new Scott's Standard Catalogue reached me, I turned at once to my favorite country, Monaco. Much to my surprise, I find the following note appended to the descriptive matter under the issues of 1891-97: "Stamps surcharged 'O. L.' are believed to be entirely speculative."

The attention of the editor of the Catalogue was called to this mis-statement, through the manager of the Scott firm, in ample time to correct the error. I was at pains to inform them of my authorities—the Rev. George E. Barber, M. A., and L. W. Crouch—but seemingly the matter was considered of slight importance.

For the benefit of real philatelists, I may say that the overprint "O. L." is merely a postmark applied by Monaco carriers to Monaco stamps posted in French territory—Monte Carlo Superieur. This no longer obtains, as French stamps are now used exclusively on French soil.

It gives me great pleasure to hurl my first brick at the makers of "our" catalogue. Let us hope it may cause them to respond in a purely scholastic manner in 1917.

Very truly yours, EDWIN B. HILL, Mesa, Arizona.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Nov. 15.

TO THE EDITOR:

In the New York Staats Zeitung of November 6, page 2, I notice a telegram from Berlin which may interest you and the readers of your WEEKLY. It refers to the letter published in your paper August 28th in which was claimed that a Mr. Iriasiens (Joosten), Wilryck, Antwerp, had all his possessions, including his stamp collection of 9000, burned by the Germans and an appeal was made to American collectors to send their duplicates to the man to enable him to start again.

After a careful investigation—the dispatch says—"the German authorities in Brussels found the man to be a swindler. He lived in Wilryck till July only, while the action around Antwerp did not start before September. The local authorities in Wilryck also testified that the man's home did not suffer from fire or in any other way."

EDITORIAL.

Crawford Collection—A development of much interest is to be recorded. The celebrated collection of United States stamps, the property of the Earl of Crawford, recently deceased, has been bought by the Nassau Stamp Company of New York City. The news of this purchase has been current for some time past but wishing to secure details that would make an announcement of fuller character than the bare statement of sale, we have awaited the receipt of the Philatelic Gazette, published by the Nassau Stamp Company, for particulars. From the publication, we now learn that the great collection of stamps of the United States, which, indisputably is facile princeps in the extent and excellence of its proofs and essays, reposed in forty-seven volumes and seven portfolios. In an academic sense, the feature of the collection is the complete and scholarly manner in which it is "written up." Indeed, this historical setting for the stamp issues may not be accented too strongly; and when it is remembered that the data was inscribed on the pages by the owner himself, at a time when it was an innovation to attend to this adjunct to scientific philatelic procedure, the ardency of the Earl of Crawford is worthy all tribute. When Lord Crawford, in his yacht, visited this country in 1906, the collection was on view at the Collectors' Club, New York City; and it was then admitted that the stamps met squarely the liveliest expectations based on repeated reports of its richness. It is to be said that the present Earl of Crawford while succeeding to the collection did not inherit the philatelic inclinations of his distinguished father. The present Lord Crawford "is now serving at the front with the Allies as a surgeon."

* * *

So It Seems—While a purchase of the magnitude of that of the Lord Crawford United States collection is of much importance commercially and a transaction that redounds to the credit of the enterprising firm that negotiated it successfully, yet it has several other aspects that one may cogitate upon with complacency. It is a sentimental satisfaction to know that this country secured the Crawford collection as it is appropriate that the great repository of our own issues is to have its abiding place in America. Here we can insert a bit of news that is good to hear; in all probability, the collection will be acquired intact by an eastern collector. This announcement will forestall the lament that such a collection would be broken up. It has been known that the Crawford U. S. collection was on the market. In fact, the purchaser made a trip to England over a year ago to inspect and appraise the collection and there is little doubt but that the sale was a consequence of Mr. Klemann's trip. At any rate, we are a trifle proud that the United States secured the collection; and the sale is in the nature of justification of the prophecy of the editor of the London Philatelist soon after the beginning of the war that America would have to be looked to for the accomplishment of the greater things in philately during the war.

* * *

Still Pursuing—"Why don't you run a Happiest Moment of My Philatelic Life symposium? You don't care to? Well, then throw this into the waste-basket. The happiest recollection of my philatelic life is that of a rainy afternoon over thirty years ago, when in an old disused attic, my mother and I found a batch of letters dated from 1850 on. As we removed the stamps from the envelopes and carefully cut the envelope stamps out round, I was transported; and I can aver that those golden moments were the happiest of my long philatelic life."

* * *

A Slip or Two—Someone tells of having seen Mexicans advertised with "magneto" surcharge, instead of "magenta." We notice that a Swiss "municipal officer" advertises a "grated stamp" on cover, seven cent, 1870, U. S., for sale. This is more expressive than the English, "grid" and the German, "waffel."

* * *

Smart Swindler—Some of the dealers in New York are telling a tale with an accompaniment of gusts of giggles and gales of guffaws. Other of the dealers are as mum as oysters for they happened to invest in a choice war stock, the bottom of which soon dropped out of sight. The stamps were the Cameroons surcharged G. R. I., on account of British occupation; and the overprints proved to be bogus. The more or less nefarious plot was concocted by a "Philadelphia boy of about eighteen," who, it seems, was not so all-fired slow. He called on New York dealers and showed them a letter addressed to him by a missionary in the Cameroons who commended in sanctified phrase, the young man's decision to become a missionary. The registered envelope that carried the letter, etc., bore the handstamp of the registry division of the Philadelphia post office and on the cover were different Cameroons stamps surcharged, G. R. I. In his letter to the youth, the missionary said that the British soldiers had occupied the town and post office and had surcharged with due authority the stamps found there. It was impossible to buy any of the stamps but as he (the correspondent) had some relics that were coveted by the British invaders, he exchanged said relics for some of the stamps which he enclosed. In chaste words, the young man was enjoined to sell the British occupation stamps at the best prices he could obtain and apply the proceeds in furtherance of Christian work. Conducting himself with the sharpness of the serpent's tooth, the youth sold the stamps to not a few dealers at rousing good prices. However, it was not long before he stumbled. He appeared on the scene with a second lot of the stamps all too soon, when the distance between Philadelphia and the Cameroons is reckoned. Too, he had purchased unused Cameroons from a dealer or two, one of whom placed secret marks on the backs of the stamps before they left his hands. The trap was sprung and the youth confessed his fraud. The ingenuity of the scheme is almost without paralleled when considered with the cleverness with whom he played the human note. We understand that the young man's parents are well-to-do and have made restitution (or will do so) but we hope that the genius of the boy will have ample scope hereafter in legitimate fields of endeavor. The dealers who succumbed to the blandishments of the boy may be said to have fallen in a good cause. The religious haze that enveloped the scheme clouded their judgment, it is safe to say; and

Seven Thousand Dollars

Do you who collect United States stamps take pleasure in paying from sixty to ninety per cent. of catalog value for your stamps? And would you continue to pay such per cent. if you knew where you could get fine stamps for much less?

We have $7000. worth of fine U. S. stamps for sale on approval. These stamps include all issues and catalog from 1c to $50. We have marked all of them at net prices, no special or any other kind of discount, and guarantee that, generally speaking, our prices are the lowest in this or any other country. Are you not making a mistake if you fail to write us for a selection? Your A.P.S. number, or any other good reference, sent with your application for a selection, will bring worthwhile results. Let us prove our assertions.

20th British Colonials

We have just bought a very fine 20th Century collection of British Colonials, almost complete to date, including all the "white backs," etc.

The collector that made this collection was an ultra "condition crank" and every stamp in the collection is in the very finest condition.

We will be pleased to fill want lists from this grand collection at our usual reasonable prices, and would suggest an early application, as the best things go first.

COLUMBIAN STAMP CO., Arlington, Mass.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—New envelopes are reported as follows by J. M. Bartels:

Denom.	Die.	Type.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Knife
1c	A	13		Buff	19	89
1c	C	v.1	8	Amber	19	59
2c	A	14		Amber	19	93
5c	B	5		Amber	19	87
2c	E	5		Amber	20	87

Mrs. Louise W. Kellogg submits a specimen of the 3c green of 1873, with a diagonal perforation in the upper left corner, quite a sizable part of the stamp being set off in this way. Mrs. Kellogg says: "Very unfortunately I dumped the stamp into a pan with 1000 others, and so carefully removed evidence that it 'grew that way.' The top of the stamp reminds one of those mixed Mexican breeds, 'Perf. 6 x 12'."

BELGIUM.—Michael P. Hynes has shown us the new Belgium stamps as previously chronicled. There appears to be many standards by which to measure the depth of color of any of the violet and purple shades. Judging from the specimens submitted by Mr. Hynes, the 15c is bright violet, the 20c red violet or mauve and the 1fr is purple. The 35c is orange brown and black. We print this with the assurance that the next lot submitted will show still other shades.

CANADA.—J. H. Weston reports that he has been informed by the Postal Authorities at Ottawa that the question of issuing a 3c stamp was still under consideration.

CONGO.—Harry A. McBride writes from Boma, Congo, to the effect that the new stamps for Belgian Congo were placed on sale on October 1, 1915. After January 1, 1916, no stamps of the old issue will be accepted by the postal authorities in payment of postage on mail matter. The old issue has already (October 8, 1915) been retired from the postoffices. The values 3fr and 10fr have been omitted from the new series. The colors of the 5c, 10c and 25c are unchanged, but the value in words has been added at the top of each stamp. The other values are printed in different colors for the frames, with all the centres still in black.

HAYTI.—J. M. Bartels has shown us the 1c on 50c as noted last week.

MEXICO.—Thanks are due to Donald Martin for specimens of the new Official stamps chronicled last week; and to J. M. Bartels and Howard C. Hopkins for used specimens of the new 40c engraved stamp. We are informed that advance copies of the 40c were sold to collectors at a premium, before being offered to the public!

Roy S. Farley calls attention to an error in the Villa stamps issued for the Southern District of Lower California. In the line reading "De la Baja Cal." the "A" of "LA" is larger than the others in the same line. This occurs on the fifth and fifteenth stamp in the form, and as the form is reversed and printed twice on the sheet, the error occurs four times. Mr. Farley has found it on the 2c, 5c, and 10c values.

NEW ZEALAND.—Benjamin Cadbury has also shown us the new "War Stamp" from New Zealand, which apparently serves a similar purpose to that of the Canadian "War Tax" stamps. The following excerpts from a letter dated Oct. 14, from a friend in New Zealand, who tried to get some stamps for Mr. Cadbury, may be of interest:

"There has been some row here about ordinary people buying the life insurance stamps, so I had to wait till — could get them from the agent he knows. The 'express delivery' and the 6d and 1sh postage due are out of stock at the G. P. O. There is the same difficulty about the Revenue (viz. official) postage stamps as about the Life Insurance. The Edwardian stamps are still in use here, but the Georgian are just going to be introduced, though they are only sold to collectors at present, except the war stamp that stands for the extra tax on every postal packet. There is no 1d in the Georgian set, as they are keeping on with the old design."

PORTUGAL.—Benjamin Cadbury has shown us a new charity stamp from this country. It is of large size, 23x34 mm., and is of striking appearance. Portugal is typified in a female figure, dressed and hooded, with a cross on her breast, and casting her cloak about a group composed of a mother and child and an aged man. This is on a solid background of color, with "Correio" in the left upper corner, and "Um Centavo" in two lines in the right corner. The stamp is continued at top and bottom by colorless tablets extending across the stamp, and framed with a single line of color, "Republica Portuguesa" is printed in the tablet at the top, and "Para os Pobres" (For the Poor?) at the bottom. It was designed by a young Portuguese artist, Pedro Guedes, and engraved by Armando Pedrosa, Professor in the School of Fine Arts at Lisbon, and engraver for the Bank of Portugal, and these names appear below the frame line. We learn from Maury's Collectionneur that there are two stamps, the only difference being the color and the use of the word "Telegrafos" in place of "Correio" the reason being obvious.

ONE CENT EACH

The man who whispers down a well,
About the stamps he has to sell;
Won't reap the shining silver dollars,
As he who climbs a tree and hollers.

Say, Billie! Did you send for that last month? What! You didn't! Well, say, son, I am real sorry, for you missed a few good ones that won't be in again.

"YELLOW FELLOW"

In the meantime, better take a count of that "General Collection" of yours and if you find that you have not reached the 3000 mark yet, sit right down and order one of my "Yellow Fellows" without delay. Oh yes, Billie, don't forget to promise to return the book in five days, for more than likely Jim Evans, Jack Cummings or perhaps the Old Man Crowl will be waiting for it.

And, Billie! more than 1500 other collectors have had one of those "Yellow Fellows" and the most of them liked it so well that they sent for all the books I had.

Now, Billie, if you are in the Highbrow class, specialize in any particular line, or have got—say five—six or seven thousand stamps in your collection I would say, don't waste your time and postage in getting the "Yellow Fellow" as it won't do you any good.

Nov. 16, 1915.

The 346th (regular) meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society Inc. was called to order this evening by Pres. Carpenter at 8.20 p. m. The usual business was attended to and the Lantern Committee reported the purchase of a lantern. The application of Mr. Wm. Jenney was posted. The death of one of our members, Mr. Francis C. Foster, was brought to the attention of the Society. The entertainment committee then took charge of the meeting and the contestants for the prize for the 10 most interesting covers each explained the particular merits of his exhibit. Messrs. Tuttle, Blanchard, Ralph Hall, Nevin, A. H. Hall, Sawyer, Bail, Farrar, Cosby and Howes entered this contest. Messrs. A. H. Hall, Ralph Hall and C. A. Howes won the 1st, 2nd and 3rd ribbons, respectively. Mr. E. F. Sawyer won the first prize for the most interesting single cover and every one who had entered either contest received an African stamp surcharged Cape Verde, used. A few slides were shown by means of the new lantern and at 10.45 p. m. the meeting adjourned. Mr. Waldo Farrar presented the Society with a number of interesting Mexican covers. There was an attendance of 37 and the evening was one of the best and most interesting we have had in a long time.

THE STAMPS OF KIAUTSCHOU.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE FIRST ISSUE.

After the conclusion of peace between China and Japan in 1895, Great Britain, Russia and Germany tried to get ports for coaling stations in China on a long lease. For a long time Germany had coveted the Bay of Kiautschou for this purpose and though all sorts of inducements were made to the Chinese Foreign Office for its purchase, China turned a deaf ear to Teutonic blandishments. In the early part of November, 1897, two German missionaries were murdered by a crowd of fanatics in the Shantung province, and, using this event as a pretext, a German squadron, under Vice-Admiral von Dietrichs, appeared before Kiautschou, landed troops, occupied the most important points around the bay, and on November 17th, hoisted the German flag. After much diplomatic wrangling between German and Chinese representatives, a treaty was signed between the two nations on March 6th, 1898, under which the Bay of Kiautschou, a small piece of land around the bay, the necks of land north and south of the bay, and the little islands in front of it, were leased to Germany for a period of ninety-nine years. It was further stipulated that all the land twenty-eight miles around the German possession should be neutral, and China should do nothing in this neutral zone without first obtaining Germany's permission. The total area of the German colony is 130 square miles, and its population numbers about 60,000. The chief town is Tsintau where Germany has built strong fortifications as well as making fine streets, establishing waterworks of modern type introducing telephones, electric light, etc. While all the other German colonies are trade colonies, and managed by the Colonial Department of the Foreign Office, Kiautschou is solely a military station and coaling depot for the German navy. By Imperial command, therefore, it was placed under the direct administration of the Admiralty ("Reichs Marine Amt") and its Governor is a naval captain. The garrison is composed of a battalion of marine infantry and a detachment of marine artillery.

The first issue for Kiautschou proper was a provisional one caused by a shortage of 5pf stamps in May, 1900. Previous to this date the stamps for the German Offices in China or unsurcharged German stamps were used and these can only be determined by the cancellations "Tsingtau", "Tsintau", or "Tsin-taufort". The two first are the cancellations of the only public post-office in the colony while the latter is the obliteration used at the so-called "Marine Feldpost" offices established for the use of the garrisons at the various forts around the bay. These provisional stamps were issued on or about the 9th May, 1900, when, owing to a dearth of 5pf stamps, a number of the 10pf value were surcharged "5 Pfg." to meet the public demand. Both of the types of the 10pf, differing in the slope of the name "China", were surcharged and, on most of the sheets at any rate, the original value was obliterated by drawing a blue pencil line across the bottom of the stamps. There are three main types of the overprint, differing chiefly as regards shape of the numeral "5", viz:—

Type 1.—The "5" is of medium width and the thin and thick portions of the numeral are only slightly contrasted.

Type 2.—The "5" is wide, of almost the same thickness throughout its shape, and without ball at the end.

Type 3.—The "5" is narrow and the thin and thick portions are greatly contrasted.

The letters of "Pfg" in type 2 are thicker than in the other types. Gibbons' and Kohl's catalogues make six types in all; types 4 and 6 being minor varieties of type 1, the first named having a thick "f" and the other a thicker "P". Type 5 is a minor variety of type 2 having a thin "P" in "Pfg." The differences in type were due to the lack of proper printing facilities. The small printing office at Tsingtau had not a sufficiency of type of the same font, so three sorts were used, one after the other. Even then, it was found impossible to surcharge an entire sheet of 100

Danish West Indies and Porto Rico Specialized Collection

PROPERTY OF MR. GEO. L. TOPPAN

Both of these collections are highly specialized and the Danish West Indies consists of 675 stamps, unused with a very few exceptions, in blocks, pairs and single copies including all of the rarities, among which are blocks of four of Scott's No. 1a (probably unique in a block) 4a-4b-12 (two blocks and a single copy) and 26 (this last including the exceedingly scarce No. 26a) and a pair of No. 6d.

PORTO RICO

Practically all unused picked copies, with a few pairs and blocks, containing many errors of surcharge and imperforate pairs. It is useless for me to go into detail about these collections as most collectors know well that when Mr. Toppan makes a specialized collection it is the last word in Philately. Write me for further particulars and prices if you are interested.

H. F. COLMAN,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

stamps at once, so that half sheets of fifty were surcharged. The arrangement of the three types in the setting was as follows:—

1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
1 2 2 2 2 2 2 2 2

Of the above, two stamps of type 1 were the minor varieties types 4 and 6 respectively, and two stamps of type 2 were the minor variety type 5, but I have been unable to discover the actual position of these four stamps in the setting. Ignoring the minor varieties, it will be noted that in each half sheet of fifty stamps there were 21 of type 1, 22 of type 2 and seven of type 3. The prices quoted for the different types in Gibbons' catalogue are hopelessly at variance with the relative rarity. Type 3, which is three times as rare as type 1, is priced at 25% less than type 1. It is quoted at the same figure as type 2, though it is a little more than 3 times as rare as that type. The minor type 4 is also priced at less than the normal type 1, though it is nineteen times as scarce. Scott's catalogue does not price type 3, while Kohl remains content with illustrating the six types and pricing only the cheapest variety. The latter is the only catalogue differentiating between the slopes of the overprint "China" on these provisionals. All three types are recorded as existing with double surcharge, and also with double surcharge, one inverted.

These provisionals stamps were in use until about May 29th.

Reference List.

May 1900. Stamps of German China surcharged in black.
1. 5 Pfg. on 10pf carmine, Scott's China No. 307, 308 or 309.

THE SECOND ISSUE.

The second issue for Kiautschou was also of a provisional nature and was again caused by a shortage of 5pf stamps. Again the 10pf value was requisitioned and turned into the necessary 5pf denomination by means of a surcharge. This time the surcharge was shown as "5 Pf" and it may be immediately distinguished by the somewhat similar surcharge issued at Foo-chow by having a large instead of a small letter "P". This second provisional was issued about July 21st, 1900. It is rarer than the first one, for only about 4,000 were issued, while of the May provisional there were 46,000. Of this surcharge Gibbons mentions but one type, while Scott lists three. There are three principal types as in the May surcharge types 1 and 2 being in exactly similar type (but, of course, with the "g" omitted) and type 3 having a much smaller "5". Again the surcharge was applied to half sheets of fifty stamps at a time and the setting showed the types in the following order:—

1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

THE NEW ZEALAND PROVISIONAL.

We chronicled two weeks ago a new provisional war stamp for New Zealand consisting of the current King George 1/2d with an overprint in black. The new stamp came into force September 24 and they are evidently used interchangeably with the regular 1/2d, meeting the requirement of a half-penny tax to be put on every postal package or letter. The overprint is shown in the following:—

THE CRAWFORD U. S. COLLECTION.

(Here is a press story of the famous collection purchased by the Nassau Stamp Co. and recently announced in this paper. It is taken from the "N. Y. Times."—Ed.)

The famous collection of United States stamps belonging to Alexander Edward Lindsay, the twenty-seventh Earl of Crawford, has been sold to John A. Klemann of 118 Nassau Street, Manhattan. It was formed by the present Earl's father, James Ludovic Lindsay, whom he succeeded in 1913. The collection cost the late Earl $200,000; the exact sum paid for it by Mr. Klemann could not be ascertained.

As a surgeon the Earl of Crawford is at the front with the Allies. He did not inherit the love for philately which his father so strongly possessed. The head of the house of Lindsay and Premier Earl of Scotland, he owns about 10,000 acres and obtains a large revenue from his collieries. The twenty-sixth Earl was troubled with asthma and spent a good deal of his time aboard his yacht, the Valhalla, which was entered as a contestant in the big Kaiser's Cup race. It was his custom to sail his vessel in the warmer waters of the world.

An important part of his American collection, which comprises 54,000 stamps, he obtained for $30,000 from Henry G. Mandel, an old employee and expert of the American Bank Note Company, which printed most of the engraved United States issues. Among Mandel's stamps were the earliest impressions of the adhesives and envelopes. He had saved many of the original engraved proofs, samples and rejected designs, which were unobtainable elsewhere. The Earl also bought for $15,000 a collection of sheets of proofs owned by J. A. Petrie of Phillipsburg, N. J.

PROOFS AND ESSAYS.

In proofs and essays the Earl of Crawford's collection is believed to be the finest in existence. The stamps are in fifty-seven volumes and seven portfolios. There is a large waterproof box in which the late Earl kept them aboard the Valhalla. He did most of his work on the stamps while he was on his yacht. In 1906 he attended the yacht races here on the Valhalla, bringing his stamps. He exhibited them at the Collectors' Club in this city. Both he and King George V., when Duke of York, were Presidents of the Royal Philatelic Society of London.

For the specialist there are two schools of collecting; one is concerned with the collecting of purely philatelic items, the other with the formation of a historical as well as philatelic collection, which requires much writing on the pages. The highest exponent of this latter school was the Earl of Crawford. His collection is a complete history of the stamps of the United States, with all the associated circumstances leading up to their issuance and connected with their use. A feature of his collection is that the stamp is traced from the artist's original drawing, or picture from which he made it, carried to the essays and proofs, and thus to the finished thing. Every variation of it is presented. All the descriptive writing is in the Earl's hand. Through the British Ambassador to this country he was enabled to obtain notes as to patents, &c., which made his collection so remarkable.

HISTORY OF SPECIMENS TRACED.

Banknotes and other engravings of a like character have provided copies for stamp pictures, and the Earl traces each design to its inception, in some cases to the first rough pencil sketch. He tries to show every stage in the development of the stamp and follows it through its period of currency, giving the different kinds of obliterations, its varying shades of successive printings and where they exist, reissues, reprintings and forgeries. The collection contains practically all that could be got together to illustrate the postal history of the United States.

"Just before the European war began," said Mr. Klemann, "I went to Great Britain to buy this collection, if possible. I was at the Earl's house at Haigh Hall, Wigan. The Earl I found to be a well-informed, pleasant gentleman, but he let me do all the talking. He had been over his father's papers and told me that the collection had cost him £40,000. He seemed to think that was a good deal to spend on the hobby."

There were three parts in the late Earl's collection. One was the American stamps, another the miscellaneous stamps, and the third the British stamps. The miscellaneous stamps were sold to Captain Simpson, an English collector. The British stamps were bought by W. H. Peckitt, a London dealer.

WHAT IS A "WAR STAMP?"

As you ask your readers' views on the above question, I take the liberty to give you mine, as I consider that too many stamps have been catalogued as War Stamps.

I think only the four following classes should be included:

1. Occupation Stamps—Belgium, Poland, German Colonies (Togo, Samoa, New Britain, N. W. Pacific Islands).
2. Military Stamps—India, Japan, Austrian Poland, Cameroons.
3. War Tax Stamps—Canada and Roumania.
4. Stamps issued for Charitable Purposes—Austria, Hungary, Bosnia, Russia, and Red Cross Stamps of Belgium, France, French Colonies and Protectorates, Monaco, and Dutch Indies.

20th British Colonials

We have just bought a very fine 20th Century collection of British Colonials, almost complete to date, including all the "white backs," etc.

The collector that made this collection was an ultra "condition crank" and every stamp in the collection is in the very finest condition.

We will be pleased to fill want lists from this grand collection at our usual reasonable prices, and would suggest an early application, as the best things go first.

5. Commemorative Stamps—Turkey. These I consider to be the only real War Stamps; a separate class—interesting also—may be made of Provisionals which owe their existence to the war, but these are not War Stamps proper:

(a) Provisionals caused by a shortage of stamps printed in one of the belligerent countries—Dominican Republic, Turkey, Siam, and perhaps Persia.

(b) Safety surcharges against use by enemy—British Honduras.

Such stamps as Morocco French Protectorate, Swiss provisionals, and St. Vincent 1d on 1s have nothing to do with the war. The first were announced as going to be issued before the beginning of the war; the alterations in the Swiss postal tariff had also been discussed, although not yet adopted, some weeks before the declaration of war; and the St. Vincent provisional was, no doubt, only made to use up the 1s black on green which had been superseded by the new issue.—Postage Stamp.

EDITORIAL.

The War Fund—The war fund proposed by Mr. W. G. Windhurst of Marion, Ohio, the scope of which was outlined in the issue of November 20th, has not been adopted by the Chicago Philatelic Society, the organization chosen to set it in motion. The reasons given by the society in question for not attempting the working out of the idea do not affect the merits of the plan but are based on the difficulties attending the promotion of the project. While all commendation was given the spirit that actuated the movement, it was decided that at this busy season, it was inadvisable to devote the time for the work necessary to insure the fulfilment of the measure. The organization for and attendance on the work were deemed to be factors of so much importance that it was decided with some reluctance that it was inexpedient to undertake the task. However, the proposal is still open for consideration by other societies, we infer.

nent in railroad circles. Our Mr. Mudge is Henry N. and the other is Henry U. Mudge. Henry U. Mudge was in Denver recently and in a newspaper sketch, credit to Mr. Mudge's philatelic proclivities was given among other commendations of the gentleman. Naturally, one of our Denver readers noticing the account of Henry "N." Mudge, as the name was given by mistake, we believe, concluded that our Henry N. Mudge was the subject of the remarks. Consequently, he sent in the news which was gladly passed along. However, it was not the Henry N. Mudge, president of the Chicago Philatelic Society who was in Denver; and we publish that fact so that inconvenience may be avoided by this comedy of errors.

His Plan—In a letter, Mr. James S. Squire, Laramie, Wyoming, tells how he keeps his collection of 6500 varieties. He had a cabinet on the order of a filing case made, 18 by 15 inches, with five 2 by 2 inch and one 4 inch drawer. "I mount the stamps on medium card-board sheets, 11 by 13 inches. I split the collection into five different separations, viz.: U. S. and colonies; Mexico and Canada; Great Britain and colonies; South and Central America; Europe and Germany, France and colonies. In the large drawer I keep covers, hinges, etc. Any time I want to work with a certain country, I take that drawer out and do not have to handle the rest of the sheets. Other advantages of the plan suggest themselves."

First in the Field—A reader, rashly importunate, asks us to reconsider our determination not to write a philatelic scenario for movie use. As we strive to please, we yield to the wish expressed and present the following drama of the philatelic times, entitled, "Just a Bit of Paper." Principals: Filbert Nutting, the Boy Detective and Counterfeit Detector of the Willing Hands Philatelic Society. Elmira Quagmire, the beautiful heiress and possessor of a collection cataloguing well into the millions. Waffle Willie, a Philatelic Cozener. Chief-of-Police. Seven Butlers. Minister. Officers, Smugglers, Friends of the Family, etc. Dinner at the Quagmire mansion. The butler announces a stranger. "I came at the behest of the President of the Philatelic Club to invite you to show your wonderful collection of rarities, none worth less than one thousand dollars at the meeting to-night. A distinguished visitor, Count Lapp de Booz, is to be present," said the caller. "I would do the Count honor; I shall go," said Elmira simply. In the auto. "This is not the way to the Club," said Elmira suspiciously, whereupon Waffle Willie seized the girl suddenly and roughly stuffed a package of hinges into her mouth. The taste of the gum makes Elmira swoon; and she is hurled over the cliff by Willie and his accomplice, the rascally chauffeur. The beautiful maiden falls at the feet of Filbert Nutting, the Boy Detective, who was following a band of smugglers to their cave. He revives Elmira and accompanies her home; he clasps her hand at leave-taking and Elmira's chest heaves. Love's dart. Filbert is now retained on the case and swears to recover the stamps. Walking along the street, Filbert put on his overcoat, as he was passing the Grand Palace apartments, snow having begun to fall. Detective's studio. Smokes bulldog pipe with look of dogged determination. "Aha, what is this?" He finds a Hawaiian missionary on the floor near the coat-rack. Mystery solved. Marvellous deduction. "Stamp fell as I removed my overcoat; ergo, stamp fell when I put on my overcoat." Filbert in the disguise of an itinerant stamp collector visits the Grand Palace apartments. At the door of the third flat, Waffle Willie responds to Filbert's knock. "Yes, I have stamp rarities for sale, ten per cent. off catalogue on purchases of twenty-five thousand dollars or more. Are you a serious collector?" asked the arch-rogue. "Yes, I want Hawaiian Missionaries," returned Filbert. On the page one was missing and Filbert asked why so. "Oh," said Waffle Willie, blackly, "the missing stamp blew out the window a while ago and the snow covered it up; I would give much to see it again." "Is this it," asked Filbert. "Yes," and as Willie leaned over to look at the stamp, a derringer was thrust against his temple. Filbert blew his whistle and a platoon of policemen rushed in. "Ah," said the Chief, "how about the Cameroons surcharges?" "My old friend, the Blooey, Blooey," said Willie, rolling a cigarette, despite his hand-cuffs. Prison scene. Waffle Willie, sentenced to examine 69 billion of the current issue two-cent for shift varieties expires at the 609,712th stamp. Quagmire mansion all aglow. Brave men and fair women. "I pronounce you, Filbert Nutting, and Elmira Quagmire, man and wife." Filbert slips the minister a thousand dollar bill. An unsevered pair forever! Note. If our first philatelic scenario is appreciated we shall not follow up our success. Much will depend, however, upon the acting and characters for the parts preferably will be selected from the philatelic ranks. Applications for the positions will be filed in the order of their receipt.

brought me a packet of fine stamps that he said he took from his 'daily correspondence,' although some of the stamps were unused. He must have paid two dollars for the packet at a dealer's. As I gloated over this unexpected treasure-store I experienced my most thrillingly happy philatelic hour and the memory of it bides with me yet. My sister did not have sense enough to marry this chap but eloped with a dancing teacher, —and he made her dance, too."

At Last—Here is an order issued by the post office department that we have been anticipating for some time. Occasionally, a penalty envelope is used by a postmaster for private correspondence through oversight or otherwise; and postmasters have now been cautioned to use the envelope "only for strict official business" or render themselves liable to fine.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 WEST 42ND ST., NEW YORK CITYBULGARIA.

Once more, unfortunately, we are called upon to add a new name to the list of warring nations across the water. This time it is another member of that famous "Balkan League" which only a few years ago made common cause against their old enemy and former suzerain, the Turkish Empire, and very nearly removed it from the map of Europe. Successful beyond their hopes, they then, like hungry wolves, forgot their comradeship in the fight and fell to warring among themselves over the spoils. Bulgaria, the largest and most aggressive, was the leader in the fray, playing the part of a bully, but was soundly thrashed by the other members of the League and despoiled by Roumania to boot. Nursing her wrath and hatred, she has been led by what she considers better promises from the Teutonic Allies than from the Entente Allies to join with the former, in the hope of wreaking vengeance on her late enemies and gaining in the end more than she tried to rob them of before. In doing this she has turned traitor to Russia, who liberated her from the Turkish yoke, and joined hands with the "terrible Turk" who despoiled her for four centuries. The Bulgarians have been termed the "Yankees of the Balkans," but all true Yankees should blush with shame at such a record of perfidy as Bulgaria has exhibited in the past two years.

When liberated from Turkish oppression by the Turco-Russian war in 1878, Bulgaria was made a Principality under nominal Turkish suzerainty. Within a year, the first issue of stamps made its appearance, on May 1, 1879. It was a modest design showing the Bulgarian lion in an oval with B'LGARSKA POSHTSHA (Bulgarian Post) above and the value in centimes (SANTIM) and franc (FRANK) beneath. The circulating medium at the time and for many years since was mostly French gold, which accounts for the denominations. The following issue, two years later, changed these French terms to Bulgarian equivalents. STOTINKI and LEVA, the latter name signifying a "lion."

Russian influence was naturally strong at Sofia and we find all the earlier issues were made by the Imperial Printing office in St. Petersburg—beg pardon, Petrograd! To anyone familiar with the Russian stamps this fact would be quite evident, for not only were they similar in shape, general make-up and coloring, but they were printed on the same white laid paper with horizontal wavy lines running across the sheet, and in the same sheet form (four panes of 25) and perforation (14 1/2 x 15, applied by a "harrow machine," that is all done at once).

The 5c and 5s stamps, in each issue, have been reported with the tinted background inverted, though there is some dispute over the 5c. The error is of a high degree of rarity, however.

With the second issue there were no stamps corresponding to the 50c and 1fr of the first issue, these two having apparently been used for some years afterwards. By 1882, however, the 50c was apparently exhausted and a 50s took its place. The 1fr was not replaced by the 1lev until 1887.

Though Bulgaria joined the Postal Union on July 1, 1879, it was not until the latter part of 1882 that the colors recommended for the values representing 1, 2 and 5 cents of our money, namely green, red and blue, were adopted. The other values of the set were also changed in coloring and the new 50s stamp issued.

Two interesting errors occur in this issue, one being the well known 5s in the rose color of the 10s, while the other is the 3s with the background inverted, discovered only a few years ago and of which only one copy was known at last accounts.

About May, 1884, a sudden shortage of three values seems to have taken place, for surcharges of 3, 5 and 15s were made. These were printed both by lithography and typography and the distinguishing features have proved a considerable puzzle to philatelists. The best information seems to be that the typographed impressions of the 3 and 5 are much clearer and sharper in outline than the lithographed, and the latter is vermilion instead of carmine in the 5s surcharge. The same variety of tint is said to be the only means of distinguishing between the two impressions in the case of the 15s. A year later, a further surcharge of 50s on 1fr appeared, but this was lithographed only.

Reductions in rates for printed matter caused two new values in May, 1885, a 1s and a 2s. The Russian designers apparently had difficulty with the Bulgarian inscriptions, for both values were mis-spelled, at least in their terminations, and similar stamps reading correctly replaced them about the end of 1886.

At last, on January 1, 1887, the 1fr stamp was replaced by an exactly similar one reading 1lev

In 1889, the first of a new series in somewhat altered design made its appearance, and the issue of all values was strung out over some two years. There is some dispute as to where the stamps were made, but the evidence seems good that they were first produced in Paris and later in Sofia, where the dies or stones (?) were evidently sent. We question the "stones" as the stamps were lithographed, and the National Printing Office at Sofia was equipped for lithographic work which it was already doing on the postage dues and revenues. The full set perforated 13, 13 1/2 is apparently the Paris product; the various values from 1s to 25s perforated 10 1/2, 11 1/2 and exactly 13 are the local productions. Two high values, 21 and 31, were added in 1896 and are known to have been lithographed at Sofia. They are printed on paper with a sheet watermark.

Our Quarter Centennial

The new year will bring with it a notable anniversary and we shall celebrate it in a manner befitting the event. Twenty-five years ago MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS was established in St. Louis, Mo., and from its very inception it has been the world's foremost exponent of philately. Our issue of January 8th, 1916, will be a great number and we want you to share in its success. Our regular advertising rates will prevail.

PROSPECTUS
QUARTER CENTENNIAL SPECIAL TO BE ISSUED
SATURDAY, JANUARY 8, 1916

An Unsolicited Testimonial

Last year St. Nicholas Magazine contracted for 624 lines of advertising and used between 900 and 1000 lines. This year St. Nicholas has contracted for 2000 lines and Mr. Alfred D. Guion of its advertising department in writing us says:—

"Actions speak louder than words and you can infer from this what results we expect from your excellent paper."

We could multiply testimonials had we the space to use them.

A Unique Cover Design

Our cover design is very appropriate in that it is not only purely philatelic but in a certain sense emblematic of the WEEKLY. Certain stamps have been used and prizes will be given our subscribers who excel in translating this design into understandable terms. All entries must be received Feb. 1, 1916. What stamps are pictured and why is the design an appropriate one?

A shortage of the 15s stamp, which was the domestic letter rate, occurred in January, 1892, and was met by surcharging the 30s with the figures "15" over the original figures.

In December, 1895, a large stock of remainders of the 2s second type was surcharged "01" in red. A large number of sheets must have been printed inverted as this variety is comparatively common.

In 1896, occurred Bulgaria's first commemorative issue. Prince Ferdinand was a German Catholic, while the Bulgarians were of the Orthodox Russian faith; to satisfy them, and also Russia, Crown Prince Boris was baptised into the national faith on February 2, 1914, as recorded on the stamps, a small set of four of which was issued for the event. They were lithographed at Sofia upon the paper with sheet watermark already spoken of.

In 1901, the fever again appeared, as it was the 25th anniversary of the beginning of the war which freed Bulgaria. Two curious looking stamps marked the event. The central design represents one of the crude cannon made from cherry trees that were fashioned and used with effect at the opening of hostilities because they could obtain no better ones. The stamps were lithographed at Sofia and issued on April 20 and 21, being good for postage for a week.

In 1901, two more provisionals were deemed necessary, the 10 on 50s appearing about the end of February and the rather dangerous experiment of raising the 3s to 5 by a surcharge took place in May. Both stamps occur with inverted surcharges and the 5s may be found in a pair, one stamp of which lacks the surcharge.

On October 1, 1901, a handsome new set of stamps bearing Prince Ferdinand's portrait was issued and remained current for ten years. Russia was again turned to, the stamps being made by the Cartographic Bureau of the War Department at St. Petersburg. The color of the 21 being rather similar to the 11, it was changed from red to deep carmine in June, 1902. In June, 1907, a new type of numerals was reported on the 11 and a deepening of the red color; the change in the figures "1" in the upper corners was the removal of the little line or "serif" at the right of the top.

Several surcharges occurred during the currency of this set, the first being in October, 1903, when the 15s was surcharged "10." As usual, it comes inverted and in a pair without surcharge on one stamp. It is also doubly printed. By "inadvertence" one or two sheets of the 10s itself got in with the 15s and were surcharged "10"! In 1909, the using up of stock preparatory to a new set caused a large list of provisionals, the first being the 5 on 50s and the 25 on 30s which were issued in June; next came the 1s of 1889 surcharged "1909" and the 10 on 15s, issued in July; and following these, in September and October, were the 5s of 1889 surcharged "1909," the 30s of the same set surcharged "5," and the 15s and 15s surcharged "10," all of these bearing the date "1909" as well. Inverted surcharges occur in most of these, and double ones as well, not to mention errors in the figures. The 25 on 30s was also surcharged in blue as well as red by mistake (?). Two more followed in 1910 before the game was over, 1 on 3s and 5 on 15s.

Meanwhile, we must revert to two more commemorative sets. On September 13, 1902, Russian officers were to arrive as guests for the manoeuvres to be held at Shipka Pass, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the action which was a turning point in the war of liberation. The stamps were issued on that day and depict the Bulgars throwing down rocks upon their assailants, who were held at bay. The stamps are stated to have been lithographed in Budapest. From the same source in 1907 came another set, this time to mark the 20th anniversary of Prince Ferdinand's accession, which occurred on August 14, 1887. The design shows portraits of the Prince at the respective dates. The stamps were on sale for two weeks from August 14, O. S.

At last the long heralded new series was issued, with the exception of four values, on "King" Ferdinand's birthday, February 26, 1911. (Bulgaria had declared her independence of Turkish suzerainty on October 5, 1908, and established herself as a kingdom). The stamps were engraved by the Officina Calcografica Italiana, the reputed branch of the American Bank Note Co. in Rome, and form a remarkably handsome set. The 2, 5, 10, and 25s stamps show various portraits of King Ferdinand—or "Czar," as the Parliament named him on July 10, 1911—while the 11 shows him attired in the costume of the first Christian Czar Boris (A. D. 852-884), from the painting by Andon Midov.

Pictures form the centers of the other values, the 1s showing the ruined fortress of Asen; the 3s a view of Tirnovo, the ancient capital, and the river Yantra; the 15s, the Isker Tunnel through the Balkan Mountains, not far from Sofia; the 30s, the interior of the famous Rila Monastery; the 50s, a reproduction of the painting by Yaroslav Veshin of the King and two Princes, Boris and Cyril on horseback at a military review; the 21, a view of the Monastery of Sv. Troitza (Holy Trinity) in the Balkans, north of Karlova; and lastly, the 31 pictures, Varna harbor, on the Black Sea, with its shipping.

Once again, on August 14, 1912, a commemorative issue of three values appeared to mark the 25th anniversary of the accession of King Alexander, who is shown in his latest portrait; and finally at the close of the Balkan war against Turkey, in 1913, seven values of the current set were surcharged "OS-VOB. VOINA" and "1912-1913" in two lines, the words signifying "War of Liberation". They were issued on August 15.

During the present year, the manufacturer of the stamps was entrusted to Messrs. Petiti & Co., of Rome, and three values in the current designs, but new colors were issued in July, 1915, the 5 and 30s being perforated 14 and the 15s perforated 11½ instead of 12 as previously. A surcharge of "10st" on the 25s of 1911 was issued in August, and doubtless more will follow, for now that Bulgaria is numbered among Italy's enemies, the Roman source of supply for Bulgarian stamps is closed. Further developments are sure in the near future.—New England Stamp Monthly.

ONE CENT POSTAGE FAD.

Leslie's Weekly Thinks the Idea Ridiculous at This Time.

The postoffice department is so overwhelmed with cheap circular matter from mail order and other houses, that at times it has been impossible for it to furnish sufficient mail bags to handle the business of some newspapers and periodicals. What would happen with one cent postage and the consequent flood of circulars that would be sent broadcast throughout the land?

How much profit would there be in this business for the postoffice department? It now receives its chief source of income from first class postage and the rate is two cents. To cut this rate in two would be the height of folly at a time when the government is seeking to increase its income by devising new sources of taxation, nor would it help to double the rates on newspapers and magazines as is proposed, for they are the chief producers of first class postal matter, Leslie's says.

Let us hear no more of the one cent postage fad, nor of the well paid promoters of the scheme who have been making a snug living out of their propaganda among business organizations, chambers of commerce and boards of trade, in which we are sorry to see some newspapers have been misled to assist. Even public men of reputation and experience have a false view of the situation.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels sends the following new envelope notes:

The Postoffice Department after the opening of the new contract announced that there would be four watermarks in the 1915 series. Two have become familiar to most collectors and the third has just been discovered in a manila envelope. The new watermark, No. 21, resembles the other two except that the date 1915 is horizontal at the bottom of the monogram.

New envelopes have been noted as follows:

B.No.	Denom.	Die.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Kn.
2670 B	2c	B	5	Buff	18	87
	2c	A	7	Blue	19	51
	2c	A	14	Amber	20	93
	1c	A	6	Manila	21	75a

George W. Hartwell sends a copy of the new United States reply post card.
The printing is in a deeper shade of green, while the tablets and type of the instructions on both cards are entirely changed. The stamps are the same as the previous issue.

Post Card.

1 x 1c deep green on pale buff.
We have been shown specimens of the current 2c stamp by Mrs. E. W. Oughtred and F. J. Rider of the Gray Stamp Co., in which the coloring shows on the reverse side of the stamp, very much like the 3c stamp recently chronicled in this paper. The peculiar shades are doubtless due to difficulty in securing the dyes heretofore used in the manufacture of printing inks. Collectors will do well to possess their souls in patience as a sufficient supply of these stamps will soon be available.

AUSTRALIA.—Ewen's Weekly notes the issue of 3d Kangaroo stamp on a paper with an entirely new watermark. It is longer and much narrower than either the first Kangaroo crown or the Tudor crown, and is quite different in design from any other yet seen.

AZORES.—The 1c Charity Stamp described under the head of Portugal has been overprinted for use in that Colony.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Mr. Schachne reports the receipt of a new reply card.
It is court-shape, has "REPLY CARD" on second half and the impressed stamps are die A on both cards.

THE APOTHEOSIS OF JIMMY O'.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

It was the early morning of an Arizona spring day, which is different from a day in spring elsewhere in the world. The air pulsed with heat. There was not a breath to raise even a grain of sand. Frevor Moore and I sat in the shadow of my tent-house at Willow, watching the trail which led across the divide to Lazy Bar ranch.

"In an hour or so you'll see a whirlwind up there, from which eventually will emerge Jimmy O', hitting the high spots in his burning haste to get to Phenicia," said Moore. "He will not be back until two months' pay—$90—has been duly added to the assets of the local bars, and the joys of poker have eaten up what he calls his hard-saved earnings. It's his last chance, for election is coming, and the county may go dry."

We watched the trail. It was as Moore predicted.

Jimmy O'—short for O'Callaghan—was Irish in name and in wit. The rest was pure American.

The horse was very tired, after the long ride, but Jimmy O', the lust of strife in his bearing, was as chipper as usual with that somewhat cynical cowpuncher.

"I'll just hang my gun and scabbard here till I get back," began Jimmy, "an' the cayuse I'll anchor till he rests a bit."

"Better leave him here till you come back," I suggested. "The train goes in a couple of hours."

"Yes, Jimmy O', and it will get you there at least an hour before you can ride it," said Moore.

Jimmy looked dubiously at us. "You'll get action that much sooner," cynically added Moore.

A slow grin spread over Jimmy's face. "I need it, fer I'm sure full o' the milk o' human kindness this lovely hot day," declared Jimmy, as he perilously slanted a chair against the side of the tent-house, sagged into it, and began his monologue as he rolled the inevitable cigarette.

"I knew a boy once who had a fine collection of tobacco tags—complete, too. He used to keep 'em on an album made of boards, detachable—sort of a walking lumber-yard. When he stopped collecting, he built a house o' the boards, I'm told, an' gave the tags to a can factory."

Jimmy rolled another cigarette and then added, as afterthought: "Wrote a mon-e-graph on the collection, too. It won't the prize offered by the Tin Tag Association of the United States of America, Limited."

Jimmy grinned appreciatively at his humor. Moore and I were silent. Jimmy smoked in the calm of unruffled serenity.

The train bore Jimmy away duly. For three days, Moore and I milled around town, now and then dragging out my old albums and swapping stories about "finds" we had experienced or read of. The morning of the fourth day, we sat in front of the tent-house.

"It's a curious thing the way stamp collectors scent one another," declared Moore. "Reminds me of Willy Vauxhall, back East. Willy was a nice, cheerful boy who, besides being an ardent collector of stamps, chiefly Confederate, had the reputation of making love to about a dozen girls at a time. 'Willy', his former school-teacher confided to me, 'Willy can scent a skirt farther than any boy I ever taught, and I've had twenty years' experience.'"

"Which one will he marry?" I asked, interestedly.

"The school-teacher gave me a pitying look."

"He hasn't met her yet," she said. "When he does you'll get the announcement cards post-haste."

"And I did. Willy collected her inside six months."

"You see, old man," Willy explained after the honeymoon, 'Betty had a fine collection of Confederate States. That's what brought us together. Of course—and then Willy drooled off into those rhapsodies we all know about.'"

Moore laughed joyously at the recollection.

"And now," he added, impressively, "there's a promising lot of young stamp collectors in the Vauxhall family."

The train arrived and departed. We watched it expectantly.

"Most time for Jimmy O' to get back, don't you think?" I ventured.

"Today," Moore answered.

The afternoon was excessively warm. We lay down for the usual siesta. A slow step awakened us both, and as we sat up, who should loom before us but Jimmy O'—sad of face and sore of feet.

Moore looked him over coldly. "Nice walk you had?"

Jimmy nodded. Then he hit the olla frequently for ten minutes before his mood melted.

"When I left here four days ago," began Jimmy, impressively, "I had it all framed up for the usual time—a farewell, maybe. But I met an old cowpuncher from across the Gila—Johnny Williams, of Swastika K. Johnny and I were in Ad's place. Johnny had spent most all his money and he was sure some joyful at meeting up with an old friend who needed aid in relaxing a straining purse. While we were tellin' each other all our joys, in come a youngish chap—lunger, I thought—with a big book under his arm, all wrapped up. He talked with the bar-tender for awhile. Nothing doing in the literary line."

"Come on over an' have one with us," says Johnny, thinking the chap was thirsty. He came over to the table, set the book down with his hat on top, and said:

"Thank you. I won't drink. But—say—I'm sure lonesome and homesick and I want to know if either of you gentlemen has ever been in Michigan?"

Johnny grabbed his hand. "The Lord love ye, lad! I was raised there—born an' raised there—Ann Arbor."

"The lad was from a burg he called Lodi, near that town. And then they talked an' talked—names an' things that didn't mean anything to me."

Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News, Boston, Mass. [caw1

"An' here we are," says Johnny, "fifteen hundred miles from it all!"

"With that the boy just lay his head down on the table. We felt it shake. Johnny looked at me, his face full o' grief an' pain. I passed him my belt—$87.50 left o' that $90 I set out with."

"From the old folks at home," says Johnny joyous-like, as he hung it around the lad's neck. Then we all drank ginger ale—on the house. Me, too," and Jimmy O' sighed.

"Come to find out, the lad was dyin' of homesickness, not lungs. And say! He couldn't get to the train soon enough! Didn't even stop to rope his trunk!"

"It's a loan, Johnny—a loan, and it's saved my life!" He kept sayin' it over an' over—"saved my life—saved my life."

"Just before he got on the train he poked the book in Johnny's hands. 'Keep it—from me—it's all I got!' He couldn't say any more. Neither could we. Then he went into the car, and Johnny and I went back to the place 'whence all but him had fled.'"

"Here! You keep it—it's yours," says Johnny, and he made me take the package. Then I walked back—fer discipline—fer discipline."

Jimmy O' passed the book to Moore, went over to an empty hammock, stretched out, and promptly fell asleep. Moor unloosed the cord, disclosing a cloth-bound International. There was little in it besides old Germans. Then, like "stout Cortez" of the poem (but Balboa in fact) we

"Look'd at each other with a wild surmise—"

Silent, upon a peak in Darien."

The German States were not complete, but there was richness. Baden No. 1 was unused, a fine stamp, well-centered, and with large margins. The rest were used. Bavaria was complete, while Oldenburg claimed Nos. 4, 5, and 11, with others less rare. Thurn-Taxis, North German Postal District, and the Empire made fine showings,—in fact, it was a notable lot of nice things.

Jimmy O' awoke just before sun-down. "Next week," he began the monologue impressively, "is the election. Jimmy O' goes dry. He puts his money in other things. Stamps, fer instance."

Then he turned to me, with his usual slow grin.

"An' while we're waitin' to grub up, you might lend me a copy of MEKEEL'S to read. I sure do need lit'ry trainin'."

POLAND.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The ill-starred country which once was the proud kingdom of Poland has had more adhesive postage stamps thrust upon it within the past few months than it has ever known before. Hitherto, indeed, the solitary ten kopecs stamp issued in Poland in 1860 has been the well-worn subject for the facetious philatelist who has claimed the possession of a "complete" collection of Polish stamps by virtue of the ownership of a single copy of the only adhesive stamp issued specially for that country.

Of the original Polish stamp less is known than of most early issues of adhesives. We know not with certainty where it was made; its general appearance suggests the Russian Imperial printing works, but the perforation does not compare with that of the contemporary Russian stamps. It was formerly supposed to have been lithographed, the impressions not being of the quality of the Russian typographed issues, but it is now known that the stamp was printed from galvanic copper plates in sheets of one hundred (ten rows of ten). The design resembles the first Russian stamps, but the inscription below the Imperial arms is in Polish, reading ZA LOT KOP 10 (ten kopecs per lot, a lot being a weight just under half an ounce).

The Polish stamp of 1860 was introduced after the postal organization of the country was separated from that of Russia. Previously, the Russian Imperial stamps had been used in Poland. Following upon the revolution of 1863-64, the control of the Post Office was again taken over by the Russian Post Office, and 393,450 of the stamps remaining in stock were confiscated. Thus ended the short career of the only original Polish adhesive postage stamp.

To-day, the much troubled country has more than a score of new stamps provided for it, made in Germany and in Austria. Five of them are the German stamps with the picture of a German actress in heavy armour, typifying plainly the military obsession of Prussia. These are overprinted in black in German black letter type, "Russisch-Polen", the values are 3, 5, 10, 20 and 40 pfennig. They were issued on May 1 of this year at nine German postal establishments in Russian Poland at Bendzin, Czenstochau, Kalisch, Kolo, Konin, Lodz, Tabrianice, Sieradz, and Wlocawek. The recent developments of the campaign have possibly increased the number of places at which these stamps were used.

The first Austrian set, although a much larger one, is not so pretentiously overprinted. The stamps are the military post stamps of Bosnia (all bearing portraits of the aged Emperor), simply overprinted "K.U.K. Feldpost" (Royal and Imperial Field Post), for use by the Austro-Hungarian forces in Poland. The overprint is in black on each of the twenty-one denominations, which range from 1 heller to 10 korona.

These, according to the latest advices, have been sold out, and a brand new set of specially engraved Royal and Imperial Field Post stamps has been issued. In colour and general appearance of the designs the stamps resemble the Bosnian military series, but all the heller values, from 1 to 72 heller, show a full-face portrait of the Emperor, and all the korona values, from 1 to 10 korona, show a profile portrait of the aged ruler. Across the top of the stamps the only inscription in words reads "K.u.K. Feldpost," and in the lower corners are large uncoloured figures of value on tablets of colour. In this series, also of 21 values, the colours correspond to those of the Bosnian military issue, except in the 35 and 50 heller, which are in deep shades of green.

The omission of the name Bosnia-Herzegovina from the new stamps indicates that these are being used as military stamps throughout the territories occupied by the Austro-Hungarian armies on the Galician and Polish fronts.

These stamps may never go into the catalogues as "Polish" stamps; they will be classed, like the German war stamps of 1870, as military issues of Germany and Austria respectively.—Telegraph.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 466 Insurance Exchange Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

PHILATELY AT THE FAIR.

Several months ago there appeared an item in the WEEKLY to the effect that stamp collecting was not represented at the Panama-Pacific International Exhibition, except by the exhibit of Government proofs in connection with the Model Post Office. Evidently the person who wrote that item was not alert and went only to the Mines Building.

In taking up this subject, let us consider the philatelic events preceding the Fair. The Panama-Pacific Commemorative stamp issue is familiar to all collectors. This series was issued not only to advertise the Fair, but to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal. No doubt, many will think that I should place the Panama Canal first, but as every one knew that the Canal was open, the main purpose accomplished by the stamps was to advertise the Fair, and there is no doubt but that they did much toward keeping the Fair before the people. In fact, one can scarcely lick one of the Panama stamps without thinking of the Fair. This series was issued two years before the opening of the Exposition. However, the details of the issue are as familiar to readers as to myself.

Post-marks also figure in the philatelic advertising campaign of the Exposition. Los Angeles, San Francisco, and many other of the California cities used a post-mark at least eighteen months prior to the opening date, reading "World's Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco 1915." San Diego, of course, had a mark to advertise her own Exposition reading "Panama California Exposition San Diego—1915."

Other post-marks probably less familiar to collectors are the marks of the Model Post Office itself. This Model Post Office is located in the Mines Building, and consists of a fully equipped post-office, with all modern devices used in the handling of mail. This office handles the Exposition mail, and conducts the business of a regular post-office. One may drop a letter in the receiving window, then ascend to the balcony and watch the letter as it moves along the conveyor and is post-marked and deposited in the mail-pouch for transportation. Then, by going to the Transportation Building, one may pass through a fully equipped mail car, and so learn of the "inner-workings" of the postal system.

Ordinary mail matter is cancelled with the San Francisco circular town and date stamp, and the rectangular bar stamp inscribed in four lines "Model Post Office Panama-Pacific International Exposition". Registered mail receives a different set of obliterations. The stamp is cancelled by an oval hand-stamp inscribed "San Francisco—Cal—" in the outer oval and "Model Post Office" in the center. On the reverse, a circular hand-stamp in magenta reads "San Francisco (Model Post Office Sta.) Cal. REGISTERED" and date in center. Doubtless other stamps are in use on parcel post matter, etc.

As one descends the balcony after overlooking the post office, a rack of frames is seen. The frames contain the Government stamp display, consisting of proofs of every United States stamp from 1847 to 1909. Of course, watermark, perforation and grill varieties are not shown. The colors are not the same in shade as the original postage stamps, as is usually the case with United States proofs. However, the exhibit is very carefully prepared and to the laymen is probably as interesting as though the stamps in question were shown. The collector is interested in the proofs of the 1902 and later issues, as these are extremely rare. In fact, this display is the first the writer has ever seen of these issues. The Philippine series is also represented in proofs, both surcharged and unsurcharged, and color changes. These are also very rare. The government display also includes some post office curios, which have no philatelic interest.

The Treasury Department has an exhibit in the same building, wherein they have a demonstration of the process of printing paper money and stamps, which is of interest to collectors. Personally, the item of greatest interest to me was the cancelled $10,000 gold certificate. These things are quite rare in these parts, and indications are that they will continue to be. The display of paper money, fractional currency, and government bonds is interesting, and shows well the intricate work of engraving. A display of damaged currency sent in for redemption speaks of the almost uncanny powers of the people in charge of this work.

The United States has the most elaborate display of philatelic interest, owing to the Model Post Office and the Treasury Exhibit. Many other governments are represented philatelically, however.

A Dutch engraving concern, manufacturing the current and recent issues of Netherlands and Colonies, Persia, had a private display consisting of several frames. This display was not a part of the government display, but was an example of the work of the manufacturing concern. The display consisted of strips of five of the Gulden value of Netherlands, the Nassau-Orange Series complete, the current series of Dutch Indies, Surinam, Curacao, and recent issues thereof, and the new Persia series. All were of course, uncanceled, and absolutely perfect in color, centering and perforation.

The Republic of China had a set of the current stamps in India paper proofs complete to $10 in a single frame. Inquiry of the attendant as to whether or not any of these proofs could be purchased was without result, as is usual.

Japan was not to be outdone, for she went further and had a set of first issue stamps as well as a complete sheet with margins of the current 4 sen and a current set. Whether the first issue were proofs or counterfeit, or genuine, was not to be determined. I assume that they were proofs.

New Zealand had a very fine exhibit, consisting of a complete display from the first issues to the present. The first issues were proofs or reprints, unperfected. The display was unique inasmuch as all values to the ten pound were included. Official issues were also represented, as well as the various surcharges for Penrhyn Island, Niue, Aitutaki, King Edward VII Land, Victoria Land. This entire exhibit was tastefully arranged and probably the finest philatelic exhibit at the Exposition. Cook Islands was also included in this display, and was practically complete. Of course, watermarks and perforations were not considered. To show the care taken in making this display complete, I may add that even the current 4d was shown in both colors.

In the Australian Building, the various states had a philatelic display consisting of a cancelled set of the last issue of each state, as well as a set of the well-known Kangaroo stamps.

As I spent only three days at the Exposition and had to cover the entire grounds in that time, I did not have time to make a very thorough canvass for stamps. In fact, I spent so much time in the Palace of the Nibbling Arts partaking of the Scotch scones with raspberry jam, that I was forced to leave without visiting the majority of the Foreign Buildings, so it is quite possible that I missed some of the exhibits. All of the ones mentioned here were located in the main exhibition palaces.

This article being written from memory, some six weeks after my visit to the Exposition, I cannot guarantee the absolute accuracy of every statement.

You Have A Right to know what the magazine you will look to for future customers is doing to preach the gospel of stamp collecting.

Well, here are a few plans:

To renew in fathers through their sons the interest in stamps which they had when boys.

To get more girls enthusiastic collectors (St. Nicholas has a big field here).

To show school teachers how interest in geography and history can be increased through stamps.

To aid boys in trading stamps by furnishing a pocket Stock Book.

To run an advertising contest, offering money prizes, which will get boys and girls thinking about postage stamp collecting.

To continue, and if possible enlarge, our stamp editorial page, so ably conducted by Mr. Samuel R. Simmons.

To run any acceptable story or article which the editor can find about stamps.

Never to accept any but the most reliable advertisers.

We have started our big drive in the January issue. Instructions sent promptly will be in time for the February issue.

BOYS

This for the benefit of the careful man who will insist that the first issues of New Zealand were the actual stamp and not proofs. Maybe they were. They looked good, anyway, and as long as the guard watched them and prevented me from robbing the frame, I don't care what they were.

I just received a big order. A kind collector in Hickburg, Nevada, wants a copy of every Philippine stamp sent him on approval. Let's put him in the same cell with the gollup that wants you to quote on Papua complete, postally used.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

To the Editor:—

Judging by Mr. Thorn Smith's letter in the WEEKLY for Nov. 6th, I did not make myself perfectly clear in my letter about benzin.

Benzin is still obtainable, but not in a garage or paint store. These two only sell "motor spirit." Benzin, the same old benzin which collectors have used for years, is on sale in almost every drug store in New York and many other cities, at 10c a can holding about 4 ounces.

I would strongly advise against the use of carbon tetrachlorid for watermark detecting for the following reasons:—

1. The fumes are poisonous, carbon tetrachlorid being so to speak a first cousin of chloroform (chemically, carbon trichlorid), and if used in sufficient amount will put the user to sleep.

2. In a warm room, illuminated by gas or heated by a coal stove or an open fire-place, the tetrachlorid is decomposed giving off hydrochloric acid fumes which are highly corrosive.

3. Quite a number of the pigments used for stamp inks are soluble in carbon tetrachlorid.

If any subscriber of the WEEKLY is unable to obtain benzin, I shall be glad to send him a can upon receipt of the cost of the benzin (10c) + the cost of mailing case (5c) + postage.

Yours very truly,

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

I.—INTRODUCTION.

Canada was originally the French colony of New France, which comprised the range of territory as far west as the Mississippi, including the Great Lakes. After the war of independence it was confined to what are now the provinces of Quebec and Ontario—then known as Upper and Lower Canada. At the confederation (1867) it included only these two provinces, with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia; and since then it has been extended by purchase (1870), by accession of other provinces (British Columbia in 1871 and Prince Edward Island in 1873), and by imperial order in council (1880), until it includes all the north American continent north of United States territory, with the exception of Alaska and a strip of the Labrador coast administered by Newfoundland, which still remains outside the Dominion of Canada. On the Atlantic the chief indentations which break its shores are the Bay of Fundy (remarkable for its tides), the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and Hudson Bay (a huge expanse of water with an area of about 350,000 square miles); and the Pacific coast, which is small relatively, is remarkably broken up by fjord-like indentations. Off the coast are many islands, some of them of considerable magnitude,—Prince Edward Is., Cape Breton Is., and Anticosti being the most considerable on the Atlantic side, Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Is. on the Pacific; and in the extreme north is the immense Arctic archipelago, bound in perpetual ice.

The surface of the country east of the great lakes is diversified, but characterized by no outstanding features. Two ranges of hills skirt the St. Lawrence—that on the north, the Laurentians, stretching 3,500 miles from Lake Superior to the Atlantic, while the southern range culminates in the bold capes and cliffs of Gaspé. The St. Lawrence and its tributaries form the dominating physical feature in this section, the other rivers being the St. John, the Miramichi, and the Restigouche in New Brunswick. Eastern Canada is practically the Canadian part of the St. Lawrence valley, (330,000 square miles), and the great physical feature is the system of lakes with an area of 90,000 square miles. In addition to the tributaries of the St. Lawrence already mentioned, the Dominion boasts the Fraser, the Thompson, and the greater part of the Columbia River in British Columbia; the Athabasca and Peace Rivers, which flow into Lake Athabasca, and out of it as the Slave River, which in its turn issues from the Great Slave Lake and flows into the Arctic Ocean as the Mackenzie River (total length 2,800 miles); the Albany and the Churchill, flowing into Hudson Bay; and the Nelson, which discharges from Lake Winnipeg into Hudson Bay the united waters of the Assiniboine, the Saskatchewan, the Red River and the Winnipeg.

West of the Great Lakes the scenery is less varied. From the lakes to the Rockies stretches a vast level plain of a prairie character, slowly rising from 800 feet at the east end to 3,000 feet at the foothills of the Rockies.

The eastern and western portions of the Dominion are heavily wooded, and comparatively little inroad has been made on the forest wealth of the country. It is estimated that there are 1,200,000 square miles of woodland and forest, chiefly spruce and pine, including about a hundred varieties; consequently the industries connected with the forest are of great importance, especially since the development of the pulp industry. The central prairie plain is almost devoid of forest. Agriculture is the dominant industry in Canada, not only in the great fertile plains of the centre, but also on the lands which have been cleared of forest and settled in other parts of the Dominion.

The Canadian climate is cold in winter and warm in summer, but healthy all the year round. With all its extremes of cold it permits of the cultivation in the open air of grapes, peaches, tobacco, tomatoes, and corn. The snow is an essential condition of the prosperity of the timber industry, the means of transport in winter, the protector of the soil from frost, and the source of endless enjoyment in outdoor sports.

The French Canadians are almost exclusively the descendants of the French in Canada in 1763, there being practically no immigration from France. The French language is by statute, not by treaty, an official language in the Dominion Parliament and in Quebec, but not now in any other province, though documents, etc., may for convenience be published in it. English is understood almost everywhere except in the rural parts of Quebec, where the habitants speak a patois which has preserved many of the characteristics of 17th century French.

The Indian people, numbering a little over 108,000 in 1902, are scattered throughout the Dominion. They are usually located on reserves, where efforts, not very successful, are made to interest them in agriculture and industry. Many of them still follow their ancestral occupations of hunting and fishing, and they are much sought after as guides in the sporting centres. The Dominion government exercises a good deal of parental care over them and for them; but the race is stationary, if not declining.

The constitution of Canada is of a federal character, midway between the British and United States constitutions. The federated provinces retain their local legislatures. The Federal Parliament closely follows the British model, and the cabinet is responsible to the House of Commons. The members of the Senate are appointed by the governor-general in council, and retain their seats for life, and each group of provinces is entitled to so many senators. The numbers of the commons vary according to the population. The local legislatures generally consist of one house, though Quebec and Nova Scotia still retain their upper houses. The Federal Parliament is quinquennial, the local legislatures quadrennial. The lieutenant-governors of the provinces are appointed by the governor-general in council. The governor-general (appointed by the King, though paid by Canada) has a right to disallow or reserve bills for imperial consent; but the veto is seldom exercised, though the imperial authorities practically disallowed temporarily the preferential clauses of 1897. The Constitution of Canada can be altered only by Imperial Parliament, but for all practical purposes Canada has complete self-government.

In 1534, Jacques Cartier landed on the Gaspé coast of Quebec, of which he took possession in the name of Francis I, King of France. But nothing was done towards permanent occupation and settlement until 1608, when Samuel de Champlain, who had visited the country in 1603 and 1604, founded the city of Quebec. Meantime French settlements were made in what is now the maritime provinces, but known to the French as Acadia. France claimed, as a result of this settlement, exclusive control of the whole immense region from Acadia west to Lake Superior, and down the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico. But the control of this region was not uncontested. England claimed it by right of prior discovery, based mainly on the discovery of Newfoundland in 1497 by John Cabot.

In the north the charter granted in 1670 by Charles II to Prince Rupert to found the Hudson's Bay Company, with exclusive rights of trading in the Hudson Bay basin, was maintained till 1869, when, on a payment of $1,500,000, their territory was transferred to the newly created Dominion of Canada. A long struggle was carried on between England and France for the dominion of the North American continent, which ended in the cession of Acadia by the treaty of Utrecht in 1713, and the cession of Canada by the treaty of Paris in 1763. Of all its Canadian dependency France retained only the Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, off the coast of Newfoundland, and the vexatious French-shore rights.

During the war of American Independence Canada was invaded by the Americans, and the end of the war saw a great influx of loyalists from the United States, and the formation of two new colonies—New Brunswick and Upper Canada (now Ontario). The treaty of peace in 1783 took away from Canada territory now included within Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. In 1791, owing to differences of race, Upper Canada was separated from Lower Canada; but discontent resulted in rebellion in 1837-8 which occasioned Lord Durham's mission and report. The results of that were the granting of responsible government to the colonists, and in 1840 the re-union of the two provinces. But the different elements, British and French Canadians, worked no better together than they had done while separated; and in 1867, as an escape from the deadlocks which occurred, confederation was consummated. After the War of Independence the history of Canada is chiefly concerned with the gradual removal of the commercial preferences she had enjoyed in the English market, and the gradual concession of complete powers of self-government.

The half-breeds of the northwest broke out in rebellion in 1869-70, but it collapsed as soon as the forces led by Colonel Wolsey reached Fort Garry on Winnipeg. Riel, the leader, escaped, to return later and foment another outbreak in 1885. This proved more dangerous but was eventually suppressed and Riel executed. The chief events since have been the Halifax award (1888), which justified the Canadian contention against the United States interference with fisheries. The Behring Sea award (1897) settled the sealing difficulty; and a joint commission met at Quebec in 1898 to determine all outstanding questions between Canada and the United States. In 1903 these reached a final solution in the Alaskan Boundary Commission's settlement of the frontier line between British Columbia and Alaska.

II.—ITS POSTAL HISTORY.

The Stamp Collector's Magazine for August, 1868, contained an interesting article on the history of the Canadian Post-office, largely compiled from information given in the "Canadian Postal Guide," which we cannot do better than quote in full.

The earliest records of the administration of the post-office in Canada, are dated 1750, at which period the celebrated Benjamin Franklin was Deputy Postmaster-General of North America. At the time of his appointment, the revenue of the department was insufficient to defray his salary of $1500 per annum, but under his judicious management, not only was the postal accommodation in the provinces considerably extended, but the revenue so greatly increased, that ere long the profit for one year, which he remitted to the British Treasury, amounted to $15,000.

In the evidence given by Franklin before the House of Commons in the year

1766, in regard to the extent of the post-office accommodation in North America, he made the following statement:—

The posts generally travel along the sea coasts, and only in a few cases do they go back into the country. Between Quebec and Montreal there is only one post per month. The inhabitants live so scattered and remote from each other in that vast country, that the posts cannot be supported amongst them. The English colonies, too, along the frontier, are very thinly settled.

In 1774, Franklin was recalled, and the following year the War of Independence broke out, and the office was filled by Mr. Hugh Finlay, who had, under his predecessor, been postmaster at Quebec.

Canada is divided into Upper and Lower. From a Quebec almanack of 1796, we glean that there were seven offices in the former and five in the latter. Mr. Finlay is designated as "Deputy Postmaster-General of His Majesty's Province of Canada."

At that time mails were dispatched monthly to England, and semi-weekly between Quebec and Montreal, or Halifax. At Baie des Chaleurs the visits of the postman must, we conclude, have been few and far between, as they were only favored with a mail "as occasion offered."

In 1800, Mr. George Heriot succeeded Mr. Finlay. At this time Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick, were all under the authority of the Canadian administration.

The following is taken from the advertising column of the Upper Quebec Gazette, printed in 1807:—

The mail for Upper Canada will be dispatched from the post-office at Montreal, on the following days, to wit:

Monday, 14th January.
Monday, 12th February.
Monday, 12th March.
Monday, 7th April—the last trip.

A courier from Kingston may be looked for here in 14 or 15 days from the above periods, where he will remain 2 or 3 days, and then return to Kingston.

Another courier will proceed from this with the Niagara mail, via Messrs. Hatts', where the Sandwich (co. Essex) letters will be left, both from Niagara and this 'till the courier comes from there to return with them.

Letters put into the post-office will be forwarded any time by

W. ALLAN,
Acting Deputy Postmaster.

Mr. Heriot resigned in 1816, and was succeeded by Mr. D. Sutherland, who, on his accession to office, found Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island wholly withdrawn from the Canada charge. New Brunswick, however, continued to be included in it. This appears also to have been withdrawn in 1824, so that from that date until just lately, we have to do with Canada proper.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

A Quarter Century—On January 7th, 1891, the first number of the WEEKLY was published. Since that time, over thirteen hundred issues of this paper have appeared. We feel that our impending twenty-fifth anniversary should not pass unnoticed and that all justification exists for the preparation of a special number on January 8th, 1916, as a tribute to the sustaining power of philately and the success of the WEEKLY. We have in prospect for our twenty-fifth anniversary number an "extra special" issue which will present the best qualities of both philatelic reading and advertising. The celebration that we have in prospect is one in which we wish our readers to join as well as ourselves and we intend to make our loyal subscribers feel that their dependence on the WEEKLY is bestowed deservedly by giving them an unusually interesting number of the paper.

In A Prison Camp—According to Mr. K. Baumann's communication in the WEEKLY of November 27th, the New York Staats Zeitung has proved that one Iriasiens, (Joosten), Wilryck, Antwerp, Belgium, is an imposter. It may be remembered that in our issue of August

EUGENE KLEIN, 142 So. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

28th, we reproduced the advertisement in our reading columns of Mr. Iriasiens from an English contemporary, in which he solicited contributions of stamps in consequence of his stamp collection having been burned by the Germans. It appears as though we may as well be careful in expressing our sympathy publicly (and so specifically as to give addresses) for those whose own unsupported testimony proclaims that they have lost their philatelic possessions through the visitation of war. However, in the Chicago Post we find a communication which cannot be said to be lacking in candor and which has the earmarks of sincerity: "The undersigned takes the respectful liberty of asking you to be good enough to insert gratuitously in the columns of your estimable paper, the following announcement: Lemoine, Lucien, Belgian soldier of the Sixth Regiment of the line, interned at Harderwyck, Holland, would be grateful to persons who would send him canceled postage stamps for his collection. The days that we pass here in an enforced inactivity seem very long. It would be a real refuge to be able to occupy oneself with philately. Please accept, dear Monsieur Editor, with my thanks, the expression of my best sentiments. Lucien Lemoine."

"Post Stamp," at That—The explanations to account for the impulse to collect stamps are more or less ingenious, and in the past, they often were discussed sagely and earnestly. In fact, one of the staple subjects for articles in the stamp papers of a generation or more ago was based on this consideration. An editorial in a newspaper before us divulges a new reason for collecting stamps, which to our recollection has not been advanced before. The following is the bit of philosophy in question: "The desire to leave a record for having lived accounts for everything from children to iron crosses, from post stamp collections to autobiographies, from membership in bowling clubs to mention in histories."

Odds—A reader shows an envelope that enclosed a circular, bearing the left diagonal half of the one penny red, 1900, Turks Island, canceled "T. I." that was dispatched to Mayaguez, Porto Rico, and there delivered in the regular way. An Italian military postal card has no inscription of value but bears the coat-of-arms of Italy in colors, in the upper right hand corner. We read that a Colombian banker has invented a boat "which is a development of the hydro-plane idea" and that he has the contract to carry mails up the Magdalena River for the Colombian government, whereupon a subscriber speaks right out to ask if special stamps will be needed, in consequence.

So It Stands—From Mr. Wm. F. Works, we hear: "I have just received a line from Embossed Emil asking me to tell him the difference between United States 314d and 314f in the 1916 catalogue. I don't know, do you?" Here is a good illustration, it seems, of the phrase, a distinction without a difference, or "strange all this difference there should be, 'Twixt Tweedledum and Tweedledee." Still, if Homer nodded and Shakespeare "drowsed" surely the makers of the indispensable book may take a cat-nap, now and then. (We suppose that "cat" should have been quoted to have brought out the joke plainly.) By-the-way, "d" is imperforate horizontally and "p" is perf. vertically. Imperforate horizontally suggests vertical perforation and "perf. vertically" indicates horizontal imperforation.

Sounds Well—In the Outlook recently was an interesting account: "San Marino: The Smallest of the Allies," in the course of which, the paragraph, appears: "The postoffice, offering fifteen denominations of Sammarinese stamps current throughout the world, opens its little window at four stated hours in the twenty-four and if there is no one waiting, it closes; nor will entreaty prevail if one arrives late." We are impressed by "Sammarinese" as much as by the reluctance of the post office to sell stamps except during office hours, especially as in 1894, San Marino was accused of inflated issues for speculative purposes. In that year, the "oldest republic in the world" celebrated the opening of the new government palace and the installation of the new regents by an issue of three picture stamps to say nothing of the six-colored registration envelope that made so stunning an appearance. To return to Sammarinese; we like its euphony but we introduce it to philately with some misgivings. We may soon have inquiries from readers asking what and where Sammarinese is.

Death of Charles Bosserman—From Mr. John F. Sensow, we have received news of the death of Charles Bosserman of LaPorte, Indiana, which took place in California, unexpectedly. Mr. Bosserman was very active in civic and business affairs, and was a prominent factor in the development of his city until his retirement several years ago. Mr. Bosserman's interests were very extensive and his society affiliations numerous; and in the newspaper list of his connections, we read: "In addition he was a member of the American Philatelic Society." Mr. Bosserman was a collector in a general way and limited his operations to United States stamps only, in later years. Mr. Bosserman was over sixty years of age and his death was mourned generally in LaPorte.

N. Y. CITYTHE NEW STAMPS FOR JAPAN.

We have been favored by the firm of Jun Kobayagawa Co. with the specimens of the four new stamps issued in connection with the coronation of the Emperor on Nov. 10. We shall illustrate this set in a near issue.

There are four values and three designs, and we give in detail the description as quoted by the Postage Stamp from a Japanese paper:

The two lower values, viz. 1 1/2 and 3 sen, intended for inland postage, are of the usual form and are surface-printed in two colours. The 1 1/2 sen stamp shows a form of crown used by the Emperor at the coronation in the central oval and ornamented with traditional trees growing at the front of the old Imperial Palace at Kyoto. The oval is in blue-black and the other part is in carmine. The 3 sen stamp shows the Imperial Throne used at the coronation in the central oval and is surrounded by decorative designs with bamboo, pownia, etc. The oval is in violet and the other part is in orange. These two stamps are from the designs by the artists attached to the government printing bureau.

The two higher values of 4 and 10 sen which are intended for foreign postage, are oblong and are printed in tail-douce in one colour. Both are of the same design by Mr. Saburoku Okada, one of the foremost artists in Japan, and shows the Shishinden, a part of the Imperial Palace at Kyoto which is used only for grand ceremonies, at the centre, with a military officer in the old style Japanese uniform to right and with banner, drum, etc., used at the coronation to the left. The colours for these stamps will be in accordance with the postal union regulation.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Will the Chicago collector interested in the S. P. A. send his name and address to Mr. Webb? He will then receive the desired application.

—Geo. Ganderberger, Jr., has done some very effective work in securing evidence against C. Hall of Chicago, to whom reference was made in the last issue of the WEEKLY. Hall swindled many dealers and a strong effort is being made to establish a case against him for using the mails with intent to defraud.

—Will W. C. Boulton please give us the name of his town or city?

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. G. Birdseye and G. P. Hawley.

—During November, 64 applications for membership in the S. P. A. were received by Secretary Webb. A record breaking number in the history of the S. P. A. and the history of any stamp society.

—W. F. Slusser, Sec.-Treas. American Stamp Dealers' Association, is leaving Key West, Fla., together with his wife and daughter on December 19 for Manila, P. I., where he expects to make his home for two years. C. V. Webb becomes Sec.-Treas. Dec. 15 and is entering on the work with a zest which means a big year for the A. S. D. A.

A NEW CANADA WAR STAMP.

For some time it has been indicated that Canada was to have a 3c stamp due to the 1c war tax recently placed on correspondence. We are in receipt of information that the current 2c stamp will be converted into a war stamp by some form of a surcharge, and the provisional will be awaited with interest. We quote the following despatch to the Montreal Gazette, and coming as it does from Ottawa, the news may be considered authentic:

"OTTAWA, December 3.—The Post Office Department, as indicated a few days ago, has decided to issue a stamp of the value of three cents, obviating the necessity of putting two stamps, regular and war postage, on letters. Upon the two cent stamp a special mark will be placed giving it the value of three cents. In this way it will be easier to revert after the war to the regular two cent postage."

TWO TANGIBLE ENDORSEMENTS.

We are soliciting business for the issue of the WEEKLY to be dated January 8, and with which we shall celebrate our 25th birthday anniversary. We expect it to be a superb number in every respect. The Edgewood Stamp Co. advising us that they will be represented by a quarter page give us this kind word:

"You have a dandy cover for this Special Number, artistic and as well interesting from a philatelic standpoint. You are travelling along the right lines and we wish you every success."

W. T. Wilson, the Birmingham, Eng., dealer, ordering an extra quarter page in this special number, writes:—"I warmly congratulate you on this attainment—a no mean one as you say."

A DYE FAMINE IMMINENT.

The New York World of Monday, December 6, contained an article dealing with the present dye shortage. It is claimed that mills are shutting down and facing the impossibility of getting anilines as heretofore from Germany, manufacturers are seeking to persuade the public to wear white. U. S. stamps, bank notes and even candy are affected and no immediate relief is in sight. We quote an interesting paragraph from the article:

"The Government has had to modify the mixture of colors for postage stamps with the result that the shades on the stamps are said to be less intense. Bank note printing has been affected, but to a lesser extent. All paper made from wood pulp has a yellow tinge which has to be taken out by blue bleaching."

Ed. W. Webster reports having found several of the current 2c stamps with a line extending down in the lower right hand corner. This stamp is found in one vertical row only on the plate, the number of which has not yet been identified but Mr. Webster has a pair of these in which this error shows only on the right hand stamp. He submits a copy for examination.

CHILE.—The Albermarle Stamp Co. has shown us an unused copy of new lithographed 2c, Scott's type No. A33; as noted in No. 1296.

N. W. PACIFIC ISLANDS.—Roy S. Farley sends a letter received from the Post Master at Rabaul, N. W. Pacific Islands, which shows the Australian Occupation force are using the former German official stationery, and also showing the denominations of stamps now in use there. The 1/2d, 1d, 4d and 5d stamps are of the King George Australian issue, and the 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 6d, 9d and 1sh are Kangaroo, all of which are surcharged, N. W. Pacific Islands. The surcharged German stamps are out of issue. Mr. Farley adds:

"In your November 20th issue you stated that Hermann Focke had received a registered letter from Rabaul, dated Sept. 16, with a German Registration label No. 8. As you will note my letter was dated Sept. 23 and bore label No. 45. The cover itself is very odd in that below the "Passed by Censor" mark, are the initials, "W. Y.", also on the back it was initialed by three different persons. The first initial being "S. S." which are the Rabaul Postmaster's, as you will note by the letter. Both the front and back of the cover was covered by a large cross in red pencil, and have cancellations of Rabaul; Sydney, Australia; Honolulu and San Diego, California. I found an error in a pair of the 1/2d, the stamp above having a different S. to the attached one below."

New York Stamp Society.

OFFICERS:—J. MURRAY BARTELS, Pres.; HENRY MEININGER, Vice-Pres.; BALDWIN SCHLESINGER, Treas.; WERNER O. STAEB, Sec., 557 Park Place, Lyndhurst, N. J.; J. MONHIB, Librarian; Trustees, ED. KOLLER, ADAM WAGNER and H. A. MOYE.

The 258th meeting was held December 2, 1915. President Klein called the meeting to order at 8.40 and appointed Mr. W. O. Staeb, Secretary pro-tem, on account of Mr. Denzau's absence. Minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted. Treasurer's report for year 1915 was read and found to be satisfactory with ample funds on hand. After the regular business was disposed of election of officers was in order, and the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for all the officers as there was only one candidate for each office. They were, as stated above. Mr. Klein thereupon handed the gavel to Mr. J. M. Bartels, who made a speech of acceptance, and gave us an idea of what was to be expected from the president-elect, the other officers also made their little speeches, and from indications it promises to be a very busy and interesting year, for the Society. A standing vote of thanks was given to Mr. Klein for his active interest shown by him for the Society's welfare in the capacity of President and also for other services rendered. Through Mr. J. A. Klemm's sudden departure to Europe, his collection of Confederates was not shown. As there was only one exhibit presented for competition, and as this was to be the decisive competition for the President's and Society's Cup, the competition was postponed until December 16, 1915, the next meeting; the exhibit to be St. Kitts, St. Helena, St. Vincent and St. Lucia, and it is hoped that there will be more competitors. Messrs. Klein and Schlesinger donated stamps, which were sold for the Club's benefit. Meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock. Those present were Mrs. Held, Messrs. Bartels, Conrad, Jankovic, Klein, Koller, Dr. Keidanz, Lehman, Monhib, Meininger, Moye, Raess, Schlesinger, Schiesel, Staeb and Wagner.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 466 Insurance Exchange Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

CORRESPONDENTS.

I owe an apology to the many readers who wrote me for information this summer, while I was away from home. However, it will be recalled that I published a request to hold all such letters until my return this fall, so I can hardly be responsible for them.

I shall be glad to hear from collectors at all times and will do my best to answer all queries through these columns. Whenever you have a difficulty, particularly one of interest to others, or a kick, or suggestion to make, let me hear from you. Also if you see or hear anything unusual, in the stamp line, let us hear about it.

ANSWERS.

A. J. Reynolds:—Your Queensland stamp cancelled New South Wales is a new one on me. The fact that it is cancelled in violet leads me to believe that it is a revenue. At the present time, as far as I know, the stamps of any of the Australian States may be used in any state. However, at this early date I cannot account for the cancellation. I believe one of two things: either that it is an old stamp used recently under the new ruling, or a stamp that escaped cancellation in Queensland and was cancelled in New South Wales.

Your Canada No. 40 with portions of four stamps on reverse is quite common and merely shows the offset. This is caused, I believe, by placing one sheet upon another while the ink is still wet. It is quite frequently found on United States stamps.

L. C. K.—I don't want the responsibility of giving you financial advice about your collecting. However, if you spend your money for new issues, you are sure of the face value, at least, in most cases. Just what profit you will make on a collection, I can't say.

J. C. L.—Persia 1911 series was printed in Holland. The British post offices in Turkey are closed, and the Levant stamps obsolete. Yes, French India No. 22 is a hard one. I have only seen a few copies as far as I can recollect.

THE FABLE OF THE WOMAN WHO ENFORCED HER RIGHTS.

Once upon a Time, there lived a Wise Gollop who was so Wise he could almost be classed as a Gazoop, which is only one stage below a Guhak. This Gollop was so wise he couldn't get a Hat that would stick.

Only once in his Life had he made a Mistake. That was the Time when the Wedding Bells pealed forth, and he led Hazel to the Burial Place of his Liberty. He wondered why all the Married Men looked sad. When Hazel said the Love, Honor and Obey, she had her fingers crossed.

Like all New Things, this Happy Romance glided along like Grandma on an Icy Walk. The First Summer everything was all Rosy. Hubert loved her Eyes so much he never missed his Freedom. When the Maples began to turn, and the Frost was on the Well-known Pumpkin, it happened. One morning, on the 7.12 Hubert found an Evil Idea curled up on the floor, disguised as a Poker Chip. With a Mad Shout of Recognition, he seized it, and called a Mass-meeting of four of his Fellow Slaves. Sure, that night.

The 5.55 was a Slow Freight for Hubert. He pushed down the Fish Balls and grabbed his Kelly and when Hazel went to put the Ice Card out, he went out the Back Way. He made Jerry's in Four Hops, and Nourished the Feline into the Young Hours. Being an Amateur he walked into the House like he owned the Dump, and was as quiet as an Elephant.

When Hubert administered the Morning Kiss, he didn't need his Lamps to see that he was All Wrong. He was so busy dodging the 42 Centimeters he could hardly put the Wheats down. On the 7.12 the Mob consoled him and plotted another Orgy for that evening.

Hubert winked at the Cat and said "Dearie, I've a very sick Masonic—" "Nix on that Sick Brother stuff. You're glued to the Roost tonight, you Wife Deserter."

"But, Precious, I must—" "Can that Chatter and get out your Crocheting. You're anchored."

Hubert knew when he was Licked, which proves that he is a Wise Gollop. Once in a while, in his Younger Days, Hubert used to Think. He renewed the Practice, and an Idea evolved. He winked again at the Cat, and went up in the Attic.

"Come down, you Worm. Don't try to sneak out through the Sky-light." This from the One who had promised to Love, Honor and Obey.

Hubert came down with an Arm-ful of Trouble, published by a firm called Scott. With a mighty Sweep, he brushed the Clutter from the Library Table and spread out the New Form of Annoyance all over the 98c Center Piece.

"You're a Dear, Good Boy to stay in," said the Lady Kaiser. Hubert only winked at the Cat again. Next day, Hazel spent Two Hours picking up Pieces of Paper from the Rug.

After dinner, Hazel watched her Prey. Again the City Directory was brought out, and this time an Appendix was brought out and also a cute little Red sort of Prayer-book. Hazel gave it the Up and Down but held her Peace. The Brute was staying Home.

Next day, when Hazel showed her new Tea-pot to the Ladies' Aid Society, she spilled a mess of Little Stickers in Mrs. Hasgold's Lap.

That evening, as usual Hubert brought out the Junk and went to it. "Let's go to the Wiggly Pictures tonight," Hazel suggested. "Nix, I must get these See-becks mounted," murmured Hubert. "Here, you take this Glass and look for Shifted Transfers." Wherein Hazel was enlightened.

After two weeks of Discourse on the Virtues of a Colombian Republic Collection and a Detailed Study of the Stamps of Bolivar, Hazel began to wonder if Poker was an Evil. She guessed it was a Blessing when she found her College Annual filled with 3c 1851's that Hubert was taking the Creases out of.

That afternoon, the local Representative of Mr. Adams brought in a ten pound sack. The Plot thickened, and grew Dark and Murky. When Hubert saw it, he gave a Squeal of Delight, like a Shoat in an Apple-barrel, and dove into it. "Here's 100,000 2c 1890's for you to look through for Caps." Hazel fell in the Oven.

Next Morning, they ate on Pie Plates, so as not to Interrupt the Continentals that were Soaking in the Haviland. Every Morning, the Post-man left Forty Registereds for Hubert and Hazel had to break into her Beauty Sleep to get up and sign for them. The Janitor

Hazel picked South Americans out of the Bath-tub, and her Tooth-brush tasted of the Original Gum on the British Guianas. Founded on Personal Honesty

This letter hits you. It was written to us last month by a well known stamp dealer, and answers our request for "dope" from the dealer's standpoint:

"Every dealer realizes that the stamp business is peculiar. In no other line of business is the seller so at the mercy of the buyer. In no other line does he so completely put his wares into the hands of the consumer. Hence the stamp dealer must needs be particularly careful in the acceptance of a new customer; must watch carefully the names put upon his list of buyers. Here is where St. Nicholas is of immense use to him. Its readers are of the highest and most intelligent class. Not only have they money to spend, but their parents wish them to spend it on such things as stamps. Its readers are high grade in mind and morals. It really isn't necessary to look up their references. Dangers of loss through theft, false addresses and substitution are reduced to a minimum. These are the buyers every dealer wants; and advertising in St. Nicholas is the only thing to bring him this class of customers."

This opinion is backed by other dealers many of whom first used the St. Nicholas Stamp Directory twenty years ago. Start your acquaintance with our next issue. We will gladly send you further information.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

In 1827 there were 101 post-offices, and 2,368 miles of established post-route. The number of miles of mail-travel was 455,000. The letters that year were estimated at 340,000, and newspapers, 400,000. From the Canadian Postmaster-General's report for 1865, now lying before us, we find the number of letters had increased to 12,000,000; the miles of annual mail-travel was 6,350,000, the mails being carried regularly over 1,931 miles of railway route.

The following extract from the Quebec Mercury, published on July 18, 1829, conveys some idea of the postal communication with England at that period:

No later advices have been received from Europe since our last. Some further extracts from the London papers, to 31st May, inclusive, brought to New York by the Corinthian, will be found in another part of this number.

In the Montreal Courant, dated September 2nd, 1829, was the following paragraph, showing the improvement which had been effected in the communication between Prescott and that city:—

EXPEDITIOUS TRAVELLING.—On Saturday last, the Upper Canada line of stages performed the journey from Prescott to this city in about 17 hours, leaving the former place at a little before 3 a. m., and arriving here a few minutes before 8 in the evening. Not many years ago this journey occupied two, and sometimes three days, but owing to the great improvements made by Mr. Dickinson, the enterprising proprietor, by putting steamboats on the lakes St. Francis and St. Louis, and keeping his horses in excellent condition, it is now performed in little more than one-third of the time.

Even so late as 1833, newspaper proprietors found it (particularly in the Upper Province) better to employ their own couriers. As a proof of this we transcribe from the Queenston (Niagara) Colonial Advocate, of that year the following advertisement:—

POST-RIDER WANTED IMMEDIATELY.

The proprietor of this newspaper wishes to contract with a steady man (who can find and uphold his own horse) to deliver it to the subscribers once a week during the winter, on the route between York and Niagara, via Ancaster.

Mr. Thomas A. Stayner was postmaster in 1841, and through his recommendation a uniform rate of 1s 2d sterling, per half ounce, was adopted between any place in Canada and the mother country. About this time regular steam communication across the Atlantic was established.

The transfer of the Canadian post-office from the control of the imperial authorities to the Colonial government, was effected April 6th, 1851. Mr. Stayner then resigned, and the office was filled by the Hon. James Morris, who was the first Postmaster-General. This may be termed the red-letter year of the Canadian post-office. In the first place, the postage, which had hitherto been according to distance and had averaged 15 cents on each letter, was reduced to a uniform rate of 5 cents per half ounce. The newspaper charge was also considerably reduced. Within a year after, the number of letters transmitted through the post had increased 75 per cent. The operation of the department was greatly extended, and last, but most decidedly not least, was the introduction of postage stamps. In February, 1855, the money-order system was first begun, and has within the last few years been greatly extended. Letters seem to have been first registered in 1856. In October of that year the Grand Trunk Railway was completed as far as Toronto so that, in connection with the Great Western, an unbroken line of postal communication was established between Quebec in the east and Windsor in the west.

The decimal system of coinage was introduced in 1859; this, of course, as is well known, necessitated a new issue of postal labels.

We now arrive at the issue of labels for the new Dominion. The post-office act was passed on the 21st of December, 1867, and came into operation the 1st of April last. The internal rate is reduced from 5 cents to 3 cents the half ounce; but the postage to this country remains unchanged.

The following is the order for the issue of the new labels:—

To enable the public to prepay conveniently by postage stamp the foregoing rates, the following denominations of postage stamps for use throughout the Dominion, have been prepared, and will be supplied to postmasters for sale:—

Half-cent stamps, one-cent ditto, two-cent ditto, three-cent ditto, six-cent ditto, twelve-and-a-half-cent ditto, fifteen-cent ditto, all bearing as a device the effigy of Her Majesty.

The postage stamps now in use in the several provinces may be accepted, as at present, in prepayment of letters, etc., for a reasonable time after the 1st of April; but from and after that date all issues and sales to the public will be of the new denomination.

Continuing the postal history from where the article in the Stamp Collector's Magazine concludes we find that in 1869 the color of the 1c value was changed to yellow as it was found that the brown-red color was too easily confused with the red of the 3c. Early in the following year the 3c denomination appeared in a reduced size to be followed about April by the 1c and it was, naturally, presumed that the whole set would appear in this form. Two years elapsed, however, before further additions were made for it was not until 1872 that the 2c and 6c values appeared.

In 1874, an entirely new value—10 cents—was issued and in 1875 a 5c stamp made its appearance in the large size of the 1868 series. Mr. C. A. Howes, in his admirable monograph on the stamps of Canada, explains the belated appearance of this label as follows:—"The die of this large 5 cent stamp had been engraved in 1867 with the other values of the first Dominion series, but as there were no rates requiring such a denomination in the set, it was not issued. When in 1875 the need for a 5 cent value arose, the unused die was employed to make a plate for temporary use, until a new die conforming in size and design with the small stamps could be prepared." This large 5 cent stamp had a short life of about four months when it was superseded by the 5c value in the same size as the other denominations of 1869-73.

In 1882, the 1/2c value was reduced in size so that this stamp, as in the case of its predecessor of 1868, was smaller than the other denominations. From that date until 1892 no further changes were made so far as new designs or values were concerned though some striking alterations in shade took place, notably in the case of the 6c and 10c values.

In 1892, 20c and 50c stamps were issued for use on heavy packages. These not only differed in design from the other stamps of the series then current but were also very much larger. In 1893 an 8c stamp was issued which was used for prepayment of postage and the registration fee and upon its advent the special registration stamps ceased to be printed though existing stocks were, presumably, used up. In 1897, the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria was celebrated by the issue of a special series of stamps comprising no less than sixteen values ranging all the way from 1/2c to $5. As to the utility, to say nothing of the necessity, of some of the higher denominations perhaps the less said the better for before and since Canada has managed to get along very well with a highest regular denomination of 50c.

In the latter months of the same year, and early in 1898 a new set was issued in a uniform design showing the Jubilee portrait of the Queen. This is known as the maple leaf issue from the fact that the lower angles are ornamented with maple leaves and in contradistinction to a modified design which almost immediately replaced it which had numerals in the lower corners.

The Christmas of 1898 was marked by the issuance of the celebrated 2c map stamp with its proud motto "We hold a vaster Empire than has been". This stamp was issued to mark the introduction of Imperial Penny Postage, and one consequence of the reduction in the postal rate was so to reduce the demand for the 3c value that in order to use up existing supplies more quickly they were overprinted "2 cents".

In 1899, the color of the 2c stamp was changed from purple to carmine, thus conforming to Postal Union regulations, in December, 1900, a 20c stamp of the type of 1898 was issued on the final exhaustion of the stock of the 1893 type; and in 1902 a 7c value was issued in place of the 8c for combined use in payment of registration and postage.

In 1903, 1c, 2c, 5c, 7c, and 10c values were issued bearing King Edward's portrait, a year later the 20c value in the same type was placed on sale, and in 1908, the stock of the old 50c stamps of 1893 having at last been used up, a King Edward stamp of that value was issued. In the same year the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec by Champlain was celebrated by the issue of a special set of stamps these being of the same large size as the Jubilee series of 1897, but with a different design for each denomination, while in 1912 a new series bearing the portrait of King George V made its bow and this completes Canada's postal history to date.

OUR NEXT SALE

RED CROSS RELIEF FUND.

By W. G. WINDHURST.

Since the publication of my letter in your November 20th issue, I have received so much encouragement, that I feel assured of success for a Philatelic Relief Fund for Red Cross Society work. All that seems to be necessary is to crystallize this philatelic sentiment, and to that purpose, I will ask all of your readers and others who are in sympathy with this project to write me at once so I can get in touch with them. Please do not yet send stamps or contributions until preliminary work is completed and announced. Wm. H. Schaffner, president of the Marion County Bank, has consented to act as treasurer pro tem.

Mr. Schaffner is a philatelist who is well known to many of your readers who attend A. P. S. conventions. As the preparatory work will take five or six weeks, the sale will probably take place early in February; and will be glad to hear from any auction firm offering to handle same as an "addenda" to one of their regular auctions. All cataloging and description of lots would be attended to by philatelists who have offered to assist. Address me, Box 216, Marion, Ohio.

A BUSINESS TRIP TO NEW YORK.

It was the privilege of the managing editor of the WEEKLY to visit New York City last week in the interests of the Jan. 8 Special Number and he was very much gratified at the cordial reception met with. Nearly every dealer interviewed expressed satisfaction with trade conditions and evidences of activity were manifested in practically all the offices visited.

We shall not attempt to give in detail the results of the trip, for these will be reflected in the special number soon to be issued. Sufficient to say that the coming special will no doubt be equal to the New York Exposition number, and may surpass it.

We wish to acknowledge courtesies extended by Mr. Clark of the Scott Stamp & Coin Co., Geo. J. Carter, J. M. Bartels and Edw. Stern, all of whom will help make the cover rebus contest of more than ordinary interest.

Mr. Clark informed us that the demand for the Scott catalog had already far exceeded that of last year and the first edition was actually sold out before the date of publication. Mr. Carter paid the WEEKLY a good endorsement by stating that his series of advertisements in a recent issue brought in more than two hundred replies.

The trip to New York was made all the more pleasant by meeting Wendover Neefus of Hudson, N. Y., who was making a similar business trip to the metropolis.

We are particularly indebted to Dr. L. A. Micheloni for a very pleasant bit of entertainment. It was his cheery voice that bade us a bon voyage as we journeyed back to the Hub.

USE OF CARBON TETRACHLORID.

By JAS. LEWIS HOWE.

I hesitate to differ from one of the chemical as well as philatelic experience of Mr. Thorn Smith, but I also must raise a caution against the use of carbon tetrachlorid for the detection of watermarks. It is such a strong solvent for organic dyestuffs that its use would almost certainly damage many stamps. Mr. Berolzheimer is correct in this contention, and also, in the fact that benzoin is easily procurable in pure form and will not injure any stamp.

I should not, however, agree with Mr. Berolzheimer that the use of carbon tetrachlorid is attended with personal danger. One would not be apt to inhale sufficient of the fumes to be injured, nor are today open fires with no draught common enough to make danger from the decomposition of carbon tetrachlorid imminent.

BEVERLY PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

The 40th regular meeting of the Beverly Philatelic Society was the 2nd annual meeting. There were fourteen members present and the following officers were elected for 1916: Pres., F. W. Foster; Vice Pres., R. H. Dutcher; Treas., H. Shailer; Sec., L. E. Hood. Twenty meetings have been held during the year, with an average attendance of ten. There are twenty-nine active members and the Society is planning a very active year.

Among other things, the Society is to make stamp exhibits in store windows, to interest the general public, and give talks before boys' clubs at the Y. M. C. A. and other places.—L. E. Hood, Secretary.

THE POSTER STAMP.

(Our friend, A. W. Dunning, waxes poetic in the last number of Philatelic Gossip with lines to the poster stamp that we reprint herewith.—Ed.)

What is it, safe within my book,
That causes many an envious look,
From my best girl and e'en the cook?
The Poster Stamp!

What is it, hardly costs a cent,
That has given me—not even lent,
Yet having it makes me content?
The Poster Stamp!

What is it with the grass so blue,
And purple dumpling in a stew,
And pea-green cows and pink cats, too?
The Poster Stamp!

What is it shows a luscious pie,
Of "None-Such Mince Meat"—that's no lie!

Three quarters of it left—and why?
The Poster Stamp!

What is it in my breast, or chest,
That gives no rest, but only zest,
To my mad quest—for I'm possessed—
Of every guest, from East or West,
That does infest my nest, a test,
Lest I be not blessed? Perhaps you've guessed!
The Poster Stamp.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Friendliness.—It is a satisfaction to notice that there is a disposition on the part of our readers to accentuate rather than to ignore the importance of our twenty-fifth anniversary number of January 8th, 1916. Several of our friends have written to express kindest sentiments over the impending celebration number and we are impressed by the statement made by one: "You cannot realize what an example of regularity, activity and propriety your paper has afforded for so many years; and any measures that may be adopted to celebrate your twenty-fifth anniversary will be more than justified." We are glad that our readers will be interested in our anniversary exercises and we assure them that our January 8th, 1916, issue will be a great one.

Postal Literature.—In the very rare edition of John K. Tiffany's Library Companion of 1874, there is an appendix that contains the titles of articles, pamphlets and books originating from non-philatelic sources but which are of interest if not of value to the stamp collector. While the compilation made by Mr. Tiffany was exhaustive, all things considered, yet it has been noticed that a few omissions marked the list, as of 1874. However, "Ten Years Among the Mail Bags" was not ignored and as we have just acquired an almost new copy of the book we shall say a few words about it. Ten Years Among the Mail Bags: or, Notes from the Diary of a Special Agent of the Post-Office Department, by J. Holbrook, with illustrations. Philadelphia: H. Cowperthwait & Co., 1856. The volume was "respectfully dedicated to those officially connected with the mail service of the United States." While the contents of the book are postal rather than philatelic there is a supplementary chapter that contains much practical information, and extracts from the postal laws from 1823 down to 1855. Steel engravings of the sixteen post master generals who had served up to 1855 are a feature of this book of nearly four hundred and fifty pages, whose cover is ornamented with the seal of the post office department. The book is well written and if it had come a number of years later, no doubt it would have contained much more of philatelic interest.

Under Consideration.—The following application for the berth of leading lady in our philatelic movie cast has been received from a reader: "I think your 'Just a Bit of Paper' a wonderful play and acted by the right people, it is sure to be a success. I am writing to make application for the role of Elmira Quagmire. I am sure that I am just fitted for the part as I answer all requirements except that my collection does 'catalogue well into the millions' and that some of my rarities are worth less than a thousand dollars each. If I am successful in being chosen for the part, I wish to suggest a slight change in the cast. Why cannot Elmira fall into the arms of Filbert Nutting instead of at his feet? It would be more effective and much more pleasant for me. Please do not think that I am unmaidenly in saying that I should just love to have Bill Bloss act the part of Filbert Nutting."

Editorially Speaking.—The leading editorial in a recent issue of the Chicago Herald was on the subject of a uniform international postage stamp; and stress was placed upon the trade importance of this "big little factor." For some time past, newspaper dissertations on the demand for an international postage stamp, once a perennial feature of the press, have been a novelty. In fact, the advent of the international postage stamp coupon seemed to meet squarely the "crying need" of an international stamp; and it was felt that this reform would still adverse criticism. However, even this beneficent measure does not inspire a unanimous approval as the Herald returns this twain of indictments against it: "It sells at 20% premium to begin with. And to end with, it must be taken to the post office in the foreign country and there cashed. Obviously quite a different thing from a stamped and self-addressed envelope which can be mailed at once in the way that we are familiar with." The Herald's editorial was based on the more or less moving experience of a Chicago concern: "It wanted to send a large number of letters to the Philippines and inclose stamps for reply. It naturally found great difficulty in getting Philippine stamps in this country. And it was told at the post office that the regular United States stamps could not be used for that purpose. The envelope bearing the embossed United States stamp would be accepted but that again brought up the question of whether the recipients in the Philippines would understand that they could use it." As for the last sentence: If the U. S. stamped envelope bears any ascendancy over the U. S. adhesive in the Philippine postal estimation, we should like to be let in on the secret.

Hard to Handle.—According to the news columns of the Herald, the business men of the country are profoundly impressed by a contemplation of the benefits to be derived through the agency of the international postage stamp but the post office department for reasons that have been detailed many times before tells why it favors the plan only in an academic sense. We notice that the postmaster of Chicago says that it was planned to have the International Postal Union conference in Madrid, Spain, this year, but that the meeting has been indefinitely postponed in consequence of the war. The question of the international stamp will be thoroughly canvassed, it is promised, at the next conference of the postal union countries.

Additional.—Our subscriber, Mr. W. B. Gould, who submitted the Chesuncook Lake "moose" stamps for inspection sends the following bit of testimony on the subject of the labels from one of his correspondents. A guide near Chesuncook Lake had been accustomed to carrying letters to and from post offices to camps in the woods and having organized a sort of postal service, he wanted to give it the finishing touches with a stamp issue. Wisely enough, the idea was abandoned in its incipency so far as the use of the stamps was concerned; and it is possible that a threat of governmental interference had something to do with relinquishing the plan.

Sheet Arrangement.—The present one dollar documentary stamps are printed in sheets of one hundred stamps, five horizontal rows of twenty stamps each, but the higher values up to but not including the sixty dollar, come in sheets of one hundred specimens, ten rows of ten stamps each. The denominations, sixty to one thousand dollars, are in sheets of four stamps each, with stubs for the entry of data as to purchaser, etc. We notice that the one thousand dollar is listed in the catalogue as orange in color but we are inclined to believe that yellow is a truer description of the stamp.

Approval.—Through its secretary, Mr. C. R. Callahan, the Washington State Philatelic Society affirms that it is ready to assist in any plan for the furtherance of a philatelic relief fund for Red Cross work, based on the suggestion of Mr. W. G. Windhurst. We may add that not a few offers of support have come to Mr. Windhurst through the publication of his letter in the WEEKLY.

It All Depends.—A reader sends us a number of circulars that were distributed about fifteen or more years ago and among them is one that was issued by the American Promotion Company, New York, whose operations in floating the stock of one of the large companies are remembered by the old-timers more or less vividly, according to circumstances. Quoth our correspondent: "Note the first remark—'Very few collectors have any idea of the large margin of profit there is in stamps.' I have dealt in stamps in a small way and while I have not lost, I certainly have not made a large margin of profit, and, although I am acquainted with a great many dealers, I have never met one willing to admit that he (to quote again) 'starting in with only $500, cleared $1200 to $2000 a year, and had $3000 worth of stamps at the end of three years'."

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 WEST 42ND ST., NEW YORK CITY

A NEW BRANCH OF PHILATELY.

By NEVILLE M. GOODMAN.

Probably the chief reason for the undiminished popularity of our favourite hobby during the war is the fact that the war has opened yet other "fresh woods and pastures new", such as the collection of "war" stamps, while there are no such things as "war" furniture or "war" coins. Armies need letters, not lithographs, postmen, not porcelain.

But it is of yet another philatelic sideline occasioned by the war that I now wish to write—the collection of war envelopes, i. e., envelopes with censor marks, naval and military postmarks, etc.—as being new, interesting and lucrative.

"Some new thing," St. Paul tells us was the cry of the Athenians, and it is the same today. "How can I hope to get a good collection without spending more than I can afford?" people cry; "The days of great finds are over; every stamp is known and catalogued, and Romance is dead!"

Collect war envelopes is my advice. Everyone starts equal—now. Everyone can get a few at least, with no expenditure at all. Our own friends and relations or those of our acquaintances in the army or navy, will furnish the ordinary Expeditionary Force or the weird naval cancellations, or perhaps even Cameroons and Persian Gulf; the Belgian refugees you know will gladly provide "Postes militaires belges" or, maybe, "Interned in Holland"; French, Italian and Russian friends can procure their respective military covers and postcards; relations in the Colonies will have various censor marks on their envelopes, while "Prisoners of War," both in England and Germany, extend the list still further.

Every envelope may have a history, certainly many look as if they had with their maze of multi-coloured marks. Here is one "On His Britannic Majesty's Service, Turko-Persian Frontier Commission, Baghdad." What secrets of our foreign policy might not that have concealed beneath its pompous-looking exterior! Another, sealed with an enormous emerald label inscribed "Opened Under Martial Law" comes from the Garden of Eden! A third is black with innumerable marks—"paquebot," "Aden Camp," "Suez," ending with the ominous "Unable to Trace"—the "black cap" of hand-stamps.

The ways of the censor as revealed by war envelopes are truly wonderful. Bermuda, for example, a second-rate coaling station, has its correspondence with Great Britain, carefully censored, while letters from Gibraltar, the key of the Mediterranean, the news-market of the world, are entirely unexamined!

Already the demand for these envelopes has given them a certain value. Prices range from 10 for 6d of the common B. E. F., to, for example, 2sh each for the Russian China censor mark.

Lastly, may I meet the objection that envelopes are bulky to keep, difficult to mount in albums, and, being uncatalogued, liable to constant re-arrangement, by suggesting the use of files for storing them; cheap cardboard boxes about 8 in. long by 5 in. high can be used, and the alphabetical index cards can be turned round and the name of the section, "Indian F. P. O." "Swiss Army," "Naval," "B. E. F. Military Postcards," etc., be written on the back.—Stamp Collecting.

YVERT & TELLIER-CHAMPION CATALOGUE.

Despite the war, as we remarked several weeks ago, a new edition, the twentieth of the foremost French catalogue, Yvert & Tellier-Champion, 1916, has appeared; and in consequence, a tribute may be paid to the stout-heartedness and enterprise of the publishers. Concerning the catalogue itself, all commendation is deserved; and the features that have made it popular are retained in the present volume and in some respects are amplified. The reduced size cuts are very plain as a rule and the typography is excellent. Though the catalogue numbers over 800 pages, its size is well within bounds. The more important type varieties are illustrated in many instances and the notes of explanation are liberally scattered throughout the volume. The tables of philatelic information are an instructive adjunct to the catalogue, which, though in French, is not beyond the understanding of the collector who has the veriest smattering of the language. As to prices, we believe that they are carefully adjusted; and a casual examination indicates that South and Central America have been given particular attention. The book is creditable in all respects and will be found to be a valuable addition to the working library of the collector.

Price, four francs, cloth; Theodore Champion, 13 Rue Drouot, Paris, France.

"A LESSON FROM POSTAGE STAMPS"

Under the above rather unique heading, the Springfield Stamp Club is holding a contest which will close Jan. 1, 1916. The lesson indicated may appear as a single stamp, set or group. Fitting notes may or may not be included, and owner's name, address or any identification marks are to be withheld.

There will be three prizes offered:—first, a silver cup; second, a Panama-Pacific $1 gold piece; third, Panama-Pacific 50c gold piece. The judges will be Willard O. Wylie, C. A. Howes and E. M. Carpenter.

The points in marking will be as follows, on a basis of possible point as indicated:—importance of lesson presented, 50 points; accuracy of facts, 20 points; originality in arrangement, 10 points; neatness, 10 points; condition of stamps, 10 points.

All the entries in the contest will be exhibited at the annual meeting on Jan. 14, 1916 and prizes will be awarded at that time. E. D. Curtis, R. C. Munroe and W. C. Stone constitute the contest committee.

OUR COVER REBUS CONTEST.

On Dec. 4, we printed a reduced picture of our Jan. 8 cover design. Will our readers get busy and tell us what stamps are represented in this design. We shall award a half dozen prizes and invite a strong competition. List of prizes next week.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels reports new issues and discoveries in envelopes as follows:

Frank Reeder, Jr., writes: "I have found a one-eighth cent proprietary, watermarked U. S. I. R., with the 'N' of 'cent' badly broken on the lower side of the broad downward second stroke of the letter. I do not know the number of the sheet, but this stamp is one of the stamps of the upper row, and is the one immediately under the 'ce' of 'cent proprietary.' This may be a cut die, or merely a slip in inking. Has any other reader found the same thing?"

M. B. Marshall reports having "a pair of $2 Wine stamps used, one is normal, but the other has a break in the circle containing the figure '2' in the center of the stamp. The break is about 4 mm. long and is in the top left corner."

750 Stamps All Different for $1.10

CUBA.—The Sterling Stamp Co. has shown us the 10c map stamp in the new olive brown shade.

HONDURAS.—Hermann Focke has shown us another value in the new lithographed set, the 10c showing the "Pneute Ulua" design. This stamp has also been overprinted "Official" in red.

LORENZO MARQUES.—Ewen's Weekly reports that a correspondent sends on original piece what appears to be the Zambezia 100 reis, blue on blue (1898-1901 issue, without overprint), bisected, for use at Ressoano Garcia, a small station on the Lourenzo Marques boundary of the Union of S. Africa. The date of the postmark is 12/6/15.

MEXICO.—Oaxaca—The 10c was issued November 13 or earlier; in sheets of 6x7 stamps; blue, with eagle in center in red; figures of value in red; printed on "forma" sheets as previous values.

SPANISH MOROCCO.—The Philatelia points out another modern error in one of the last surcharges of the "Spanish Morocco." The word "Protectorado" is written: "Iprotectorado." This error is on all the values from 10c to 1p inclusive.

TURKEY.—A. C. Roessler reports that the 1909 issue has been surcharged in red a crescent in outline with a solid six-pointed star. Dated in Turkish "1331-1915" 5, 10 paras and 1 piaster. Another set of three values has been issued for benefit of fund for families of slain soldiers. On various issues, 5, 10 and 20 paras.

are and how well regulated the affairs of the postal systems are carried on in this time of unusual emergencies. As new territory is taken, order is made from chaos, and the post office department follows the army and establishes itself in the new territory. Considering the fact that Europe is infested with philatelists, as it were, it is quite strange that no rare provisionals have emerged from the actual territory involved. Why not a set of Liege Besieged stamps, like Mafeking? Or Premysl-Prznz-well, Warsaw Locals? At least, the festive Turk might produce some very rare surcharges for the Dardanelles. Can we complain about the war provisionals?

Don't expect that every war stamp will be a gold mine. Many will be worth large sums—but what are your chances of getting these? Many more will be worth moderate sums, and here you have an opportunity to gamble. You may pick the winner and treble your money, or your set may drop like some other "thrillers" have, and you lose. Keep your eyes open, and play the game like a true sport if you will play it. Money will be made, and much will be lost. Don't cry if you lose. If you study your market before you buy, and don't pay too much, nor pass up a really good thing because of price, you ought to come out ahead of the game.

This is not advice to buy or not to buy war issues. It is just a summary of what has happened since August, 1914. How true a forecast it is remains to be seen.

PURPLE CENTRE 1sh JAMAICA.

When will the "murder come out" concerning those purple centre Jamaica "rarities"? We notice one West-end dealer refers to them as "mystery" stamps. The only mystery we can claim for them is the "mist"-ery appearance which their surface assumes immediately on trying experiments with the portrait of King George. Truly, this 1s stamp with the black centre that is also known with the medallion in purple, is a philatelic chameleon. "Marsh's Weekly Philatelist" sums them up thus: "Some of our contemporaries have chronicled the current 1s stamp as having been issued with head in purple in place of the correct black. We have seen copies purporting to show this error, but have no hesitation in pronouncing them to be changelings, and quite unworthy of a place in the album of any collector.—Stamp Collecting."

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322, Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P.M.

The 348th (regular) meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society, Inc., will be held in the Club Room on Tuesday Evening, Dec. 21. Those who wish to dine together will meet at the room at 5.45 P. M.

As usual, this meeting will be partially devoted to an observance of Christmas and the fact that Mr. Fowle is chairman of the committee will ensure a pleasant celebration of same. Messrs. Barker and Dunning will assist him. Mr. Farrar will exhibit his "Mexicans" and the new lantern will be used during the evening.

The name of Mr. William Jenney will be voted upon as a candidate for membership.

Please make a special effort to attend and thus show that the work of the committee is appreciated.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

III.—A POSTMASTER'S PROVISIONAL.

Postage stamps were first placed on sale to the public in Canada on April 23rd, 1851, as we shall show later, but, according to an interesting article which appeared in the London Philatelist for June, 1904, it seems possible that at least one postmaster anticipated events slightly by issuing a stamped envelope of his own shortly before the regular governmental stamps were ready. It will perhaps simplify matters to reproduce the article in its original form, viz:—

CANADA: HAND-STAMPED 3D ENVELOPE OF 1851.

We are indebted to Mr. E. B. Green-shields, of Montreal, for the following very interesting information:—

The following facts may be of interest to collectors of the stamps of British North America. Some time ago a cover was offered to me, which seemed to me to be absolutely genuine, yet I had never, up to that time, heard of such envelopes being in existence. This letter was posted in New Carlisle, Gaspé, Lower Canada, on April 7th, 1851, and was stamped "Three Pence" in two lines, inside a square, with a black border of neat design around the sides. Across this was written, "Letter R. W. Kelly Apl. 1851". The letter was addressed to Toronto, C. W., and on the other side was stamped the date the letter was received, "Apl. 16 1851". I sent the envelope to Mr. Donald A. King, of Halifax, and received the following reply from him:—

HALIFAX, N. S., February 22nd, 1904.

"Dear Sir,—I have yours of 19th inst. with cover, and am much obliged for your kindness in permitting me to have a look at it. It is new to me. I have no doubt it is absolutely genuine, and probably was made by the Postmaster at New Carlisle to save trouble in stamping the letter '3d' as was then the custom. It is just possible that the writer (whose name appears to be endorsed on the envelope) was the Postmaster-General. A reference to the Postmaster-General's report for that year would give his name. As far as my memory serves me, the Canadian stamps were not then in issue, though an advance circular may have been sent out. I have shown the cover to a friend of mine who is an expert in typography, and he assures me that the printing is as old as dated, and that such type and border could not be procured now at any cost. The only thing that I have seen that resembles it in any way was a cover from Prince Edward Island, prepaid with a square of white paper stamped 3d and cancelled. This was an adhesive, and used some years after stamps were in use. As in your case, it had been recognised as paying postage. As to the value of your cover, it is impossible for me to say, but very considerable to any collector of British North America.

Yours faithfully,

DONALD A. KING."

Following up the clue given to me by Mr. King, I wrote to the Post Office Department at Ottawa, and received the following courteous answer:—

OTTAWA, 2nd March, 1904.

"Sir,—I am directed to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 26th ultimo, inquiring whether R. W. Kelly was Postmaster of New Carlisle, Co. Gaspé, Quebec, in 1851, and in reply am directed to inform you that R. W. Kelly, doubtless the same man, was Postmaster of New Carlisle in 1851. Owing to the incompleteness of the early records of the department, which was then under the direction of the British Office, the date of Mr. Kelly's appointment cannot be ascertained. He appears to have been Postmaster from 1851, however, until his resignation on the 9th April, 1855.

As regards your inquiry as to whether postage stamps were used on the 7th April, 1851, and your statement that you have an envelope sent on that date from New Carlisle to Toronto with 'Three Pence' printed on it, inside a fancy border, I have to say that postage stamps were issued to the public for the first time on the 23rd April, 1851, and that stamped envelopes were not issued until some years later. The stamped envelope to which you refer may have been an envelope so stamped on the prepay-

That all Provincial Postage received within the Province shall be retained as belonging to it, and that all Provincial Postage received within any other Colony of the British North American Colonies may be retained, as belonging to such Colony. That no privilege of franking shall be allowed as regards the Provincial Postage. That Provincial Stamps for the prepayment of postage may be prepared under the orders of the Governor in Council, which stamps shall be evidence of the prepayment of Provincial Postage to the amount mentioned on such stamps; and that such stamps, prepared under the direction of the proper authorities in the other British North American Colonies, shall be allowed in this Province as evidence of the prepayment of Provincial Postage in such other Colonies respectively, on the letters or packets to which they are affixed and which have been mailed there.

The passage of the above Act and its approval by the Imperial government was followed by a notice to postmasters which gave the date at which the transfer of the postal system from Imperial to Provincial authority was to take effect, gave more explicit instructions with regard to rates of postage, and stated that postage stamps were being prepared. Mr. Howes gives the chief provisions of this Notice as follows:—

NOTICE TO POSTMASTERS.

GENERAL POST OFFICE,
 MONTREAL, 14th March, 1851.

Sir:—

I am commanded by His Excellency the Governor General, to communicate to you the following instructions, for your guidance in the performance of your duties, under the New Post Office Law of the 13th and 14th Vict., chap. 17, passed at the last Session of the Provincial Parliament, which will take effect, and supersede the Imperial Post Office Acts, hitherto in force in Canada, on and from the 6th day of April next:

1.—From the above date, all Letters transmitted by the Post in Canada, with the exception of Packet Letters to and from the United Kingdom, will be liable to a uniform rate of Three Pence, currency, per half-ounce for whatever distance conveyed: prepayment will be optional: the charge increasing according to the weight of the Letter, one single rate for every additional half-ounce, counting the fraction of a half-ounce as a full rate, thus:

A Letter, weighing not exceeding ½ ounce, will be liable to 3d postage.

A Letter, weighing more than ½ ounce, and not exceeding 1 ounce, will be liable to 6d Postage.

A Letter, weighing more than 1 ounce, and not exceeding 1½ ounces will be liable to 9d Postage, and so on.

It will be observed that the above scale differs from that now followed, in advancing one rate for each half-ounce after the first ounce.

2.—The single Packet rate for Letters by the Atlantic Steam Packet

Mails to and from England, via the United States, of 1s 2d sterling, if un-paid, and 1s 4d currency, if pre-paid, as also the rate on Letters, by those mails, via Halifax, of 1s sterling, if un-paid, and 1s 1½d currency, if pre-paid, remain unaltered, and the present scale of weights is to remain in force as regards such Letters.

Post Masters must be very careful to observe this distinction when taxing letters, weighing over one-ounce, intended for the English Mails.

3.—The regulations now in force with regard to Letters to and from Soldiers and Sailors in Her Majesty's Service, by which under certain conditions such Letters pass through the Post on pre-payment of a penny only, remain unaltered.

5.—Letters addressed to New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward's Island, or Newfoundland, are to be rated with the uniform rate of 3d per half-ounce.

6.—Letters to and from the United States will be liable to the uniform rate of 3d per half-ounce, between the Frontier line and the place of posting or place of destination in Canada; and until further arrangements can be made, this charge on Letters from Canada to the United States must be prepaid at the time of Posting.

9.—The charge on Letters posted at an office for delivery in the same City, Town, or Place, and any additional charge made on Letters delivered at the residence of parties to whom they are addressed, are to remain as at present, until further instructions.

10.—No Franking Privilege is allowed under the New Act, except with regard to Letters and Packets on the business of the Post Office, addressed to or transmitted by the Post Master General.

13.—Stamps for the pre-payment of Postage are being prepared and will be distributed for the use of the public at an early date.

T. A. STAYNER,
 Deputy Post Master General.

THE TRI-CITY STAMP CLUB.

At a meeting in Rock Island, Dec. 7, fourteen collectors representing Davenport, Ia., Rock Island and Moline, Ill., became charter members. The name Tri-City Stamp Club was decided upon. The following officers were elected: President, James C. Safley, Moline; Vice President, Rev. H. W. Reed, Rock Island; Secretary-Treasurer, Frank H. Grace, 1111 Iowa St., Davenport. Meetings will be held monthly on the first Tuesday. Endeavors will be made to interest the public in the possibilities of philately by placing exhibitions in the local public libraries and Y. M. C. A. buildings. With a combined population of 100,000 these three cities should make quite a showing in the stamp world. All collectors residing in neighboring accessible towns will be welcome at the club meetings and those interested are asked to communicate with the secretary.—FRANK H. GRACE.

TAKE MORE CARE IN WRITING COPY.

Our printer is rightly waxing indignant over the poor advertising copy that reaches his office, and we have a suspicion that it is a case of righteous indignation. Will advertisers please bear in mind that more than ordinary care should be exercised in the preparation of copy for a paper such as MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. The placing of capital letters in their proper positions, the inserting of proper punctuation marks, and more than anything else, care in the spelling of words and the writing of figures, will be appreciated.

We wish to point out that the bulk of copy arrives in the printer's hands Saturday and clean, well-written copy will mean a great deal in facilitating the early issue of the paper.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Quite A Stir—The abounding enthusiasm created by the announcement that we would celebrate our twenty-fifth anniversary by the issue of a special number on January 8, 1916, replete with generous columns of philatelic reading and advertising matter, is more than we had bargained for. In fact, one subscriber almost takes us to task for not showing more intensity of feeling on the great distinction of having attained the twenty-fifth milestone on the tortuous road of philatelic journalism. Consequently, we shall not allow modesty to deprecate the credit of our accomplishment but we shall invite our readers to partake of the festal offering with the realization that they are allied with a stamp paper that for over thirteen hundred weeks has made its visits under all and any general conditions that have prevailed. We shall not sermonize just now but merely say that there is no other stamp paper that could draw upon its own columns for sustenance for a "twenty-five years ago" column on its pages. So, we rejoice in having proved the stability and permanence of philately by the record of the WEEKLY.

Distribute Cheer—This year the WEEKLY has not undertaken publicly any campaign for philatelic shut-ins; and we are pleased, in consequence, to hear that the habits formed by some of our readers in years past through our efforts to dispense cheer have continued to the satisfaction of shut-ins with stamp collecting proclivities. One of our readers is enterprising enough to solicit philatelic odds and ends for the "philatelic orphans,"—of a tender age, we hope.

Congressional Postmark—We notice an interesting postmark on an envelope franked by "John Sherman, U. S. S." from Washington to a point in Ohio. The postmark is: "Wash. D. C. Congress Free." This impression was used in 1872 when the name of the "senator, representative or delegate" was usually written but today, the name may be "written or impressed" but "must appear on the envelope of the letter, in connection with the initials of his office and be preceded by the word, 'Free'." One sometimes finds autographs of famous persons down the scale to just personages in lots of franked envelopes.

Back From Warsaw—In the mail recently was an interesting cover that enclosed a registered letter sent from Chicago, June 23, 1915, to Warsaw, Russia, where the letter was received after many postal adventures judging from the markings on the envelope, only to be returned to writer in Chicago, November 30, 1915. The envelope bears the rubber-stamped inscription: "A cause de guerre la service postale est suspendue." The translation of this notice in French is: On account of the war, the postal service is suspended. It is surmised that the addressee could not be found because he had fled from the city on the approach of the Germans.

An Odd One—The two dollar green wines and cordials stamp comes in sheets of fifty "subjects" on U. S. P. S. paper, ranged in ten rows of five stamps each, vertically. At first glance there appears to be no plate-number inscription on the margins of the sheet but close inspection reveals the most informal plate-number imaginable, at the side. In a flowing and unstudied script, "Pl. 232" is seen and it has the appearance of having been airily inscribed in the purposeless way that initials are sometimes flourished to occupy the passing moment. At least, we wish to record the existence of this imprint which takes two stamps to accommodate and which is "peculiar to itself."

The Revenue Issues—We have no other than newspaper information and the inferences of collectors interested on the subject of the future of the current revenue stamps; and any reports and forecasts in consequence are not ex cathedra. However, we were impressed by the reasoning of one student who made out a strong case for the advent of surcharged revenues for the coming year. At any rate the tax in question will be continued for some time but what treatment, if any, will be accorded the present stamps is problematical at this time.

A Long Wait—It is a long lane that has no turning. Many years ago, a collector, as a boy paid fifty cents or so for a copy of the ninety cent, U. S., 1857-60 issue that proved to be counterfeit to his aching pain which was so poignant that he can almost feel it yet. Now, at last, any lingering soreness has been replaced with a surge of joy as the collector who kept the stamp has just been offered a dollar for the aforesaid forgery by one who wanted it as a curiosity; and such is the perversity of humankind that the owner will not give up the stamp, after all.

No Such Animals—We have been asked to account for the existence of an entire envelope bearing the three cent, U. S., 1857-60 issue, with the cancellation of Wells, Fargo & Company. An envelope of the kind as well as those with steamboat cancellations and adhesive stamps should not exist, strictly speaking. Many years ago, Congress allowed by legal provision, letters to be sent out of the mail under certain restrictions. It was decreed that the stamped envelopes could be used to enclose letters despatched outside the mail, provided the envelope was duly sealed, directed and addressed and the date of receipt or transmission of the letter was written or stamped thereon. A fine of fifty dollars was the penalty for using the stamped envelope more than once. It is apparent that if letters with adhesive stamps thereon were sent out of the mail, fraud could be practiced by the carriers. However, it is not beyond the bounds of probability that a company of the good repute of Wells, Fargo and Company was allowed by a tacit understanding to carry in case of emergency, envelopes with adhesive stamps attached as the authorities could rest in the conviction that the stamps would be duly canceled; and perhaps, this license was extended to other carriers on occasion out of the ordinary.

Impressive—Many an old collector if asked to tell what stamps exercised the most fascination for him in the early days would answer that the older issues of South and Central American countries were the ones. The designs and the ideas of distance and romance that these stamps conveyed made an impression that was never to be effaced. We hear from different sources that the issues of these countries before the days of prolificacy are in great demand and that the market for the stamps in question is on an ascending scale. We have seen the advance in prices as a consequence of the study of the early Chile and how the first issues of Uruguay have become most desirable and it is likely that the study of the issues of the other countries will be followed by augmented demand and hence, increased prices.

Offers A Start—"If you are a new beginner and just starting a collection, my Beginners' Packet for new starters gives the best start," is alleged by a reader to have been encountered in a stamp advertisement and who says that evidently the packet is intended for beginners.

A SUBSCRIPTION COUPON CAMPAIGN.

A Novel Method in Co-operative Effort That Should Compel Attention.

By the MANAGING EDITOR.

For a long time we have coveted the active co-operation of our big list of subscribers in our effort to reach the 10,000 mark. The managing editor is but one of 8,200 to whom the WEEKLY is sent and he tries to do his part in making the paper up-to-date and progressive. He could do a larger work with a little assistance; a 12pp. WEEKLY will be possible with a 10,000 subscription list and to this end our energy will be directed.

The WEEKLY has always faithfully adhered to the P. O. regulations as regards premiums. When it sells a subscription the paper goes to one who reads it and the premium is an incidental. Hundreds of subscribers have sent in new names in past months, taking the premiums for their trouble or presenting them to the new subscriber.

Under our new plan there will be a premium for both new subscriber and the one sending in the new name and neat coupons have been prepared, designed to be used in ordinary correspondence and mailed direct to the office of the WEEKLY, where due credit will be given the one responsible for the new subscription. Each coupon represents a yearly subscription at the regular price, 50c.

The plan is a very simple one, it is easily workable. Get your supply of coupons, use a rubber stamp if possible to endorse them with your name and address, paste a stamp on the coupon, insert one in every letter you write and we shall give you full credit for every subscription received.

The new subscriber will get a premium and you will be advised that you will have a three months' extension of subscription, or one 6 mos. premium or 12½c cash rebate, whichever you prefer.

Moreover, at the end of every month, beginning February 29, two prizes will be given the contestants who have the most coupons to their credit and all contestants will be notified of their standing. We trust the support of this project will be manifested by a demand for coupons from hundreds of subscribers. What do you think of the plan?

Write for a supply today.

FOR THE SHUT-INS.

The Gray Stamp Co., Portsmouth, N. H., conveys a message to the shut-ins that will be of interest. We quote from a letter just at hand from the manager, F. J. Rider:—

"We have quite an accumulation of common foreign and U. S. stamps and a lot of low priced sets that we should be pleased to send to shut-ins for New Year's remembrances. Send stamped and addressed envelopes direct to the firm and the gifts will be forwarded."

This is a generous offer upon the part of the Gray Stamp Co. and we would suggest that in each instance a local reference be sent in as an evidence of good faith.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Nathan Cobe, well known generally with the trade, has opened a Boston office in the Studio Building, 110 Tremont St. He will be glad to have his patrons call and inspect the new office.

—Mr. J. Hausselman of Absecon, N. J., died a few days ago. He has been in ill health for some time and was quite advanced in years. We have not received any particulars.

—The publishers of Stamp Collecting advise us of a new quarterly publication, the full particulars of which are given elsewhere in our advertising columns. The publishers have large faith in philately to begin this publication with the stress of war so evident.

—Egbert Bacon sends us a clipping calling attention to a Michigan transfer of property valued at $4,000,000 and upon which no fewer than eight $500 revenue tax stamps were attached.

—The L. L. Albright Co., Hodges Bldg., Detroit, Mich., would like information concerning Elmer Terry, formerly 1331 E. 42 St., Los Angeles, Cal.

—We are advised that Leo Jessel of Chicago, Ill., a long-time subscriber to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, died recently. We have no particulars, the P. O. Department of Chicago sending the regulation notice to discontinue sending the paper for reason indicated. Mr. Jessel's name will be familiar to many of our dealer patrons.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from F. W. Lynes (4), I. B. Robinson (2), F. G. Ferguson (2).

—"Stamps Visited by $150,000 Fire." This startling headline was to be found last week in various papers as a news despatch, and instinctively one thought of precious gems vanishing in smoke. Further examination, however, showed that the conflagration was a lumber warehouse in Stamps, Ark.

—The Fort Wayne (Ind.) Sentinel of recent date contained a reproduction of a deed of conveyance transferring the Wabash Railroad to a re-organized company. It shows seventeen $1,000 revenue stamps, and another stamp was on the second page of the deed. The illustration shows an imposing array of these stamps.

—The dealer who wishes to know the whereabouts of L. G. Snow can reach him by addressing Room 503, 36 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

A NEW PHILADELPHIA DEALER.

The ranks of the dealing fraternity of Philadelphia have been augmented by no less a person than the former publisher and editor of the Philadelphia Stamp News. Percy McGraw Mann, whose advertisement will be found elsewhere in this issue, has opened an office in the center of the city for the purpose of buying and selling stamps and he will be heard from frequently in our columns during the coming year. The "City of Brotherly Love" is fast taking on a degree of philatelic activity that will make it the second city of the country from a dealing standpoint. Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—Frank Reeder, Jr., supplements the note regarding the broken die of the 1/4c Proprietary stamp, as follows:

"Since writing you on December 9, relative to the cut die on the one-eighth cent Proprietary, I have gone through the stock of our local revenue office, and I am now able to give you definite information. The stamps that I was able to look over, were the two hundred composing the right hand pane, so that I can only speak concerning these stamps. I find that in the sheet of two hundred composing this pane, the cut die appears eight times. It is found in the first, sixth, eleventh and sixteenth rows, and is, in those rows the first and sixth stamps. It is apparent that the block from which these sheets were made was composed of a die consisting of twenty-five stamps, and being five by five, and the cut die appears in the first stamp of the die on the upper left hand corner stamp."

We are indebted to S. E. Colman for the information that the 50c perforated 10 has been issued and was placed on sale at the Washington Postoffice December 13.

CANADA.—We are indebted to G. Hemond of Montreal for a block of four of the 3c green war tax stamps. The design is the same as that of the 1c and 2c previously chronicled, showing the head of King George with "Canada" above and "War Tax" below.

DANISH WEST INDIES.—The Sterling Stamp Co. sends us the 5 bit and 25 bit of the new set with portrait of King Christian X., these being the only values on sale in the Islands, November 29.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Hermann Focke has shown us a new value of the locally printed stamps, the color being the same as predicted some time since. This has the overprint "1915" also.

Adhesive.

20c carmine and black.

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS.—Hermann Focke reports that the 2d and 2 1/2d Pandanus tree are still in issue. Their catalogue value is decidedly too high. He considers the 1/2d and 1d of better value, the former used being quite rare.

JAPAN.—Alfred Rasmussen has favored us with specimens of the commemorative stamps issued by Japan on the occasion of the Coronation of the Emperor last month. There are three designs, one for foreign postage and two for local postage. There are four values in all, two for foreign and domestic cards and two for foreign and domestic letters. Those intended for foreign postage show a view of Shisheeden Hall where the Coronation took place, with long lines of native banners lining the approach. At the left appears a banner, a gong and a shield, while at the right stands a warrior of the court in ancient armor. The design is simple but striking. The stamps intended for local postage are more conventional in treatment, each showing an oval, with a frame of flowers and native characters. The 1 1/2s shows the Imperial crown, and the 3s the "Takimikura" or Imperial throne. Like all recent stamps issued by the Japanese Government, they are well designed and printed, and present a handsome appearance. Mr. Rasmussen also submits a couple of cards, one showing a different view of Shisheeden Hall, and the other an allegorical view, probably calculated to fire the hearts of the warlike Samurai.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

yet he will not come out as badly as the fellow who buys everything submitted, especially because it is cheap. A stamp at a high rate of catalogue is more often a good investment than one at ninety per cent. discount. Why?

Stamp dealers as a whole are in the business for money, like any other class of merchants. Most of them know their business, or at least know enough not to price their goods below cost. No dealer has really desirable stock at a price that will permit selling at ninety or even seventy-five or in many cases at fifty per cent. of catalogue. Some stamps can be sold at seventy-five per cent. of catalogue, for the reason that they are priced too high and are really worth a fraction of their price. These will in time take the slump they deserve (See certain Nicaragua quotations 1915 and 1916 Scott) and therefore the collector who buys them at seventy-five per cent. discount may have paid full catalogue before he finishes his collecting. On the other hand, good United States, early European, and really staple items which command half catalogue and better at wholesale and which sell for a third off, or even catalogue, have shown a steady increase in value, and will continue to show an increase. This proves that a stamp at catalogue is more often a better buy than a stamp at a fifth. Look out that your stamp is really worth catalogue, though.

A CORRECTION.

In a previous article, I made reference to the Red Cross stamp of Reunion Islands, with black cross, priced $6.50 in Scott, and mentioned it as bringing $40.00 in France. I find that my data card on this stamp was made out in error, giving the wholesale quotation of Fr. 200 per ten as the retail price. The retail price is about Fr. 25, or roughly, $5.00. Nevertheless, this is a desirable stamp, probably the best of the Red Cross stamps issued thus far.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. H. W.—Space will not permit a list of Seebecks at present. An article will be published on these at an early date. Watch for it. I have not heard of any U. S. perforated 11 1/2 as far as I recollect. I doubt if this is caused by paper shrinkage, however. Are you certain your measurements are correct, or that your guide is accurate? It is possible that this perforation was used in some of the recent experiments made. Submit them to an expert on perforations.

I consider all South and Central American countries desirable, if proper restrictions are made. Postally used copies are best, and are really very scarce. The speculative issues should be collected used only.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

PHILATELIC INVESTMENTS.

Buying stamps is one of the few ways a person can spend his money and still have it. The collector who buys wisely and enjoys his hobby, not only reaps the benefit of the pleasure of working with the stamps, but can usually sell out at any time for practically cost, and some times at a profit.

In order to keep the value of a collection up to the cost, the collector must buy very wisely, must adopt a strict standard of the fine condition, and must learn what stamps to buy and what to keep away from. These are some things that must be gained by experience to some degree, yet can be learned from the experience of others.

The writer has made and disposed of at least seven collections, and has collected, generally, twentieth century only; America only; Europe only; Colonials only; etc.; so he feels capable of knowing how to pick the winners. The present collection consists of United States and Canada, with certain restrictions, and only the very finest of condition.

The greater majority of stamp collectors fail to realize a profit on their collections, or even to break even, simply for the reason that they buy recklessly, without thought of the stamps or of the condition. They think it strange that when they offer the collection to a dealer, they are told that it is only worth a fifth of catalogue or less, when they paid about half catalogue in buying it. They forget that the dealer must remove many damaged and cheap unsalable stamps, and still sell the collection at a price sufficient to cover selling costs and allow a fair profit. It is sometimes pathetic to see the disappointed collector who has expected to get fifty or a hundred dollars for a collection listing two hundred and scarcely worth twenty-five, yet many of these lots, and smaller ones, are offered to the dealers daily.

No collector can buy indiscriminately and hope to realize his cost when he sells, no matter whether he keeps his stamps for a number of years or not. The average general collection as purchased from approval sheets contains damaged, unsalable, and speculative stamps. Every general dealer has in stock too much of this kind of stuff, and therefore cannot afford to buy more of it. Furthermore, the dealers can buy this speculative stock at considerable discounts in quantity and so stock it in that way.

The following is a list of undesirable items the collector should avoid at all times:

Damaged stamps, either stained, soiled, or torn.

Smudged or very heavily cancelled copies.

Straight-edge, trimmed, or stamps poorly perforated.

Stamps with thin spots, usually caused by excessive hinging.

Stamps with perforations missing.

Faded or oxidized stamps.

The above list applies to nearly all stamps, and stamps with those defects must be classed as undesirables. Most stamps can be secured in perfection condition by waiting until a perfection copy comes along. Most of us will find that there are always at least ten more stamps offered us than we can afford to buy, so why buy any but the best?

It is often a sore temptation to put a "space-filler" or defective stamp in an album, to complete a set or page, especially when the price is low. A damaged stamp, unless skillfully repaired is worth little or nothing, as it is unsalable and an eye-sore in most cases. Repaired stamps are but little better than damaged, though not quite as displeasing to the eye.

This summer on my recent trip, I saw a collection worth several thousand dollars, which did not contain a single stamp that was not a picked copy. This is an exception, as nearly every condition crank will lower the bars to take in some favorite. Yet this collector with the high standard has demanded a perfect specimen in every case, and not only must his cancelled copies be lightly cancelled, but they must be postally used and the cancellation must add to the beauty of the stamp rather than destroy it, as is so often the case. His collection numbers over ten thousand varieties, and includes both used and unused stamps. It is truly a wonderful lot and one that will return his money and more when he sells. Every collector can have a similar lot for the trouble of searching for it, which is really a large part of the fun of collecting, is it not?

Leaving the subject of condition, we will turn to a few of the undesirable classes of stamps:

Cancelled-to-order stamps, in most cases.

Speculative and stamps made chiefly for sale to collectors.

Re-prints.

Counterfeits, and bogus stamps. These are only fit for specialists who use them for reference and treat them for what they are. Some exceptions to the re-prints may be made.

Pen-cancelled, and fiscally cancelled stamps, where postal cancelled copies can be obtained. Many pen-cancels are not fiscals, but none are as desirable as hand-stamped or printed cancellations. Rubber stamp cancellations are undesirable as a rule. The unknowing collector is apt to have these things foisted on him as desirable stamps. The way to treat the dealer who offers you a ten shilling stamp pen cancelled and evidently fiscally cancelled, as a postally used copy, is to cease to trade with him, and to let him know why.

Some speculative stamps are money-makers. The fact that the element of speculation is present, however, makes it a risky proposition for the inexperienced collector to handle. A keen student of new issues can pick the winners in a set, and by buying wisely, can avoid the losers in many cases. Of course, all stamps do not increase in value no matter how much we expect them to. Unless the collector has reached the stage where he knows his stamps perfectly and is prepared to take a few losses, he should not buy stamps on speculation. With my block of 4d Jamaicas that went from 12c to $3.00 each, I bought a few New Hebrides sets that hit the toboggan and while they stopped in the middle, still they fell. So it goes. We make one day and lose the next. Only—if we don't know our business, we lose every day, whether we buy stamps or wheat.

In a further article, I will give a few instances where supposed sure investments went wrong. The collector who watches his condition, and buys wisely of the good things, should never need to worry about a heavy philatelic loss. He may not break quite even, as he must count in his fun as part of his assets, Merry Christmas to All!

If you were represented in the December issue of St. Nicholas, you won't need to read this—but if you were not, perhaps the letter we received a year ago from a Chicago concern will prove interesting:—

"We regret that we will not be able to renew our advertising with you for next month for the reason that our December campaign has brought us more business than we can handle, and from past experience we know that it will take us until February to get our stock prepared for another rush of business. We are well satisfied with the results from our advertising in your publication and will favor you with further advertising at a later date."

Conditions this year in the stamp world are better than last. Due to interest in the war many new collectors are starting. St. Nicholas is doing more than encouraging it—but that is another story. (See MEKEEL'S, Dec. 4th issue.)
